LAW ENFORCEMENT

Our republic owes it's life and existance to law. When the majesty of law is upheld there is always a clearer atmosphere of morality than under other conditions. Anarchy is the dreaded enemy of civic life, whether it be in village, city, state or national government. Anything that savors of Anarchy is disorder, confusion, hence when laws are disobeyed in defiance of any expressed act or will, it becomes disorder, and thus it must be Anarchy. The recent uprising of the people all over the county is a healthful indication. We are interested Supremely in that which concerns us in our locality. Law enforcement is the foundation of our comfort. No man, or body of men have any right to do that which infringes on the rights of another. "Law," Blackstone says, "is that which is created for the well being of the individual or community." Hence law is meant for the welfare of the community, therefore the proposition is that which is mot for the good of the individual or community is against law. Excise laws were made to be obeyed, but that is not all. There are other laws evidently broken with impunity that need to be enforced. So in the recent uprising of our citizens, with their liberal fund with which to prosecute, it is hoped that law enforcement will not confine itself to one species of law breaking but will take a wider scope and see to it that officers enforce every statute. For, as President Roosevelt said, "Either have the Statute enforced or take it off the books." An aroused citizenship is a terror to evil doers, and public sentiment which has so often recently been defied, has slept long but now the voice of the people will be heard and there are indications that no cajoleing or trickery by underground methods will be countenanced but the will of the people will be obeyed even if those same people compel enforcement. This is a healthful condition. It is the dawning of a new day. It means better things. While all that is wished for may not be accomplished, it cannot go back again to the depths it was. Every officer elected, we believe, wishes to obey the will of the people and when the people make known their wishes emphatically, there will be no trouble.

To Cut Campaign Expenses

The Assembly has unanimously passed the Phillips Campaign Expense Bill and it is expected the Governor will sign it if it gets to him. Some opposition is expected from the Senate. If this bill becomes a law it will revolutionize the conduct of elections. The bill limits the amount of expense of candidates for all kinds of elective officers all over the State from Governor to Village Trustee.

ANNUAL CONVENTION

Political Equality Club of Allegany County Hold Session at Scio, May 2nd.

The 15th Annual Convention of the Allegany County Political Equality Club will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church at Scio, Thursday, May 2nd. There will be three sessions, the first at 10 a. m. Mrs Rachel Foster Avery of Philadelphia, First Vice President of the National Woman's Suffrage Association will conduct a question box in the afternoon and give an address in the evening. Mrs. Ella Hawley Crossett, President of the State Suffrage Association will be present and speak both afternoon and evening. Other good speakers are engaged and an interesting convention is assured. The general public is invited whether believers in political equality or not.

Government Is Too Far From The People.

By Rear Admiral FRENCH E. CHADWICK, U. S. N., Retired.

THE difficulty today is that the people have been set aside by circumstances which are too complex to deal with at large, but the chief of which, I think, is the fact that our government, state and national, is not TRULY REPRESENTATIVE. We elect representatives, but through our failure to fix responsibility for legislation anywhere our representatives are secure in office for their full term. Our legislation is formulated in the secrecy of the committee room, and however much the populace may murmur WE MUST TAKE WHAT WE ARE OFFERED.

THE FAILURE TO ADOPT THE ENGLISH PRINCIPLE OF A RESPONSIBLE CABINET IS ACCOUNTABLE FOR MUCH OF OUR FAILURE TO KEEP POWER IN THE HANDS OF THE PEOPLE.

Until we shall have enabled every citizen to have his just weight in every proposition or in electing a representative to speak for him and to bring that representative promptly to account we shall be in the slough of half failure. The thing before us today is to organize a machinery which shall bring the POPULAR WILL into operation.

I should be opposed to the Galveston system of government by commission, whatever its efficiency, on the broad ground that I believe that such methods strike at the root of popular government and that its general application would tend to subvert the whole structure of our government. The instant you stop working TOWARD AN IDEAL you go backward, and our ideal has been the taking part by every citizen in our governmental affairs.

Women form about one-fifth of the municipal electorate in Great Britain. This is simply justice. Every taxpayer, MAN OR WOMAN, resident or nonresident, should have a vote in municipal matters just as they have in other stock corporations. I do not suggest by this plurality voting. I mean that each should have ONE vote. It is right. It is justice. Women taxpayers pay about 40 per cent of our taxes in Newport. They contribute tens of thousands to the city's expense, but they are wholly debarred from saying who shall be on the committee TO EXPEND THIS MONEY. You might with quite as much justice exclude them from voting their stock in the railroad.

I am not in favor of woman suffrage as generally understood. The two questions stand on a wholly different footing. General political suffrage applied to woman would simply double our present difficulties and give to woman a RIGHT which would be pretty much a mere ABSTRACTION.

I, for one, deprecate the excessive, indiscriminate self laudation to which we are so prone. It is ridiculous in the face of the facts.

LET US PRAISE THAT WHICH IS PRAISEWORTHY, AND THERE IS MUCH, BUT DO NOT LET US LOSE SIGHT OF OUR FAULTS.

Some Facts About Our Educational System.

By Dr. W. J. SHEARER, Superintendent of Schools, Elizabeth, N. J.

SCIENTIFIC examination of several thousands of children by skilled specialists and teachers in many cities proves the following:

The number reported upon as dull increases steadily year by year until IN THE HIGHEST GRAMMAR GRADE it is 350 per cent greater than in the first year.

The number reported upon as nervous increases 100 per cent in the same time.

The number reported upon as dull in arithmetic increases 400 per cent in five years.

THE NUMBER REPORTED UPON AS HAVING DEFECTIVE EYESIGHT INCREASES 350 PER CENT IN SEVEN YEARS.

The number reported upon as unruly increases 400 per cent in eight years.

The number reported upon as lazy increases 1,000 per cent in seven years.

Is it any wonder that a late New York report acknowledges that 192,000 pupils are FROM ONE TO SEVEN YEARS BEHIND THE PROPER GRADE, while another authority undertakes to show that seven out of ten pupils enrolled are behind their grade and, therefore, backward pupils?

At the time of promotion from 20 to 50 per cent fail to be promoted, thereby losing six months or a year, though the majority are not more than A FEW WEEKS behind their classmates. There is absolutely no defense for this enormous loss of time. If pupils are one month behind they should lose ONE MONTH, not six months or a year.

NEW YORK CITY HAS BEEN MENTIONED FOR THE REASON THAT THE CONDITIONS ARE TYPICAL OF MOST CITIES, THOUGH NO WORSE.

Coin of the Realm Is Moral.

By Dr. C. W. NEEDHAM, President of George Washington University.

THERE IS NO SUCH THING AS TAINTED MONEY.

What is it that taints money anyway? I know what some people say about it. They say that the wrong conduct of a holder ATTACHES TO THE MONEY and that the money is thereafter unfit for service. Human conduct in acquiring money does not attach to or mix in the coin nor lessen nor weaken its promise to pay upon the bank notes. There is always the question OF OWNERSHIP. The man who gives MUST OWN IT. But there is no such thing as tainted money. Good MORAL MONEY—that is, coin of full weight and live promises to pay—gold coin, is good ANYWHERE in any man's hand.

"TRUTH TAKES NO PASSING SHADOW TO ITSELF," AND MONEY CANNOT BECOME IMPREGNATED BY THE DEEDS OF PASSING USERS.
