The Coming Attractions At The Auditorium

A young lady of this city saw the Davidson Pictures for "Lena Rivers" which comes to the Auditorium next Monday evening and informs us that she saw the same play and company on her recent visit to the city. "The play" she says, "is just too sweet for anything, and I laughed at Joel and Granny until I had a headache and then cried for Lena until I forgot it. But the play itself isn't the only thing that's swell about it, for the five ladies certainly had the dresses for them and looked simply beautiful in them. Lena looked just like a little Dresden picture and the imported lace gown that she wears in the third act was too dear for anything. Caroline Livingstone and Mrs. Graham are of the brunette type and it looked to me as if each was trying to wear prettier clothes than the other. You can just smell the old lavender on dear old Granny's clothes, and though they are old style paterns, you can see that they are awfully rich materials. Anna is one of the cutest little tricks you ever saw and acts and looks like Millie James. One of the ushers told us that the manager of the show carries eighteen hundred dollars' insurance on the wardrobe trunks that belong to the company, and I don't doubt it. All the girls in our crowd are going to see the play when it comes here and I am going again too, for it is one of those plays that you can see three or four times and enjoy it more every time. Tell your mother and sister to be sure and go.

THE BLADE
Toledo, Ohio.

TOLEDO, OHIO,
The Best Known Newspaper in the United States
Circulation 200,00
Popular in Every State.

The seventy-fourth year of its existence finds the Toledo Blade more popular than at any period of its remarkable career. It is new read each week by more than a million people. Its field is not circumscribed by State boundaries, but involves the length and breadth of the United States, giving it an unquestionable right of claiming to be the greatest national weekly newspaper in the country.

The Weekly Blade is distinctly a family newspaper. The one object it has always been to make it fit for the American home, for the fireside, and for contact to every member of the family. To fulfill this purpose it is kept clean and wholesome. The news of the world is handled in a comprehensive manner, and the various departments of the Blade are edited with painstaking care. The Household page is a delight to the women and children; current affairs are treated editorially without prejudice; the serial stories are selected with the idea of pleasing the greatest number of fiction lovers; the Question Bureau is a scrapbook of information; the Farmstead columns are conducted with the purpose of giving the patrons a medium for the exchange of ideas and information on farm topics. No department is neglected, but every feature is taken care of with the utmost care and ability to make those who read it better and happier for having read it.

Women's Club

The Woman's Club met last week with Mrs. Ella Hawley Crossett, president, in the chair. The president read a letter from the Woman's Club of Albany, N. Y., in which the Troy club was invited to join with the Albany club in a protest against the Sulzer bill, which was now before the legislature of the state of New York. The letter was read and discussed and the Woman's Club of Troy voted unanimously against the Sulzer bill. Reports related regarding the Suffragette in England were misrepresented by the press, which we are all beginning to understand. Mrs. Hitins cited one of these as an example which came to her notice. The published account of the utter demolishing of a statue in one of the public buildings by the suffragetts. Miss Carolyn Crossett, daughter of the president, also told of witnessing the release of 30 suffragetts from prison and how they were received by their husband and families, many of them with the finest carriages and coachmen denoting wealth and refinement.

At the close of the session Thursday afternoon we were giving an invitation to a reception in our honor by the Troy school of Arts and Crafts; it would be utterly impossible for me to attempt a description of the beautiful work exhibited. We were met with a cordial greeting, extended the freedom of the parlors and studios and served refreshments by the ladies in charge.

Thursday evening we were again welcomed by Hon. Elias Mann, Mayor of Troy. There had been considerable conjecture as to whether the mayor would materialize at this meeting. You know it is quite customary for Mayors to be suddenly summoned from home or taken violently ill at such a time. But not so with Hon. Elias. He was on the rostrum at the stroke of the gavel and extended the good word to us with the assurance that the "City was ours"—which meant, you know, that it belonged for the time to the yellow ribboned ladies, as we heard ourselves called. I wish I might tell you of the two addresses made that evening, so you could understand in part, at least, the splendid things brought us, but this I cannot do. Mrs. Francis Squire Potter of New York City first. Her subject, "Partial Democracy and the Child," Mrs. Potter is the newly elected Corresponding Secretary for the National Suffrage Association. To accept this office she resigned a professorship in a Minnesota college which she held for years. I have often thought that from the western states comes our broadest and most impartial minded people, and Mrs. Potter impressed me as such a person. Her arguments were conclusive. Mrs. Florence Kelley, of Chicago, we have all read of and the grand work done by her for the working girls as factory inspector. To see Mrs. Kelley was one of the strongest inducements to me to go to Troy. I have so wanted to hear her talk. I'll have to own to a bit of disappointment when she began to speak, which however was forgotten in the wonderful mind and thoughts she presented.

Friday Rev. Anna Shaw arrived and was greeted with an ovation which made the walls ring. Mrs. Laura Collins, of Hornell spoke on fair work and the good results of this work in Hornell. There are 100 fairs held each year in New York State so this fair work does help advance the cause. Mrs. Collins also advocates the sending of suffrage literature to the patrons of the rural free delivery. Mrs. Powell of Brooklyn was introduced next. She was richly gowned and rather startled the audience by at once announcing the evident fact that money was no object to her. That she possessed a magnificent home in Brooklyn, fully equipped with servants. Had carriages, auto's and in fact everything that money could procure at her command, with no personal wish ungratified. But she said "I have not always occupied this position" and stated that for three years she earned her bread as a working girl and this is the reason for her work, the organizing of working girls clubs. She said she had all Brooklyn organized and hoped to report the same of Manhattan soon. Her knowledge of the political evils and graft imposed upon the working girls of our cities is her reason for working in this way for an unrestricted ballot for women.

Among the fine things introduced during the Convention was the offer of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York to the State Association of headquarters in New York City. Mrs. Howe of Albany was called to the platform and introduced. Mrs. Howe was formerly an "anti," a member of an Anti suffrage Club in Albany. But becoming convinced of the wrong attitude of the club she announced to the members her determination to join the Suffrage ranks much to their disgust; some of them refusing to speak to her. But she left the Anti's and organized a Suffrage Club of which she is president, and which is doing excellent work. Mrs. Frank Schuler of Buffalo, who many of you will remember as president of the Western Federation of Woman's Clubs, with a membership of 3200 said that at the mid-winter meeting held at Medina it was noticeable that while at that time no claims for political equality were made by the organization, every woman on the program brought into her paper something about suffrage and later when a vote was taken to endorse Suffrage only three women kept their seats.

Friday night was the climax of all the good things and good speakers. The first, Max Eastman, son of Rev. Annis Ford Eastman, who we have had the pleasure of hearing lecture in Andover. Mr. Eastman is the organizer of the voters' League for Woman's Suffrage in New York City. He is a brilliant young man and of course nothing could be more helpful in our cause than the work he is doing. Among other statments made by Mr. Eastmen was one to the effect that the old arguments for equal suffrage had been repeated over and over until people had become indifferent to them. In his opinion the only thing that had a feather's weight with the average politician was the words "I won't vote for you, unless", and this is his idea in organizing voters to work for and demand the franchise for women. Mrs. Belmont of New York, who expected to be at the convention, was unable to do so because of illness. She wrote a personal letter to be read and also sent her pastor to speak to us. Rev. John Wesley Hill of the Metropolitan Temple, New York city, who said: "I am here at the request of Mrs. Belmont. She assigned me my subject. I said, well I am willing to go. As I never went on an expedition or crusade of this kind before I wish you would tell me what to talk about. She said: 'Talk about thirty minutes.' I find myself in something of the position of a tramp who came into my meeting out in Utah. At the close of the meeting I asked if there were any helpless, hopeless individuals who wanted to start life over again, and the most ragged wretched specimen of a man came forward to the altar and I told him to get down on his knees and ask God to forgive him his sins and help him to lead a different life. He prayed: 'Almighty God look with pity upon me in this prayer as it is my maiden effort.' I want you Almighty women to look with pity upon me for this is my maiden effort. The gentleman, who proceeded me, said the men are proceeded me said, the men are coming in a little late, and I said God knows I am bringing up this ignominious rear. I congratulate you upon this glorious work which is yours. I find I have had a new birth myself here to-night. I thought I had prepared quite an effort." Picking up his manuscript and transporting it to his coat pocket, he said, "No! I find this young crack shot says this powder has been burned in this camp already." "You ought to hear this speech. I'll read it to my wife when I get home. Some woman ought to hear it. This question cannot be laughed down, or ridiculed down, or forced down. It is standing at the court of the people and is commanding a hearing throughout the world. This question is up and it is up for settlement. No question is settled until it is settled right. This maxim is written in the best blood of our history. That is the meaning of this great convention and of your presence here. You stand face to face with the crisis of the centuries. The Rev. Anna Shaw followed with such an address as you who have listened to her

On Hair Health

SCALP AND HAIR TROUBLES GENERALLY CAUSED BY CARELESSNESS.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to some one else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes, which will infect your scalp. It is far easier to catch microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a single stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on anybody else's hat. Many a hatband is a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubls. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial if it does not produce the results we claim This remedy is called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair troubles, and we know of nothing else that equals it for effectiveness, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is devised to banish dandruff, restore natural color when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the hair follicles, destroys the germ matter, and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to tighten and grow new hair. We want everybody who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is the best hair tonic and restorative in existence, and no one should scoff at or doubt this statement until they have put our claims to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay us nothing for the remedy if it does not give full and complete satisfaction in every particular. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Andover only at our store, —The Rexall Store. J. D. Cheesman.

Mrs. Louie Hite, 428 Outlen St. Danville, Ill., writes, October 1st: "Foley's Kidney Pills started me on the road to health. I was treated by four doctors and took other kidney remedies but grew worse, and was unable to do my housework, and the doctor told me I only could live from two to six months. I am now so much better that I do all of my work and I shall be very glad to tell any one afflicted with kidney or bladder trouble the good results I received from taking Foley's Kidney Pills. Commence today and be well. Do not risk having Bright's Disease or Diabetes. Brundage Drug Co.

The Feeding Value of Alfalfa

is largely in its chemical compound known as protein; its extreme digestibility is another desirable quality to be considered, and not least is its appetizing character. Not only do all animals like it, but when given in moderate quantities it seems to increase the general appetite for more fat making feeds. Steers beginning to "fall off" on a heavy diet of corn will come to their appetites after being fed only a few pounds of alfalfa daily and will eat and assimilate more corn than before. Alfalfa alone is not a fat making feed. Animals fed on it grow in weight, but the weight is principally of bone, blood and muscle. It is without a sufficiency of fat and carbohydrates, and these should be added in such seeds as corn, oatmeal, Kafir corn or Kafir cornmeal, or to a limited degree even in corn stover, sorghum or millet. When alfalfa is fed alone all the protein cannot be digested, and therefore it is always economical to add some carbonaceous foods, if animals are to be fattened.—Coburn's "The Book of Alfalfa."

The Only Way

A little girl, whose mother was away at work and who was cared for during the day by a rather stern relative, ran over to play in a neighbor's yard one day and got her feet wet.

The lady in whose yard the little girl was playing said, "Esther, I'm very much afraid that you will get a whipping when you get home for playing in the water." "Oh, no, we ain't got no hair brush," was the quick reply from the three-year-old.—The Delineator for December.
