THE U. S. WEEKLY MARKETGRAM

Latest Price Quotations Received From the U. S. Bureau of Markets Covering Produce and Feeds

(Washington, D. C., for the week ending July 18th, 1921)

Hay

Light stocks and receipts cause $2 advance in eastern hay markets. Receipts of new timothy increased in central western markets but prices were practically unchanged. Southern markets very quiet with very little hay moving thru. Some new alfalfa and timothy was bought for deferred shipments. Stocks of old hay were cleaned up. Quoted July 18 No. 1. timothy New York $31.50, Philadelphia $28, Atlanta $28, Pittsburg $22.50, Cincinnati $21.50, Chicago $25, New York $21, St. Louis $26, New York $20. No. 1 alfalfa Memphis $22, Cincinnati $18, St. Louis $25, Los Angeles $18. No. 1 prairie St. Louis $19, Chicago $24, Minneapolis $16.

Feed

Demand dull in most sections. Reports of destroyed or temporarily injured pasturage responsible for recent price advances rather than improved inquiry. Visible supply of meals light and apparently in strong hands. Country dealers buying lightly and sales generally below normal with stocks in excess of requirements. Increased offerings of oil meals, wheat by products, alfalfa meal and other feeds expected in near future. Quoted July 18 Bran $14.50, middlings $14.50 Minneapolis; 36 per cent. cottonseed meal $33 Atlanta; gluten feed $28 Chicago; linseed meal $35 Minneapolis; white hominy feed $22 St. Louis, $24 Chicago; No. 1 alfalfa meal $19.50 Kansas City; registered oatfeed $6.50 Chicago, $12.50 Philadelphia.

Dairy Products

Butter markets more firm during most of week but were only steady at the close. Price advances, which have occurred daily recently have been checked and Chicago was the only market showing higher prices on July 18. Hot weather and a falling off in the visible supply of butter have given confidence to the market. 92 score prices to-day: New York 41½c, Chicago 40½c, Philadelphia 40½c, Boston 42c. Cheese markets were very firm under an active export demand which has kept markets fairly well cleared of current stocks. Domestic demand good also with some speculative trading present. A great many dealers are buying in anticipation of higher prices. Wisconsin primary market prices average on July 18: Twins 17c, Daisies 14½c, Double Daisies 16¾c, Longhorns and Young Americas 18¼c.

Grain

Black rust reports unfavorable crop reports, drouths in Europe and increased outside buying were factors which resulted in price gains during the week, the markets dropped on the 16th due to evening up sales and a lull in outside speculation. The rule of the Chicago Board of Trade making grain in cars deliverable under future contracts caused independent weakness in July wheat at Chicago on the 15th. An overbought condition on the 16th resulted in falling prices. Manitoba reports that wheat would probably mature ahead of rust danger. Country offerings small. Visible supply of wheat now 12,849,000; bushels corn, 20,373,000 bushels. In Chicago cash market No. 2 red winter wheat closed at $1.26; No. 2. hard $1.27; No. 3. yellow corn 62c, No. 3. mixed corn 62c; No. 3. white oats 38c. For the week Chicago July wheat up 7½c closing at $1.26¾; July corn 3¼c at 64c. Minneapolis July wheat up 9¾c at $1.31½. Chicago September wheat up 9c at $1.27¾; September corn 2¼c at 61¾c. Minneapolis September wheat up 9½c at $1.33; Kansas City September wheat up 8½c at $1.17¾.

Fruits and Vegetables

Trading centers report of Irish potatoes steady in New York at $3.25 to $3.50 per bbl. Kansas sacked early Ohios $1.25 to $1.50 per 100 lbs. in Kansas City.

California salmon tint cantaloupes declined 25 to 50c per standard crate in consuming markets, closing mostly $2.75 to $3.50.

Elberta peaches advanced 50 to 75c per crate in New York, reaching $3.25 to $3.50.—Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore were firm, closing $3 to $3.25; Pittsburg higher at $2.50 to $3. The Chicago market closed about $1 per crate higher at $3 to $3.50.

Georgia and South Carolina Tom Watson watermellons, medium sizes, lower in New York, closing $250 to $350 per car July 16. Prices closed at $200 to $400 per car in Philadelphia and $275 to $375 in Pittsburg.

Livestock and Meats

Chicago livestock prices for hogs and cattle advanced during the week but those of sheep and lambs declined as much as $1. The advance of 55c to 70c on hogs would indicate that the upward seasonal trend has started. Steers are 10c to 50c higher. The price range on butcher cows and heifers widened, a 25c advance being scored on the best grades. Lower feeder prices declined 75c while lower grades of veal calves advanced an equal amount. Fat lambs declined $1 while other classes of sheep were about steady. July 18 Chicago prices: Hogs, top, $10.85; bulk of sales $9.25 to $10.75; medium and good beef steers $7.25 to $9; butcher cows and heifers $3.75 to $8.75; feeder steers $5 to $7.50; light and medium weight veal calves $9 to $11; fat lambs $8 to $10.70; feeding lambs $6 to $7; yearlings $6 to $8.25; fat ewes $3 to $5.35. Stocker and feeder shipments from 10 important markets during the week ending July 8 were: Cattle and calves 16,687; hogs 4,318; sheep 9,763. Dressed beef at eastern wholesale markets declined 50 to 75c on the lower grades, compared with a week ago. Veal showed no change. Lamb declined $1 while mutton advanced from $1 to $4. Light pork loins advanced $2 while heavy loins were irregular, advancing $1 on the better grades. July 18 prices good grade meats: Beef $14.25 to $16.50; veal $16 to $19, lambs $25 to $29; mutton $13 to $19; light pork loins $21 to $27; heavy loins $16 to $21.

Byron White, of Scio, died at the home of his son, Ulysses White, at Knight's Creek, Tuesday morning.

Descendant of Chief Says Intermarriage Has Weakened Them So Much That End is Apparent.

John R. Spurrier of Oklahoma says that the Indian will be extinct in a generation or two. Mr. Spurrier, who is a descendant of the Osage Indians and whose wife is also of Indian blood, says that constant intermarriage is so weakening the tribes that the nation which numbered over a million at the time this country was discovered will soon be only a name.

"The extinction of the Indian is only a matter of a short time," said Mr. Spurrier. "Intermarriage is proving fatal to the tribes, and they cannot long survive it. With intermarriage comes the Americanization and the Indians who have adopted modern methods live in extremely comfortable style.

"The richest small group of people in the world are the Osage Indians, whose reservation is in Osage county. There are 2,200 Indians in this tribe, 900 of them being of full blood who still wear their blankets, but the remainder have forsaken the ways of their ancestors and have become extremely American. The reason for the great wealth of this tribe is that their lands happen to be situated in the midst of the largest oil fields of Oklahoma, and the yearly annual income per capita averages approximately $2,500.

"The Osage Indians are the best educated tribe in the country, and also the best physical specimens. It was from this tribe that Buffalo Bill chose a number of his famous chieftains. The reservation of the Pawnee Indians adjoins that of the Osages and this tribe numbers 3,600, many of them prosperous and well educated."

TOOK OATH 'BY THE PEACOCK'

When Philip of Burgundy and His Knights Vowed to Engage to War for Holy Land.

In 1453 Philip the Good, duke of Burgundy, vowed "by the peacock" to go to the deliverance of Constantinople, which had recently fallen into the hands of the Turks. At the conclusion of the tournament and banquet held by the duke at Lille, Holy Mother Church, in the guise of a lady in mourning seated on an elephant and escorted by a giant, approached the duke and delivered a long, versified complaint claiming the aid and succor of the knights of the Golden Fleece.

The herald advanced, bearing on his fist a live peacock or pheasant, which, according to the rites of chivalry, he presented to the duke. At this extraordinary summons Philip, a wise and aged prince, engaged his person and powers in the holy war against the Turks. His example was imitated by the barons and knights of the assembly; they swore to God, the Virgin, the ladies, and the peacock.

In this connection will be recalled Praed's brilliant charade, "The Peacock and the Ladies."

As the Lawmakers Slang It.

"A woman on the industrial board was killed," announced Mrs. Stella S. King, acting secretary, at a recent meeting of the Legislative Council of Indiana Women. As she read the last word, she realized what she had said and started to laugh. It was in the text of the minutes of the preceding meeting, at which Mrs. King had not acted as secretary, and came in the account of legislative council bills which had been passed, advanced, or "killed."

As it happened, it was a mistake after all, for it was another bill pertaining to the industrial board which had been killed, not that creating a woman member of the board. But for a moment the legislative council forgot its dignity and giggled.—Indianapolis News.

France's Oak Trees Threatened.

While endeavoring to recover from the ravages of war the forests of France are also struggling from the ravages of parasitic growths which seem to be especially disastrous to the oaks. These are the country's most valuable tree, constituting nearly 30 per cent of the forest area. This tree seems to suffer especially from the fungus Oidium, which appeared in the province of Champagne about 1907, and is doing such damage that the extermination of the oak in France is foreseen. Young trees—particularly coppice shoots of the current year—are most susceptible to attack, though seedlings up to ten years of age have been destroyed. No remedy has yet been discovered.

Panama Springs Geographic Joke.

Panama perpetrates one of the greatest of geographic jokes on those who visit it. It convincingly makes east west. From Panama City the sun rises out of the Pacific, which to most American minds is the proper place only for setting suns. And he who sails through the canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific travels not from east to west, as he naturally expects to do, but from west to east, or, more accurately, from northwest to southeast. One gets the impression, as one writer has phrased it, that "there is something crooked about this." The crookedness is found to be in the isthmus, which runs preposterously east and west, instead of north and south, and in addition makes a double curve like the letter S, so that at one place the Atlantic waters are actually west of those of the Pacific.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Descendant of Chief Says Intermarriage Has Weakened Them So Much That End is Apparent.

It was the office of the famous detective, Mr. Sherlock Bones.

The visitor, a man of rather small height but liberal width, sat down.

"Married?" shapped Bones.

"How do you know I'm married?" gasped the visitor.

"By the samples of silk to be matched in your vest-pocket, and your hunted, haunted, expression," replied Sherlock.

The man gasped.

"It is marvelous how you know things!" exclaimed the man. "But it is about my wife I came to see you. She acts so queerly lately. She talks to herself all the time, stands before her mirror and talks to herself. It's awful! And she does the most terrible things. She'll put a cake of soap in the soup and scrub the pans with the soup bone, talking to herself all the time."

And the poor man wiped his brow nervously.

"How long has this state of affairs been going on?" asked the great detective.

"Oh, for about a week now. And, Mr. Bones, I can't stand it any longer. It's driving me crazy. I'm afraid she'll sell the baby for a bundle of rags, or something."

"Hm! Er, isn't it just possible that your wife is merely practicing and rehearsing her speech for the next meeting of the National Women's Rulers of Home league? I see its meeting takes place tomorrow night."

"By Jove! You're right. She is third assistant chairman of that league. I forgot it!"

With a relieved cry, the little man rushed home, and ever forgot in his glad relief to pay the great detective's fee.—London Answers.

MANY VARIETIES OF SHARK

Some Sea Monsters More to Be Feared Than Others, but All Ferocious to a Degree.

There are many families and varieties of the shark. Some of these families are smaller, more cowardly and less successful as killers than other families, says the Kansas City Star. They are not especially fierce toward things that are bigger and stronger than they. The dusky sharks and the sand sharks are not believed to be man killers, but they take man eaters when the opportunity arises.

The largest and fiercest shark is the great white shark. His disposition is to kill and eat, and he is so large and strong and self-confident that he will attack anything that swims, and a man is little more than a minnow or a herring to him. The great white shark inhabits the tropic and subtropic seas. The normal length of the teeth is one inch and they are flat, triangular and sawedge. Many of these sharks have been killed that were 30 feet long.

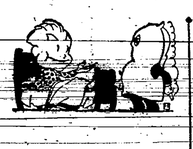
This ghost was a 1921 model



LAST MONTH, on a bet.
WITH THE boys up home,
I SPENT a night
ALONE IN the old,
HAUNTED HOUSE,
AND WHEN I heard,
MOANS AND groans,
I SAID "The wind,"
AND TRIED to sleep,
I HEARD rappings,
AND SAID "Rats,"
AND ROLLED over,
THEN I heard steps,
AND IN the light,
OF A dying moon,
A WHITE spook rose.
I WASN'T scared—much,
BUT DIDN'T feel like
STARTING ANYTHING,
BUT THEN I caught,
JUST A faint whiff,
OF A familiar,
AND DELICIOUS smell,
WHICH TIPPED me off,
SO I gave the ghost,
THE HORSE laugh,
AND SAID "El,
YOU FAT guys,
MAKE BUM ghosts,
BUT BEFORE you fade,
LEAVE WITH me one,
OF YOUR cigarettes,
THEY SATISFY."

THAT spicy, delicious aroma of fine tobaccos, both Turkish and Domestic, makes you almost hungry for the "satisfy-smoke." And there isn't a speck of a chance you'll ever find its equal anywhere—for the Chesterfield blend is an exclusive blend. It can't be copied.

"PANTS" PROVED HIM HONEST

Their Frayed Condition Convinced Tailor That Man Who Wore Them Must Be Straight.

It pays to advertise one's poverty, a certain statesman thinks.

A tailor in the last campaign was quite convinced in his own mind that the statesman was a most unworthy and absolutely unfit man for public position, as a result of the campaign conducted against him.

About ten days before the election one of the bell boys of a Washington club brought to this particular tailor—by mere chance—a pair of trousers belonging to the statesman, to be pressed. It was a hurry-up job, being the only pair that the statesman had at the time. The tailor started pressing them and to his amazement discovered that the trousers were badly frayed at the edges and worn and showed other evidence that the owner was apparently not spending his money for elegance in clothes, whereupon he announced he was for him.

"I am with him from this day forward," he said. "Any statesman who is forced to wear clothes for so long a time as these have been worn is surely a square and upright man and I am for him to the limit."

Goldfish in Ohio River.

Many tons of goldfish were caught in the fishing grounds of the Portage river at Port Clinton, O., recently. According to some of the fishermen, the first scattering of the fish was found in 1913 after the big floods of Ohio and the lake regions, and it was thought at that time that the fish may have been liberated from some of the park and resort aquariums, by the overflowing of the flooded artificial ponds.

The fish are not of the glass bowl variety, but seem to be more of a carp species, and will measure several inches and weigh as much as a half-pound each. They are placed in cars and brought back to Sandusky in refrigerator cars and shipped in tanks, alive, to the New York markets, where they are sold to the retail and wholesale trade.

St. Paul Is Exonerated.

Men translated the Bible—and twisted St. Paul's remarks about women to suit their own ideas. That is divulged by Miss E. Raleigh to the Woman's Home Missionary [illegible]

The apostle's remarks about women, she said, were badly twisted in translation and it could be proved by the research of a few hours and contrast that he [illegible] Christ's disciples [illegible] obey their husbands, [illegible] ever [illegible] the fashion of the [illegible]
