IT IS THE LITTLE THINGS THAT COUNT

Water falling, a drop at a time, will gradually wear away the hardest rock. It was the last straw that broke the camel's back.

A little money saved--saved regularly --will soon amount to a comfortable sum. A little saved from your income each month will wear away the bands of poverty. Every small sum counts and makes the total of your savings larger.

A bank account gives you something to think about. It will keep you busy; it will furnish you a safe place to put your savings; it will help you to save your money systematically; it will put method into your saving.

CLERGYMAN DIES SUDDENLY

Rev. Francis Sherer, Former Andover Pastor, Stricken, While on Visit Here, With Heart Failure

Rev. and Mrs. Francis Sherer of Elmira came to Andover Saturday last on a visit to old friends in this their former home. About 9 o'clock that evening Mr. Sherer was taken with dilatation of the heart and died in about 15 minutes.

Rev. Francis Sherer was widely and well known along the Southern and Central tier of counties in New York state and also in the Northern tier of Pennsylvania as a Baptist minister. About fifty years ago Mr. Sherer was ordained to the gospel ministry of the Baptist church at Fremont, N. Y., which church he served some time as pastor. His succeeding pastorates were at North Cameron, Troupsburg, Andover, La Grange, Second Milo, Pa; Southport, Gilletts, Pa. About five years ago he retired from the pastorate and took up his residence at Elmira, N. Y., uniting with the South Side church of that city. He was always ready to serve the churches as supply, and was very active in extending the interests of the denomination in the surrounding country.

His deep interest, perhaps his best and strongest work was at Andover, N. Y., which church he served for twelve years, leaving a strong impression of his Christian life on the community which is felt to this day. A short memorial service was held at the home of Mrs. E. S. Bradley Sunday afternoon conducted by the pastor, Rev. Chas. H. Harrington, and Rev. C. W. Brooks, who had intimately known Mr. Sherer for over forty years. The body was taken to Addison, N. Y., where a service was held Monday afternoon conducted by the Rev. C. G. Langford of Wellsboro, Pa., a recent pastor of South Side Baptist church, Elmira, N. Y.

DO CUTLERY PLANTS PAY

What Is Good For Little Valley Will Help Andover From the Little Valley Hub

Little Valley has four cutlery factories and they alone have changed Little Valley from a village to the best town in Cattaraugus County.

Is there a property owner anywhere in the village, a laboring man or a business man, who will in any manner attempt to deny that cutlery manufacture has made us all that we are?

Here's one you don't need a pencil to work out. It's mental, and if you are a friend to Little Valley you will grasp it in just fifteen seconds, standard time.

If four cutlery factories have doubled the population of Little Valley in ten years, what would four more do in ten years?

Did you all get it alike?

Now here's another one. This is proportion:

A four-corner town secured four cutlery factories and increased its population to 1800. Now if the Four-Corner Town had retained the four other factories which it allowed to go to other four and more cornered towns, how many additional corners would the first mentioned town have had September 1, 1907? Also give increase in business, wealth, population, etc.

One swallow doesn't make a summer, but he's the early bird that sets up a chirping and gets the other ones to looking around for climate.

If one bird is a good citizen under a barn eaves, the same parity of reasoning makes a row of them all the more desirable.

W. R. Case & Son's Cutlery Co., branched out and wanted a location. We put our hands in our pockets and let them hunt it. They found it in Bradford, and are doing an annual business of over one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

The Union Razor company built up a business too big for jobbing and wanted to manufacture. We let them go to Tidioute, Pa., where they also do an annual business of over one hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

Platts Bros. sprung up and we allowed them to build a factory in Eldred, Pa., where it has been running daily for over eight years.

The Crandall Cutlery Company we let go to Bradford, Pa., and last year we let Case Bros., locate a second factory at Kane.

All these loses however, have not been charged to us on the debit side, for the reason that our old established concerns have yearly enlarged and increased their business and our town has had to grow to keep pace. But—

If our factories have been the making of our town, why would not four more have made it again?

If a dollar is a mighty handy piece of metal to carry in the pants pocket, aren't two dollars just two times as handy?. And

If one has two dollars in that pocket, can't he make a lot more noise with them, rubbing them together?

All this sense and nonsense is taking you along down the line where you will stand without hitching for a few minutes until we can crack it at you that—

Every time we let an off shoot of our manufactories get a root in some other town we are simply doing charity work.

If J. D. Case wants to locate a cutlery factory we should see if we cannot locate it here and have charity commence at home.

Our board of trade will work its head off investigating some concern that wants everything and guarantees nothing, while we will allow some good ones to slip out unnoticed.

We all know what the Case people have done with anything they have ever taken hold of. They have never had anything but success charged to them.

If four cutlery factories are good for Little Valley, five are better. How 'bout it?

ERIES GREAT RECORD

Carries Nearly Sixty Million People and Not One Fatality—Longest Way Around the Surest Way Home

The recent accident report of the Interstate Commerce Commission gave railroad critics an excellent opportunity to call attention to the fatalities attendant upon traveling. One paper went so far in its denunciation of railroads and their managers as to refer to the Erie's "slaughter of helpless victims."

This statement was controverted by General Attorney George N. Orcutt of the Erie. "As matter of fact," said Mr. Orcutt, "the record shows that between March 1, 1905, and July 31, 1907, the Erie and its controlled lines carried 56,196,155 passengers and not one of them was fatally injured. The Erie's critics are fond of calling it slow but the management has preferred safety to unsafe speed and to that end has a speed limit on every mile of track. An engineer, who runs fifty miles an hour where the schedule fixes forty as the limit, gets a vacation without pay. The block system is enforced with unyielding rigor and so closely are the movements of passenger trains watched that the slightest deviations from the 'running rules' are punished. The Erie does not run excursion trains on single track lines. They have extended the time of trains that they thought were too fast and use other methods that tend to safety and provoke criticism on the part of a few people who do not appreciate the efforts made to safely transport the public.
