THE LILY AND THE PRINCE

The Next Attrecticon At The Auditorium Comes With Best of Recommendations.

The "Picture" as stage-folk call it in the third act of Mildred Holland's greatest success, "The Lily and the Prince" which will be seen at the Auditorium on Wednesday eve March 31st in which Miss Marguerite Blake plays the role of the gentle Florette the maiden, called the "Lily" is one of unusual beauty and impressiveness. Against the back-ground of the council chamber, black, terrible and forbidding, with the tribunal in their sable-robed, mysterious presence and the bowed and broken prisoner in his heavy shakles—stands the figure of the flower-like girl in her white shimmering robe of clinging satin, pleading with the dignity and earnestness of truth as well as a realization of the mighty odds against her as she begs for her father's life and liberty. The symbol of the lily—that flower which in all ages has stood for purity and regal beauty—is enhanced by the rich costume Miss Blake wears throughout the play.

The management's attention to detail has borne fruit in making "The Lily and The Prince" one of the finest and most successful productions as judged by the fact of the immense audiences to which it is being played. The numerous inquires at the box office indicates that the sale of reserved seats will be very large.

Seat sale starts Saturday, Price 25, 35, and 75c.

The Lily and the Prince.

Andover's best critics are saying that the "Lily and the Prince" produced at the Auditorium Wednesday evening, was the best show yet given in the Auditorium. It was a fine production and deserves all the kind words of praise being said about it. Great care was taken. There would be no fault found with the play from one standpoint, but the stage settings and scenery were also in keeping with the rest.

The play was laid in France and Italy and was intensely interesting throughout. Those who were unable to be present missed a rare treat. The managers of the Auditorium are to be congratulated upon securing the production, and also their good judgment for the bookings for the house. Give us more such plays as "The Lily and the Prince," "We are King," and the "American Girl" and Andover people will fill your pretty new Auditorium for you.

BUSINESS MEN'S RESOLUTIONS.

Corry, Pa., Association Resolve Against Excessive Legislation.

The following resolution was adopted at a meeting of the Corry, Pa., Business Men's Exchange half recently and a copy of it forwarded to each railroad touching Corry:

"Resolved by the Corry Business Men's Exchange that while it is our belief that all large corporations should be subjected to safe, sane and reasonable control on the part of the State and Federal Governments and should be required to give their affairs such publicity as will establish reasonable safeguards against the misuse of their powers, proposed legislation directed to such ends should be considered in a spirit of fairness to the investors in the securities of such corporations and that drastic legislation leveled at corporate interests be deplored, not only as morally injustifiable but as tending to disturb economic conditions to the detriment of the best interest of the people at large.

"Resolved further that our representatives in Congress and the General Assembly of Pennsylvania be urged to use their influence in limiting proposed legislation directed against railroad and industrial corporations to such as have received proper investigation and shall appear to be based on public necessity."

Very truly yours,

GETS $1,592.95 FROM THE STATE

THAT'S THE AMOUNT THE STATE WILL SEND ANDOVER THIS YEAR FOR OUR HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT.

Andover's genial Supervisor, Orange Smith, was in the village the first of the week and the NEWS obtained from him the following facts regarding the new highway law which the Town of Andover has adopted, known as the "Money System," of working the roads.

The amount that the taxpayers in the Town of Andover, outside of the corporation of the Village of Andover, will raise for highway purposes, exclusive of the amount raised for large bridges and their repairs, will be $1,769.94. In addition to this, the state will send us $1,592.95, making in all $3,362.89. This will surely do a whole lot toward improving Andover's highways.

In this connection it may be of interest to know how the state proportions the amount of state aid each town is entitled to receive. It is made in accordance with the valuation of the district, or town. In determining the amount necessary to make the minimum, thirty dollars per mile, the Supervisor finds the amount by the use of the following table, which shows how much must be raised by the town according to the valuation. Andover's valuation comes under the third paragraph of this table.

On valuations less than $3,751, the tax must be $4 on each $1,00.

On valuations from $3,761 to $4,999.99 raise $45 per mile.

On valuations from $5,000 to $6,999.99, raise $15.79 per mile.

On valuations from $7,000 to $8,999.99, raise $16.67 per mile.

On valuations from $9,000 to $10,999.99 raise $17.65 per mile.

On valuations from $11,000 to $12,999.99 raise 18.75 per mile.

On valuations from 13,000 and over raise $20 per mile.

MRS HELEN GILBERT

Mrs. Helen B. Gilbert was born January 19, 1874, at Andover, N. Y., and died at Hornell, N. Y., March 22, 1909. She was the oldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. N. P. Brainard of Andover, and had spent the larger part of her life in that place. When only a young girl she united with the Methodist church of Andover, where she retained her membership till the time of her death. Reared in a home of kindness and love, she grew up with these noble qualities as the ruling motives of her life. In speaking of her as a school girl, an old friend paid to her memory, this beautiful tribute: "In Helen, the less favored and fortunate always had a warm friend. She always took a special interest in those whom others neglected and slighted." Through all her years her Christianity was the onward expression of the beautiful spirit of unselfishness; indeed, in her was seen the effectual working of the three great laws of the Christian life,—Service, selfsacrifice, and love.

When she was nineteen years of age she was united in marriage, September 28, 1893, to Mr. Jason Beebe. A little more than a year had passed when a great sorrow came upon cast her life. Mr. Beebe died December 22, 1895.

Left a widow, with no means of support so early in life she went bravely to work and learned the Milliner's trade and for a number of years served a host of friends with made as honest living. Finally a friendship was formed which later ripened into love and on August 25,1904, she was united in marriage to Mr. John Gilbert with whom she came to make her home in Alfred Station, N. Y. A little boy came to claim her love and attention and to be a blessing in the joys of her home life. It was not long, however; for a time she suffered with a growing illness which finally resulted in her death.

This event has left a feeling of sadness and gloom over the entire community. So, universally was she respected and loved that her death is keenly felt by everyone. Her sweet happy disposition, her winning smile her queenly bearing, the lovely traits of character, which was above reproach, have made her life a blessing in this place. This community as well as that in Andover is better for her having lived in it.

Although she was happy and thorough in the performance of her home duties, this was by no means the limit of her field of usefulness. As far as her strength and time would permit she was active in church life. In her home town of Andover she was for many years the proficient organist of the Methodist church and is highly spoken of by those who were associated with her in the work of the choir. In Alfred she was a member of the Ladies Industrial Society and by her unselfish ways won an abiding place of love and friendship in the hearts of all her co-workers.

Too much cannot be said of her unselfish spirit. Even in the hour of her intensest suffering her thought was not of her self. She "wanted to live for the sake of John, and the baby and the good she could do for others." She desired another chance to "make the world better", but was reconciled and ready for the change that awaited her. She has gone to her reward.

Funeral services were conducted by her pastor Rev. J. W. Wright, of Andover, assisted by Rev. Edgar D. Van Horn of the Second Alfred church. Burial in the Hillside Andover Cemetery.

Beautiful and fitting music was rendered by a quartet of Andover young men.

Many beautiful tributes of flowers showed the love and esteem in which Mrs. Gilbert was held. Besides her husband and little son Lowell, her father and mother and aged grandmother, her sisters, Mrs. Emily Alford, and Edith Brainard her brother Harold, she leaves a host of friends and relatives who will mourn her loss.

Edgar D. VanHorn

The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church will meet Tuesday instead of Wednesday.

TOO "WET" FOR A "DRY TOWN."

A CITIZEN "KNOCKS" BECAUSE LAWS ARE NOT ENFORCED. WANTS CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE TO BE USED.

Mr. Editor—What shall be done with Andover's law breakers? By edict of the voters this town has been relegated to the list of what are known as "dry towns," and by a decisive majority, showing a remarkable sentiment against the saloon. The writer is not a prohibitionist in political standpoint, but nevertheless believes in law and order. That there are several places where liquor is dispensed cannot be doubted, for when you meet men coming frequently from a place in a drunken condition, there is always a feeling that he doesn't go there for water. These lawbreakers should be dealt with promptly, and circumstantial evidence should be used with the same effect as in murder cases. In a large number of instances this is about all the evidence you can get, as in most cases the witnesses who are sworn or the part of the people seem to have very little idea of what the stuff is they are drinking.

A healthy public sentiment will do more to stop this illicit sale of liquor than anything else. Determined effort on the part of the respectable people of the town will soon drive these outlaws from our midst and give us what we want. We believe a public temperance demonstration would also have salutary effect. Give these men notice to quit now or take the consequences, and then follow them up to a point that will force them to desist from further violation of law.
