All Ready for You ANY DAY NOW

Our preparations for this years Holiday business is very complete.

Anyway we have thoubt and planned and bought and worked that we might earn your favorable comments.

An early visit is advised.

We wouldn't attempt even a partial description—because we don't feel we could do the subject justice.

But we will just mention that two or three departments appeal especially to lovers of the beautiful—The diamonds, Clocks, and the cut glass.

These lines here this Xmas make a greater demand than ever upon your interest. And when beauty is tied to usefulness, you find it in the shape of a watch, or a ring, or a brooch or chain, or silverware, or half a hundred other things, any of which are better for being bought here.

Some one you wish to remember, most likely.

No place within your reach offers you quite so complete a showing as this store.

We can not keep everything in our lines and anything you may desire will be ordered for you at a satisfactory price. Three large catalogues to select from. If the goods are not as represented you are under no obligations to take them.

We repeat—an early visit is desirable.

Andover Grange Notes

Conducted by C. A. Robinson.

The meeting of Andover Grange No 1098 held Nov. 24, 1909, was well attended, all the regular officers being in their respective places. There was also a nice large delegation of visiting patrons from Alfred and Scio Granges. Among whom were, A. C. Baker and family T. G. Burdick and family, Misses Flora Burdick, Fuschia Randolph, Clara Ferris, Lowell Randolph, Elbert Burdick, Harold Martin and Geo McAndrew of Alfred and Asia Merriam of Scio.

After the regular opening of the grange, a class of seven candidates were initiated in the third and fourth degrees by the new degree team.

The Lecturer's hour was opened with a piano solo by Miss Ruth Adams, who also responded to an encore. Next was a humorous Thanksgiving selection by Chas Robinson This was followed by a reading by Paul Kaple, "Why boys leave the farm." It was interesting and contained lots of truth and facts that we as grangers will do well to ponder over. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Robinson gave a couple of vocal selections. The visiting patrons were called upon for remarks and responded very heartily and the Andover grangers gave them a rising vote of thanks for the many "bouquets" thrown this way.

Two new applications for membership were received.

After closing in due form refreshments were served and all enjoyed themselves as only grangers know how to do.

Death of Harry C. Amsbary of Wellsville

Harry C. Amsbary, the well known superintendent of the water and electric light plants of Wellsville was killed while at work Thursday November 25th in the engine room. It was about 10 o'clock and he was testing the recently installed gas engine. For a moment only he was none on the platform above the gas engine, while his assistant, A. E. Dilline, stepped into another room. Returning directly, Mr. Amsbary was found dead. He had evidently received a slight shock from the batteries of the gas engine and fell backward, striking on the big belt of the dynamo. Death was apparently instantaneous, and though physicians were quickly summoned nothing could be done.

Mr. Amsbary was about 43 years of age and leaves a wife.

A Christmas gift that can be enjoyed the entire year is appreciated. Make it a good magazine.

CANNON BROTHERS

A Pleasant Function

At the beautiful and commodious country home on the hillside of Deacon and Mrs. W. H. Langworthy, Alfred Station, N. Y. were gathered a happy and expectant company of over forty friends to attend the marriage of Miss Nellie Susan Langworthy to Frederick William Turck of Independence, N. Y., at high noon Nov. 17. As Miss Carrie Langworthy sister of the bride, played the wedding march, the bridal party entered the parlor and occupied a position in the opposite corner of the room under a beautiful arch of running pine and white carnations. The contracting parties plighted their love and Pastor Cottrell pronounced the words that sealed the legal knot that made them husband and wife, using a ring service.

The bride's dress was white batiste and she carried white roses. Her little sister Dorothy acted as flower girl. The bridegroom wore the conventional black.

The presents were numerous and both useful and beautiful, as they well might be, for Mr. and Mrs. Turck are held in high esteem by those who have the pleasure of knowing them.

In due time after their return from a trip in the central part of the state they are to make their home at Independence, where they will be at home to their friends.

The following are some of the guests from out of town; Mrs. Fred Boyd and daughter Catherine, and Miss Fannie Critenden of Wellsville. Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Crandall, Miss Anna L Crandall, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Crandall, Mr. and Mrs. Maxson Crandall, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Crandall, son and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Clarke of Independence. —Alfred Sun.

Mr. Turck is a graduate from Andover High School and the News joins his many friends in the village in congratulations.

Fred A. Kaple

Fred Alvin Kaple was born in Alfred, N. Y., in 1873, but when only a child come to the town of Andover, to live with his parents, where nearly his entire life has been passed, on the farm with his father, Wm. G. Kaple, about one mile southeast of this village. He was a hard working, industrious young man, and a man of many friends in this community. A few years ago his health began to fail him. Everything was done that was possible with an idea of restoring him to his robust physical condition, but with little success. The end came suddenly as told in last weeks issue, at Hornell.

He was married to Miss Grace Bennett, Aug. 19, 1900, to whom was born a daughter, Alice.

Besides his wife and child, Mr. Kaple leaves a father, Wm. F. Kaple and one brother, Elmer Kaple. Funeral services were held in the Methodist church, Saturday afternoon, his pastor, Rev. J. W. Wright officiating. Interment was in Hillside cemetery.

Updyke—Kibble

Married, by the pastor of the Wellsville Baptist church, Nov. 24, 1909. Herbert Updyke of Andover and Miss Edna Kibble of Wellsville. Mr. Updyke is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Updyke of this village. They will make their future home in Wellsville.

A very enjoyable evening was passed in Andover at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Updyke, Thursday evening of last week when a variety shower was given the bride and groom at which about 50 guests were present, leaving many valuable and pretty remembrances. Games and music were enjoyed and a dainty midnight lunch served, and everyone had a good time.

Clarence VanGorden

Clarence VanGorden aged thirty-two years died Tuesday, Nov. 30th of double pneumonia in the rooms occupied by his father, George VanGorden and himself above the Lever and Stearns livery barn on West Center Street. The body was taken to C. E. Brown's undertaking rooms, and Wednesday was buried in Hillside cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank all who assisted during the hours of our late bereavement, in the death of husband and son. Especially those who gave the beautiful flowers and the choir.

Mrs. Fred Kaple,
Wm. F. Kaple.

"THE GREAT NORTHWEST."

SEEN FROM ANOTHER VIEW POINT, AND DESCRIBED BY L. H. THOMPSON OF PORTLAND OREGON.

To the Readers of the News:

Having been in this section of the "Great Northwest" for nearly seven years and traveled around through Oregon and Washington a little, I should know a little something in regard to the climate, people resources, etc.

It is a big subject and would take a writer, which I am not, to handle properly. However with the editor's permission I will write you a few facts about this immediate vicinity which, while pretty generally known, may be new to some of you. We do not always have sunshine and pleasant weather, no more than any other place. We have stormy disagreeable weather as well as pleasant. The seasons vary here same as elsewhere, but usually we have about eight months of very pleasant weather as near ideal as can be found anywhere. What I call ideal is warm, summer weather. Cool nights with an occasional shower to keep things growing. From the middle of November until the later part of March is our winter or rainy season; although it does not rain all the time by any means. Sometimes for a week or two at a time during this period there will be weather more like June than winter. Sometimes it will rain for a week or two, perhaps a warm, gentle rain by no means unpleasant and again when the wind gets in the East, where nearly all our unpleasant things come from, there will be for a day or maybe a week of cold disagreeable, nasty rain. But there are many pleasant days during the winter. We seldom have any snow to amount to anything, altho last winter we had about a foot of wet, mushy snow and it was mighty disagreeable while it lasted, about a week or ten days.

We are usually slopping around in the mud when you are digging around in the snow. It wouldn't always turn out all right, but nine times out of ten if anything happened a farmer did not get his potatoes dug in the fall it would not worry him any for there will come a dry spell in December or January and he can dig them then, or if it continues wet he can dig them in the spring when he plows for next crop. Just as good as ever and probably worth more money. It would have worked all right every winter I have been here with the exception of last winter, when it would have been all off with the potatoes. As to there being a continual fog, if we have a continual fog so does Chicago, Buffalo or any other place located on the water. We have had in the past year prehaps twenty or thirty foggy nights and morning; always gone by ten or eleven o'clock. "Continued Fog" indeed. You have perhaps heard of the boy that saw a thousand cats on his back fence and there really was one old cat and another one. I have seen more fog in one twenty-four hours along the St. John's River in Florida than I have seen here in all the time I have been here. As for this being a good place for consumptives during the winter months, it is not, nor did I ever hear anyone foolish enough to claim it was. I know several people that usually plan to go away in November with the intention of staying until about the first of April, but as a rule the middle of January sees them back, saying they would rather take their chances here than to live elsewhere.

Now as to the population, there are foreigners here. I do not think the percentage is large as in New York, so that is nothing against the west and I never knew until lately that the Sweeds and Norwegians were not a law-abiding class of citizens or were classed in with the Japs and Chinese. I lived a year in Minnesota and never knew the population was not as law-abiding and respectable as any other state. I surely cannot be very observing and then I know a good many Sweeds, Norwegians and Danes and I always thought them an "All right" lot of people. The Itilians and Finns live in Colonys, same here as they do in New York or anywhere on earth. We also have Japs and Chinese more than there should if it were not for some fool laws passed in the East where they know very little about the subject. The Chinese are all right in their place, and they always keep their place. They are Industrious, honest and always attend strictly to their own business and that's what I call a blamed good recommend for any man, white, yellow, red or black. You are no more obliged to associate with rough characters or hard drinkers here than you are in the East. If one wants to go on a boozerine he can sure find company and the goods required to make a howling success, but there are easy to avoid here as anywhere. Take it all around our population will compare favorably with any Eastern state. The fact is the most of our foreigners are from the middle west with a fine sprinkling from the East. But if you are afraid of meeting Sweeds and Norweigens, stay away from the Northwest, for there are some here. Also there are English, German, Scotch. Even some from the "Old Sod," and many other places they are all here and there is room for more. My work takes me continually among both city and country folk, and I cannot recall a single instance that I ever heard anyone express any desire to return to the East to live, while I have heard thousands say that under no circumstances would they return to the old life.

I read somewhere about the northwest being rough and mountainous Well, yes, it is rather mountainous up in the mountains, but there are many miles in the Great Northwest where you couldn't see a mountain or rough place with a telescope. Yes the day of cheap land is nearly past, altho at the present one can homestead 160 or 320 acres in Eastern Oregon and there are some 80 and 160 pieces this side the Cascades. Of course it takes some money to take a home-
