FAILURE

"Failure is that which has been unsuccessful"—says Webster. Failure—portrayed by the man whom no one believes; pictured vividly in the distressed face of a Wall Street inhabitant; carved in the heart of a criminal. What does failure bring?

Failure may bring a strange, new kind of hope. To the green writer, who has unsuccessfully tried to sell his first novel, failure produces a sort of burning, passionate hope. Failure may bring complete defeat. To the one, who has tried, and tried hard, failure is the last and final bitter straw. Failure may become the goad to success. To those who attempted once and failed, failure spurs on to the last and greatest try and makes them win thru mere personal force and vitality. Failure is that which makes great people greater and potential great ones weaker. Failure is the quality that shows a person for what he really is. Can he stand a nerve wracking trial a rushing defeat? Can he, and still come out on top? Those who can make our real Americans! Those who can't—one never knows.

So when you meet, as you all will, a person whose eyes, sagging shoulders, and distressed lips tell you that it very hard for him to pick out the definition of failure will you be able to bear in mind the above? Keep in mind it may be your defeat, your failure, tomorrow.

Purple Panthers Outclass Almond

A. H. S. Basketeers Score 39-4 on Opponents' Court, Thus Remaining Undefeated

Defensive records were established as Almond, playing on her own court, failed to make a field goal in either of two games against the Andover first and second teams last Friday. Andover swept to victory by scores of 39 to 4 for first team and 17 to 1 for second team. All Almond scores came by virtue of foul shots.

On offense, George Joyce piled up a total of 23 points, playing only half the game. He was assisted by the best passwork of the season by the rest of the team. Andover's fast break was also an essential factor in the victory. Andover's offense against a set defense was not as good as expected but more practice should remedy this.

Twelve men were used in the game, giving practice to next year's "crop."

In the second game Leo Nobles was high scorer with a total of six points. This team also made its best showing of the season. Box summary follows:

Purple Panthers to Match Belmont

The Andover basketball squad will play here on Friday, Dec. 9 against the Belmont five. The first game, the preliminary between the Andover and the Belmont seconds will start at 7:15.

It is very probable that the Belmont game will not be like the two previous games which Andover won easily. This will be Belmont's second game, the first being played with Friendship, a Class B school. Belmont was defeated by only one point, after a severe battle. However, Andover will try to continue to push on to more decisive victories.

Following this game a game has been scheduled between the Andover town team and the Alfred Aggies.

All games will prove exciting, so come and cheer your home team on to victory.

Blackfriars to Hold Meeting Dec. 14

Members Are Asked to Bring Gift—Play is Main Attraction

The Blackfriars, Andover High School dramatic club, will hold their Christmas party during the evening of Dec. 14 in the gymnasium. Each member is requested to bring a tencent gift, suitable for any member, to Mary Teresa Burns.

The play, "The Birds' Christmas Carol," will be presented by members of the club, as the main attraction of the program. The cast includes Delores Farwell, as Ma Ruggles, with John Howland, Charlotte Coryell, James Driscoll, John Ahrens, Wanda Dolan, Kenneth Gath and Eleanor Northrup as the "young Ruggles."

Santa Claus, as yet unknown, will be present and all members will sing carols, play games and enjoy refreshments.

Dues must be paid before December 14 or members will be automatically dropped from the club.

If everyone comes prepared for a good time he is sure to have it!

A. H. S. Girls Hold Play Day

Ring-Stick Hockey is Innovation

Forty girl students participated in the first play day of the season, held in the Andover gym Saturday afternoon, Dec. 3. Schools which were representatives were: Wellsville, Alfred, Almond, Whitesville and of course, Andover.

The program consisted of many active games, but the most outstanding event was the new game, ring-stock hockey, offered by Mr. Holmes. This game caused much merriment and gave the teams real healthy exercise. The ring-stick hockey game was refereed by Inez Kemp. The volley ball by Nancy Snyder.

Captains of each team reported scores for each game to the official scorekeepers in the balcony. The members of the winning team which chanced to be the Red, each received a bar of candy.

The players and visiting faculty then adjourned to the homemaking house for refreshments.

The play day ended with singing and dancing. The whole afternoon may go down in the annals of A. H. S. history as a complete success due to the fine co operation of the committees, players and faculty.

Wanted . . . More Fans

(Thoughts of a Ball Player)

For a town the size of Andover, it seems that we don't have our share of active basketball fans. We have the teams, but not so much public support as we should like to have.

We don't know what is stopping you from coming to our games unless it is the "depression," but it doesn't seem to us that that "darn" thing would stop anyone any more. It has been with us so long that most of us have forgotten it exists. Any way, if it is the depression that is keeping you from our home basketball games, and you feel that you should get a lot more than ordinary for your money, this Friday is the time of all times to come to a basketball game! You will see not two, but three fast and exciting games. Drop everything and come to this chance in a thousand! Why not be even thriftier and buy a season ticket to all the home games for a dollar.

The Home Economics nine class also finished their study of lunches last Friday. On the last day of their study they prepared a very successful lunch. The menu consisted of scalloped corn, drop biscuits and Ambrasia.

The boys were examined earlier in the year.

Select New Cheer-leaders

After much discussion and debate on the part of the judges, three new cheerleaders for the 1938-39 season were finally chosen. They are Edna Honegger, Bernadine Briggs and Regina Richardson.

Together with Josephine Butler, Marion Burgett and Teresa Burns, they will do their part in helping the team "go to the top" this year.

As there was such a large delegation when the first call for cheerleaders went out, it was difficult to select three from the group

Hi Herald Holds First Party

Campaign for New Members Successful

A highly successful party was given by the Hi Herald last Wednesday evening as the result of a very successful campaign for new members. About 41 were present, including faculty and new members.

An evening of singing playing of games and dancing was enjoyed by the new members after refreshments were served. Talks by Miss Barrett and Mr. Bretsch followed by a short business meeting.

After a rather lengthy time, the editor, Don Oakes, arrived with his ever present "sidekick" Clyde Briggs and served a suitable luncheon of cookies and ice cream.

The party was brought to a close with a song and a dance, and the staff hopes its new members will enjoy working on the Hi Herald

Grade News

Pupils Make Presents for Mothers

The first graders have been making Christmas presents for their mothers during art class. These cannot be described or the secret will be given away, but it may be said that they are very useful.

The sand table in the first grade depicts the scene "The Birth of Christ." Four lovely pictures are placed above this scene representing various scenes of Christ's life. The bulletin board is titled "Santa Claus is Coming to Town." Under the title are placed three pictures: A proud father reading a Christmas story to his two happy children; a girl hugging the dolls she has received for Christmas and thirdly, a lot of toys under a Christmas tree.

The fifth grade pupils are making booklets in which are inserted Christmas poems. Some of them are original.

In the sixth grade room a chart entitled "Class Progress in Arithmetic" can be seen. It shows the average of the arithmetic marks with a thermometer.

Around A. H. S. With C. Coryell

Congratulations, Leo, for making the first basket of the season, and to George J. for the first basket made by a member of the first team.

The high school girls will have to learn that it is necessary to furnish for play day, whether they play or not.

Let's hope the basketball season continues as well as it has begun!

Oh, where, or where, did the pickles go last Saturday?

It isn't very nice to have one's books taken away even if it's for fun. It will mean a lot if one has to buy new books.

Delores and I went in the French II class last Friday and had a chance to brush up on French.

The Hi Herald party stimulated interest in newspaper work. Let's keep up that interest.

Dick Clair's picture of the play cast turned out very well.

I've found out that Charlie Spicer can wipe dishes. How dry they are is the next question.

Some of the students at the Hi Herald party didn't seem to like to rub noses in the match box relay.

It would be interesting to know whether basketball or dancing is the favorite recreation in A. H. S.

The girls at play day seem to like ring stick hockey. Inez had a job to teach them, but she managed fine!

The new columns "News in Review" is a very good feature for the Hi Herald. Let's continue it.

So far it's a mystery to me, why and when Elsbeth is taken away from the inn. Maybe the second act of the operetta will explain the mystery.

Can't there be a bigger crowd at the basketball games?

I can't help but wonder which of the two teams, the American or the Nationals will win the magazine contest. Baseball is a good game.

Mr. Ruggles certainly has a hard time getting her family of seven children ready to go to a Christmas dinner. Such names as the children have: Sara Maud, Cornelius, Percy and Clem, Kitty, Larry and Peter aren't bad names, but those other four! This interesting family will be at school the week of the 16th.

The article about mirages in the December issue of Reader's Digest is excellent. Maybe mirages are what we students see sometimes.

Let us all help make the new student in the Freshman homeroom feel at home immediately.

I hear there's going to be a Dramatic Club party the 14th.

Bud Dolan said that Houghton College was the nearest place to heaven. It has an elevation of 1,400 feet.

There seems to be more boys interested in Fredonia than there are girls!

The English IV class isn't enjoying the "Deserted Village." I wonder why?

Juniors Hold Magazine Contest

Americans Lead With Score Of Eleven

The "All-Star" Series is being held this week by the members of the Junior Class who are selling magazine subscriptions. The class is divided into two fighting teams, the Americans with a score of eleven and the Nationals with a score of ten. The leaders are Betty Greene for the Americans and Veronica Lynch for the Nationals. Jessie Burger was chosen business manager.

Each subscription sold counts one point for the side the person is on. Since this is one of the money-making events for the Juniors, it is hoped that all desiring magazine subscriptions, either for themselves or for Christmas gifts, will permit some Junior to take their order.

Guess Who

One can see emerging from the school bus every morning this person who is a very popular young lady in the promising Freshman Class. One will always find her surrounded by her many friends and too, she always has that pretty, cheerful smile to give to one. The person is short with reddish brown hair, and with fair complexion, with a few freckles dotted her and there. She belongs to the dramatic club and is also a member of the Girls' Glee Club.

Who is she?

One of America's most famous orchestras play the ten most popular songs, according to their popularity. Songs that have lived for years are styled and played as extras. Some famous person is presented as a guest and you can always listen to the "chant of the tobacco auctioneer." The result "Your Lucky Strike Hit Parade."

Movie: "Five of a Kind."

Next Friday and Saturday, Shirley Temple will return in "Little Miss Marker." The second feature will be "The Plainsman."
