Poole, of the Public library, Chicago; John Jay, of New York, and George Bancroft, the aged historian. Historic names are plentiful in that historical association, as they should be. The vice president of the association is William Wirt Henry, of Richmond, Va., in whose veins flows the united blood of two great orators, William Wirt and Patrick Henry.

Naturally the figure around whom most interest gathers is George Bancroft. If the white bearded courtier lives till the 3d of next October he will be 90 years old. Until the last year he has continued his horseback rides regularly. It is astonishing how much the old historian has done even in his long life, and done it better than anybody else.

It is now more than sixty years since the first volume of Bancroft's History of the United States appeared. It was one of the first attempts to disentangle American history from the myths of self glorification that had grown up around it from the time of the Revolution. In 1845 the historian was James K. Polk's secretary of the navy. During his term of office he founded the Naval academy at Annapolis.

Next George Bancroft was minister to Great Britain. So late as 1871 he was minister to Germany and rendered important service to his country. His greatest literary work, the History of the United States, was finally rewritten, revised and condensed into six volumes, and published as the author himself desired to leave it in 1883.

Charles Bradlaugh.

Next to Gladstone the most remarkable figure in English politics today is Charles Bradlaugh, the Radical. He first came prominently before the world as a man who, elected to parliament, refused to take the oath prescribed, because he did not believe in religious tests. He was sent to parliament from Northampton. Parliament expelled him for not taking the oath. Northampton returned him and the same process was repeated. Four times this farce was gone through, and at last Bradlaugh triumphed and was admitted to his seat. The religious oath will never be insisted on again if any member declines to take it.

As a member of parliament Bradlaugh has distinguished himself as the opponent of the British system of perpetual pensions and the friend of legislative reform in India. The people of India indeed have come to look on him as their champion and deliverer.

But the most striking feature of his career is the gradual popularity Bradlaugh has won. Eight years ago he was cursed, hooted at and hissed from one end of England to the other, by high and low alike, on account of his radicalism. He weakened not a jot, but stood splendidly out for his convictions through it all. That of itself compelled a kind of respect. The next step was that he began to gain friends. They increased in number and power. A reception tendered to him on his return from India was attended by 5,000 persons. Year by year his influence grows. Bradlaugh is a man of massive brain power and physique. It has even been suggested that he will be the successor of Gladstone when the old king lays down his sceptre.

At any rate, the case of Bradlaugh proves that the man who has convictions and the backbone to stick to them must win in the long run.

Philadelphia is making a move which promises to be a shining light to other large cities. It is proposed to put railroad tracks entering the city below the surface of the ground.

Germany's Socialist Emperor.

The emperor of Germany can now shake hands across the Atlantic with the New England Nationalist party. Both have the same aims, which they would accomplish by the same methods. Both the German Emperor and the New England Nationalists would have the state do everything for everybody.

For fifteen years Bismarck has been using all the means at his command to crush the Socialists. The recent declarations of the emperor, therefore, advocating out and out state socialism, may be considered in the nature of a remarkable "flop," since it is not likely that William, autocratic as he is, would take a step of that kind without being in accord with the chancellor.

It may be remembered that not long since in a speech in the German parliament, Liebknecht, the Socialist leader, boasted that, in spite of hanging and persecution, in spite of muzzling the press and preventing meetings by police force, the Socialist party was stronger in Germany today than it had ever been before. And he gave figures to prove his statement. Perhaps this may have had something to do with Germany's change of base towards the democrats.

Despotism never yields anything to the people till it is forced from it. It may be that the young German emperor feels that the thrones of Europe are tottering, and to save himself decides to outsocialize the Socialists themselves. He asks France, England, Belgium and Switzerland to join in an international labor congress at Berlin, at which he himself will preside, to interchange ideas on the highest good of the workingman. But why did not his little majesty invite the United States? We could give him several points about labor and capital on a large scale.

William directs an inquiry into all laws regulating factory labor. He declares it to be the duty of the state to so regulate labor as to insure the health and morality of working people. The state must also see that old people and invalids are provided for, and must arrange matters so that all persons will always have employment. He further requests the government to see that the German mines are turned into model establishments.

The engines his majesty depends on to inaugurate this workingmen's millennium are the law and the military. He would force avarice out of human nature and justice and mercy into it with the bayonet. In other words, he would inaugurate a state despotism infinitely more oppressive than that from which working people are now trying to escape. Let our own American Nationalists congratulate themselves on this distinguished accession to their party.

Fasting.

A Frenchman, M. Charles Richet, has been investigating cases of long fasting, voluntary and involuntary.

Cold blooded animals can live without food twice as long as warm blooded ones. Dogs can endure starvation thirty days before they die, human beings usually sixteen to twenty days. The fatal limit is reached when the animal or man becomes so emaciated that 40 per cent. of weight is lost.

Those who endure long fasts with impunity are usually persons dominated by some absorbing idea which takes away the thought from the stomach. The most noted fasters are hysterical subjects and Hindoo fakirs. It is remarkable that in these cases the emaciation is comparatively slight. Some other influence seems to step in for the time and stop the usual operations of the body.

M. Richet sees no reason to doubt that Tanner, Merlatti and Succi fasted the full fifty days, as they claim, but says their fasts were undertaken under most favorable circumstances. They had only to put forth their hands and eat at any moment. It would have been different had they been shipwrecked on a desert island, or perishing in ice fields, like a party found in 1809. These were without food seventeen days. When found their skin was sticking to the bones, and was covered with a sooty scurf. Their tongues were black, their breaths fetid. This sickening odor and blackness of the skin and tongue are characteristic of the last stages of starvation.

Instead of becoming dearer in price, ice would be become steadily cheaper. Even when frozen in the natural way and gathered from rivers, it is obtained very cheaply. The cutting and lifting are all done by machinery, and the machinery itself is run by water power from the river. One company in Maine has succeeded in cutting ice and loading it on board schooners ready for transportation at a cost of six cents a ton.

Poor Mormons! Nobody wants them, and some of them don't want themselves. Canada won't have them, and now Senator Chandler has prepared an immigration bill which classes among with idiots, lunatics, paupers and convicts criminals, polygamists."

Alone Sludge Acid.

For many years persons dwelling in the vicinity of oil refineries have held their noses and unceremoniously fled from the odorous smells that hovered thereabouts. The odor was chiefly caused by a villainous substance called sludge acid. Part of the process of refining petroleum for illuminating consists in treating the distilled oil with sulphuric acid. The sulphuric acid separated the impurities from the oil, and tested them upon itself. The result, sulphuric acid and petroleum refuse mixed together, was the loud smelling sludge acid. It ruined everything it touched. At Jersey City, when the refuse was permitted to overflow into the bay, it stuck to the bottom of boats and impaired them, and colored the water a sickening, nasty black. Then it turned to a black waxy substance and sank in the mud. The worst that could be said against sludge acid was not half bad enough. It was such a nuisance that the oil company loaded it upon a tank boat and shipped it far out into the ocean and poured it gently out to smut the face of old Neptune himself.

One day an employe of the oil works poured some sludge acid into fresh water. Fresh sludge acid runs out frothy. The man was surprised to see the acid separate itself into two parts. The sulphuric acid mingled with the water and made it weak acid, that could be readily used in the refinery. The other part was oil, naturally not very clean or pure, but good enough to make an admirable fuel. Now the refineries have discovered that the offensive sludge acid is a very valuable product. They cannot supply the demand for the low grade oil for fuel.

Making Maple Sugar.

The season has again arrived for making the most delicious of all sweets, maple sugar, and here are some practical points on the subject by a Vermont expert. He declares that to be a good sugar-maker certain things are requisite. There must be a good sugar house, with a solid arch or arches, and buckets for catching the sap should be of tin or thoroughly painted wood, and many other things should be provided to facilitate the manufacture. The best sugar is made in corrugated evaporators or partitioned pans, from which the syrup can be drawn quite often, as continued boiling for a long time colors the product. The wood used should be of good quality. In tapping don't bore the trees too deep as it not only injures them, but the sap from the inner grains of wood does not make the whitest sugar. Use a metallic spout that will not close the outer grains when driven into the tree. Have the buckets clean and gather the sap as soon as possible after it leaves the tree. Boil immediately, as sap exposed to the air for a few hours will not make as finely flavored or as white sugar. Keep the sap as cool as possible until wanted. If necessary use ice. The "sugar sand," nitre, or malate of lime, can be taken out after it forms by a flannel filter. In sugaring off the quicker the syrup is boiled to the proper consistency for the desired form of putting up the better for color and flavor. Neatness and dispatch are the essential principles in the manufacture of an extra article.

REMARKABLE RESCUE.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill, makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption, and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle, and to her delight found herself benefitted by the first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottles of this great discovery at Brainard's drug store, large bottles 50c and $1.00.

To Our Subscribers.

The special announcement which appeared in our columns some time since, announcing a special arrangement with Dr. B. J. Kendall Co., of Enosburg Falls, Vt., publishers of "A Treatise on the Horse and his Diseases," whereby our subscribers were enabled to obtain a copy of that valuable work free by sending their address to Dr. B. J. Kendall Co. (and enclosing a two-cent stamp for mailing same) is renewed for a limited period. We trust all will avail themselves of the opportunity of obtaining this valuable work. To every lover of the horse it is indispensable, as it treats in a simple manner all the diseases which afflict this noble animal. Its phenomenal sale throughout the United States and Canada, make it standard authority. Mention this paper when sending for "Treatise."

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped hands, Chilblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents a box. For sale by N. P. Brainard.

ASK YOUR FRIENDS ABOUT IT. Your distressing cough can be cured. We know it because Kemp's Balsam within the past few years has cured so many coughs and colds in this community. Its remarkable sale has been won entirely by its genuine merit. Ask some friend, who has used it, what he thinks of Kemp's Balsam. There is no medicine so pure, none so effective. Large bottles 50c and $1 at all druggists. Sample bottle free.

The "Erie's" $10.00 Grand Excursion to Washington March 20th.

A LADY'S PERFECT COMPANION

Our new book by Dr. John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in childbirth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness, and many other evils attending pregnancy. It is highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out; it will save you great pain, and possibly your life. Send two cent stamp for descriptive circulars, testimonials, and confidential letter sent in sealed envelope. Address Frank Thomas & Co., Publishers, Baltimore, Maryland.

wastes or gives away during the year more less kitchen grease, each pound of which in a few minutes be converted into two pounds of the PUREST SOAP, far better than can be found on sale. The only expense for making ten pounds of this soap, with and one-half pounds of grease or oil, is trifling cost of one can of BANNER LYE to be found at nearly every grocery store.

Dissolve the contents of one can of Banner Lye in three and one-half pints of cold water and pour slowly into five and one-half pounds of lukewarm grease, stirring from the start until it thickens into a mushy condition; pour into any kind of mould to harden; child can make it, and full directions are around back of each label.

A can of Banner Lye will do the work of twenty-one pounds of washing soda, and besides its value for scrubbing purposes, cleansing and disinfecting of Sinks, Closets and Waste Pipes, destroying the Filth Disease arising therefrom, makes its system use one of the greatest boons the housekeeper has fallen heir to.

Harman has the choicest cigars, from 2 for 5c to 10c straight.

Mrs. Dr. Stillman has the prize thus far for hen's eggs. She brought one into the NEWS office the other day that weighs one-fourth of an ounce and measures 3¼ inches in circumference the longest way.

Just received at Beebe & Williams' car of Meal, Bran and Middlings. Prices right.

The donation last evening for the benefit of Rev. G. W. Gibson was attended by a large number of people, and the elder is over $100 richer this morning than he was yesterday. It's cash, too.

Oranges, Lemons and candies at Harman's.

Frank G. Carpenter, the famous correspondent, is sending a weekly Washington letter to the Buffalo Sunday Express. Carpenter is probably the brightest and at the same time "most trustworthy of the Washington correspondents.

E. O'Malley, of the firm of O'Malley and Forbes, proprietors of the Excelsior Marble and Granite works at Cuba, was in town yesterday. This firm does extensive business and readers of the Press wanting work in their line can save money by patronizing them. Their work ranks second to none, and they supply anything from a cheap sidestone to the finest granite monument.

Last Friday night L. L. Pryor fell from the steel bridge on Centre St. and fractured a leg in two places, and received a sprained ankle. He was taken to his home, Dr. Comstock dressed his wounds and, after a few weeks enforced idleness the patient will be on the sick again. In the meanwhile Mr. Pryor has secured a shoe-maker from Caraugus county, and business at the shop will go on as usual.

Persons in calling for any of the above letters will please say 'advertised,' giving date.

J. C. GREEN, P. M.

A Good Showing.

The total highway audit last year in Andover was $2,715.73. The amount of Highway Commissioner Green's bill against the town was $891.63, of which only $171.50 was for personal services, the balance being for the iron bridge on Second street, and lumber for the same. We beleive the people of the town are to be congratulated on the amount of actual work, and the material they received for the money expended.

Scared Out.

A few weeks ago school Dist. No. 6, of the town of Andover, challenged the Lane Dist. of the town of Greenwood to a spelling match. The challenge was accepted and the affair was to take place at the Lane school house, Friday evening, Feb. 28th. Word was received Thursday that the members of school Dist. No. 6 could not come Friday night, but would come Saturday night. A crowd gathered at the school house both Friday and Saturday evenings, but none of the "Champion Spellers" of Dist. No. 6 made their appearance. B.

A HOT TOWN MEETING!

REPUBLICANS ELECT THE PRINCIPAL OFFICERS.

Hard Work on All Sides and Some Small Majorities.

Andover hasn't seen such a strife at town meeting in many years as took place yesterday. A well known disaffection in the Republican ranks gave the Democrats hope that, they might carry the day, and members of the latter party worked with a will, and, assisted by the disaffected ones, succeeded in cutting down the usual Republican majority on Supervisor of 100 or more to 30. Other portions of the ticket also took the same medicine, and the Democratic candidate for town clerk, and one Democratic candidate for constable were elected by small majorities. Only 112 straight Republican ballots were cast, while the Democrats polled 119 straight tickets. The vote for each candidate on the several tickets, and the pluralities received by the successful ones, are as follows:

ELM VALLEY NEWS.

Mrs. F. S. Osborn, who has been dangerously ill with pneumonia, is improving. Dr. W. W. Crandall of Wellsville is in attendance.

The funeral services of Mr. Eugene Halsey were held at the school house last week. The M. E. minister at Andover officiated. Mr. Halsey died of inflammation of the lungs.

Mr. Charley Burdick is improving. He has been confined to the house for nearly four weeks with the grip.

Messrs. Arthur and George Dayton have purchased a portable saw mill which they will put into operation soon.

Mrs. Frank Crandall has been visiting friends in Richburg.

Miss May Stratton is visiting friends in Nile.

Mr. Dell Hann is convalescent.

Mr. L. Baker of Andover, was in town last week. X X

INDEPENDENCE NEWS.

The late cold snap put a quietus to sugaring for a while.

We were visited by a heavy rain storm, accompanied by thunder and lightning, last Tuesday morning.

J. J. Brown, junior partner of the firm of C. E. Brown & Son, went to Elmira after new goods for their store last week, and it is reported that a strong, very strong, attraction drew him on to Penn Yan. Hope he will return all right and as chipper as when he went away.

I failed to learn in time for my last week's letter to the NEWS of the marriage of Mr. Erwin Briggs to Miss Myrtle Brown, daughter of ex-postmaster C. E. Brown, which happy event was consummated at the residence of Rev. Jared Kenyon Sunday evening, Feb. 23, 1890. Congratulations are in order.

J. P. Remington is being treated for a bad case of rheumatism by Dr. Comstock of your place.

Elder Kenyon has so far recovered as to discharge his physician.

The winter term of school in this district closes Friday of this week.

Guy F. Armstrong, only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Armstrong of Whitesville, is very ill of a badly swelled face and neck.

At the caucus, held last Saturday night the Republicans nominated J. D. Jacobs for Commissioner of Highways, his opponent on the Democratic ticket being C. E. Brown of this place. Either of them would make a good commissioner, but the Republicans generally win when a full vote is polled.

SOME GUESSER.

CORWIN HILL NEWS.

R. R. Boyd has been quite sick but is better.

Mr. Spaulding of Belmont, visited at Orange Smith's last week.

Mrs. Geo. Blackman is spending a few days with D. P. Corwin's people.

Mr. Armstrong moves to Limestone this week. PAT.

SOME FOOLISH PEOPLE

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c and $1. Trial size free. At all druggists.

HAPPY HOOSIERS.

Wm. Timmons, postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined for that trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman, be the best kidney and liver medicine, makes no doubt a new man." J. W. Gardiner, a hardware merchant, same town, says: Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies. He found new strength, good appetite, and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only 50c a bottle at Brainard's drug store.
