Anyone who has been sick in a hospital or in a lonely room, knows what it means to await the dawn. The very minutes are counted by that person. One remembers all the incidents, no matter how insignificant, when one is waiting. The expectation of a first, faint gleam of light forms the background for it all.

During these attacks of depression, illness and despondency, we are all awaiting the tiny ray of light that brings cheer and sunshine.

The sooner we begin to realize that life is not all sunshine and a bed of roses, the better off we shall be. The strongest character is said to be the one which is able to bear the most experiences without complaint or fault-finding. Something we can do to make our lives easier is to accumulate as much patience and courage as we possibly can—awaiting the outcome with faith and assurance.

Some of us carry dreams around in our hearts, which we are hoping and praying will some day come true. Most of us, however, wait in vain, altho we are much the better for having had these dreams.

Neither happiness nor sorrow lasts for any great period. The happiest people are those who await, with confidence, that which is ahead and who have taken everything in life as it has come.

THE NORTHERN SOLDIER'S LAST ART

By Rachel Bassett

A few years ago a cousin of mine visited at my home and related some of his Civil War experiences.

The story most interesting to me was the telling about him and his companions fleeing from a Southern prison during the Civil War.

Secretly Dr. Taylor and his companions had dug a tunnel under the prison wall. One dark night they escaped from the prison by this tunnel. They traveled fast until they came to a stream. This they waded for some distance so that the bloodhounds which would be sent in hot for them would lose their scent. They traveled at night and hid in the day time. They would often hide in trees. Food was very scarce at first. After a little worn hard tack, which they brought from the prison and also berries and roots which they found in the woods. They were more than two weeks in reaching the Mason-Dixon line.

When they reached Elmira they had their pictures taken. Dr. Taylor had the tintype with him when he was visiting us. The men had long hair, long beards and were very thin.

These Northern soldiers had suffered so many hardships that Dr. Taylor never talked about it until the last time he was in Alfred.

Note—This story resulted from an assignment given to the Eighth grade to write a story suggested by a sword used in the Civil War, which was brought to school by Charles Spicer.

TESTING PROGRAM IS INAUGURATED

Pupils in grades two to eight are being given standardized achievement tests in all subjects this week by their teachers under the direction of Principal Glenn E. Bretch.

These tests have been prepared by an able committee of teachers and superintendents and have been given to several thousand school children, from the results of which grade "norms" have been set up, thereby enabling other school systems to determine if individual pupils or grades are up to the standard of the country as a whole.

According to Mr. Bretch, the giving of these tests will make possible many improvements and adjustments in grade teaching.

ANDOVER BOWS TO CANISTEO HIGH 13-0

Andover High School's gridiron warriors suffered another defeat Saturday, October 20th, when Canisteo defeated them by a score of 13-0. Andover really outplayed Canisteo for three quarters but in the third quarter Canisteo had the upper hand and punched over two touchdowns and made one conversion.

Andover kicked off to Canisteo to start the game. Canisteo, trying to gain thru the Andover line, was repulsed and was forced to punt. Kittell, the Canisteo kicker, was rushed and got off a poor kick which traveled only five yards. Brundage scooped up the ball and raced to Canisteo's ten yard line before being downed. Andover tried three line plays but was able to gain only two or three yards; on the fourth down they tried a pass which was incomplete. Canisteo, receiving the ball on their own eight yard line, worked it back to their own twenty but were again stopped by the fighting line of Andover. During the remainder of the quarter, play was in mid-field and ended with Andover in possession of the ball on their own 40 yard line.

To open the second quarter Andover tried a quick kick which was blocked by Canisteo. This did not result in a score as Andover's line again showed Canisteo that they were not ready to give ground. Canisteo was forced to punt on the fourth down and gave the ball to Andover on her own 20 yard line, which was run back for ten yards. This time Andover caught Canisteo sleeping and quick kicked and set them back to their ten yard line. On a fumble by Canisteo, Andover regained the ball, this time gaining to Canisteo's five yard line. But, because of two five yard penalties, they could not put the ball over the goal. On the four down Andover threw a pass which was intercepted by Canisteo and gave them the ball. Canisteo immediately kicked to Andover and Andover fumbled the ball on her own 30 yard line. The fumble was recovered by Canisteo and after one play the whistle blew for the half.

Canisteo kicked off to start the third quarter and after the run back, Andover routed to midfield. Canisteo started a march down the field which ended only when Kittell crossed the line for Canisteo's first touchdown. Camps converted on a line plunge.

Canisteo kicked off to Andover again. Andover tried a pass but it was intercepted by Crain, Canisteo center, who ran the ball back to Andover's eight yard line. Three plays later Camps scored on a three buck thru tackle. These two touchdowns ended Canisteo's reign and from there on the game was Andover's again, but the Andover team could not score, altho the play was in Canisteo's territory.

The game ended with Andover in possession of the ball on Canisteo's 30 yard line.

The line-up:

PUPILS MEET WITH 4-H CLUB LEADERS

An exceptionally generous response was made to the announcement that Mr. Burton, Allegany county club agent and Miss Lattimer, assistant in home making, would meet with pupils interested in 4-H Club work. The meetings were held Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 with about 50 boys and girls in attendance.

The leaders explained the purpose and requirements of the clubs and stressed the fact that only sincere, honest workers were desired for membership.

Cards were passed out to those desiring to become members, on which the pupil indicated the particular type of project which he could follow. Parents' signatures are required on the card, if the parents feel that the pupil can profitably carry out the project.

The girls' club elected Miss Ivah Lee Rogers as president.

Announcements concerning the next meetings of the clubs will be made at a later date.

SCHOLARSHIP IS THEME OF STUDENT ASSEMBLY

The feature of the Junior-Senior High School Assembly held Friday, October 19th, was a series of talks on "Scholarship" by members of the classes comprising this group. Principal Bretch explained that the theme of the assembly was especially appropriate as the first marking period had just come to a close.

The Seventh Grade was represented by Leslie Brundage who said that education teaches us to solve our own problems and helps us in our future work. Barbara Bassett of the Eighth Grade spoke of the importance of being on the credit list or honor roll for the satisfaction that comes as well as for the reward of being excused earlier each day.

The realization that one must start at the bottom and work to reach the top was the idea presented by Dorothy Cronk of the Freshman class.

The president of the Sophomore Class emphasized the fact that we must get more than marks, we need the knowledge that comes with thoro scholarship.

"Get your goal high and attain it" was the keynote of the remarks made by Beatrice Sly of the Junior Class. It is necessary to have the true scholastic attitude to really reach the heights.

The Senior Class was represented by Alice Pope, the president, who urged sutdying harder than one's competitor in order to excell. She stated that the worth of the school is laid before us and that we should make the most of our opportunity She closed by saying "Take home a diploma of which you may be proud."

Among the musical selections enjoyed were two baritone solos by Oliver Kemp, '31. "The Old Refrain," and "The World is Daiting for the Sunrise." Richard Appier sang "All I Do Is Dream of You," and "A Little Dutch Mill."

Mr. Bretch then addressed the pupils concerning scholarship. His talk included some remarks concerning the various scholarships which are offered to pupils in New York State.

The New York State cash scholarship is $100 a year given to the five pupils in each county who have passed the Regents average in those subjects required for a college entrance diploma. The Cornell scholarship is a competitive one and gives about $300 a year toward tuition in Cornell University.

The assembly group gave every indication of enjoyment during the ten minutes spent in singing various old favorites. At the conclusion of the high school song the assembly was dismissed.

MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS IN PROGRESS

The annual medical inspection of pupils in Andover High School is being made by Dr. H. J. Leahy. These inspections are being made in the high school building and will be completed by November 1. Reports of conditions needing medical attention will be mailed to parents shortly after the examinations are completed.

This will enable parents to have the defects corrected in time to prevent serious interference with the pupil's school work for the year.

GUESS WHO ? ?

This girl can be found in the post graduate home room. She is of medium height, has light wavy hair and blue eyes. She was seen at the athletic dance Saturday night. So, any of you that were there put on your thinking caps. She is very neat and considered studious.

Can you guess who this distinguished person is?

Answer next week.

Answer to week before last's Guess Who—Roberta Church.

Answer to last week's Guess Who—Francis Mead.

AROUND A. H. S.

The Music I. Class has been composing original melodies. Later in the year some of these melodies will be presented in Assembly.

The Seventh and Eighth grades have organized a glee club, which meets for practice each Wednesday afternoon.

The Girls' Glee Club is having two rehearsals each week. This is due to the fact that a large majority are working for credit. The second rehearsal is held on Friday at 3:30.

The Girls' Glee Club has reached a decision as to their costumes throughout this year. You will soon see them "sprazzed" out in their new "duds."

The boys in the First Grade had perfect attendance.

The Second Grade is studying Indians this week. It has proved to be a very interesting subject. They are also having a spelling contest. One side is called "Big Eagle" and the other side "Thunder Cloud." "Big Eagle" is ahead.

The Sixth Grade has made Jack O' Lanterns for their windows. They are very attractively displayed.

The Seventh Grade is to have a party at the end of their mathematics contest.

The Eighth Graders have made curtains for the cupboards in their room the past week.

Thruout the eight grades, the pupils have been busy taking achievement tests. Almost every door is posted with a "Do Not Disturb" sign.

ATHLETIC DANCE WAS ENJOYED

The athletic dance held last Saturday night at the High School Auditorium was most successful. About 100 people attended the dance, the music being furnished by Jimmy Gray's orchestra. A very acceptable profit of about seven dollars was made.

The gymnasium was most appropriately decorated for an athletic dance. Paper footballs and basket balls were suspended from the ceiling. The walls were decorated in the school colors, with purple and white paper. Above the two baskets on a background of white were the purple letters "A. H. S." On the stage were two large palms with balloons tied to the grays. These looked very nice with the footlights shining on them.

Several supper sets and card tables were placed around the room for the use of those who did not care to dance.

The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Ray McGill, Mr. and Mrs. Milon Richmond and Mr. Bretch. Other members of the faculty who attended the dance were Lawrence Host, William McGee and Miss Dorothy McLaughlin.

Mr. McGee wishes to thank all those who helped to make the dance a success.

THE SPOTLIGHT ! !

Here is your old friend the Spotlight back again after a busy week-end. It seems that everyone had a good time at the dance sponsored by the Athletic Association. Why shouldn't they? The music was grand.

Kenneth Yars thought it was a swell affair. Did you see him all decked out in his new suit?

I hear the Freshmen are going to have a party. Georgie Joyce says he plans to have a thrilling time. I hope all the rest will have a good time also. Let us try and make our parties all successful.

Oh, yes! The Hi Herald is having a party also, and just think, Regina Lynch is head of the food committee. I am sure we will all have enough with Regina around. The entertainment should be good with Anna Dean on the committee. All the things I guess made it a date for Wednesday night.

Well, Andover lost in the football game. They all worked hard and played a good game. Some more ought to come out to the games. Come on, folks, and show your school spirit. Even tho the boys have lost some games, the future is going to be much better.

Isn't it nice how the Joyce brothers, Don and George, look after each other?

Why does Philip Crandall always bother Eleanor Greene in the second period study hall. Ask Philip.

Did you know that Beatrice Sly has attained her second childhood. She was playing with a balloon in school Tuesday.

Your ole pal,

—THE SPOTLIGHT.

—A-H-S—

PARTY WAS GREAT SUCCESS

The Hi Herald party, held in the auditorium Wednesday night, was a great success. It was the first get-together of the staff this year.

The evening was spent in dancing and playing games. Cider and doughnuts which were very appropriate for this time of year were served.

As the old saying goes, "A good time was had by all."

Members of the faculty who attended were Miss Annette Clifford, Prin. G. E. Bretch, Miss Gretchen Trenkle, Miss Mildred Farmer, Miss Mary Jo Russ, Mrs. Harry Joyce, Lawrence Host and William McGee.

SUPPOSIN' THAT—

Harold Allen studied his lessons? "Dizzy" Dean didn't giggle?

George Joyce wasn't in the S. H. the sixth period?

Helen Dean answered every question she was asked?

Eloise wasn't bothered by George?

Don McNeal kept still?

Bill Wahl was short and fat?

Gertrude Schoonover got a boy bob?

Charles Burgett didn't draw pictures of horses and people?

Victor Yannie didn't chaffer Enola West in algebra class?

Fotiney played the trumpet?

WELLSVILLE PLAYS HERE SATURDAY

The Andover High School football team meets the Wellsville eleven on the local athletic field here on Saturday afternoon at 2:30.

Altho the locals cannot pin much hopes for a victory over the strong Wellsville team, the game will give local football fans an opportunity to see the undefeated Wellsville squad in action.

The local Athletic Association is putting on a drive to secure a record attendance at the game, which is the second home game of the season.

HUMOR

Mr. Host (in gen. science class): "What insect lives on the least food?"

Don Hardy: "The moth. It eats holes."

Miss Clifford (to Harold Allen): "Run down to the fruit stand on the corner, Harold, and buy some plums. You'd better pinch one or two to make sure they are ripe."

Little Harold flitted away. Soon he was back and smilingly, as usual, placed the bag on Miss Clifford's desk.

Miss Clifford (picking up bag): "Oh, thank you. Did you pinch one or two as I told you to do?"

Harold Allen: "Did I? I pinched the whole bag, and here's your ten cents!"

Barber Farwell: "Will you have anything on your face when I finish shaving you?"

Charles Lynch: "Well, if you wouldn't mind, please leave my nose there."

F. Parker: "Poor boy! I'm so sorry you didn't pass the geometry quizz yesterday. What was the reason, I wonder?"

D. Lynch (also wondering): "I can't think."

The National Cooking School

chopped fried bacon, touch of catsup, etc. Put together and toast on both sides. Serve very hot.

Cheese Dreams — Make cheese sandwiches, with or without fried bacon, fry sandwich to a golden brown on both sides in a buttered pan. Serve very hot (in lettuce cup or on cress, when possible.)

Macaroni and Cheese—Cook macaroni or spaghetti in a large pottful of boiling salted water, until tender. Drain it in collander, run cold water thru it.

Make plenty of cream sauce and add ½ cup grated cheese to each cupful of sauce Allow at least 2 cups sauce to 2 cups cooked macaroni.

Put alternate layers cooked macaroni and cheese sauce in a greased baking dish—keep mixture very moist. Spread top with good layer of grated cheese, plain or with buttered crumbs, and sprinkle with paprika. Bake in oven of the sheet sauce and plenty of it (You learn ed to make it in lesson 1.)

Use canned spaghetti if you like, even if made with tomato sauce. Just add the cheese sauce and cheese topping.

Place macaroni or spaghetti dish in a pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven until golden brown on top.

Cheese and Rice Croquettes—Mix 2 cups cold, boiled rice with 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 slightly beaten egg and a little salt and pepper. Shape soft cheese or grated cheese softened with butter, in small balls, the size of a walnut. Around these press a coating of rice mixture to cover completely. Roll these larger balls in sifted biscuit or dry breadcrumbs, then in beaten egg, mixed with a little water, and again in the crumbs (which should be seasoned with salt and pepper.) Fry balls in deep hot fat. (Temperature 385 to 390 degrees F., or hot enough to brown a small square of bread in 40 seconds.) Serve with cheese sauce.

Cheese Omelette—Make either the plain omelette or the fluffy omelette, and add Tasseli to do in the first part of this lesson. Before folding it, spread half generously with grated cheese—and if you like, serve cheese sauce with the omelette.

It is delicious to pack an omelette with both a vegetable like asparagus, creamed peas or creamed celery, and the grated cheese.

Poached Eggs With Cheese—Make a cheese sauce either by adding grated cheese to the cream sauce or for a snappier dish, in the way I shall give you next.

Pour this over hot buttered toast and slip a poached egg on each slice. Sprinkle lightly with paprika.

Cheese Sauce—Rarebit Style—Put 1 tablespoon butter and 1½ cups grated cheese in a double boiler over hot but not boiling water, and when melted, stir in ¾ cup milk and season with salt, pepper and a little mustard. When smooth, slowly stir into a beaten egg, return to double boiler, cook a few minutes (stirring) and when thickened, remove from heat and beat with egg beater. Do not overcook.

Cheese Tarts—Make the superior flaky pastry which I taught you in Lesson 4. Roll chilled paste thin and bake as patty shells.

For the filling, beat 3 tablespoons whipping cream until fluffy, then combine with 1 cup cottage or white cream cheese, which you have broken smooth with a fork. Add ¼ teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons fruit sugar. Beat well, adding a little more cream if necessary to make very light.

Partly fill cold tart shells with currant or grape or gooseberry jam or jelly, then spread with Roquefort cheese mixture and drop a spot of jelly on top or sprinkle with finely ground nutmeats.

Cheese and Bacon Pinwheels—Slice fine-textured fresh bread the lengthwise way of the loaf, about ¼ inch thick. Remove the crusts. Spread with butter and with soft cheese or grated cheese. Roll up like a jelly roll. Cut down in slices about 1 inch thick, wrap a very thin slice of fat salt bacon around each, fasten the bacon with a tooth-pick. Toast in the oven until bacon is crisp. Serve very hot.

Some of my best cheese sandwiches and delicious canapes, not to mention other good cheese dishes, are given in "Planning the Party;" you will also find in this little book of the Easy-Way Series, egg dishes which (like a lot of other things in it) you will never reserve for company occasions only!

• Help yourself and help this community by drinking more milk. Set an example!

PERHAPS the greatest contribution you could make to this dairying community and to the State would be to do a *milk serious*ly in your own family circle. Take, for instance, a quart a day for every child—a pint a day for every adult. Set an example by setting a table with a glass of milk at every plate.

Dietitians say there is no satisfactory substitute for milk. Even though you ate a great variety and quantity of food to get the things milk brings you, it wouldn't be the same. For Nature, in her wisdom, has given milk the great Vitalactic Principle, namely, that in milk the whole IS greater than the sum of its parts.

Drinking more milk could never be a habit bad. As you tilt a bottle back and forth to distribute the cream-content, remember the pastoral peoples that lived principally on milk—that endured real trials because their bodies were fit. Then, as you pour it, think of these nearby fields and farmsteads . . . the sparkling brook around them . . . the loving care that your neighbors have put into the handling of this precious product.

Winter and its rigors are just around the corner. Bodies need milk now as they never needed it before. Fortify them against fatigue, against disease and infection. Try drinking more milk during Milk Month. See how much better you feel . . . as a person . . . as a citizen of a great dairy State.

Drink more Milk: IT'S GOOD FOR YOU
