Court Calendar.

Court Calendar. Court of Sessions, Andover, N. Y. September 23, 1869.

THANKS.—M. J. Ellis has our thanks for a sack of beautiful peaches, which best anything we have ever seen, being the largest and of good flavor, the largest one in the crate was nine inches in circumference.

GRAPE GROWERS ASSOCIATION.—The tenth annual Fair of the Pleasant Valley Grape Growers Association will be held at Hammondsport, Sept. 28, 29, and 30th. We regret that our business prevents us from attending.

ACCIDENT.—Dr. Del McClary while returning from a visit last night, on Call hill, his horse became frightened and ran, throwing the Dr. from his saddle, marking his face a little, and spraining his wrist somewhat.

OUR GAY FATHER is busily engaged to day in removing the stones from Elm Street. We should be very glad to have the pleasure of chronicling the building of those cross-walks mentioned in our last edition.

IF COMES, Watson's Art Journal every week with new Fashion plates and patterns. This week it furnishes an engraving and pattern of the latest style of dress and other fixings. They may be seen by calling at this office.

BURGALARY.—The grocery of Pat Cannon's was entered on Wednesday night, and about eight dollars abstracted from the drawer, together with some Cigars &c. The thief entered by the Cellar window and went up through the Scuttle by raising the trap door.

WORTH GOING TO SEE.—Mr. Walker has just received a large assortment of the latest styles of Glass Ware, in the plain and fancy. A whole set for $1, and from that to $5. Now is your time if you wish to get a good fashionable set of glass ware.

FIRE NEAR COATES SWITCH WELLSVILLE.—The barn of Mr. Coats, brother of W. H. Coats of Wellsville, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday night last supposed to be the work of an incendiary. The barn was filled with Hay, Wagons, Horses &c. We understand the horses were saved.

LIFTED.—On Sunday morning last, Mr. Wm. Brown, a barber in Almond, left some change lying in his case amounting to $2 50, and stepped out on the stoop in front of his shop for a few minutes, when he returned the money was gone. We understand the surmise who has it.

B. C. Boudage Esq., removed into his new office yesterday. The Squire has a neat snug cozy office, any one having any legal papers to make out, will always find him ready to wait on them. He has plenty of room, and is always ready for a good smoke and a social chat. Success to your Squire in your new quarters.

TENTH Annual Fair of the Hornellsville Agricultural Society, will be held on the Fair Grounds, Wednesday and Thursday Sept 29th, and 30th, 1869. We have received their Premium List printed by Thatcher & Tuttle, and find it a model of neatness. The annual address will be on Thursday at 3 o'clock p. m., by the Hon. Hamilton Ward.

OYSTER SUPPER.—All our readers will be glad to learn that the oyster season is to be opened in the "good old-fashioned style" by Peter Swink on Wednesday evening next. Peter on Wednesday evening next, Peter on Wednesday evening next, Peter on Wednesday evening next.

WE got up very early the other morning, and discovered our friends Craudall and Walker cleaning up in front of their store, we drew nearer to take a close inspection, but Walker said we would not do to associate with them now, our old hat was must too shabby. We turned away "very sorrowful," but Walker called us in and put a clean white hat on our head. We made a big rise in society that jump.

PERSONAL.—Some time ago the temperance Patriot offered a prize (greenbacks) for the best story. By way of pastime, more than anything else, Mrs.

B. C. Rade wrote one and forwarded it. To her surprise and gratification she has been notified that from among the many offered hers has been selected as the prize story. It will appear in the Patriot this month.—Free Press.

DIED at Hallsport Saturday the 19th. inst. Hercules Darling Esq. in the Seventieth year of his age. He was buried on Sunday by the Masonic fraternity, of which order he has long been a member. The sermon was preached by Eld. Blanchard of the M. E. Church. Esq. Darling was one of the early settlers in this region.

CHANGE OF LANDLORDS.—On Monday next Mr. Silliman Davis retires from the American Hotel and B. B. Miller is to take charge of the same. Mr. Davis is a good fellow, and has kept a good house, and we feel sorry to part with him, and as he contemplates returning to his old profession "tilling the soil," we wish him success.

LOOKING around for a carpet the other week, we stepped into Albit and Tuttle's at Hornellsville, before we went in we had made up our minds that a man of small means and little income must be satisfied with a small pattern and cheap goods, but after looking through their stock we found that a little money will sometimes go a great ways, and so we got a large carpet and a nice one for less money than we had expected to pay for a small and poor one.

A. and T. are liberal men, and their advertisement in another column shows they are not afraid to compare prices with the best houses in country. Call and see them whenever you go to Hornellsville, whether you want to buy or not.

OLIVER CRANDALL is all right now he has got a pup and he says those huns have got to "come down now." He says he shall dig another hill of potatoes soon, and he expects a much larger yield. He did not say whether the pup was going to get back the potatoes the huns had already swallowed, but so we understood him to mean. We suppose he will manage about as the fellow did to get his gold dollar. The dollar had been dropped on the floor and a dog near by swallowed it, so he presented a dollar bill to his nose, and demanded the specie.

We went in and saw Rewalt at Hornellsville the other day, we always go in and see him when we are down there. Our great concern this time, was to know if the oyster trade was not going to start up pretty soon. Rewalt assured us that it had already opened, we brought a can home and had an opening on our own account. Mr. R., informed us that he should soon be going to ship oysters to the Andover market. Pat Cannon we believe, is the agent at this place. Rewalt is always prepared to furnish his agents with extra quantities for Suppers, Festivals, &c., and you are always sure to get nice fresh ones.

HANDSOME FURNITURE.—There is nothing that adds so much to a home as nice furniture. It makes a plain house lose its plainness, and adds richness to a rich house. A room furnished with well matched furniture at once assumes a homelike air. We were in at Deutel and Tschachtel's last week, and they showed us some of the handsomest furniture we have ever had the pleasure of looking at. They have sets of every thing, from the cheapest to the very highest and finest. We would call the attention of our readers to their advertisement in another column.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Mr. Luke Babcock, one of the oldest residents of Friendship, met with a fatal accident near Wellsville last evening. He was found lying near Hill's Tanery with his neck broken, the bridge bits were also found broken. As far as we can learn, but little is known of the manner of his death. It was seen during the day, driving his horse about, and it is supposed that the horse became frightened and the bits breaking left Mr. Babcock entirely at his mercy. Babcock entirely at his mercy. Babcock entirely at his mercy.

throughout the county and was highly esteemed by all. He was, we believe, Deputy Sheriff of the town, and was on business connected with his office at the time of his death.

DISAPPOINTED.—The Baptist Choir going home this evening, were singing some little snatches of pieces, and we rushed to the window to hear the music but they quieted down and passed on. Stop next time and see if we can't appreciate music.

CONCERT to be held at the M. E. Church, next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The exercises are to consist in singing by the school. Declamations, and recitations by the infant class, select reading, Essays, &c., and also the full history of Joseph, sold into Egypt, of his interpreting the King's dream and being made ruler.

The first lesson of a series on the Geography of Palestine, will be presented, also a Biblical view of the Heavenly Land, will be given, in which the whole school will take a part, and music adapted to each Scripture passage will be interspersed.

A good time generally is expected and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

Yes, Johney is married, and some of his friends got together Monday morning at about 1 o'clock for the purpose of giving John a Horning. They had all the instruments generally used on such occasions, and to make the thing more lively Johney in disguise, got a horn, and assisted them in making the noise and encouraging it along, and all went off well till some of the boys took it in their heads to fire a pistol for the benefit of young "Dieher." "Dieher," he over the fence, down the street, "no look back." After the boys had done all the blowing they could well do, and pretty well tired out, for Johney had urged the thing along all he could. He then asked them to go into the house and partake of such as he had to give them. From last report "Dieher is doing well."
