LAWNS AS BEAUTIFIERS.

How to Make One With Little Trouble and Repair Old Ones.

Well kept lawns about private residences and public buildings add very materially to the attractiveness of a town. A bit of green here and there will wonderfully improve a barren and desolate section. It does not cost much to make a lawn or repair it, and the work is not hard.

In the spring months is the best time to make a new lawn and to repair an old one. Fertilizer should be applied to grass plots which have been established a few years, and thin portions should be reseeded: If seed has been sown in the fall for a new lawn, watch carefully this spring and reseed those places where the first seeding fails to come up.

In making a new lawn great care should be taken. Prepare the ground as soon as it can be worked. Grade it, smoothing over rough surfaces, making proper level spaces and gentle slopes. If possible the lawn should slope away from the house. The grading should be done to distribute evenly all surface water, avoiding the formation of little runs which might produce washouts.

Enrich the soil with a liberal supply of well rotted manure. This is essential where the soil is lacking in humus; otherwise bonemeal or other good fertilizer is useful. The ground should be plowed or spaded not less than eight inches deep, all stones and similar material removed, lumps broken up and the surface smoothed. Then it is ready for seeding.

Use a good lawn mixture. Four parts Kentucky blue grass with one part white clover, sown not less than five bushels to the acre, is good. Redtop, instead of the blue grass, or equal parts of redtop and blue grass produce good results. Use plenty of seed and nothing but pure seed.

Aid to Civic Welfare.

A church organization of men that will take an interest in the civic welfare of Kansas City was formed at a dinner the other night at the Linwood Boulevard Christian church.

"This club will be a social organization with four other objects besides the civic one," said the Rev. Burris A. Jenkins, pastor of the church. "We desire to promote the social, missionary and Biblical welfare of the church and to increase the membership and attendance. As to civic affairs, we expect to take up matters that concern the public in Kansas City, especially where there is a right and a wrong. Public playgrounds and an undesirable liquor license, as examples, will receive our active support or opposition. Our physician members will interest the club in lectures on pure milk, tuberculosis and the public health generally."

All the News Everything that happens in the home town; the births, marriages, deaths, the social affairs, the comings and goings of the people—your neighbors; the notes of the schools and churches; all these and many other new and interesting things this paper will give you. All the Time

Beautiful new grounds recently laid out and planted with flowers and shrubs improve the appearance of towns very much if care is taken in the selection and arranging of shrubs. Shrubs, like color, are intended as a frame for the yard or garden. They are planted around the borders of the lawn or used to screen the foundation of the house or to fill in corners.

The shrubbery frame for the yard or garden should be formed on the same principle as a picture frame, the border of a rug, etc. It should harmonize with the picture it incloses, and each shrub in the border should harmonize with its companions. Too often no attention is paid to this kind of harmony, and the shrubbery border becomes a thing of shreds and patches, made up of showy bushes, perhaps beautiful plants in themselves, but arranged without regard to the effect of the shape, color and general appearance of one upon the whole.

In choosing shrubs to grow side by side consider the foliage and flowers as carefully as you consider the size and shape of the bush. Do not put large masses of light green foliage next to masses of dark, or you will have a patchy effect. By care in selection as regards flowering season you may be sure of having one or more plants in the border in blossom at all times during the summer. Two shrubs that blossom at the same time should not be placed together if the colors clash. In the summer study your shrubbery border and make notes as to new plants needed, their color, size and flowering season, and also what old plants may profitably be moved. These notes will enable you to work accurately in the fall after the blooming season or in the spring. Care in selecting and arranging the plants in your home grounds will never be regretted.

HIS LAUGH ALWAYS ON TAP.

A Man Around the Golf Links With Nine Jobs—Is a Tonic—Plays With Patience and With Never a Break in Temper.

Of course the real reason President William H. Taft plays golf is because it's golf, and, if you don't believe that, just arrange to have a little talk with him after he has played a good winning game and then try one after he has lost. Mention golf casually and see what happens. You will always have the Taft sunshine, for that is never dimmed, but if things have gone wrong on the links you will catch a shadow or two between smiles.

I recall one evening in the Taft cottage at Hot Springs, Va. Mr. Taft was stretched out in a comfortable armchair before a big log fire. He had just come in from his worst game on the Hot Springs course and was still in his golf clothes. He looked solemnly at himself for a few seconds, then at the blaze.

"Well," said he finally, "I've played golf for ten years or more, and I know at last that I'm a dub-a-dub, pure and simple."

The plaint was none the less genuine if it did run into a hearty laugh.

On the other hand, there was an occasion at Augusta when it would have been cruel even to have suggested the memory of this Hot Springs confession. That was when Mr. Taft did the course in eighty-eight, making a new record for himself.

The news of his feat preceded him, and as he left the golf grounds several of his friends stepped up to congratulate him.

"Back, back; don't touch me!" said he, with mock superiority. Then he smiled his broadest and confessed that it was his happiest day in Augusta. That night before 200 members of the [illegible] his friends. He is the first man who has ever been brave enough to admit that he plays golf chumlessly. He was speaking of a talk he had recently with Jerome D. Travers, the amateur. "We talked," said Mr. Taft, "of such things as would suggest themselves to an expert and a man who plays bumblepuppy."

The next day all the newspapers had footnotes explaining what bumble-puppy is. Now the word goes prancing over the links in company with "mollycoddle" and every golfer has come to admit that at one time or other he belonged to the "bumble" breed of canines.

A walk around the golf links with Mr. Taft is a tonic. He golfs in the same way that he does everything else—with patience and the best of nature. He lets his opponents sputter and explode, but plods on himself from the first green to the last with never a break in temper and with a Taft laugh always on tap. E. A. Fowler in April Suburban Life.

RAILROAD SIGNAL SCHOOLS.

Pennsylvania to Train Men on Lines East of Pittsburg.

The Pennsylvania railroad has established signal schools on the several divisions of the line east of Pittsburg to train men for the signal service of the system. The need for this is due to the rapid growth of the use of block signals. There are now in service on the Pennsylvania lines east of Pittsburg 12,408 signals, covering 2,385 miles of road.

The Pennsylvania has appointed six signal apprentices, to be trained as engineers capable of directing and planning signal installations. Apprentices will serve a three years' course. The first year will be spent on the mechanical end of the work with the repair and construction gangs, the second year in the office of the supervisor of signals and the third year on outside work on electric and electro-pneumatic appliances. They will report to the supervisors of signals while taking this course.

What Will You Offer for One of These?

DESCRIPTION Fully Warranted for 10 Years

BALL BEARING

GENERAL APPEARANCE—This machine presents a most unusual and desirable combination of quality, high efficiency and low price. We term it "Medium grade" to distinguish it from our very highest priced machines. However, it is strictly high-grade so far as sewing qualities are concerned, and will more than hold its own with the agency machines selling at double the cost. You cannot buy as good a machine for the same money. After you have tried one of these machines you will be convinced of it.

SEWING HEAD—with a full-size arm, has more improvements, conveniences and time and labor saving devices than any other sewing machine of like grade in this country. It makes the double lock stitch—a stitch that is always smooth, even and perfect and it runs easily and quietly. A few of the features are Spring Tension with convenient release, Improved Takeup, Positive, Double Width, Steel Forged Four Motion Feed, Automatic Bobbin Winder, Self-threading Shuttle, Self-setting Needle, Gear Releasing Device, Improved Stitch Regulattor on face of arm, Nickeled Steel Removable Face Plate. The Working Parts are made of fine quality hardened tool steel, which, with proper care, will last a life time.

THE CASE—The case of this model is very attractive in appearance and substantial in construction as the illustration clearly shows. The four deeply embossed side drawers and the center drawer with their turned wood, brass faced handles are extra large and solid; there is an eighteen-inch tape-measure inlaid in table for the convenience of the operator, and a combination chain and lever device that automatically raises sewing machine to position with one motion of the arm.

THE STAND—The stand is ball bearing—the bearings operating in micrometer ground hardened steel cones. As a natural result the stand runs much smoother and easier than those where the balls travel on the rough surface of the castings themselves. The Automatic Belt Replacer is a most convenient device for with its aid, the machine is automatically and instantaneously belted when sewing head is raised.

THE ATTACHMENTS—The Attachments are exceptionally good for a machine of this grade. They are of the foot pattern and are packed in a velver lined box. The full set consists of Ruffler, Tucker, Braider, Foot Binder, Feller, Four Assorted Hemmers, Cloth Guide, Twelve Needles, Six Bobbins, Filled Oil Can. Two Screw Drivers and Book of Directions.

SUPPLIES—You can obtain Supplies of us at very reasonable prices, misleading statements of unscrupulous sewing machine agents to the contrary.
