ON THE ROAD TO SUCCESS

Beatrice Sly

Most of us are on that very long journey to the magnificent city of Success. In order to reach this city, we must have our suit cases packed with plenty of perseverance, honesty, ability, thrift and ambition. It will require very little money.

We first travel along the highway of School. On this road we find many things which hold us back on our journey. The road is bumpy with many sharp curves. It takes us about 12 years to reach the City of Commencement which is located at the far end of this road. Upon reaching this city, we are encouraged by our accomplishment. Looking back on the road of School, we wonder just how it was ever done.

Just outside the City of Commencement we come to two roads. The road to the left is to the City of Play and the one to the right is to the City of Work. We are greatly tempted by the straightness and smoothness of the Road to Play but some travelers who are passing by advise us to take the road to the right if we ever expect to reach the City of Success.

We drive along very nicely for quite a while, making exceptionally good speed. After going about 100 miles, we come to a very steep hill. Upon seeing this, many of the travelers turn back to take the road to Play, but we, being fortunately supplied with perseverence, think we can make the hill without any trouble. However, it takes more than perseverence. It takes a great deal of honesty, ambition and ability to overcome the hardships found while climbing the hill.

Reaching the top of the hill we look down to see the most beautiful sight ever seen. This is the great City of Success beyond the hill. Now we hurry as we have never hurried before, as we are more anxious than ever to reach the city.

The City of Success is really more than we had imagined. Driving into the city, we noticed a crowd of people gathered. We rush over to find that the inhabitants of the City of Success are buying the worldly greatest pest, Old Man Laziness, who has kept so many people from seeing this beautiful city. In spite of the fact that it is sad, we are greatly pleased to get rid of him.

On further examination of the city, we see a huge monument in memory of the very prominent man, Work, who had very much to do with the establishment of the city.

MARKS

Philip Crandall

Marks are the scores which we make in our school work. Whether we pass or fail depends on the kind of work we do. So many are satisfied to skim thru, and squeeze by on a good grade. Some, altho not satisfied with their marks, are just too shiftless and lazy to study for the better mark. Pupils sometimes take the notion that they dislike the teachers and won't work for them. They cause all manner of disturbance and annoyance. These pupils are not doing anything but earning a reputation for themselves.

Make a resolution that you will raise every mark to at least 80. Get the good marks. You can do this by studying earnestly, listening intently and trying hard. Keep these red marks off your report card and raise your marks to a grade of which you can be proud.

GUESS WHO ? ?

This certain person that I am mentioning has brown hair combed back behind her ears. On Monday she wore a yellow dress with brown stripes in it. She belongs in the Junior Class and is quite often found with two other girls, better known as "The Three Musketeers." She is a good sport and well liked by everyone. She has been wearing glasses about two weeks.

Now you know who it is.

Answer next week.

Answer to last week's Guess Who —Richard Appier.

L. Regan: "Study? He doesn't study. He runs an elevator."

TWO SPEAKERS AT ASSEMBLY

The second high school assembly of the year was held in the High School Auditorium, Friday morning, October 5th.

The central theme of the program was "Activities."

Howard Shinn of Wellsville, executive secretary of the Allegany County Y. M. C. A., spoke concerning the Hi-Y Clubs which are being organized in the various communities. These clubs give opportunity for older students to meet and discuss problems and express their own opinions freely. He stressed the point that, while play does hold an important place in club work, contact with important thoughts, people and things is to be desired.

The second speaker was Lou Burton, from Belmont, Junior project leader of the Allegany County Farm and Home Bureau. He talked on Junior projects in agriculture and home-making. He discussed the use and formation of the 4-H Club. One aim of the club is to assist young people to a more satisfying role in life and to show them the democratic value of good, improved methods of farming and home-making. The 4-H's—Head, Heart, Hands, Health must be appreciated and understood by all members.

Mr. Burton also emphasized the necessity of one's having a "job" or "project" either in the home or on the farm proper before the desired membership can be gained. Membership in the club brings participation in all the club activities including attendance at the county fairs and later representative attendance at the State Fair.

The conservation program is also sponsored by the club. Mr. Burton said that Allegany county has state and national leadership in that project.

At some later date, which will be announced by Mr. Bretch, both Mr. Shinn and Mr. Burton will return to Andover to meet with all people desiring to join any of these clubs.

The Junior High School girls' octette, consisting of Pearl Goodridge, Bernadine Briggs, Jean Northrup, Kalloo Karanes, Bethel Millspaugh, Marion Burgett, Mary L. Burns and Dolores Farwell sang a number entitled "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

Mr. Shinn played several selections on his xylophone, among them being "Wagon Wheels," and "The Man on the Flying Trapeze."

Laurence Padden, football manager, announced that both Clarke and Davis would be back in the game against Cuba and urged all who could to attend.

After the assembly group had sung several numbers, Mr. Shinn joined with the orchestra in playing "Our Director," as the student body returned to rooms to continue the work of the day.

NOTES FROM THE MUSIC ROOM

The majority of the people today like all types of music. It brings us moments of ecstacy, sometimes of doubt and despair.

Thru unity, harmony and rhythm we get flashes of beauty, wonder, sadness and joy; in other words we are taught the beauty and meaning of life thru music.

An old saying is "Music hath charm to soothe the savage beast." Really music exists only one's life to a cultural plane and is an expression of the zest of life and a true art of living. The mightiest force in life is feeling and desire—to this music has much to give.

We do not look upon music in school as a task, a mask of gentility, but we look upon the music period as a time of real joy and genuine exultation, something thrilling and purposeful, no matter whether we may play an instrument or have the desire to sing.

Music acts as master of the socializing factor of the school and the community. Therefore, we need help in securing pupils who are interested and who are musically talented to take up instrumental work. This develops in each child an ego, a personality, a soul, making him capable of responsibility. He is also one of the best possible units of social wholeness fit for society. What we need is fellowship.

One of the necessities in life is the use of leisure time. Music has developed thru these years, it has been put to an advantage in our children, in securing the wealth of material in music both vocal and instrumental.

There is no substitute for music in the program of an enlightened and cultured school community and nation. It is a fundamental part in our lives, the children's lives in school in civic organizations in society and in churches. Why not try to help our children to secure all of these good faculties—help them to become more acquainted with a music environment, sing lots and if interested allow them to take up instruments suitable to their physical make-up. Help to build the child's musical repertaire—help the school, the community and lastly to be on a higher plane for a cultural education.

CUBA DEFEATS ANDOVER 6-0

In the first home game of the season, played on the field Saturday, October 6th, Andover was defeated by Cuba 6-0. Cuba, entering the game as underdog, showed by a continuous fight that their's was a winning team.

During the first period, Cuba recovered an Andover fumble, which resulted in the first and only touchdown. In the remainder of the first half both teams gained ground, but neither was able to score.

Both teams made many long runs during the second half, but no touchdowns resulted. Neither team threatened the goal until late in the fourth quarter, when Andover got within 30 yards of Cuba's goal. At this point Cuba intercepted a pass and held the ball the remaining time of the game.

The Cuba team was very much lighter than Andover, but they were wide-awake and played a smart game of football. The Andover team was slow and did not have a bit of snap. Altho John Cannon and Joe McAndrew played a good game, the loss of Decatur Clarke by an injury in the last half didn't help matters any.

The locals have taken their defeats well and are planning on a surprise showing against the heavy Canisteo team next week.

DID YOU NOW THAT?—

1.—Sugar is sometimes used to "sweeten" the mortar used in big buildings and bridges to strengthen it.

2.—In this country every year between five and eight million tin cans are filled with food.

3—Two of the Senators in the present Congress are blind.

4—Great Britan's national debt is much larger than ours—$36,900,000,000 as compared with approximately $25,000,000,000.

5—The needle which undergoes 20 processes in its manufacture is handled by over 60 workmen.

6—American tourists spent 900 million dollars in Europe.

7—Camels are not fully grown until they reach the age of 16.

8—The Germans called the World War tank a "Schutzengrobenvernichtungsautomobile."

9—The song sparrow has about 2,600 feathers.

10—One company bought 10,000 elephant tusks to make billard balls.

THE SPOTLIGHT ! !

Here I am after a very busy week. There seems to be a great many social activities lately, but what has happened to all the weiner roasts.

Well, for pity's sake! Cuba beat Andover, but that doesn't prove they're better. We won't give up the ship either because some of our best players were on the disabled list. We'll show everybody at the next game.

The Seniors certainly are pleased about the dance last Saturday night and why shouldn't they be? It was a swell affair.

The music was grand and as "Deke" Clarke says, "I had a large time."

"Eddie" Alderson certainly enjoyed himself, especially during the last dance—Nice going Eddie.

Rita Burns looked down-hearted. I wonder if she missed someone?

What's this I hear about the Hi Herald party? I must get some more details on that.

I understand that the school paper is going to elect associate editors soon. The Spotlight certainly will be down in the dumps if he isn't elected.

A. H. S. gets a little vacation this week. Aren't we lucky?

Well, so long till the Spotlight spots you.

SENIOR DANCE A SUCCESS

The Senior dance, held in the A. H. S. Auditorium on Saturday evening, October 6th, was a social and financial success.

The auditorium was decorated in autumn colors with branches of autumn leaves and red and yellow crepe streamers giving the desired effect.

Various people were heard to remark that the auditorium looked like a club house, with the wicker sets and bridge lamps.

Music was furnished by Jimmy Gray's five-piece orchestra. There was card playing for those who did not dance. The door prize, a box of Mary Lincoln candy, was won by Olive Withey of Yorks. The chaperones were Mrs. Thomas Regan, Miss Gretchen Trenkle, Miss Annette Clifford and Mr. Bretch.

The dance netted the Seniors about nine dollars. The class is planning another dance around Hallowe'en time.

TEACHERS' CONFERENCE HELD

The teachers of Andover High School attended the Teachers Conference held at Wellsville High School, October 10 and 11.

Teachers from Districts 2, 3, 4 and 5 of Allegany county, 4 and 5 of Steuben county were present at the conference.

Wednesday morning and Thursday afternoon were given over to general sessions of all teachers, at which speakers from various schools and universities talked on subjects related to teaching.

The remaining period of the conference was used for sectional meetings of teachers, at which discussions centered about some particular subject or phase that was of greatest interest to the group.

Principal Glenn E. Bretch of the local school was chairman of the administration section.

The National Cooking School

it is good), and drop it over the top; bake in a hot oven 30 to 45 minutes—covering with paper if necessary. Or shape the dough (having it a little stiffer) in small biscuits and arrange these over the surface of the pie and bake in a hot oven. This requires less time.

Chicken and sauce may be heated before adding biscuit dough, to lessen time of cooking.

Broiled or Fried "Chicken"—Carve stewed fowl, dip in melted fat and broil till surface is crisp and brown. Or dip in fat and flour and pan-fry; or use flour, then egg and seasoned breadcrumbs, and fry in deep, hot fat.

Other Methods

Broiled Spring Chicken—Grease broiling iron and press split young chicken flat upon it. Brush skin with melted butter or bacon dripping and broil over or under direct heat.

Fried Spring Chicken—Cut young chicken in pieces for serving, roll in seasoned flour and brown in plenty of very hot fat in frying pan, turning to brown all surfaces evenly. Then pour in about ¼ cup boiling water, cover tightly, and cook slowly until tender—probably 30 to 40 minutes longer. Remove chicken to hot platter in oven and make a milk gravy in the pan. (See Lesson 1.)

Oven-Fried Chicken—Prepare the young chicken as for pan frying. Cut in baking dish, with plenty of bacon dripping or other fat, and cook about 45 minutes or until tender, in hot oven, 450 degrees F., turning frequently to brown evenly.

Or dip chicken pieces in melted fat, then in seasoned flour, spread on baking pan, bake in hot oven, 425 degrees F., until brown; turn, pour in ½ cup boiling water, cover, and finish at moderate heat, 350 degrees F.—probably ¾ to 1 hour total cooking.

FISH

In "Marketing and Meal Planning," you will learn the very important points about buying fish. Be sure you understand them.

I am just going to tell you very briefly, the most useful ways of cooking fish.

Broiled—Grease hot broiling rack. Brush with butter and season fish steaks or fresh fillets or small whole fish; broil same as meat

Pan Fried—Season steaks, fresh fillets, or small whole fish, and fry in hot fat.

Deep Fried—Wipe pieces, dip in seasoned flour, in diluted beaten egg and again in flour or in seasoned cooked chestnuts, etc.

Breadcrumb Stuffings

There are two types of bread stuffings:

1. The dry, crumbly stuffing—soft breadcrumbs with seasoning and a little softened fat (butter or bacon dripping.)

2. Same mixture as above, but moistened with beaten egg and a little milk, water or stock. This holds its shape—will slicely nicely.

3. Sliced bread covered with warm water and drained well when soft—then combined with seasonings melted fat, egg if desired.

Breadcrumb Foundation

2 cups crumbs 2 to3 tbsp. fat
1 teaspoon salt 1 tbsp minced parsley
¼ tsp. pepper 1 to 2 tbsp onion
1 egg when used Milk or water as desired

Potato Foundation

Rice or mash required amount of potato (white or sweet). Beat light with beaten egg yolk, butter, a little hot milk and season—with just salt, pepper, parsley and lemon juice or with additions of onion with sage or savory or mixed herbs.

Special Stuffings

Chestnut—Cook chestnuts, and chop or mash them; combine in any up to equal quantities with breadcrumb stuffing. Wet with egg (diluted if desired).

Oyster—Combine raw oysters with breadcrumb stuffing, in anything up to equal quantity.

Giblet—Cook well-washed gizzard, heart, with neck and wing tips, until tender. Chop meat and add to breadcrumb stuffing.

Celery—Combine finely minced celery with breadcrumb stuffing.

Uses and Variations

Chicken (a) Use delicately seasoned breadcrumb foundation recipe—slight sweet if when desired. Where stronger flavors are preferred, a very little powdered sage or savory, or mixed poultry spice may be added.

(b) Use potato stuffing flavored with parsley and lemon juice.

Turkey—Use same as chicken, making twice or three times the quantity.

For the crop, at least, slightly beaten egg should wet the breadcrumb stuffing, so it will slice nicely. Or a different mixture may be used, such as sausage meat or mashed chestnuts boiled with giblets and neck and liver, and devout member of the Blessed Sacrament church. The sympathy of our residents is extended to the lonely surviving husband and also the one brother, John, of Chicago, Ill.

Hart Bros. of Wellsville trucked potatoes from Newton Clark's Monday.

Goose, Duck, Pork, Pork Tenderloin—Use same stuffing as for chicken (in suitable quantity), adding 1 teaspoon powdered sage and more onion to foundation amount; for goose and duck, which are fat themselves, less melted fat may well be used in stuffing.

Veal—Breadcrumb stuffing, seasoned as for chicken or goose.

Lamb—Breadcrumb stuffing, seasoned as for chicken, including a little onion; finely chopped mint good also.

Fish—Breadcrumb stuffing, with egg when possible—flavored with salt, pepper, parsley, lemon juice and perhaps a little chopped pickle and capers.

Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Marquis returned Monday night from the annual conference at Rochester, with the discouraging news that he has been moved to Waterport, N. Y., in the Rochester district. Rev. H. E. Crossley from Hartland, Buffalo district, will come here. We are greatly disappointed at the change. Rev. Marquis was ordained at Rochester last Sunday.

Whitesville people were shocked last Thursday morning to learn that Frank W. Clark had been found dead in bed that morning. He had been in poor health the past year, suffering from a weak heart and rheumatism, but had been as well as usual the day before and rode out to call on his son, W. E. Clarke the evening before.

When his grandson, Robert E. Clark, with whom he lived, went to his room about 8:30 Thursday morning to help dress him, he found he had passed away.

Funeral services were held at the home Saturday at 2 o'clock, the Rev. H. J. Marquis and L. J. Engler of Knoxville, Pa., officiating, with burial in Rural cemetery.

Mr. Clark was 85 years of age and is survived by four sons, William of Whitesville, Clair of Cleveland, Ray of Groveland and Ernest of Duke Center, Pa. He was a member of the Seventh Day Baptist church, but since living in Whitesville has been a liberal contributor and faithful attendant of the M. E. church. He will be missed by a large circle of friends and relatives.

Organizing More Collegiate Centers

The success of the Collegiate Centers under the supervision of Alfred University last year has led to the organization of several others this fall.

Jamestown has 73 students registered, Medina 80, Salamanca, Olean and Geneseo are now registering students. As soon as a place gets the required registration of 60 students it petitions the college and the necessary instructors are hired and classes organized.

The group at Bath will complete the second semester about the middle of November and begin a new year with sophomore work.

Dr. James G. Stevens has been hired to act as supervisor of the collegiate centers, so as to relieve the administration officers of Alfred of the added responsibility.

4-H Club Activities

With planning the 1933 program for the county, club achievement decisions, a month's stay by a state homemaking worker, financing dairy projects, radio talks, etc., Junior extension work in Old Allegany is in a state of feverish activity.

Agent Burton met Tuesday with the Olean Production Credit Association in an effort to arrange financing of projects in dairy cattle and sheep for youthful stock growers.

Clarksville Girls' Club conducts the 4-H radio broadcast from WHAM, Rochester, Saturday next at 11:45 a. m.

Next Thursday, October 19th, at 10:30 a. m., the county Junior Extension committee will meet at the Belmont Farm and Home Bureau offices to plan a program and approve a budget for 1935. Farm and Home Bureau directors meet the same day at 2:30 p. m., to consider the recommended budget and other matters.

For the month Oct. 22 to Nov. 22 Miss Margaret Lattimor, county club agent at large in homemaking will work in the county agent to develop a better girls' program. Communities desiring her help are asked to communicate with the county club agent for dates.

Many clubs are planning special milk programs in connection with the state milk consumption boosting efforts now under way.

There is a decided trend to the growing of more sheep in the county, says Agent Burton. Some 75 or 80 lambs are now being fed by Club members over the county for the Buffalo fat stock show in December.

Relm is reported Monday to Western New York agents, meeting in Buffalo, Agent Burton, chairman and treasurer of the summer camp at Shenawana, told the agents from Allegany, Erie, Wyoming, Livingston, Monroe, Ontario and Genesee counties of the $100 deficit which resulted this season. The loss will be made up by the counties, pro-rated according to attendance from each. It was the third season for the camp.

New Law Firm

Andover has a new law firm, not composed however, of new comers. At Rochester last week Jesse S. Phillips took an examination for admission to the bar, received his diploma and has formed a partnership with L. C. VanFleet, under the name of VanFleet & Phillips. We congratulate Mr. Phillips on his success in passing the examination, and are still more pleased to know that he will remain in Andover.

The cheese factory owned by William Conley located near the residence of James Guinn, about four miles from this village, was burned last Thursday. Factory contained about 250 cheese besides the equipment.

Mrs. E. A. Richardson and son are visiting in Hornellsville.

Cashier J. M. Brundage was in Elmira Saturday, attending a meeting of Group 3 of the New York State Bankers' Association.

Leon Chase of New York City and Miss Elrena Forsythe of Whitesville were married last Wednesday. They will reside in New York.

Arthur Bullard Killed by Cars

Arthur C. Bullard came to a sudden death Saturday when he was struck by a Pennsylvania train at New Brighton, Pa.

Mr. Bullard who was braking on the Pennsylvania, stepped from his train which was on the siding, to talk with men on top a car next to him and was struck by the steam chest of a locomotive coming on the next track, killing him almost instantly.

The remains were brought to Andover where funeral services were held in the Methodist church, burial in Robinson cemetery.

Mrs. Catherine Clarke

Mrs. Catherine Crandall Clarke died at her home on Church street early Wednesday morning, from the effects of a shock suffered by her five weeks ago.

Mrs. Clarke, who had passed her entire life of 77 years in Andover, is survived by her husband, three sons, Edson, Clarence and Elsworth Clarke and one daughter, Miss Alice Clarke, all of Andover.

Funeral services will be held at the Seventh Day Baptist church this morning. Burial at Independence.

H. H. Williams took all the pony prizes in sight at the Wellsville Fair, notwithstanding the keen competition of the trick ponies performing there.

Jesse Phillips went to New York last night.

Mrs. Floyd Scott and Mrs. Ed. Scott visited the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bennett, Thursday.

John M. Poucet was in Andover Monday in the interests of the Rochambeau Silk Co.

Miss Catherine Leonard is a guest of her sister, Mrs. James Dean this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Richardson were visiting in Rochester and Buffalo several days this week.
