SEVEN BALLOTS

At the election next Tuesday seven separate ballots will be required in Allegany County to fill the full contract of the new Constitution.

Four of these relate to the new Constitution, which may be voted for or against, in whole or in part, at the option of the elector. Each of the seven ballots are put into separate boxes.

To avoid confusion, we give the list of ballots to be used. First, comes the ballot indorsed

'State.'

This ticket will contain the names of the State nominees proper, Senate and county nominees—Assembly, Treasury, Justice of the Sessions, Coroner.—Then comes

'Judiciary.'

The Judiciary ballot will contain names of the judicial nominees, both for long and short terms. Two Judges of the Court of Appeals and one Justice of the Supreme Court will appear.—Next

'School Commissioner.'

This is also a separate and distinct ballot, bearing the name of the candidate for each district respectively.

The four Constitutional ballots will be respectively indorsed thus:

'Constitution.'

'Constitution—Judiciary.'

'Constitution—Assessment and Taxation.'

'Constitution—Property Qualification.'

Below the endorsement on each of these ballots will be indicated the number for or against the values referred to.

In order to give a more complete understanding of the four Constitutional ballots, we quote the law upon the point, as follows:

'Each citizen entitled to vote at such election may vote four ballots, as follows:—One of them shall be indorsed "Constitution," and shall contain on the inside, when folded, the words "For the Amended Constitution," or the words "Against the Amended Constitution," and all such ballots shall be deposited in the box labeled "Constitution—Judiciary," one of said ballots shall be indorsed "Constitution—Judiciary," and shall contain on the inside, when folded, the words "For the amended Judiciary Article," or the words "Against the Amended Judiciary Article," and all such ballots shall be deposited in the box labeled "Constitution—Assessment and Taxation," the other of said ballots shall be indorsed "Constitution—Property Qualification," and shall contain on the inside, when folded, the words "For the property qualification for colored men," and all such ballots shall be deposited in the box labeled "Constitution—Sufrage."

With these explanations we think your readers will be able to vote understandingly, and not be frightened away from the polls by reason of the multiplicity of ballots required to vote at the election next Tuesday.

His California speculation: That's

General Sigel's Speech.

General Sigel made a good speech in Albany on Thursday. He made a strong argument in behalf of the Fifteenth Amendment. He expressed his surprise that the Democrats opposed it.

A European Liberal can have amazement only, and regret for the hostility of professed Democrats to liberal and progressive measures, and find the Democratic Party square in the way of movements designed to ameliorate the condition of the poor and wealthy.

General Sigel observed: "If a man might be denied the right of voting because he was black, the speaker might be denied the same right because he was a German. The laws must be made without distinction of color, race, or religion. If our platform contained only this plank it has deserved work of humanity. This is all Ireland asks of proud England, to be placed on a political equality with her oppressors. It is the prayer of the toiling millions of the old world.—Hungary was never satisfied until she had reached a certain degree of equality with Austria.—you find a man—no matter what race he sprang from, or what land gave him birth—who says he will never forsake the old flag, and the institutions of the land of the free, that man is your friend and a true American, whether he comes from Europe, or was born on this continent. This is true democratic ideal by which the Government will in future be ruled. The true American citizen will not the character of a Yankee or a German; but will unite the power of America, the energy of the French, the activity of the Celt, and the steadiness of the Teuton. The party that adopts these ideas, whether Republican or Democratic, was his party."

The General wondered at the opposition of the Democrats to the President's Bureau, which supplied education to the ignorant blacks. It cost less than $250,000, and returned a thousand fold in the increased intelligence and industry of the black race.—The nomination of General Sigel is highly acceptable to the Republican Party, and especially to his countrymen. The German who have done the work of Tammany, have received none of its rewards, and their applications have been contemptuously treated. The Germans naturally have little sympathy with the reactionary doctrines of the Democratic Party. They find ideas that they love in the Republican Party, and there are their natural affections.
