Rapid Hedge Trimmer.

Among the numerous time and labor saving devices for gardeners' use the geared hedge trimmer, invented by a New York man, is one of the most interesting. With it a hedge that formerly required five hours to trim can be clipped in one hour, or one man can do the work of five. This apparatus consists of a long rod with a shoulder piece at one end and a pair of shears at the other. Along this rod is a drive wheel connecting with a rotary pinion, which operates the crank controlling the shears. The device is held against the shoulder by means of a handle in the middle. Then the drive wheel is turned, and by means of the multiple gearing it opens and closes the shears five times with each revolution, thus making the apparatus a saver of 80 per cent in either time or labor. All the operator has to do is to keep turning the wheel and moving the shears along the hedgerow where it needs clipping.

DOES WORK OF FIVE.

BUTTERMILK IN PLACE OF WHISKEY

PRODUCT BECOMING A PROMOTER OF TEMPERANCE ACCORDING TO BARTENDERS.

Of late considerable has been said and written of the healthfulness of buttermilk and its value in promoting long life. A glass of buttermilk two or three times a day will not only help one to live longer, according to excellent medical authorities, but will prevent headaches, rheumatism, neuralgia, sluggishness and depression.

Buttermilk is more generally drank in Albany now than heretofore, and saloonkeepers say the demand is increasing. Buttermilk, it is said, is getting the upper hand of whiskey and is doing more than anything else to win men over to temperance. The surprising popularity of buttermilk as a beverage is attested on every hand and the product which was so despised and so little drunk a few years ago is now one of the prime necessities at every first-class place where drinks of any sort are sold. Dairymen are benefitted by the increased demand for buttermilk and now sell many quarts of the product, where heretofore it usually went to waste.

"I often have plenty of sweet milk left over every day," said a prominent dairyman yesterday, "but not since warm weather set in have I been able to supply my customers with as much buttermilk as I would like, and as much as they like."

Whereas, only a few years ago buttermilk was so seldom drank that farmers' wives always fed the milk to the pigs; now they sell it to the dairymen, and more churning is done than ever before, merely to have the buttermilk. Whereas, they would churn but once a week in former years, nowadays they get out the machine and churn as often as two and three times a week.

Farmers were willing to sell their ermilk in former years for two and three cents a quart, but now they want more. The dairyman now gets as much as five cents a quart, and some of them who put it up in fancy bottles get the same price that they do for sweet milk.

"Doctors advise their patients to drink buttermilk," said one barkeep, it has a soothing effect as well as satisfying to the thirst. Sweet milk leaves an unpleasant taste in the mouth. I have noticed that a good many of our steady customers who have been in the habit of drinking wine are drinking buttermilk this summer, and they like it."

Buttermilk, according to this authority, appeals to the "hard liquor" drinker more than it does to the beer drinkers.

Just how buttermilk came to be introduced to the bars is a matter of some doubt. One bartender said that it was because New Yorkers when they came to Albany would ask for it, and not being able to get it in a barroom would ask to be directed to a dairy.

"I remember," said a New Yorkman, "a few years ago of a place near Battery Park. They had butter milk there and there was a steady stream of people going after it. One by one all the big hotels began putting it in and making more from it than they would from any other drink for they charge 10 cents a small glass and buy it for five cents a quart."

Some years ago saloonkeepers, in order to attract the temperance drinkers, put in cold chocolate, but this didn't go. Buttermilk has been a success from the start. It is sold at many soda fountains and every lunch room has it. Resturants advertise it on the bill of fare and dairymen post signs in their windows announcing that they have buttermilk—Albany Argus.

LABOR DAY A GRAND SUCCESS

LARGE CROWD—FINE WEATHER—THE SPORTS A BIG ATTRACTION—THE BEST PARADE EVER IN WHICH THE BUSINESS INTERESTS WERE WELL REPRESENTED—RECEIPTS NEAR $350.

That it does not take booze to make a successful celebration was proven conclusively, once for all in Andover Monday, Labor Day. An immense crowd was present and enjoyed one of the best celebrations ever witnessed in any village. The weather was just right and the entire program was carried out as previously outlined without a hitch. Everyone happy and all well pleased.

The mammoth parade was formed at 11 o'clock, at the lot in front of the Rochambeau Silk Mill. It was headed by Assemblyman, J. S. Phillips, Marshal of the day, escorted by two mounted aids, and followed by the Whitesville band and an elegant Patriotic Float by Edward Seaman Post, G. A. R. and Ladies of the Relief Corps, members of the Post in autos following. Then came Andover Lodge No. 786 I. O. O. F. with forty men in line wearing their handsome parade caps. They made a spectacular appearance and were followed by four sulkeys artistically trimmed, drawn by two young men to each sulkey and occupied by the Misses Regina Raufenbarth, Florence Baker, Adbell Bassett and Helen Brown. Then a jolly load of Japanese girls, in costume, was followed by decorated carriages and bicycles. The carriages were driven by Mrs. Guy Harder, Mrs. Benj. Conley, Miss Daisy Yarger, and the Misses William with a beautiful double carriage drawn by a pair of Shetland ponies, and escorted by six Shetland ponies ridden by three boys and three girls. Then came the Excelsior Band of Andover, A happy bunch of school children rode in a large float feeding on melons, following there came the Industrial floats representing the firms of Fred D. Rice, Music Store; Calhoun's Cafe; C. E. Brown, Furniture; Frank Raufenbarth, Market. Henry Livermore, Harnessmaker; Platts Brothers Cutlery Co., Cutlery; A. M. Burrows Sons, Department Store; Porter & Richardson, Hardware; Leo Stephens Barber; Houghting & Coleman, machinists and Auto Repair shop; and The News Printing House. Interspersed with the industrial floats were a number of humorous floats, one a platform with a real old fashioned square dance in progress, and Henry Stephens and lady with their new model 1776—1909 make auto drawing an "Ambulance" and "First Aid to the Injured" wagon, immediately in its rear. In all there were sixteen floats. They were all artistically and harmoniously arranged.

The fantastic parade following was just fine. Mr. A. R. Brillon, who was the "Chief Cook and Bottle Washer" of them all, certainly displayed good judgment and pleased the people. There was nothing in the fan so arranged that even the cynic had to smile while others roared with delight.

The parade was over a mile in length when the Marshal was nearly through Main street the last of the procession had barely left the starting point. Many are the words of praise heard on all sides from people from other towns. All unanimous in their statements that it was the best parade ever seen in Western New York.

After the parade a grand rush was made by the crowd for dinners, which were served by the Womans Relief Corps at G. A. R. Hall and the ladies of the several churches at I. O. O. F. Hall

At 1:30 a grand band concert was given at the corner of Main and Greenwood streets by Andover Excelsior Band, after which the bands led those who cared to see the field sports to the Lynch Driving Park. Those who did not care to see the field sports remained up town and enjoyed the afternoon dancing at Harmony Hall.

The sports were as follows:

Horse Race.

Free for all ½ mile heats best two out of three, by horses of C. B. Lever, B. A. Clair and W. E. Snyder, Lever winning first money, Second place a draw between Snyder and Clair.

1½ Mile Marathon Race.

One Half Mile Bicycle Race.

Earl Slocum, Lawerence Livermore and Harold Paine. Slocum 1st, Livermore 2nd.

200 Yard Dash

Harold Brainard, Edgar Carpenter, Robert Dean and Floyd Davis. Brainard taking 1st and Carpenter 2nd.

Three Legged Race

George Robinson and Vaughn Starr taking first money, Earl Slocum and Peter Perry Second and Mike Gavin and A. R. Brillon, third.

Ball Game

The ball game between Andover Business men and Professional men aroused a lot of enthusiasm and was won by the Business men. The score being 6 to 12.

After the sports at the driving park the bands led the crowd up town, where supper was served by the ladies at the Odd Fellows Hall. After supper a band concert was again enjoyed in front of the Auditorium. At 8 o'clock a splendid home talent entertainment was provided at The Auditorium in which the various musical organizations of which Andover people are justly proud participated. The Euterpe Club, Ladie. Quartette and Cannons Orchestra furnishing the music and Mrs. Ethe. Rogers, Reader, Together with two drills, "The Milk Maids" and "The French Dolls." After the entertainment the day's pleasures ended by a grand ball at Harmony Hall.

This first annual Labor Day and Field Day celebration was a decided success in every way and all are looking forward to a similar celebration next year. The direct object for which the celebration was originally planned was to raise funds for a children's club or gymnasium, to provide a place where Andover boys and girls may go and pass a pleasant evening under circumstances that are moral and refined. It is a matter of philanthropy worthy the support of every one. The movement being wholly along lines nonsectarian. Every child in Andover of whatever religous faith or nationality being eleganle to membership and fully entitled to all the privileges accorded anyone. It is the thought of the promoters that the place provided be cared for by some competent person of good morals, who will be congenial to those liable to attend. It will be wholly an Andover affair.

The net receipts from this first celebration amounts to $350. It has already been decided to hold a similar celebration next year for the same purpose and so on for a number of years to come until the desired amount for a fully equiped gymnasium shall have been obtained.

NOTES

Dr. Mitchell surprised them all with his fast ball.

There were others looking for that hot blade, but Edgar found it.

As will be noted elsewhere, Pitcher Platts has just awoke to the fact that he can do business.

Every committee did fine work and got into the harness bravely as the results themselves show.

A. D. Fuller and John Lever made good selling auto tickets. Their work being equal to that of the experienced cjers.

All are very grateful to the autoists, who donated their time and the use of their machines for the good of the cause.

The entertainment committee gave us a fine musical program and assisted very materially in swelling the total recipts of the day.

The professional men haven't enough yet and say they want to get after the business men again, for money, marbles or chalk.

The Odd Fellows made a fine showing in the parade. That order showed their good will by donating their spacious lodge rooms for the ladies to serve dinner in.

The Williams Shetland ponies added greatly to the beauty of the parade. One would have to go a long way to find a prettier exhibit of these valuable little animals.

Edgar Porter has learned that it is not always wise to pick up everything thrown his way. He couldn't get to that hot knife blade thrown off the Platts Bros. float quick enough. He was just as anxious to drop it.

Photographer Glenn Lee has Assemblyman Phillips in several new poses, which undoubtedly, would be interesting to some of his Albany friends. The pictures were taking in ball team uniforms in the act of playing the game.

Monday was a fine time to learn who the parties were who would act out what they preached. It is often easier to sit in a soft rocking chair and sing "Where is My Wandering Boy To-night," than it is to dip a little into that old wallet and help provide a place for him to be kept free from temptation.

Cards of Thanks

We, the undersigned, wish to express our heartfelt gratitude, to those who so kindly assisted us in our late bereavement. Especially those who furnished flowers, the choir, and the pastor for his words of comfort and consolation.

H. M. Clark, and family.
