THE INDEPENDENT VOTER.

An analysis of the results in the cities and throughout the State reveal the factthat as never before the independent voter has asserted his perogative and cast his ballot as he though best without the sentiment that is usually supposed to exist concerning party affiliations.

That men are thinking for themselves and that the influence of the newspaper is growing, is indicated in the results. We are getting to be if we are not already a nation of paper readers.

Many of the cities elected men of one party for the head of government,and elected men to subordinate office who were of the opposite party. This is certainly a good indication for the perpetuation of pure government, and shows that wrong doers will not be continued in office, and that right doing officials are not to be set aside by any clamor of party feality. New York City is the greatest example of the thought as indicated, and Tammany's long continued hold has been broken and for four years the Tammanyites that have been feeding at the public crib will, be compelled to get out and work at other business.

There is much cause for congratulation in all this, and indicates the growing tendency, to think and act in the true American spirit. It is certain that men of political parties cannot make promises and then break them with impunity, and expect that they will be exempt from punishment. There is a day of reckoning and the voters are realizing as never before their powar at the polls and will brook no deceit. We recall the results in a certain city that is normally a republican city, but this year because the party in power defied the will, or desire of the people in the nomination, they suffered a stinging rebuke. It looks as though in many of the districts there will be a recasting of leaders and organization, for when a man cannot deliver the goods no party of any name has use for him.

And then the temperance side of the question indicates that men will break all party lines and do as conscience says, rather than as a few leaders may wish. The temperance cause has made a decided gain when it is remembered that 84 per. cent of the towns in the Western part of the State want no-license. Independence is a good quality and no where can it accomplish morefor the good of all, than it can at the polls and the independence of thevoter is the safe guard of American institutions.

HON. J. S. PHILLIPS MAKES STATEMENT

THAT GENTLEMAN DISCUSSES THE RESULTS OF TUESDAY'S ELECTION IN ALLEGANY AND OTHER COUNTIES.

(From the Wellsville Reporter)

When the pluralities of Tuesday's election come to be analyzed the results are very gratifying to the Republican organization of the county and particularly so to the Hon. Jesse S. Phillips, who was re-elected to the Assembly for the tenth term. The vote of the Republican coroners is the normal Republican vote, and compared with this Mr. Phillips' vote was only 433 less, showing that the defection in his case was very small, considering the great effort made by his opponents to discredit him.

In an interview with a representative of the Reporter Friday morning Mr. Phillips said:

"The Associated Press and other dispatches have referred to the great reduction in my plurality for Member of Assembly from Allegany County, comparing the plurality of this year with that of the presidential election of 1908, which of course, is not a fair comparison. It is also claimed by them that my plurality was but 1536; as a matter of fact, the official returns show that my plurality over Carr, my Democratic opponent, is 1958. It is true that this is a trifle over 2000 less than that of the presidential election of 1908. The direct primary advocates have been pleased to refer to a reduction in my vote of 2000 which, of course, any reasonable man knows is not true.

"In the first place, the reduction of Republican pluralities in this county is due to the light vote which is always polled in an off year and which was, this year, unusually light. The Republican candidate for sheriff received a plurality of 1636; the Republican candidate for County Clerk, 2728; the Republican candidates for coroners 2884. Comparing my vote, therefore, with that of the coroners on the Republican ticket, which would indicate the normal Republican vote in this county, and against whom there was absolutely no fight, we find that Dr. Bacon received [illegible] 5,862 votes, [illegible] making a total [illegible] my vote. So when it is claimed, as it has been in some of the dispatches, that I lost over 2,000 votes, the figures surely do not indicate it. In my judgment, this loss of 433 votes can not entirely be attributed to my attitude upon the direct primary proposition. This was my tenth consecutive election, and during my term of office, covering a period of nine years, there are a few men in the way of patronage or favors which I have been unable to procure for them.

"There was formed in the county about four weeks prior to election a league which was called a Direct Primary League, organized by twenty-three men, some of whom were my personal enemies, and half of them Democrats, including the Democratic candidate for sheriff, the Democratic candidate for Member of Assembly and the chairman of the Democratic County Committee. This league, with the assistance of the State Direct Primary League put forth its utmost efforts to induce Republican voters to vote for my Democratic opponent, circularized the county, made statements which cannot be substantiated by the real facts, and, in fact, did everything to bring about my defeat. The net result of all this effort is a loss upon my part of 433 votes, and as above stated, this cannot all be attributed to the direct primary proposition.

"It is unnecessary for me to say that I greatly appreciate the efforts of my party organization and of my friends of all parties in this election. The results show the splendid work performed by them in my interest, and a magnificent victory has been achieved. The loyalty of the people of Allegany County to my candidacy is a source of personal gratification. Now that election is over, I repeat what I said when I was nominated, that I will endeavor to the best of my ability to serve my constituency for their best interest and the interest of the state, free from domination from any source and unbaised by public clamor.

"It has been claimed by the President of the State Direct Primary League that the result of the election shows an overwhelming sentiment of Republican voters in favor of the direct primary question. They refer to the reduction in the plurality of Speaker Wadsworth. They failed, however, to call attention to the fact that Mr. W. Y. Robinson, Mr Wadsworth's predecessor, only secured 43 plurality the last time he was elected in 1903. There was a Democrat elected in the second district of Niagara, and in Oneida County, due more to factional causes than to the direct primary question.

Last year, Dr. Draper, the member from the second district of Niagara, was elected by a plurality of 42. It is true that a large number of Republicans seeking re-election were elected by reduced pluralities, which can be attributed to the light vote.

"In the first district of Chautauqua, Mr. Allen, who was a strong advocate of the Hinman-Green bill, was elected this year by a plurality of 3,629; a loss of 2,598 from his plurality of last year. In Cattaraugus County Mr. Cheney, another advocate of the Hinman-Green bill, was elected by a plurality of 863 less than last year. In Erie County, Mr. Jackson an ardent direct primary man, was elected this year by a plurality which was 926 less than last year. The representative of the County of Wyoming last year voted for the Hinman-Green bill, and therefore the issue was not raised on his successor, and yet he only received a plurality of about 1200 where the Republican candidate for member of 1908 received 2302.

"I have simply referred to these figures as showing that the reduction in pluralities is due largely to the light vote which is always polled in an off election year. Of the Members of the Assembly who opposed the Hinman-Green bill 32 per cent were not returned; of those who voted in faver of the Hinman-Green bill 28 per cent were not returned. Surely that does not show any great advantage or any fair test of the direct primary sentiment in the state that the people will study this question and honestly ascertain the truth of its operation in those states of New York.

"As a matter of fact, the more where it has been tried, I believe that a great majority of our citizens, if they are honest with them selves, will be against direct nominations. Surely the people of the rural districts should be slow to adopt a scheme which would deprive them of a large part which they now have in making nominations. I believe that they are unwilling to surrender to the cities that power. They are unwilling to have their nominations made by the large centers of population."
