Fortune has deserted many a man because he left it to its own device.

* * *

Life to many of us is just one harrowing dream of what is going to bat us next.

* * *

Good resolutions are all right, provided the resoluter resolutes as he resolves.

* * *

Speak gently, think sweetly and your home town will rejoice in your presence.

* * *

The wise man permits others to judge as to his worth. The fool appraises his own.

* * *

"The boy who knows both sides of a hair brush has acquired the beginning of wisdom."

* * *

Be of good cheer sister never allow the other girls disposiion to be sweeter than your own.

* * *

The young man who learns first to depend on himself will seldom have to appeal to others.

* * *

If you would serve as an example to others, you must see that no one forges ahead of the example.

* * *

The idle and feeble appeal to fortune for succor. The man of resolution carves it out for himself.

* * *

A shave a day is one of the prime requisites for advancement in modern commercial life.

* * *

When you want a thing and have not got it, the obvious thing is to go out and get it. It will not come to you.

* * *

Editors and preachers are presumed to be the most holy men on earth, and, incidently, their pay is the most unholy.

* * *

Truly great persons are often insignifficant in their own estimation But not so with the pewee who apes the giant.

* * *

Penny ante is out of the running. No self-respecting person wants to demean himself by flipping such small change.

* * *

With the prices of women's gowns prowling around in the skys, they become again an aristocratic feature of feminine life.

* * *

The most fortunate man in all the world is he who has achieved the greatest success thru his own honorable and unaided efforts.

* * *

The preacher ties the knot, the judge unties it, and between the two its a continuous merry-go-round performance from one act to the other.

* * *

Everyone denies any responsibility for the high cost of living. Of course, no one is guilty. Prices just naturally jump of their own accord.

* * *

Of course everbody longs for peace and tranquillity in the U.S.A. and, likewise, everybody wants the other fellow to be the one who is flattened out by the steam roller of individual prosperity.

* * *

Before attempting to overcome an obstacle it is best to carefully gaugh its height. Many of the wrecks of life are the direct result of a failure to give reasonable consideration to obstructions which seem slight but are in reality momentous in their possibilities for ultimate disaster.

THE TOWN BAND

Regardless of the undoubted progress of civic administration the country over, in quite the majority of smaller towns and communities there is one requisite serously neglected. That is the town band.

Whether you prefer to call it the Philharmonic, the Symphony, the Municipal or just the Town Band, it is the same. We shall refer to it as the town band.

Every community should have not just a band, but a good band, a band that is the pride of the people and the pinnacle of every small boy's ambition.

A good band in the town is good, but the essential feature is that it be the town's band, and not a private band that demands high wages and plays only for the more fortunate who can afford to pay high prices to hear them.

It should be a band that plays for all the people—the bankers, the merchants, the laborers, the women and children alike.

And especially for the children. It is trite to say that music is beneficial to children. Every one knows that. But perhaps all have not thot how much a really good band, under a competent leader, playing the very best of the world's music, can stimulate the child's ambition to know and play good music.

No child who understands high class music will ever care greatly for "jazz" and the general run of low class dance hall music.

And dance music can be of just as high quality as church music—if one is properly educated in what music is and what is mere trash.

We suggest to Andover people that they give this matter serious consideration.

Why have we no band, or why is the band not up to the standard we desire?

We have our full quota and over of musical talent, but to train that talent costs money. One cannot expect the individual to bear the expense of this training and then give his services free of charge.

Since the band is for everyone to enjoy, let everyone pay for the band, It is just as important as sanitation. Pay for it the same way—by taxation.

Whose for a real band.

LET PROSPERITY BEGIN AT HOME

Community prosperity is, or is not, as we of the community make it.

Much money will be spent around here during the coming Christmas holidays. It is right that it should be so for every normal person likes to portake of the joys of the yule time.

But where will the money go?

Will the profits remain here and continue to circulate in our midst and enrich our local community? Or will they go to foreign houses and be forever lost to us who have produced them by our energy and our thrift?

The answer is in our hands.

Our local merchants will be well equipped for supplying our demands.

The goods will be on their counters where we can see them, judge as to their quality and know what we get. And the name of a local dealer stands as a guarantee for everything he sells.

But if we buy abroad we lose from our midst both the dealers cost price and his profits: We never see them again.

And our community is the poorer to the extent of the profits on every article not purchased at home.

A constructive Christmas or a destructive one?

Which shall it be?

Prosperity should begin at home.

LET'S USE OUR BRAINS

The world today is upside down, and America is not the least of the countries floundering in the throes of international disturbances.

Every day sees an increase in the discord and unrest which prevails, bnt we of Andover should not be drawn into the maelstrom.

We should take no step in this direction without due and careful consideration. Above all we should never permit a boisterous minority to stampede the sane and sensible majority. We should preserve our American institutions in the true American manner.

We want production and prosperity, but we can expect neither unless right and justice prevail. And this we will have only when opposing interests come together in a calm and dispassionate manner for fair and reasonable discussion of their differences.

The Lord gave us brains with the expectation that we would use them in the proper manner. He gave us understanding, that we might employ it in determining the good from the bad, the wise from the foolish.

Let's use the brains God gave us.

No person ever really profits from a gift unless he makes an effort to deserve it. To accept and forget is to forge another link in the fetters which chain you to a future without hope and without reward.

* * *

The idle youth who inherits a fortune is in greater danger than he who faces the muzzle of a gun in the hands of an angry opponent. The one may plunge to his soul's destruction while the other may only be deprived of his life.

* * *

The young man who is content to remain stationary will never be a success in life. If he fails to press forping to the rear and the devil takes ward he will soon find himself slipcare of the hindermost.

* * *

Marriage is a lottery only when one or both of the contracting parties insist on making it such. One must not expect perfection in his or her mate unless willing to award the same in return.
