KEEP YOUR MONEY CIRCULATING

When you keep your money in your pocket, or take it around your home, you are doing just that much to retard the industrial growth of our community—this is a detriment to you as well as others.

When you keep your money in the bank it is safe, yet where it can be loaned to those who will use it for increasing and upbuilding of the business of the community—this means an increased property value in both town and country. If you want to be one of those who help build up and improve the surrounding country come in and start an account with us. The amount of your deposit is not so material as the fact of making a start in the right direction.

One of the most severe storms known in this section swept over Andover Wednesday afternoon about five o'clock. The clouds were so heavy and black one could hardly see across a room. The lightning flashed with a lurid green glare. Following close upon the gloom of rain which fell in torrents came hail of unusual size and quantity. They piled up in miniature snow balls along the curbs, coming with such force that roofs were perforated and windows broken in portions of the town. The roof on the residence of Dell Hawkins was ruined by the force of the hail stones, some of which measured seven inches around, and in places we are told they were much larger. In the north section of the village exposed window lights were broken, in several houses nearly all of them being shattered, gardens and shrubs were broken and torn by the force of rain, hail and wind. In all it will cost our residents hundreds of dollers loss and many days work to repair the damage.

MRS. HILLES LOADS SHELLS, AND LIKES IT

Bayard's Daughter Works in Working Clothes With Working People

Washington, May 5.—"I have been happy in my first week's work in a munition factory," declared Mrs. Florence Bayard Hillis of Delaware, a White House picket and daughter of the late Thomas F Bayard, Ambassador Great Britain under Cleveland, who has entered a plant of the Bethlehem Steel Company at Newcastle to help with war orders. "This is real war work," continued Mrs. Hilles; "no smart costumes with belts and caps and little to do, but work, in working clothes, with working men and women of the labor party."

It was just two weeks ago that, driving out of the Bethlehem plant, Mrs. Hilles saw a sign reading: "More workers needed—women accepted."

"The message of the sign," she says, stayed in my mind. I could think of no good reason why I should not respond to it. I am able-bodied woman. I can do the work any other woman can. For the munitions of our armies to be limited because there are not enough workers is intolerable. As long as I feel I am needed in this kind of work I shall be in it."

Mrs. Hilles was one of the first group of women sentenced to Occoquan Workhouse for holding Suffrage banners at the White House gates and was in the group pardoned by the President.

BINDER TWINE PRICES

The Federal Food Commission is now setting a few prices on material the farmer is obliged to purchase, as well as that he has to sell.

Binding twine is one of these articles. The prices allowed in Andover will be 26¼ c a pound on standard bales, and 27c in broken lots.

Better get your order in early so that you will be sure to have it when needed. The price will be the same this year wherever you purchase it.

THE 1918 MOTOR VEHICLE LAWS

Secretary of State, Upon Request Will Send Any Motorist a Copy of the New Changes in New York State Laws.

Albany, May.—A booklet containing the 1918 motor vehicle laws of this state is being issued for general distribution by Secretary of State Francis M. Hugo. The booklet contains all the recent additions to the automobile law, including that pertaining to headlights, and likewise the methods of reciprocity between this and other states. Copies of the book may be obtained from Mr. Hugo's offices in New York, Albany and Buffalo as well as from all automobile clubs thruout the state.

In the distribution of the book Secretary Hugo is sending copies to all chiefs of police, justices of the peace, traffic squads and similar bodies in order that the new sections of the law may be thoroly understood and obeyed.

This booklet of motor vehicle laws should not be confounded with that containing the general traffic laws of the state, copies of which are still available for distribution altho the edition appeared a year ago. Judging from letters of inquiry from justices of the peace, motorists and others, there is everywhere apparent throut the state, a disposition on the one hand to enforce the law and on the other to obey it, even tho it sometimes happens that both parties are in a position of misunderstanding in the interpretation of some particular section.

There appears to be a widespread idea, especially thruout Central and Western New York, that a member of one's family is not permitted this year to drive a car owned by one of the family, unless provided with an operator's license. These licenses, however, are only required in New York City, with the exception of such motorists living outside and who may have occasio to enter and drive their car in the metropolis for more than ten days in any one year. There has also been no change in this state in the age at which a person can drive a car for hire, o in other words, a chauffeur.

Mr. Hoover's Message to the American People

The confidence of the United States Food Administration that the people of the country would respond enthusiastically and wholeheartedly upon presentation of the facts, to any necessary requests for reduction in consumption of food, has been fully justified. We have demonstrated our ability not only to think together but to act together. This response of the people is the reason for the present appeal.

Our work is not yet complete, in spite of the encouraging results of our efforts, in spite of the fact that our exports of foodstuffs are constantly increasing and are approaching the minimum requirements abroad, the need for renewed devotion and efforts is pressing. While all of the requirements of the Food Administration should be constantly observed, there are certain matters upon which I desire to lay stress at this time.

In the case of meat and meat products the necessity for shipment abroad are very great. Whereas the Allied consumption has beng reduced to an average of about one and one-quarter pounds per person per week, we are today enjoying an average of about three and one-quarter pounds per person per week. This division is inequitable. An understanding of those facts will justify our request that the consumption of all meats, including poultry, as nearly as possible, be reduced to two pounds per week per person over four years of age.

In case of sugar, we are embarrassed by the necessity of using ships for carrying our soldiers and feeding the Allies, and, in consequence, we must use sugar with great economy. We must emphasize the importance of canning and preserving on a large scale among our people this summer, and our available sugar must be conserved for this purpose.

But the situation with regard to wheat is the most serious in the food supply of the Allied worlds. If we are to satisfy the minimum wheat requirements of our armies and the Allies, and the suffering millions in the Allied countries, our consumption of wheat in the United States until the next harvest must be reduced to approximately one-third of normal. It is inconceivable that we should fail in this crisis. For each of us who can personally contribute to the relief of human suffering, it is a privilege not a sacrifice. All elements of our population cannot bear this burden equally. Those engaged in physical labor need a larger bread ration than those in sedentary occupations. Because of the constant daily employment of women, and the lack of home baking facilities, many households in large urban centers require a food ration already prepared, such as baker's standard Victory bread loaf. Furthermore, we must constantly safeguard the special requirements of children and invalids.

To meet the situation abroad, and, to prevent serious suffering at home, it is imperative that all those "whose circumstances permit," shall abstain from wheat and wheat products in any form, until the next harvest. It is realized and deeply appreciated that many organizations and some communities have already agreed to follow this plan.

It is hoped that you will communicate this to your organization and your community, urging those whose circumstances will permit, to join with us and take this stand.

HERBERT HOOVER.

As a Passing Soldier Sees Western New York

Harry Joyce, Jr., was handed a post card from a passing troop train Sunday evening. The card, while addressed to a relative presumably was interesting to New Yorkers, in that it tells of a western man's opinion of Western New York as he passes thru.

He had written the following on the card which was addressed to Mr. George Smith, Albany, Wis.

7.30 p. m., May 26, 1918.
New York State.

Dear Folks:

If you ever change places to live please come to New York. The pretty villages and rolling orchards, and cows, beautiful homes and paved roads dotted with autos, pretty, clear waterfalls tumbling over their rocky ledges from the mountain springs. Follow us on the map.

Love to all,

RAILROADS NOW UNDER ONE HEAD

Director General McAdoo Takes All Railroad Presidents and Appoints Two Men to Take Place of the Whole Bunch

Washington, May 24.—The biggest shake-up in the history of the railroads is under way. Director General McAdoo has notified the heads of all the railroads and railroad systems now under Federal control that their services will no longer be required.

Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania lines, and Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, are two of the best known railroad heads operating great systems who have been relieved of all connection with the operating departments of the two railroad systems.

Of greater interest than the changes that will be brought about in the personnel of the railway executive staffs is the announcement of the director-general today that on and after July 1st, the payment of all transportation charges will be put upon a cash basis. There are several reasons behind this order. Perhaps most important is to prevent discrimination between shippers and consignees. The extending of credit in the payment of transportation charges to one person, which is denied to another, results in a preference in favor of the person whom credit is given.

The order also is expected to bring cash returns for services rendered, with no possibility of bad debts, and to reduce labor and expense in the accounting departments of the different railways. Director-General McAdoo to-day named two new reginal directors.

B. L. Winchell, director of traffic of the Union Pacific railroad, was appointed regional director of the Southern district, with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga. The appointment is effective on June 1, and Mr. Winchell will succeed C. H. Markham, who has been placed in charge of the Allegheny region, located at Philadelphia.
