BOTH PHONES.

Concerning Pennant Prospects.

The baseball manager waved his hand As he talked to the sporting ed., Then bit the end from a big cigar, And these are the words he said:

"We've got a team that is sure a scream from center field to sub.
You'd vainly seek for a spot that's weak; there isn't a single scrub.
We've raked the land with a fine tooth comb.
They come from afar, and we plucked 'em at home.
It stands that way; just say for mine That we'll bring home the pennant in nineteen-nine.

"There's Spike McGlue, from Kalamazoo, who hit .500 in nineteen-five,
And Mickey James, who played with Ames and got ten homers in seven games.
Together with Jones, whom Cleveland owns, let I get him for sixteen hundred bones.
These few I call to your attention, with others too numerous to mention.
Our captain's a wiz on the coaching line. We've a clerk on the pennant for nineteen-nine."

These things the baseball manager said In the pattern days of the sporting ed., But the manager knew, and the editor knew,
And the public knew when the story came through.
That only a clairvoyant could divine Who'd win the pennant in nineteen-nine.

Enlarging Your Business

If you are in business and you want to make more money you will read every word we have to say. Are you spending your money for advertising in haphazard fashion as if intended for charity, or do you advertise for direct results?

Did you ever stop to think how your advertising can be made a source of profit to you, and how its value can be measured in dollars and cents. If you have not, you are throwing money away.

Advertising is a modern business necessity, but must be conducted on business principles. If you are not satisfied with your advertising you should set aside a certain amount of money to be spent annually, and then carefully note the effect it has in increasing your volume of business; whether a 10, 20 or 30 per cent increase. If you watch this gain from year to you will become intensely interested in your advertising, and how you can make it enlarge your business.

If you try this method we believe you will not want to let a single issue of this paper go to press without something from your store.

We will be pleased to have you call on us, and we will take pleasure in explaining our annual contract for so many inches, and how it can be used in whatever amount that seems necessary to you.

If you can sell goods over the counter we can also show you why this paper will best serve your interests when you want to reach the people of this community.

Why It's Worth While

You want the best FURNITURE you can get for the least money, don't you? Then let us show you ours. We are just out of the high rent district, expenses are low and we buy in big quantities. For that reason prices are 10 to 20 per cent lower than other stores. Is that worth saving? Come here and let us satisfy your Furniture needs. If it is Furniture, we've got it.

DEHORNING WITH SAW.

tration shows the animal and the operator in position for the dehorning operation by this method. It is a good plan before commencing the real work to experiment upon an animal in the matter of control by snubbing the head to the stanchion rail as described.

If the stanchion rail is too wide to permit of properly securing the lower part as well as the upper part of the animal's head, the turn of the rope around the muzzle may be omitted and the last lap of the rope carried around the stanchion rail to the front and to the hands of the assistant. The rope should pass each time over the neck of the animal to the stanchion rail, so that the laps are between the horns in order that the rope may not interfere with the work of the saw.

It is not usual to apply any preparation after the operation of dehorning to prevent bleeding, as the loss of blood is not sufficient, as a rule, to be of consequence. Care should be taken, however, to prevent substances from getting into the openings left after the horns are removed. The horn cores are elongations of the frontal bones of the skull and are hollow. They communicate with the frontal sinuses, or air spaces, of the head. Therefore substances which would act as an irritant in these cavities are not to set up an inflammation, resulting in the formation of pus or an abscess, which may prove quite serious. Fragments of horn detached in the process of dehorning would serve as such irritant and by their presence in these cavities cause inflammation.

If the animals are dehorned when the flies are about, it is well to apply some pine tar with a view to keeping the flies from the wounds. Some operators do this in nearly all cases, thinking that it facilitates healing. The dehorning operation should always when possible be performed in cool weather and upon animals which have at least attained the age of two years.

Inquiries are frequently received as to whether the operation is painful and whether it may not be classed as cruelty to animals. Those who have had extensive experience in dehorning appear to agree that the pain induced by the operation has been greatly overestimated, as careful observation has shown that shrinkage in the milk yield following the dehorning of cows as well as the decrease in the butter fat yield are very temporary and insignificant. On the other hand, the worry, pain and cruelty often inflicted by cattle upon their mates before being deprived of their horns is much more to be considered.

RADIUM BREAKS DOWN DISEASE OF CATTLE.

Chicago Doctors Tell of Marvelous Radio-thor.

FORMED FROM PITCHBLENDE

Said to Be Cheaper and Better Than Radium—Efficacious in Many Diseases—Cures Treated Twice Or Three Times as Long as Others.

At a recent session in New Orleans of the Southern Homeopathic Medical association Dr. E. S. Bailey of the Hahnemann Medical college, Chicago, announced the discovery of "radiothor," declared to have all the properties of radium without its baneful effects and to be moderate in price. It was described as being made from a certain species of pitchblende of which twenty tons have been discovered near a Colorado pitchblende. He found that this blende contained an element possessing many of the qualities of radium and that when this element was applied to the backs of patients suffering from locomotor ataxia and similar diseases it effected quick cures. He said he was not alone in his experiments, for a chemist attached to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington had analyzed the pitchblende and found that it contained ten or twelve more or less rare elements.

He then distributed among the members of the association some of the "radio-thor," which had the appearance of a partially fused metal and gave out a phosphorus-like glow.

Dr. F. H. Blackmar of Hahnemann Medical college of Chicago gave further details of the discovery of "radiothor." Dr. Blackmar was associated with Dr. Bailey in making tests.

"One of the most curious experiments with the new substance," said Dr. Blackmar, "was the taking of a photograph through a stove lid on which some radio-thor had been spread. The powerful rays of this element enabled the light to pass through the iron plate, thus permitting a photograph of a number of pennies and other articles on the opposite side.

"Its basis is pitchblende, but with this element are mingled others whose names I do not care to disclose at this time. Some of them are so rare that we keep them in a safety deposit vault. The new element, while far from being inexpensive, will be within the reach of everybody who needs it for treatment. Its action is quite as efficient as that of radium. There is not enough radium in the whole world to treat all the people who need its curative properties.

"The therapeutic value of our radiothor, or thorid-x, has been established beyond question in the fourteen months that we have been using it for the treatment of diseases. It never has failed to give relief, and in many cases it has cured. Some of the diseases on which it acts successfully are cancer, tuberculosis of the skin, ulcers, birthmarks and nervous affections. Its rays are as effective as those of radium, although it does not act so quickly. Its moderate action keeps it from being harmfully caustic, as radium is likely to be when in the hands of unskilled persons. It has the same selective power as radium—that is, seems to act only on tissues which are diseased, having no effect on healthy tissues.

"I should not like to suggest that in this discovery may at last be found the means for indefinite prolongation of human life by arresting the processes of decay, yet it is a fact that experiments we have made indicate an extraordinary power in the new agent to prolong life.

"Several months ago I took two small boxes of chrysalides—ordinary moth millers. One of the boxes I subjected to a radio-thor exposure. The other was not exposed. I did this to demonstrate my theory, now a recognized fact, that the emanations of radio-thor were preventive of tissue degeneration. The result was astounding. Those moths in the unexposed box developed as usual, lived their natural term of life and died. Those exposed lived three times as long as the others.

"In perhaps a more remarkable instance I treated a Chicago man very prominently known for tubercular pleurisy. I injected the radio-thor in solution. After three injections the man was cured. He has remained well, and there has been no return of the tubercular condition. Perhaps I shall be told that this cure was due to suggestive therapeutics.

"We have found that the waters of most of the principal foreign springs to which people flock for treatment are radio-active, which explains their curative quality. For instance, Marienbad, the Mecca of fifty Edward of England, has enjoyed great radio-activity. If we can only discover how to maintain the radio-active principle in solution so that the solution does not lose its value with time, we shall have come very close to knowledge of how to fight off death indefinitely.

"The use of injections to arrest senility, to regenerate and rejuvenate the aged, to re-establish balance in disordered functions, will certainly come as we familiarize ourselves with the use of the new product."

ALMOST DEAD

Suffered to Exhaustion by Vinol

"I was run down and weak from indigestion and general debility, also suffered from vertigo. I saw a good liver preparation called Vinol advertised and decided to give it a trial, and the results were most gratifying. After taking two bottles I regained my strength and am now feeling unusually well." Mrs. Thornington, Elder Baptist Church, Kingston, N. C.

Vinol is not a patent medicine—but a preparation composed of the medicinal elements of cods' livers, combined with a tonic iron and wine. Vinol creates a hearty appetite, tones up the organs of digestion and makes rich, red blood. In this natural manner, Vinol creates strength for the run-down, overworked and debilitated, and for delicate children and old people. For chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis Vinol is unexcelled.

All such persons in this vicinity are asked to try Vinol on our offer to refund their money if it fails to give satisfaction.

Damp Stables.

Damp stables are caused by a lack of sufficient circulation of air to take up the moisture. When the barber wishes to dry your face quickly he uses a fan to circulate the air about your face and thus take up the moisture. Every cow is throwing off from twenty to ten pounds of water every twenty-four hours. It will condense on cold walls unless sufficient fresh air is circulated through the stable and often enough to dry it up. There is no other way to take up this moisture or prevent it. In regard to the temperature of a stable, keep it at 50 to 55 degrees. But in all these things a stable must be properly ventilated.

Points For the Shepherd.

Oats, wheat bran, linseed meal, clover hay and roots are the best foods for breeding ewes.

No young animal will attain to its good results as the one liberally fed. This applies to lambs as well as other animals.

Sheep are dainty feeders. They will not eat hay that other creatures have mussed over. They refuse grain taken from a rutted crib.

An excellent plan in handling sheep is to provide well protected yards into which they may be turned on fine days and have a shed for the stormy, blustery weather.

Put the unthrifty appearing ewes by themselves and give a little extra food. Perhaps they are suffering from the greed of the bosses in the flock and are not getting a full ration.

"Incurable" Heart Disease Soon Cured

BY THE GREAT SPECIALIST IN TREATING WEAK AND DISEASED HEARTS, FRANKLIN MILES M. D., LL. B.

Who Will Send $2.50 Worth of Special Treatment and New Book Free

To demonstrate the remarkable curative powers of his new and complete Special Treatment for heart disease, short breath, pain in the side oppression in the chest, irregular pulse, palpitation, smothering spells, puffing of the ankles or dropsy, Dr. Miles, will send, free, to every afflicted person, $2.50 worth of treatment. The worst cases soon relieved.

They are the result of 28 years of extensive research and remarkable success in treating the various ailments of the heart, stomach and nerves, which so often complicate each case. So astonishing are the results of his treatment that he does not hesitate to offer all afflicted persons a two-pound Trial Treatment free.

Certainly nothing could be more generous. Few physicians have such confidence in their treatments. There is no reason why all afflicted persons should not avail themselves of this liberal offer, as they may never have such an opportunity again. Delays are dangerous. No death comes more suddenly than that from heart disease.

Mr. J. B. Hann, 119 W. Maryland St., Indianapolis, Ind., cured after 2 physicians failed. Mrs. Elvina Sonders, Decatur, Neb. After 10 failed. Mr. P. W. Runyan, Spencer, Iowa, after 3 failed. Mr. L. A. Prout, Lisbon Falls, Me., after 11 failed. Mrs. Mary Delhart, Greenville, Pa., after 11 failed. Other cures from your state sent on request. Many cured after 5 to 15 physicians and professors had pronounced them "incurable."

Send to Dr. Franklin Miles, Dept. H. 290 to 300 Main St., Elkhart, Indiana, at once, for Heart Book, Examination chart, Opinion and Free Treatment. Describe your disease. 11

Stir of Theatrical Performance at Which President Eliot Was Present.

While visiting his brother in New York recently President Eliot Taft went to the Bijou theatre a few minutes after the curtain had risen. When he appeared in a box the crowd began to applaud and some of the audience cheered. During the performance of "A Gentleman From Mississippi" he sat well to the front of the box, and it was an open question which the crowd enjoyed the more, the play or the sight of Mr. Taft laughing.

The bit of the performance—was when Tom Wise, as the senator from Mississippi, remarked:

"Because I'm fat you needn't think I haven't a mind and will of my own."

There was an outburst of applause, which was redoubled when the senator's secretary added, "Besides, senator, we hope a fat man will make a good president."

Mr. Taft laughed as loudly as anybody else and bowed his acknowledgment to the audience.

Distress From an Upset Stomach

ALSO MISERY FROM INDIGESTION VANISHES FIVE MINUTES LATER.

Take your stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangle and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your stomach misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fulness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, billousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness, and many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle, and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is undigested food.

Prove to yourself, after your next meal, that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

Feeding the Calf.

The aim in calf feeding should always be to prevent scours, and that is one of the things which should be watched closely. This ailment in skim-milk calves is the result of indigestion brought on, as a rule, by overfeeding, but also by feeding skimmilk in poor condition and from dirty pails. Every feeder of skimmilk to calves must sooner or later learn this lesson. He must learn that if the calf has scours the feeder is not doing his work right. In the case of scours reform your system of feeding instead of purchasing the many remedies advertised, and in dairy farming one of the important qualifications is the learning not only of making but of saving money. There are numerous and most excellent home remedies for scours, and I do not venture a recommendation. In my experience of rearing several hundred pure bred calves we have not had to exceed a dozen cases of scours, and these were in our early experience. One or two raw eggs broken into a calf's mouth have cured such cases.—T. A. Borman at Missouri State Dairy Association.

Pneumonia often follows La Grippe but never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar, for la grippe coughs and deep seated colds. Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package.

Many Will Be Helped By It

THIS TOWN HAS ITS SHARE OF DREAD DISEASE WHICH IS SAID TO YIELD TO SIMPLE HOME RECIPE.

To relieve the worst forms of Rheumatism, take a teaspoonful of the following mixture after each meal and at bedtime.

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

These harmless ingredients can be obtained from our home druggists, and are easily mixed by shaking them well in a bottle. Relief is generally felt from the first few doses.

This prescription forces the clogged up, inactive kidneys to filter and strain from the blood the poisonous waste matter and uric acid, which causes Rheumatism.

As Rheumatism is not only the most painful and torturous disease, but dangerous to life, this simple recipe will no doubt be greatly valued by many sufferers here at home, who should at once prepare the mixture to get this relief.

It is said that a person who would take this prescription regularly, a dose or two daily, or even a few times a week, would never have a serious Kidney or Urinary disorders or Rheumatism.

Cut this out and preserve it. Good Rheumatism prescriptions which really relieve are scarce, indeed, and when you need it, you want it badly.

THREE BALLOON POLAR DASH

G. F. Nitzsche Proposes to Use an Aeroplane Also.

George E. Nitzsche, head of the department of publicity of the University of Pennsylvania, is making preparations for a dash to the north pole next July by means of balloons and an aeroplane, says a Philadelphia dispatch. Undeterred by the fate of Andree and the failure of Wellman, Mr. Nitzsche will make the attempt along novel lines. He will carry to the island of Spitzbergen three balloons and probably in addition an aeroplane.

After closely following the experiments of Count Zeppelin and the Wright brothers Mr. Nitzsche is convinced that one airship will carry two men and baggage with ease besides the operator. One other of the remaining two airships will carry a large quantity of gasoline, to be used by the fleet for fuel, while the remaining balloon will carry provisions and the scientific apparatus. The aeroplane will be used as a scout and probably will be left at Spitzbergen when the expedition makes its dash north.

The balloons and all equipments will be carried in sections to Spitzbergen by a special steamship and will be put together on the island. The steamship will wait at the island until the return of the exploring party.

Hexamethylenetetramine

The above is the name of a German chemical, which is one of the many valuable ingredients of Foley's Kidney Remedy. Hevamethylenetetramin is recognized by medical text books and authorities as a uric acid solvent and antiseptic for the urine. Take Foley's Kidney Remedy as soon as you notice any irregularities, and avoid a serious malady.

Variation in Milk Flow.

It was found at the Nebraska experiment station that as a rule, the variation in milk flow in individual cows from year to year was due to length of lactation and rest before freshening. A long lactation period favors a large milk production; also a long period of rest before freshening brings the same result.

Trouble and Kidney Disease Go Hand in Hand.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; if a sediment or settling forms, or if there is a cloudy appearance to the water, indicating a disordered condition of the kidneys, backache is generally the first of these troubles, for the back aches when the kidneys are sick. Other symptoms are: too frequent desire to pass it or pain in passing it, or bed wetting. Doan's Kidney Pills cure all these ailments.
