We understand that some of the rural people have found fault because the notice of Regents' Examinations was not adequately advertised. We wish to call their attention to the following School Law of the State of New York:

"Any candidate who wishes to try any Regents Examination in any of the University institutions, must notify the principal of that institution at least 20 days in advance, stating in what subjects he wishes to be examined. Failing to do this he will not be admitted, except by special permission of the principal."

We expected, though, that the Fall program of examinations would be published, and are sorry that any one was put to an inconvenience in the error of their not being published.

Word Has Been Received From Waverly, N. Y., That It Will be $113.96 For 1909.

The dividend of the National Protective Legion for 1909 will be $113.96.

This is the first and only word that has been received up to this time from Waverly, where the executive committee of the Legion is holding its annual meeting.

The rate established at this time is an improvement over that for 1908, though not a great increase over the dividend of $113.58 declared for that year.

Mrs. Wood was born in Canaseraga, N. Y., June 17, 1829, and was the daughter of John and Mary (Thorpe) Dyer, being a descendant of General Herkimer of Revolutionary fame.

She was a woman of marked ability and strong Christian character, a devoted mother, kind useful neighbor, carrying sunshine and peace with her presence, and loved by every one with whom she associated. Mrs. Wood was a member of the Andover Methodist church and nearly a life-long resident of Andover.

She is survived by four children: A. P. Wood of Wellsville, J. W. Wood of Arkport, Mrs. Flora Cook and E. R. Wood of Andover.

"MEADOW BROOK FARM" NEXT.

W. F. Mann Presents J. J. Swartwoo and others, in this Fine Pastoral Play in Andover Monday Evening.

The newest play to make an appeal to public favor in the rural dramatic field, is "Meadow-Brook Farm" by L. B. Parker. It is a pastoral story of the Cathedral Hills of New Hampshire, depicting a most vivid character of that quaint New England style that is always so welcome. W. F. Mann, the owner and producer, of many successes, has given to "Meadow Brook Farm" his special attention during the past summer and his efforts have resulted in a real production of the first magnitude in a real production of scenery and effects.

"Meadow-Brook Farm" will be seen at the Andover Auditorium, on next Monday evening evening, Feb 8, with an excellent cast, headed by J. J. Swartwood.

Tickets on sale at Calhoun's Saturday noon.

Music by Cannon's Orchestra.

Charged with Abuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Drake of Honeoye, are under arrest, charged with abuse of a seven-year-old adopted daughter. Complaint was made against Mrs. Drake by B. F. Stebbins a neighbor. Dr. William Howe of Shinglehouse is attending the child, whose body was a mass of ridges, inflicted with a horsewhip by the woman. There were forty or more welts across the back, arms, chest and abdomen.

The woman owned up that she whipped the child until she herself was tired out and hysterical. The offense of the child is said to have been that she did not wash the dishes and was ten minutes late in coming home from school, having been kept that length of time by the teacher for whispering.

Fortunate Escape.

The family of E. A. Parsons of Belmont were fortunate in escaping a disastrous fire a few mornings ago. When they were getting up, they noticed an intense heat in the room, and upon going down stairs and opening the parlor door, found the fire in the parlor stove going at a fierce rat and the piano and other polished furniture ruined from the intense heat. It seemed that their nine-year-old son had lighted the gas in the evening without the knowledge of the family, and a younger boy had closed the door and the discovery was just in time to save an explosion.

Life and Death.

Life is just a little day,
Silently it slips away,
The morn, the noon,
And then so soon,
The dim twilight and darkling night.

Death is just a little night,
Growing into broad daylight,
The dawn's first ray,
The perfect day,
Then ended quest, eternal rest.

CAPABLE COMPANY.

Those Who Made up the Small Audience Last Evening Were Most Agreeably Surprised.

(From Saturday's Elmira Advertiser)

'Meadow Brook Farm" a rural story of much interest by Lem B. Parker, was presented at the Lyceum Theater last night by a capable company headed by J. J. Swartwood. Not much was expected of 'Meadow Brook Farm" and those who made up the small audience at the Lyceum Theater last night were most agreeably surprised. The production was presented by a company of merit worthy of a much larger audience than that in attendance, because many companies have come this way asking dollar prices that were not entitled to half the praise due the organization presenting "Meadow Brook Farm."

John C. Fisher

John C. Fisher died at his home in the town of Alfred, Monday morning February 1, after an extended illness, aged fifty-four years.

BOYS WORK WIRELESS

Canadaigua Boys Construct Wireless Telegraphic Apparatus and Flash Messages When they Like.

Two boys of Canadaigua are working wireless telegraphic machines successfully to the distance of several miles. The two young men are Augustus Colmey, son of Attorney Jesse Colmey, who has sent messages to Bradburn, a distance of more than a mile, and has also sent short messages to Fairport, where they have been received by a friend of his, who has constructed a receiving apparatus. The machinery of the Colmey boy is set up in his father's attic at present and is constructed of machinery which he has built himself. It is the intention of Colmey to secure a higher wire of cable so that he can send messages to much farther points He expects within a few weeks to be able to send sereograms to a distance of 500 to 700 miles. The young men receive their power from the local power company and transform the current from 12,000 to 110 volts.

The 2,000 firemen belonging to the association will all want to go to Wellsville. That town is one of the most enterprising and progressive burgs on the map, and plans for the biggest kind of a time. She has already raised money sufficient to assure good purses in all the firemen's races and she plans to add to her laurels as a bountiful entertainer.

Civil Service Examination

Alfred to Have More Money.

Assemblyman Phillips' bill making additional appropriation of $50,000 to the Agricultural School at Alfred passed the Assembly last week and is now in the Senate Committee, and is likely to pass that body any day. It was found that it would be impossible to equip the school with the $..,000 appropriated last year, as the administration building is to cost over $40,000. This additional money will enable the board of managers to offer facilities that will be first class in every way.—Alfred Sun.
