"C. D. Q."

Not many months ago if you had asked the question as to the meaning of "C. D. Q." you would have had the one questioned in a study. But now ask any school boy and he will tell you quickly "that is the code letters used at sea by the wireless telegraphers to summon help in the time of danger." Just recently the message was flashed out on the air by the steamer Slavonic, and there quickly sailed to her relief with all possible speed, two steamers that had picked up the message at a distance of 180 miles. Another victory in the world of science, and each day is revealing new and startling discoveries, but no discovery promises greater service to the human race than wireless telegraphy. If you want to let your imagination play a while, just study the thing out and consider how you can apply the discovery of the scientific world to your own practical every day experience. Have you been overworking? Has the nerve strain each day become more burdensome? Have you had that "I-can't-tell-what-is-the-matter" feeling? Can't sleep. Well that's the danger signal, the "C. D. Q." of nature, and you will be wise if you heed it.

Perhaps you have been looking at the woman that has been laboring with you all these years. Do you see the pale face? The hectic flush in the cheek? You ask her what is the matter and she will respond, "Oh, nothing. I am only a little tired. I will be all right in a day or two." Look out, that's another "C. D. Q." of nature, and you might go to her relief. Make work lighter, perhaps you can send her away for a visit. Do so, and do it quickly. Half of the pleasures of life are spoiled because they came too late.

The old grave yard on the hillside or in the valley has many a man or woman's body filling a grave that might be living today if somebody had caught the "C. D. Q." signal and gone to their relief. Don't say wait until to-morrow. Get busy and do it at once. You might get that down a little deeper or rather widen it out to the whole of village life. The village needs a forward move. Doing finely, you say. Yes, of course we are. But there is much more to be done. Don't wait ten or fifteen years. Get the "C. D. Q." message. Do business. Get in line for every improvement and then you will be enjoying the benefits and not leave it all for posterity.

WORTH CONSIDERING.

Years ago there used to be much talk about lightning rods, and nearty every building in the county district had its rod running up as a protection against the electric fluid. In these days of thunder storms and times when barns will be filled with fresh hot hay to attract the lightning, and the fact that the lightning rod man is about the country trying to interest the gullible, has led to a discussion in some of the papers, as to what will be chiefly helpful in preventing barns and other buildings from being struck with lightning. Even the New York Sun has taken up an interest in the matter, and one who claims to be an authority makes the statement, and it sounds reasonable, that a barn or other building roofed with iron or metal of any kind may be struck but it will not take fire for the reason that the electric charge will so rapidly diffuse in all directions through the metal that not enough heat will be held in any one place to start a fire. That's worth considering, and the fact that many of the farmers throughout the country have put metal roofs on their barns would indicate that while they could not give the scientific reason therefor, the fact is that it prevents destruction of the contents and the building from lightning. This is not intended in any way to be an advertisement for metal roofing, but underlying is the principle so obvious that the average lay mind will quickly grasp the idea and see that it is worth considering. Lightning rod men have had their day and the time has gone bye when the farmer will be decieved by the smooth talking glib agent that pockets the coin while the farmer gets the experience at a great cost.

"A nimble sixpence is better than a slow shilling." when progressie merchants realize the full import of that old adage they will be willing to part with a few dollars that ahundred may come in. How about having the business streets in Andover sprinkled these summer days so that it will be a pleasant thing for people to come to Andover to trade, rather than a thing to be dreaded. Then, too the old time band concert at stated intervals was a trade winner.

When people get ready to advertise the "Sylvan Dell" otherwise known as "the pond" we will have Sunday Schools and organizations coming in from other towns to enjoy the place. "Sylvan Dell" What do you think of the name? Come up and catch the silver sheen of the summer's sun and see if you don't think that a name well adapted for the place.

William Jennings Bryan is looking forward to a seat in the United States Senate. It is hoped that the people will elect him to that office and that he will become so interested in the deliberations of that August (?) body that he will forget to run for President at the next national election.

PAINT

We are agents for the best paints sold and are trying to present the paint question in as clear and concise a manner as possible. We are taking as many "short cuts" as we can and trying to make the subject clear to those who may not be experts in paint.

First—What it is made of. Old Dutch Process White Lead, the best grade of White Zinc, Old Process Cold Pressed Linseed Oil, a litile Dryer and the necessary coloring pigments; contains no adulteration whatever.

Second—What it will do. It will spread more freely, look better, go farther and wear longer than any other paint sold. It means a satisfactory job and economy in every way, ahead of all other paints, and it does not cost you any more. Come in and let us talk the paint question over with you.

The two year old son, of Albert Weldener of Almond, had a narrow escape from death, last week. He was watching his father start a gas engine, when the cylinder-head blew off and struck the little fellow in the fore-head. The wound was a bad one as the iron weighed about eight pounds and was blown from the engine with heavy force.

SOUTH HILL.

Now, summer is with us, and the days are the longest.

Mr. and Mrs. R. McAndrew were Wellsville visitors, one day last week.

Mrs. Allie Cramer, of Whitesville, and Mr. and Mrs. V. G Graves, of Andover, visited E. M. Livermore, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lynch and friend, of Hornell, are being entertained by friends on the Hill this week.

Mrs. John Conwell and son, Edward of Simpson, Pa., spent a few days this week with her sister, Mrs. P. A. Lean.

Miss O'Brian, of Buffalo, who cared for little Mary Dean in her illness, last summer, with her little neice, are enjoying a week in the country, at the home of John Dean.

James McAndrew, of Alfred, spent Sunday at R. McAndrew's and was accompanied home by the Misses Nora and Chestina McAndrew.

The friends and neighbors of Mrs. Forness regret that her condition does not seem to improve.

James Dean surprised us somewhat by slipping off quietly Monday morning and having that knot tied early. To "Jim" and his fair bride we all extend sincere congratulations and wish them a full measure of all the good things life has in store.

Miss Margaret Dean was up from Hornell to attend the wedding of her brother and enjoy a few days vacation.

Quite a number gathered on the ball ground to witness a game between our Champions and the Stars, of Wellsville, but the "Stars" did not appear. The visitors were entertained however, with some fast ball by the champions.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wahl spent Sunday at her home on the hill.

Mr. and Mrs T J Lynch, of Andover, were the guests at a family dinner at the home of their sister, Miss Ella Lynch.

Green—Crandall

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Green in Railroad Valley, Wednesday evening when their daughter, Miss Euphemia Green was united in marriage to Milford Crandall of Andover. Rev. L. C. Randolph, of Alfred, performing the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Crandall went directly to their new home at the farm of his father Sherman Crandall, south of this village.

Mr. and Mrs. Crandall are both well known, popular young people and the News joins the large circle of friends in extending congratulations and good wishes.

Goods moved at a lively rate in George Magner's Jewelry Store at Wellsville, Monday morning when a run-a-way team belonging to Fred Weinhauer plunged across the street and through the plate glass front into the store. Mr. Magner, who was working at his bench had just time to sprint to the rear of the store out of reach of the frightened horses. The damage to goods was heavy. The driver injured, and one horse so badly cut by the glass as to probably cause its death.

The Children's Day exercises at the Baptist Church, last Sunday were of unusual interest, as will be attested by the large audience present. The singing and recitations were of the usual excellence and were given the praise which they justly merited. Those in charge of the exercises also came in for their share of the success which attended the event.

Try our "B. B. B." column for good results.

Notice is hereby given that Thomas M. Gold Seal Rubbers

Gold Seal Rubbers give satisfaction. You get your money's worth every time, for a pair of them will last two or three times as long as a pair of other kinds. If you have ever worn them you know this to be a fact. If you have never tried them, do it the next time you buy rubbers.

We have all the sizes for Men, Women and Children; also Rubber Boots for Men.

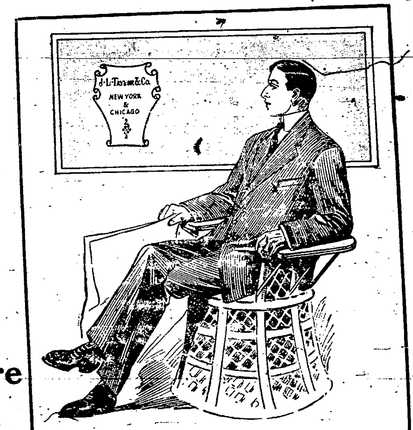
Black Cat Stockings

Black Cat Hosiery

Two classes of citizens of Andover and vicinity are very particular friends of Black Cat Stockings. One class does the buying and the other the darning for the family. The reason, of course, is easy to guess. Black Cat Stockings last longer than other kinds and require less darning. We have them for every member of the family at 12c, 15c, 18c and 25c the pair.

Corliss Coon Collars

Another lot of the newest styles of Corliss Coon Collars came this week. When you buy a Corliss Coon Collar you get correct style and best quality every time. We sell them at two for 25 cents. Come in and see the newest summer styles.



Made to Measure Clothes

You Cannot Do Better

It costs no more to have your clothes correct, than it does to have them wrong.
