For Nervous, Over-worked and "Run Down" Women

Women in an exhausted, nervous state, due to over-work, continuous social functions or a general "run down" condition of health, often wonder why tonics and emulsions fail to benefit them. The reason is plain. Tonics and emulsions are good in their place, but they cannot build up the body until the nerves have been toned and quieted.

There's only one remedy that can restore health to women in this exhausted, nervous condition, because it acts directly upon the nerves.

Rexall

Americanitis Elixir

is the only remedy of its kind in existence. As its name implies, it's a specific for the peculiar exhausted nervous conditions resulting from the continuous rush and tension under which Americans live. This remedy fills an important gap in the line of medicines.

Rexall Americanitis supplies to the body just those elements which Nature cannot supply in sufficient quantities to meet the unnatural drain upon the nervous system.

Phosphorus in soluble form is the basis of this splendid nerve food. Thousands of women have been saved from nervous prostration by the prompt use of Rexall Americanitis. To all conditions of nervous derangement, exhaustion and debility it brings permanent relief.

The Story of Rexall

REX means "king," and the combination makes REXALL "king of all."

We have proven time and time again that Rexall Remedies are kings above all others.

For more than two years an expert travelled all over the world in search of extraordinary remedies. Whenever he heard of a wonderful cure of any nature he did not rest until he personally could see the effect of the prescription used. Where he found the remedy perfect he purchased the prescription, but it was never used as a Rexall remedy until the properties had been thoroughly analyzed by the chemists and physicians of the United Drug Company.

HIS PANAMA WORK ENDED.

Mr. Stevens Will Devote His Energies to Affairs of His Department.

Albany, Feb. 6. — Superintendent Frederick C. Stevens of the state department of public works returned from Washington, whither he went on private business and to discuss with the secretary of war and others concerned in the matter of the Panama canal bid of William J. Oliver of Knoxville, Tenn., with whom Mr. Stevens has associated himself as financial backer. Mr. Stevens issued the following formal statement:

"Inasmuch as I am a public official of the state, possibly it may be desirable for me to say that, having been instrumental in bringing together the strongest combination of general and expert contractors to be found in the United States who are willing to associate themselves with Mr. Oliver and build the Panama canal as per the terms and conditions contained in the bid made by Mr. Oliver, a corporation having been formed under the laws of this state and all the other conditions imposed by the government having been complied with, my active connection with this enterprise is at an end.

"The active interest taken by me in this matter has not in the slightest manner interfered with my duties as superintendent of public works of this state. I intend to devote my time and such abilities as I possess to the affairs of this department.

"Should the contract be awarded to Mr. Oliver, the government will save in the neighborhood of $8,000,000. This saving is the difference between 6¾ per cent, Mr. Oliver's bid, and 12½ per cent, the bid of Mr. Gillespie and his associates, or 5¾ per cent on the estimated cost of the canal."

Admiral Beresford Arrives.

New York, Feb. 6. — Admiral Lord Charles Beresford arrived here yesterday on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm II. He comes here to settle the affairs of his brother, Lord Delaval Beresford, who was killed in a railroad wreck at Enderlin, N. D., on Dec. 28 last.

The Best Laxative for Children.

Parents should see to it that their children have one natural, easy movement of the bowels each day. Do not dose the child with salts or griping pills, as they are too powerful in effect, and literally tear their little insides to pieces, leaving the bowels weakened and less able to act naturally than before. Laxative Iron-ox Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, and stimulate all the little organs to healthy activity. Chocolate coated tablets, easy to take, never gripe or nauseate. 10c, 25c and $1.00.

Lie Passed In Bailey Inquiry.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 6.—A personal encounter between United States Senator J. W. Bailey and E. N. Metz of Houston was narrowly averted during the legislative committee's inquiry into the charges against Bailey. Metz was on the witness stand and mentioned a visit of Colonel Cowart of Dallas to New York. He was asked if Cowart's visit, though ostensibly to have his throat treated, was not really made for the purpose of attending to some business for the Kirby Lumber company. Senator Bailey said that any one who said that Cowart went to New York to see him was a liar. The witness understood that Mr. Bailey meant him and he declared emphatically that he would allow no man to call him a liar. Senator Bailey started for the witness, who seemed ready to meet him. Deputy Sheriff White stopped Senator Bailey and trouble was averted. The senator then apologized to the committee.

What is Kleptomania?

Kleptomania is occasionally induced by continued and close application to the study of a particular subject. A singular case was recently reported from Germany.

A well known professor was found to have transferred to his own private collection many of the valuable butterflies of which he had charge in his official capacity.

The existence of mental derangement was clear from the facts that came out in the course of the investigation afterward made.

It was found that the professor had often sent his wife out all day to catch butterflies, so intense was his passion for these insects. On one occasion the professor, while hunting a butterfly, was nearly run over by an express train; at another time he fell into a river, and once both he and his wife fell into a pond.—Boston Transcript.

Many people know that if they have been sick they need Scott's Emulsion to bring back health and strength.

But the strongest point about Scott's Emulsion is that you don't have to be sick to get results from it.

It keeps up the athlete's strength, puts fat on thin people, makes a fretful baby happy, brings color to a pale girl's cheeks, and prevents coughs, colds and consumption.

Food in concentrated form for sick and well, young and old, rich and poor.

Beat a boy out of a dime and the crime will never outlaw.

Comparison may not be a detraction, but it is certainly a half sister.

The truth with unselfish people is they are liable to brag about it.

There is only one way in this world to get your own way—insist upon it.

Almost any defense would be all right if you could make people believe it.

It is just as dangerous to tell some people a secret as it is to fool with a loaded gun.

When a man submits to a procession wedding the other men look at him the way boys look at a boy whose mother makes him wear long curls.

The man who has made a failure in any line of business never has a very good opinion of the man who started in the same line at the same time and made it a success.—Atchison Globe.

Too Deep.

The story is told of a lank, disconsolate looking farmer who one day during the progress of a political meeting in Cooper Institute stood on the steps with the air of one who has been surfeited with a feast of some sort.

"Do you know who's talking in there now?" demanded a stranger briskly, pausing for a moment beside the disconsolate farmer, "or are you just going in?"

"No, sir. I've just come out," said the farmer decidedly. "Mr. Evarts is talking in there."

"What about?" asked the stranger.

"Well, he didn't say," the farmer answered, passing a knotted hand across his forehead.

A Pet Tiger.

Out of a river bed where it had tumbled when its dam was put to flight some hunters in India fished a tiger cub. In two days it was as tame as a kitten and grew up the playmate of the camp terriers. It was very fond of them and the terriers worshiped the tigress. To allay the fears of a woman visitor the tigress was one night chained up. Next morning the animal was found with a man under her. She had not hurt him. He was a thief and, not knowing of her existence, had come within the area which her length of chain enabled her to command. She sprang upon him, lay on him and kept him prisoner until guards came to release him.

A Famous Tenor.

Apart from its wide range, the natural beauty and sweetness of the voice of Sims Reeves held his audiences spellbound and fully entitled him to be termed the finest English tenor of his day. He especially excelled in oratorio parts, while in opera his success was scarcely less pronounced. Perhaps it was as a singer of English ballads that Sims Reeves appealed to the majority, and it will probably be many a long day before we shall hear a more exquisite rendering of "Sally In Our Alley" than that of which this great tenor was capable.—London Mail.

Increases on Southern Railway.

Washington, Feb. 6.—That all conductors, trainmen and yardmen of the Southern railway are to receive an increase in wages aggregating between [illegible],000 and $400,000 a year was announced, following a several weeks' conference of General Manager Ackert and other officials with committees representing the men. No flat percentage of increase in wages is given any class of employes, the increase in any case being dependent entirely upon conditions. The increase [illegible], however, from 6 per cent as a minimum to 25 per cent as the maximum. Through freight conductors are to be paid on a basis of $3.18 per 100 miles; local freight conductors [illegible] per 100 miles; local freight trainmen $2.15 per 100 miles, and through freight brakemen $1.75 per [illegible] miles. Other conductors and trainmen are granted proportionate increases, as are the yardmen.

A New Cure For Poverty.

In his treatment of the cause and cure of poverty Mr. James Mackaye writing in the New York Independent advances nothing really new as to the cause or causes of poverty, but a radically new proposition for its cure. The question as to the cause of poverty he answers by announcing the cause or causes of prosperity. Prosperity consists primarily, according to this investigator, in a given community having enough of all the necessaries of life or power of purchase, which amounts to the same thing, to go around and an equal distribution of the same. A third and an imperative requirement is simplicity of tastes and needs, so that the actual production of wealth is sufficient to satisfy them.

All of the foregoing has been thrashed out before by social economists of many lands and at different stages. The question is how to do the trick. Mr. Mackaye would have all the productive industries under government control and management, rewarding everybody, both managers and operatives, on the basis of the output produced. A good day's work would result in a shortened working day or a cheapened product, which would amount to the same thing as an increase of wages. Of course the people would have to be educated up—or down—to this ideal, and the government would have to bear the burden of this education. Somehow the bedrock of simple life for all is the key to this whole reform. Preachers have hammered away on that from Plato to Ben Franklin and from Franklin to Charles Wagner. Plato said that the only sure way to be happy is to limit our desires and keep on limiting them. Every family at least and about every household has some monitor always ready with advice to others how to live on less than they earn and "put money by." The preachment usually ends something like this: "I never could, but you can." It is a hard lesson. Perhaps some progressive state will work out Mr. Mackaye's theory, which the editor of the Independent declares is "nothing less than a great invention," and convince the world that the problem of the ages has been solved.

One writer declares that King Edward is a man of democratic habits. And yet we never heard of his spending his time "viewing with alarm."

French telephone girls answer calls with "I listen" instead of "Hello!" which is all right if they cut it short.

THE HEART CAN'T STAND RHEUMATIC ACID POISONING

To Free and Correct the Blood a URIC-O Treatment Is Advised

There is great danger in those sharp, shooting pains throughout the body, especially around the region of the heart. It means that poisonous uric and rheumatic acids are there ready to grip tightly the muscles controlling this organ. Don't neglect these warnings, for they are the danger signals nature flashes to you for help. There is but one way to overcome this poisonous foe, and that is a thorough treatment with Smith's Specific Uric-O. If your system is filled with neuralgia, and if your blood and kidneys are diseased with rheumatic poison, there is no surer way on earth to get relief than through the use of Uric-O. Uric-O is a harmless liquid internal remedy, taken in small doses three times a day, and does not contain a drop of alcohol, opium, or other dangerous poisons. Uric-O is simply a cure for Sciatica, Muscular, Inflammatory and Articular Rheumatism. They all yield readily to Uric-O treatment. Your Druggist sells Uric-O at $1.00 per bottle. If he does not keep the remedy, you can obtain the same by addressing the makers of Uric-O, the SMITH DRUG COMPANY, SYRACUSE, N. Y.

Uric-O is sold and recommended in Andover by Brundage & Rogers, Druggists.

WASHINGTON LETTER

(Special Correspondence.)

A bunch of governors cornered Speaker Cannon in his room at the capitol the other day. Their mission was to persuade him to help along the passage of the Appalachian forest reserve bill, which passed the senate last session.

The bill in question contemplates the purchase by the federal government for a forest reserve, or park, of the White mountains in New Hampshire and the Appalachian range of mountains extending from Maryland down to northern Georgia and Alabama. It will cost several millions of dollars to acquire the tracts, independent of the cost of maintenance afterward. Mr. Cannon didn't give the visitors much encouragement.

Government Forest Reserves.

"There are serious objections to the Appalachian bill," said a close friend of Speaker Cannon. "The advocates of the bill point to the government forest reserves in the far west as precedent for this purchase. In the west, however, the government has not bought any land for forest reserve purposes. It has merely set aside land that it owned and which in most cases was of very little value. Now, New York has a forest reserve of over 1,000,000 acres, Pennsylvania nearly as much and Michigan and Wisconsin almost an equal amount. Several other states have some. If congress should purchase the Appalachian range all these states would insist upon the federal government taking over their reserve—of course for a consideration. If we start in on this thing we will soon have the government saddled with property to the value of $20,000,000 to $25,000,000, with an enormous annual outlay included for maintenance, etc. The states interested could afford to purchase the land and then present it to Uncle Sam with the understanding that he would pay for its future care and protection."

To Visit the Orient.

Bishop Cranston of the Methodist church is preparing to go to the orient this month on an important church work, and he called a few days ago upon President Roosevelt to say farewell. Bishop Cranston will visit Japan, Korea and China. In Tokyo he will attend the convention that will try to bring about a union of the missionary work of the Methodist, Southern Methodist and Canadian Methodist churches. He will go to Shanghai in April to attend the centennial anniversary of the establishment of Protestant missions in China. The celebration will begin in Shanghai on April 27.

Bishop Cranston is a close personal friend of the president, and it is by no means uncertain that while he is abroad he will quietly gather the sentiment in the orient as to America, her people and her methods to report to the president on his return.

District Boundary Stones.

It is likely that the commissioners will make an effort to obtain an appropriation from congress for the purpose of replacing, repairing and protecting the various old boundary stones marking the separating line of the District of Columbia from Maryland. Such legislation has been suggested by a number of patriotic citizens and meets with the hearty approval of Commissioner Macfarland. The other two commissioners have the proposition under consideration. Just what sum will be required for the purpose has not been definitely settled, but it is believed $5,000 would be sufficient.

To Beautify Washington.

The citizens' committee on street decoration and civic improvement met to discuss plans for beautifying Washington.

George H. Brown, landscape gardener in the office of public buildings and grounds, told of the development of the parks and public grounds since he became identified with this work, which was the first of its kind undertaken in the United States. "However," he said in conclusion, "Washington is not in the van in this work of improvement. As a matter of fact, it is behind other cities. Chicago, for instance, appropriates annually millions of dollars for this purpose."

The Kosciusko Statue.

President Roosevelt's selection of a design for the statue of Kosciusko to be erected in Lafayette park, opposite the White House, has been formally adopted by the statue commission, consisting of Secretary Taft, Senator Wetmore and Representative McCleary. The model is by Antonio Popiel, the Italian sculptor, but the design will be combined with the model submitted by S. Lewandowski, who will share equally with Popiel in the first and second prizes, aggregating $1,600. The third prize, $400, goes to Professor Julius Beltowski.

Popiel's design represents Kosciusko as an engineer, with a map in one hand and a glass in the other. At the front and rear of the pedestal are hemispheres guarded by eagles, one showing the continent of America and the other those of Europe, Asia and Africa. To the right is a group of Polish citizens—the peasant soldiers—and to the left a group of American fighting men.

Dancing Popular.

Washington is carried away this winter with an uncontrollable desire to dance. It is said that not for years has there been anything like such a craze for dancing as the society of the capital is now manifesting. Just what the explanation is is not agreed on fully. It is conceded, however, that the remarkably large number of debu[illegible]

Loses His Head.

At a banquet of clergymen recently the subject of absent-minded people was under discussion and yarns ancient and of recent origin were told by several speakers.

It is seldom that ministers compete with one another to tell stories that task the credulity of their hearers, but upon this occasion the Rev. Dr. Dana, pastor of the Walnut Street Presbyterian church, carried off the honors.

"There was a physician whose absent-mindedness was so marked that it often caused queer complications," said Dr. Dana. "Why, when he was married the minister told him to place the wedding ring on his bride's finger.

"He reached for her, felt her pulse, and as it was very naturally beating faster than normal, exclaimed: 'Let me see your tongue.'"—Philadelphia Record.

The Pain Family

You know them; they are numerous, and make their presence felt everywhere. The names of the family are Headache, Toothache, Earache, Backache, Stomach-ache, Neuralgia, etc. They are sentinels that warn you of any derangement of your system. When the brain nerves become exhausted or irritated, Headache makes you miserable; if the stomach nerves are weak, indigestion results, and you double up with pain, and if the more prominent nerves are affected, Neuralgia simply makes life unendurable. The way to stop pain is to soothe and strengthen the nerves. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do this. The whole Pain family yield to their influence. Harmless if taken as directed.

"I find Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills an excellent remedy for overcoming headache, neuralgia and distressing pains of all sorts. I have used them for the past seven years in this capacity with the best of results."

Laxative Iron-ox Tablets

Cure Biliousness

The most common causes of biliousness is some perversion of the functions of the liver, or the retention of bile in the bile duct.

YELLOW SALLOW SKIN IS AN INDICATION OF BILIOUSNESS.

"Laxative Iron-ox Tablets are the best laxative I have ever used. They have cleared up my yellow skin as no other remedy has ever done, and I am 40 lbs. heavier than when I commenced using them." (CAPT.) L. G. CULVER, Soldier's Home, Bath, N. Y.

Laxative Iron-ox Tablets tone and strengthen the bowels, and stimulate the secretions of the liver. If the bowels and liver are active and working harmoniously, waste matter and poisons which cause biliousness, stomach trouble, headache, backache, colds and rheumatism cannot accumulate in the system.

We Will Give a YEAR'S SUBSCRIPTION to GOODALL'S FARMER FREE

To Every One of Our Paid-in-Advance Subscribers.

DO YOU KNOW GOODALL'S FARMER?

It is a large twenty-four page farm weekly, profusely illustrated, and every word in it is interesting to the farmer or raiser of live stock.

WHAT EVERY ISSUE CONTAINS

NEWS — All of the general farm news of the week is published and all agricultural developments are given in detail.

SPECIAL ARTICLES — The leading agricultural college professors contribute each week to this publication and the advice that they give is beneficial to every farmer and raiser of live stock.

EDITORIAL — The editorial page contains articles by men who thoroughly understand agricultural and live stock conditions in America. The editorials are always written with the aim to benefit and assist the American farmer and raiser of live stock.

HOME DEPARTMENT — There is a department edited by Faith Felgar, which is devoted entirely to the interests of women who live on the farm. This department is capably edited and contains much useful knowledge on the art of cooking and keeping a house successfully.

OUR JUNIOR DEPARTMENT — Conducted by Uncle Dudley for the benefit of the younger generation. Contains letters from children from all parts of America and is a department that is of great interest to every boy and girl.

MAGAZINE SECTION — In this department prizes are awarded each week for the best letters on subjects proposed by the Magazine Editor.

FASHIONS — In every issue there is a pattern department. These patterns will be found very useful to the housewife.

OUR LETTER BOX — Readers of GOODALL'S FARMER are constantly writing to the editor and telling of the conditions of crops and stock in their vicinity. Readers may benefit themselves greatly by reading these letters, as it enables them to know just what other farmers are doing and what methods they are adopting to become successful.

LIVE STOCK MARKET — The report of the market on cattle, hogs and sheep is second only to the Drovers Journal. It is reported by the Drovers Journal, which is the recognized authority on the Chicago markets, and it is therefore always reliable and accurate.

HORSE MARKET — The horse market is also reported by the Drovers Journal and gives a full report of the conditions of the horse trade, both in the east as well as in Chicago.

PRODUCE — The produce market is reported by the Drovers Journal produce reporters, who are constantly watching that market and who understand the exact conditions. The market is given in detail and is always accurate.

GRAIN — The grain market is reported by the grain reporters on the Drovers Journal, who make a study of the grain trade and who are also always in touch with the exact conditions of that market.

COMIC PAGE — Last, but not least, there is a comic section in GOODALL'S FARMER, which is a source of amusement to both the old and young.

N. B.—All subscriptions to Goodall's Farmer stop when time expires.

OUR OFFER

If your subscription to our paper is paid until July 1, 1907, or later, simply send in your name and tell us to whom we shall send Goodall's Farmer one year (to yourself or to some one else) and we will do so without one cent of cost to you. If your time is not paid beyond July 1, 1907, send in your renewal or new subscription and we will send a year's subscription to Goodall's Farmer free to any address you name. If you have not seen a sample copy of Goodall's Farmer we will be glad to give or send you one.
