Winter Dairy Course at Cornell Univ. [illegible] versity, Ithaca, New York

The announcement of the Winter Course in Dairy Industry at the New York State College of Agriculture, at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., is being sent to dairymen and others interested throughout the state. This course consists of twelve weeks of lectures and practical work for persons interested in Dairying.

The work covered by the different courses given in the winter Dairy School is as follows:

The Production and Testing of Milk.

This course includes the secretion of production of milk, its composition and methods of testing, including milk and various dairy products. The course gives special attention to methods of producing and handling clean milk, including the relation of bacteria to milk, butter and cheese.

Butter-making.

This work includes the receiving, weighing, sampling and testing of milk, separating, pasteurizing and ripening of the cream, churning and printing of the finished butter.

Cheese.

The cheese room is equipped with conveniences for the manufacture of cheese by the most approved modern methods. The work is all performed by students under the careful direction of the professor in charge. A number of varities of fancy cheeses are also made in connection with this work.

Testing Work.

In this work the students are taught the various quick tests for milk and its products, including the use of the lactometer, the Babcock test, the test for acidity and the moisture test for butter.

Dairy mechanics.

This course is intended to give the training necessary to enable a man to run and keep in repair the machinery necessary in a creamery or in a farm dairy. The work includes soldering, pipe-fitting, belt lacing, construction of separators, and the running of gasoline and steam engines.

Market milk.

The dairy department operates a milk route, and the students are given practice in the various operations in connection with this work,—such as the washing and sterilizing of dairy utensils, cooling and bottling of milk and cream.

Bookkeeping.

In this work a thorough drill is given in methods of working various dairy problems and in the keeping of factory accounts.

Dairy Bacteriology.

This work includes lectures and practice work designed to show the relation of bacteria to milk, and their action in the manufacture of butter and cheese, including the use of pure culture starters.

Dairy Chemistry.

The elementary principles of Chemistry relating to milk and its production are explained so that a student may better understand the composition of diary products and the chemical changes taking place in the handling and manufacture of milk products.

General Agriculture.

Under this head are included several brief courses of lectures on subjects intimately related to diary industry, such as farm manures, commercial fertilizers and the production of crops suitable for dairy farms.

Disease of Farm Animals.

The most common diseases of dairy cattle are discussed, and methods of prevention and remedies considered.

Animal Husbandry.

This course includes lectures and practice in the principles and practical work of compoundin and feeding the most economical rations to dairy cows.

Animal Husbandry.

This course includes lectures and practice in the principles and practical work of compoundin and feeding the most economical rations to dairy cows.

A large number of students have already registered for this course and the class is now nearly full. Anyone desiring to enter the class this year should write immediately to the Department of Dairy Industry, New York State College of Agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

TERRIBLY HURT

A Hornell Boy Explodes a Home-made Torpedo

HORNELL, Nov. 21—Thomas Long, jr., the nine year old son of Thomas Long, of East Main street, was painfully injured at noon yesterday by the explosion of a railroad torpedo which he had found, and with which he was playing. His breastbone was crushed, his arms badly lacerated, and his chin nearly blown off by the force of the explosion. The lad found a torpedo somewhere, and brought it in front of his home. He wished to find what was inside of the bright tin box, which was fitted with so tight a cover. The lad placed the torpedo on a stone, and with another stone hit it on top. There was a terrific explosion and the lad was hurled backwards to the ground, crushed and bleeding. Medical aid was summoned and the injuries dressed. Many pieces of metal were taken from the arms and chest of the lad, but many more remain embedded in his flesh. It is feared that blood poisoning may result from the particles of metal.

RECIVER APPOINTED

Olean Clothing Store of Which Joseph Levey is Manager, Insolvent.

Judge Hazel has appointed George A. Larkin temporary receiver for the Famous Clothing Co., of Olean, conducted by Joseph Levey, formerly of Wellsville, and the business will be continued until after the holidays. A petition was presented Wednesday morning before Judge Hazel at Buffalo to have the company declared insolvent, it being stated in the complaint that the company had been transferring property to preferred creditors. In the complaint it is stated that on March 24th last the alleged bankrupt firm transferred money to preferred creditors, and that the business is being run in a manner unsatisfactory to the other creditors of the company.

The petition to have the clothing company declared insolvent was presented by Edward B. Levey, representing Samuel Blume, Moses and Isaac Phillips of the firm of Phillips, Jones & Company, and Donald and Solomon Rosendorf of the firm of Rosendorf & Company. William B. Jewell of Olean is lawyer for the Famous Clothing Company.

Brundage Drug Co.

"Call Of The Wild", the big dramatic production which scored such a big success for James K. Hackett in New York will be presented here with Mr. Franklin Woodruff at the Auditorium Tuesday, Nov. 30th.

The presentation of the play has been awaited with a great deal of interest as Mr. Woodruff has a reputation as being a talented actor.

The production comes with the glitter and eclat of its New York and Boston engagements. Those who witness the play will find in its scenes that are likely to be remembered for many days.

The play is staged and produced with the utmost care and the same care is given it on its road tour by the management he has given it during its long run in the metroplis. In the part of Sir Ermine, Mr. Woodruff surpasses any of his parts.

Prices. Lower boxes $1.00. Lower floor 75 and 50c. Balcony 35 and 25c. Music by Cannons Orchestra.

[illegible] "No punches, no [illegible] in stocks and [illegible] banks. Why, [illegible] country, I saw [illegible] lously at a time [illegible] and then, [illegible] off on the [illegible] pockets. I wondered at the contempt for rail money [illegible] questions about it, uncovering an [illegible] no one took nickels or dimes and that nothing could be bought for less than 25 cents.

"Take the ordinary sack of tobacco for instance, which we get here for a nickel. There they cannot sell it for a quarter hardly, so they make it two for a quarter, but will not sell one for fifteen cents.

"It is a common cause among those people up there. They do not want nickels and dimes introduced for introduction of small change would mean lower wages and lower prices. Ordinary shovelers get $4. and $5. a day now and other labor is paid in proportion. They do not want to receive lower wages.

Of course it is true that they make money on the side, almost every worker does. There is a tendency in mining to follow the rule that nuggets belong to the man who uncovers them, even if they are found on the claim of the employer. I have seen men pick up nuggets worth from an insignificant sum to $108 in value.

FROM O. E. VARS

Interesting Descriptive Letter From Our Fellow Townsman At Texas.

The following letter was received by the editor the day previous to Mr. Vars' arrival home, but it was to good to let go unpublished, so we give it.

I am having the time of my life, hunting and visiting places of interest. I am out doors all the time. This is, indeed, the 'Sunny South' as it is perpetual sunshine all the time and quite warm—warm days and cool nights, so you can sleep all O. K. Can't wear any underclothing. I read in a paper that it was cold up north in New York state. Made me shiver to even read it. It is the nicest climate here you ever saw. We are in the same latitude as Georgia, but are higher up. There are a number of little lakes near Clifford's ranch and they are swarming with wild fowl of all description. Floyd and I are doing lots of shooting. The country is as level as a floor. Just as far as the eye can reach and as rich as it can be and not a stone of any description. Most everybody goes on horseback and no attention is paid to any roads. They all carry a pair of pinchers to draw the staples in a wire fence. These are strung across each section. Near here is where the last big herd of buffaloes made their last stand and the plains are covered with their bones. I examined a number of skulls and saw little holes in the skull between the eyes showing where the winchester's plugged them. Also McKenzie battlefield, where the last big indian fight took place. It is in a sort of canyon and they were caught in a trap and surrounded by troops and 1500 horses were killed and their bones are bleaching there. These canyons are something grand. I cannot describe them. They have to be seen to be appreciated. Will have a lot to tell you when I get home. I have been out in the sunshine all the time.

Yours Truly, O. E. Vars.

Advice to Women

A MESSAGE FROM A FAMOUS BEAUTY SPECIALIST TO WOMEN LACKING IN ENERGY AND VITALITY.

Thousands of women vainly attempt to improve their complexions and to remove blackheads, crows' feet and other blemishes, through the use of cosmetics. This treatment fails because the trouble lies far deeper than the skin. They are suffering from impure and impoverished blood. This condition is in many cases due to a catarrhal condition of the whole system which finds its expression in sallow, muddy complexion, dark circled eyes, general weakness of the system, and perhaps most plainly in the weeping of mucous membranes that is commonly called catarrh.

In fact this whole tendency is, properly speaking, Catarrh. Banish this catarrh, and the complexion will clear as if by magic, eyes will brighten, faces become rosy and shoulders erect. Perfect beauty goes only with perfect health, and perfect health for women can only be obtained through one certain treatment—that which will cure catarrh.

Nime. Swift, New York, the famous beauty specialist known throughout the world and an accepted authority on all relating there-to, states that the one positive and permanent relief for catarrh is Rexall Mucu Tone. Here is her letter:

"I can strongly endorse the claims made for Rexall Mucu-Tone as a cure for systemic catarrh. Its tonic effects are remarkable. It builds up the strength and restores vitality. If women who are tired and run down, lacking in energy and vitality, will use Rexall Mucu-Tone, they will praise as I do its strengthening and healing qualities."

Rexall Mucu-Tone works through the blood, acting thus upon the mucous cells—the congestion and inflammation of which causes local catarrh. This remedy causes poisons to be expelled from the system, and the blood is purified and revitalized. Thus the natural functions of the mucous cells are restored, and the membranes are cleansed and made strong. We know that Rexall Mucu-Tone does relieve catarrh. We positively guarantee to refund the money paid us for this remedy in every case where the user is dissatisfied. It is a builder of vigorous health and a creator of good complexions. Price 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Mail orders filled. It may be obtained only at our store.—The Rexall Store, J. D. Cheesman.

Luck and its Favors

The late Patrick H. McCarren was a believer in luck. According to the New York evening Post he once said: "Success depends about ten per cent. on intelligence and ninety per cent on luck. Take 10 men who start with the same material and mental equipment. One succeeds and the other 9 do not. In my opinion it is because circumstances over which none of the men had control whatsoever shaped themselves in such a way that the one in ten had all the best of it." Alexander T. Stewart, the merchant prince of fifty years ago, was said to entertain similar views. The story is told that once upon a time he ordered a valuable cargo of linens shipped from Belfast to New York by a first-class steamer. By mistake they were put aboard an old hulk that seemed just ready to fall apart. The good boat was lost on its westward trip, and the poor one brought the goods safely to port. After that Stewart was a believer in luck. But he did not rely wholly on the fickle goddess, and never relaxed his careful business habits.

AN OBSTINATE FOX

But He Put Nine Good Hounds in Disorder.

Wanda, Nov. 1—A large Rhodesian dog answering to the name of "Rufus" caused a hunting hounds "in the shade" Friday of last week and made their owner look as cheap as a dog and this is how it happened.

Over in the town of Sparta is located a hunting lodge, maintained by the Genesee Valley Hunt Club. The Wadsworth's of Geneseo and their party numbering about half a dozen, were out for hunting with nine of the best hounds from the pack. The hunters wandered over on East Hill in this town on the farm of Mrs. Helen Duryea and they were on track of a fox. The hounds, followed by the party on horseback ran at a mad pace all over the Duryea farm, the fox being far in lead of them all.

Finally "Rufus", the Duryea farm dog, used for driving the cows, heard the racket of the barking hounds and the shouts of the distinguished hunters, and bristling up in the back, took after the hunters, hounds and fox. With several leaps and bounds, "Rufus" shot ahead of the trained hounds, caught and killed the fox and held possession of it until the arrival of the hounds and hunters. Upon the promise of $2. a boy living on the place allowed the hunters to carry off the fox which the farm cow-dog had killed on the premises.

Forced Into Exile.

Wm. Upchurch of Glen Oak, Okla., was an exile from home. Mountain air, he thought, would cure a frightful lungracking cough that had defied all remedies for two years. After six months he returned, death dogging his steps. "Then I began to use Dr. Kings's New Discovery," he writes, "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever." It saves thousands yearly from desperate lung diseases, Infallible for Coughes and Colds, it dispels Hoarseness and Sore Throat. Overcome by Smoke.

Samuel Boughton, a young man who lives near Cuba was overcome by the smoke while assisting in putting out the fire in the Story Block, which occured there recently. He was taken to the Cuba Hospital and did not recover consciousness until the next morning. Sunday morning he had apparently entirely recovered from the effects.
