GARDENS FOR SLUM FOLK.

Chicago Society's Plan to Make Urban Toilers Tillers of the Soil.

Slums, as well as the sections where those in moderate circumstances and the wealthy live, need improvement. What the City Gardens association of Chicago, an organization of recent life, has planned can be tried by towns where it is needed. It is going about the business of inducting slum dwellers into the secrets of farm life on a miniature scale. A tract of land segregating twenty acres has been allotted among 130 needy families who will be expected to care for it, plant and tend garden stuffs and enjoy the benefits of their own industry for a merely nominal fee. They will raise what they eat, so far as garden stuffs are concerned. It is expected that this will be of material assistance to them in keeping the wolf in the next county, besides affording them an opportunity to learn something useful of agricultural methods.

Only twenty acres will be cultivated this spring, but next year other families will be permitted to avail themselves of the opportunity. The tract of land is bounded by the Chicago river, Marshall boulevard and the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad. It is easily accessible for folk living on the west side of the city, and only those living there will be privileged to avail themselves of the opportunity afforded this year. Later, should the experiment meet with enthusiastic acceptance, it is hoped that other waste bits of ground may be placed at the disposal of the association.

The Outdoor Art league will play an important part in carrying through the idea. It will furnish plans for a bungalow and tool house, the former to be used as a rest room and a place where the laborers may sit down to eat.

Recognizing the ignorance of gardening of most of the families taking over plots of ground for the spring season, the association expects to retain the services of an expert gardener, who will be ready to offer advice to the neophytes and to assist them in acquiring scientific methods. Furthermore, the "urban farms" will not be devoid of aesthetic charm. A large border of greenery will surround the twenty acre tract, and frequent flower beds will add variety and grace to the outlook.

How Austin Will "Clean House."

Oak Park's clean-up week has had influence on its neighboring suburb on the east. Austin, Ill., has taken up the agitation against uncleanliness, and under the leadership of Mrs. Helen St. Tuthill, chairman of the department of civics and sociology of the Austin Woman's club, and F. E. Prey, president of the Austin Improvement association, the work will be carried on. Mr. Prey, Mrs. Tuthill and Mr. Clarkson will be the committee supervising the clean-up, and they have made arrangements to get the co-operation of the police in carrying out the work. They will have the premises of delinquents photographed.

Race For Class Colors

The Canisteo Times tells how the Seniors and Juniors of the High school will settle the question of displaying the class colors.

The arbor day program in the Canisteo high school this year is to be different in a number of ways from those of former years. The most notable change is that adopted by the seniors and juniors to determine whose class colors shall be displayed in the building. In former years a free for all rough and tumble fight has been held on top of the building in which much property has been destroyed and lives endangered. In order to do away with this the juniors on Monday issued a challenge to the seniors for a foot race to Purdy creek bridge and return. The race will take place on May 7, following the arbor day exercises. The race will be decided by points, first place counting 5, second place 3, third place 2, and fourth placel. The The class obtaining the highest number of points will be given the credit of displaying its colors on the chapel desk until commencement.

SOUTH HILL.

The weather—well it has been unmentionable.

Our farmers have been "enjoying" a vacation, until the snow left the fields that they had prepared for sowing.

Mrs. A. M. Mingus now plays on a new piano, with which she is much pleased.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Connell were dinner guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Carpenter, of Andover.

Mr. Ed Horan has been caring for a case of blood poison in his arm the past week, caused by a slight cut on his wrist.

Mrs. R. McAndrew returned Friday from a weeks visit in Wellsville.

Mr. J. C. McAndrew is moving to his farm in Fulmer Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles and Mr. and Mrs. John Strait were guests at the home of A. M. Mingus, last Friday.

E. M. Livermore is having a hard tussel with the grip. Dr. Lough head is the attending physician and we hope he will soon have Ed on his feet again.

Many weddings are scheduled for the coming season by the knowing ones, but no-one "got wise" on the wedding of our former resident, Mr. Al. Wood to Miss Hand, of Elm Valley, so it was a complete surprise to all. That was well done "Al" and your friends on the Hill extend hearty congratulations to yourself and bride.

No One Can Do It.

No matter what price you pay, no one can offer you better workmanship. Taylor Tailoring has a reputation which high prices cannot injure, and, it is THIS cleverness which has made their clothes so popular. It is all very well to select a nobby fabric and an up-to-date style, but the real excellence of a suit or overcoat lies in the making. Taylor-made Clothes hold their shape. They are first endowed with grace and dignity, and tailored so well that both ENDURE.
