DON'T YOU WISH YOU HAD?

He was a great big hulk of a fellow. You could tell by his bronzed face, great big hands, and home spun clothes that he came from the farm. He didn't have the little marks of culture and refinement that comes with city breeding. He sat in the back seat of the train on a summer's day when the heat was intense, dust flying in the open windows, everybody fretful and tired. And then, to add to it all, there, down in the front end of the car, sat a poor, tired looking woman with a baby crying and all that she could do wouldn't seemingly pacify the child. How the men looked at her, the woman, too. Not one of them offered assistance, (perhaps they were waiting for somebody to introduce them to the tired mother). And the train rattled on, the heat growing intenser as the noon-day approached and the baby more fretful. It seemed as though the limit of patience had been reached. When the big fellow started down the aisle, looking like a fright car in the middle of a long train with the paint off, name hardly distinguishable and running with a flat wheel. He went up to the tired mother, and after a few words, got the crying child in his arms, walked the aisle, quieted the baby, relieved the mother who soon dropped off for a nap, brought comfort to every passenger in the car, and the cooing smiling child in the arms of that great diamond-in-the-rough, was an object lesson that hot day to every man and woman on the train. Wonder how some of those men felt. Those dandy, dap per city bred, always pretend to be on the spot fellows. Wonder how that gentlemen dressed in clothes of clerical cut felt! That fellow from the hills brought a lesson to every person that saw his kindly act. Clothes don't make the man, or the woman either. Its the act, Oh! you think I wish that had been me. Of course you do, but, why don't you get next to that other tired mother or that neighbor of yours? They need a kind word. Or that fellow that is putting up a fight to be like other folks, get a kind word to him. Give him a smile, let him or her know that somebody cares. Life will be sweeter, the birds will sing for you, and then you will be somebody.

There are hundreds of instances where perhaps you could have done as the bronzed knight from the hills did. Do it, and then you will not be wishing you had.

THE LITTLE WORD WE.

Did you ever take the time to consider the importance of the "Little Word WE." Way back there in the Bible story when man was created that word was unknown. Man was alone. It was not heard in the beautiful bowers of earth, until the first home was established, then the first husband and wife used it. Pity the one who must always say "I" and never "WE". Yet it is always important to consider who are included in the "WE" of any person. It often indicates our character, the kind of men and women we are. For it is certainly true. "Men are known by the kind of company they keep". Now to get down to the meat of the matter, what do you mean when you say "WE." That means community interest when it is said in reference to village or community life. Just as when you speak of your family, "WE." We indicates everybody, WE, the people. Let that grip into the idea that young men and women of the village will need a place of recreation next winter, a well equipped gymnasium, indoors where they can cultivate health and happiness When "WE" get at it, WE can do it. But, it will never be done by cracker barrel-head decisions. It will need action, ACTION. A move has already been made in the right direction. Now if everybody will just give a little push it will be surprising how quickly the desired result will be attained. Now then, getinto it. and when finished no one can say "I" "I" with a great big capital "I". The great big kind that printers use for auction bills. But a "WE" big theater poster size, because the whole town with a unanimity that Andover has the reputation for, did it. And of course "We" will be pardoned if we do strut a little and push the chest out in pride, because "WE" did it.

You cannot feed the people by putting the bread of life in the church steeple.

THE "WHITE SLAVE"

The Governor of the State of Illinois has signed the bills passed by the Legislature of that State entitled the "WHITE SLAVE BILLS" and they become effective July 1st.

That practical work for the prevention of the continuation of the "Traffic" is to be continued is in evidence from the fact that the bills were drawn up by the committee, of which Assistant United States District Attorney Parkin, and Assistant State's Attorney Roe, are members and already steps have been taken to secure uniform legislation in other States when legislatures convene. Minnesota has passed three of the four bills recommended by the committee, North and South Dakota, and Iowa have enacted laws along the same lines, and other States are being aroused to the importance of stopping the awful "traffic."

The facts are that, the recent revelations during the investigations of the United States authorities into the "White Slave Trade" have revealed alarming conditions, and that, the system reaches from the coast to coast, and even belts the world. So great is the "traffic" that it is said that not less than 50,000 girls per annum in the United States are sold into slavery worse than death. A large proportion of the recruits (as the investigation revealed) are drawn from the smaller cities, villages and towns, of the country. Men and women who have made a study of the conditions, declare: that many a young woman is led into the life because of ignorance and the failure of parents to give their sons and daughters the necessary education along the needful lines, they rather that they would get their knowledge from scources that if they are not impure they are improper. What is the remedy? Education, education along the lines of personal purity. Wait, you will hear some old fogy say "FAD". Well, you may think so if you choose but, when somebody's daughter goes down to a life of slavery worse than any life in Siberian exile, you don't hear "FAD," No, its WHY? We are telling why, "IGNORANCE IS A CRIME" When knowledge will save a life from the awfulness of the "System that traffics in flesh and blood." Then to with hold the knowledge is crimnal.

There are some folks in the world working to redeem a world from its awfulness that would accomplish more if they would commence on the "one by one" plan and get busy with the folks they can influence. Somebody will say, 'Oh, that don't concern me." There was an old church official out West that when he was asked to get into line with the temperance no-license people, he said, "Oh! it don't concern me, I have no boys to drink! But that Sunday night when they brought his daughter home from the bawdy life of a great city, and she dated her fall from the back curtained room of a hotel, and the smooth words of a glib devil in a silk hat and Prince Albert coat it concerned him. Look out, those great moral questions concern you, Moral—GET BUSY.

It certainly is peculiar how a man will lie to himself. But he will. Look at it. He drinks and drinks. Nobody knows it he says. Dont' they? "I will never be a drunkard," he says. Experience proves that he lied to himself. The man taking just a little says that will never be missed. I am not a thief. And his own conscience tells him he is. Peculiar isn't it how men will lie to themselves.

EATINGS AT WELLSVILLE

Next week Wednesday and Thursday the 14th. and 15th. will be Big Days in Wellsville.

The Seven County Volunteer Firemen's Association expect to bring more people to town than ever were here at one time. This means 15,000 to 20,000 people and makes the feeding proposition decidedly interesting. Not that everybody won't get all they want to eat, for there will be plenty of lunch counters, dining halls etc. but of course the service and accomodations will not be exactly on par with The Hotel Fassett.

We propose to take care of our out of town customers on the 14th. and 15th. in this matter and will serve Coffee, Sandwiches, Fried Cakes, Milk, Ice Cream Soda and Ice Cream in many styles.

Everything will be priced at 5c. an order, Coffee 5c. Sandwiches 5c. etc and we will have accomodations for 125 people at one sitting. We can seat 80 people at our regular Soda Tables which serve from four to six each and we will have several larger tables. The eatings will be the very best we can buy and our service will be as good as we can make it. We will have plenty of help and we can serve you a fairly good meal, clean and quiet, for about half the regular price on those days.

Come in and see us anyway.

To-Morrow We are selling Roig Cigars, 7 for a quarter—stop in if you are in town.
