GRANGE MASTER Henry D. Sherwood, in his annual address to the representatives of more than 143,000 members in N. Y. state, this week at Syracuse, restated some plain truths that many of us are prone to forget these days. He pointed out that while we complain of the influence of government and government controls on our lives, we forget that we ourselves are the government, and only about half of us entitled to vote ever go to the polls to express our opinions. This is true whether it be a town or school matter, or selecting a President.

Mr. Sherwood traced the development of Grange policy, which comes from the "voice of an individual in some Subordinate Grange, and that voice will combine with others to bring a thought into reality, and so does the Grange work, in such a democratic manner that it has won the respect of agricultural leaders, legislators and others in places of responsibility."

As is customary each year N. Y. State Grange promotes a practical Farm Practice Project of benefit to all, farmers, rural and town folk, all members of the family. For 1952 Mr. Sherwood announced that the program would be "Better Gardens for Better living." Predicting success for the project, as the grass silage, farm pond, birdsfoot trefoil and landscaping practices had been in past years, he said that details of the plan would be carried to the Granges through presentations at Deputy and Lecturers' Schools.

State Master Sherwood suggested that people do not take enough interest in elementary school education as evidenced by lack of interest in school meetings. "Education, like government, is an individual responsibility."

With due regard for agricultural progress in which Grange has played so important a part in the past, Mr. Sherwood urged members to be constantly alert to the problems facing us today and in the future. By intelligent study followed by appropriate action, "the voice of the Grange, respected for the clear-cut thinking behind it, will continue to be heard and respected."

Her Suitor-Sir, I came to ask you whether you would object to my marrying your daughter.

Her Father-My boy, you're only 21 and my daughter is 27. Why not wait a few years till you're both the same age?

STATE OF NEW YORK
DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Albany, October 1, 1951

Pursuant to the provisions of section seventy-two of the Election Law, the following Proposed Amendments to the Constitution numbers One to Eight, inclusive, will be submitted to the voters of the State for approval at the General Election on November sixth, nineteen hundred and fifty-one.

THOMAS J. CURRAN,
Secretary of State.

Abstract of Proposed Amendment Number One

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to permit electors in the actual military service of the state or of the United States in the army, navy, air force or any branch thereof or in the coast guard, to vote, despite absence from their election districts, in time of peace as well as war, and to give the same right to a spouse, parent or child of such electors accompanying them if a qualified voter and a resident of the same election district. The present provision applies only to those in actual military service of the state, or of the United States in the army or navy and is limited to time of war.

Form of Submission of Proposed Amendment Number One

Shall the proposed amendment of article two, section one, of the constitution, in relation to absentee voting privileges of electors in military service and certain members of their immediate families, be approved?

Abstract of Proposed Amendment Number Two

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to exempt from the requirement of personal registration voters in the actual military service of the state, or of the United States, in the army, navy, air force or any branch thereof or in the coast guard, inmates of a veterans' bureau hospital located outside the state of New York, and a spouse, parent or child of such voters accompanying them, if a qualified voter and a resident of the same election district.

Form of Submission of Proposed Amendment Number Two

Shall the proposed amendment to article two, section five, of the constitution, in relation to exempting from the requirement of personal registration voters in military service, inmates of certain veterans' bureau hospitals, and certain members of their immediate families, be approved?

Abstract of Proposed Amendment Number Three

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to empower the legislature to provide for payment of increased pensions to members of a retirement system of the state or of a subdivision of the state.

Form of Submission of Proposed Amendment Number Three

Shall the proposed amendment of article seven, section eight, of the constitution, in relation to the power to increase pensions of members of a retirement system of the state or a subdivision thereof be approved?

Abstract of Proposed Amendment Number Four

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to empower the legislature, without submission to the people, to subject the state to liability for the payment of the bonded indebtedness of a public corporation created to construct state thruways, in a principal amount not to exceed $500,000,000, and to authorize the use of any state canal land and properties by such public corporation.

Form of Submission of Proposed Amendment Number Four

Shall the proposed amendment of article ten of the constitution by adding thereto proposed new section six, in relation to empowering the Legislature by law (a) to make the State liable for the payment of bonds and notes of a public corporation created to construct State thruways, and (b) to authorize the use of State canal lands and properties by such public corporation, be approved?

Abstract of Proposed Amendment Number Five

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to provide for an appeal to the court of appeals from a non-final order of the appellate division in a proceeding by or against one or more public officers, a board, commission or other body of public officers, or a court or tribunal, when the court of appeals allows the same, without regard to the availability of appeal by stipulation for final order upon affirmance.

Form of Submission of Proposed Amendment Number Five

Shall the proposed amendment of Article six, section seven, of the constitution, in relation to appeals to the court of appeals, by permission, from non-final orders in proceedings by or against public officers be approved?

Abstract of Proposed Amendment Number Six

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to base municipal debt limitations upon a five year average of full valuation of taxable real estate rather than upon average assessed valuation as at present; to lower the percentage prescribed in the debt limitation for counties, other than Nassau, and for towns and villages from 8 to 7 per cent; to continue the debt limitation for the City of New York and for the County of Nassau at 10 per cent, and for other cities of 125,000 or more inhabitants at 9 per cent; to establish a debt limitation of 7 per cent for city purposes, excluding education purposes, for cities having less than 125,000 inhabitants; to establish a separate 5 per cent debt limit for school districts wholly or partly within or coterminous with cities of less than 125,000 inhabitants, subject to increase for specified objects or purposes upon approval of a proposition by school district voters and consent of the Regents and State Comptroller, and to include within the school district debt limit city debt contracted for education purposes prior to 1952; to advance the date of partial exclusion of indebtedness for potentially self-sustaining improvements or services to the date the debt is contracted; to authorize the City of New York to exclude from its 10 per cent debt limit (1) indebtedness contracted after January 1, 1952, for the construction and equipment of new rapid transit railroads and for the reconstruction and equipment of existing rapid transit railroads not exceeding $500,000,000, which exclusion may be used only once as such debt is contracted from time to time until it aggregates the permissible maximum (regardless of repayments (i.e., it is non-revolving), and (2) bonded debt for school purposes to the extent to which State aid for common schools, not exceeding $3,500,000, shall be applied by such city in any fiscal year to meet the annual debt service thereon; to authorize the City of New York the provisions of Section 11 under which the amount of taxes for capital improvements or for payment of short-term debt for such improvements may be excluded from the constitutional tax limit upon condition that such amount be deemed indebtedness for the purpose of computing the constitutional debt contracting power in the same manner as though a debt had been incurred payable over the period of probable usefulness of the improvement, and to provide that any amount deemed to be indebtedness of a county, city other than New York, village or school district under that provision shall not be so considered on and after January 1, 1952, and to authorize such other cities, counties, villages and school districts wholly or partly within cities of less than 125,000 inhabitants, to exclude taxes received for direct budgetary appropriation to finance objects or purposes having a period of probable usefulness from their tax limitations unless the Legislature otherwise provides.

Form of Submission of Proposed Amendment Number Six

Shall the proposed amendment of article eight, sections four, five, seven and eleven, of the constitution, in relation to restrictions on the powers of counties, cities, towns, villages, and certain school districts to contract indebtedness and to impose taxes upon real estate, be approved?

Abstract of Proposed Amendment Number Seven

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to increase the monetary jurisdiction of the city court of the city of New York from $3,000 to $6,000. It also revises Section 16 to eliminate obsolete provisions.

Form of Submission of Proposed Amendment Number Seven

Shall the proposed amendment of article six, section fifteen, of the constitution, in relation to increasing the monetary jurisdiction of the city court of the city of New York, be approved?

Abstract of Proposed Amendment Number Eight

The purpose and effect of this proposed amendment is to permit judges of the court of appeals and the justices of the supreme court to serve in any capacity in the armed forces of the United States of America and of the state of New York and to authorize the legislature to provide for temporary judges or justices to serve during their absence in such service. Presently such judges and justices are prohibited from holding any other public office or trust, except that they may serve as members of a constitutional convention.

Form of Submission of Proposed Amendment Number Eight

Shall the proposed amendment of Article six, section nineteen of the Constitution, in relation to permitting judges of the court of appeals and justices of the supreme court to serve in any capacity in the armed forces of the United States of America and of the state of New York, be approved?

Downbeats
By Ann Marvel

As I wandered down the lower hall, I heard music coming from the music department I stopped and listened and heard the Sextet practicing under the direction of of Mr. Holden. At the time they were singing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," but they also sing "With A Smile," "Baa Baa Black Sheep," "Because" and many more. I also found out that Virginia Kibbe has taken the place of Arlene Edwards who graduated with the class of 1951.

The other members are: Carol Nye, Charice Nye, Laura Mae Croyle, Anita Nichols and Marion Milligan. Mary Lou Clark plays the piano for this organization.

If you wonder down the hall some Monday afternoon and you hear music coming from the music department stop and listen because it may be the Sextet practicing.
