Ninth Anniversary Sale

7 DAYS Beginning Saturday Morning, August 22nd Ending Saturday Evening, August 29th

THESE PRICES FOR CASH ONLY

Never in our history has there been such a buying opportunity as this.

It represents months of preparation. The H. B. Claflin failure and the low prices resulting therefrom--Southern mills offering cotton goods at extraordinary low prices, and the end of the season clearance of our regular stock enables us to offer these wonderful values.

These bargains now become doubly valuable in face of the great European war and present ascending prices.

Study these prices. Note that many are the lowest in years. Plan for future needs.

If you buy now you are sure of saving 10 per cent to 50 per cent on every purchase at present prices, and no one can tell what future prices will be.

Sign Boards on the Up-road

By Hamilton B. Williams

They were standing on a little knoll overlooking a large field of ripening oats.

Said the poet: "It looks like a lake of topaz.

Said the farmer: "It looks like work."

We put into life, into the world, into God, man, everything the equation which has come to be the x of the soul.

Topaz or Work.

The poet of the true vision should be a finder of qualities in the work-a-day world, and be able to illuminate the workers' mind with his vision. Work should be lifted out of a commonplace rut and be glorified with romance. How much better that the farmer should see topaz in his oat-field. There is topaz there. To discern all the qualities is to be illuminated from above.

I protest against utilitarianism.

Has work nothing more than a money end?

Has education merely a practical relation to the mind?

Is religion only a soul-saving scheme?

Is Jesus Christ nothing more than a much-needed sacrifice?

Is God only a means of entrance into a "heaven?"

Work is an expression of physical and mental values and something else almost indefinable, but a very real concert of the visioned worker.

Wages—incidental: to work; that links one with deity who worked hitherto. The joy of work; that's the poetry of life.

The joy of knowing; that lifts one to the third heaven.

To be good—that elevates religion. Not to "save" anyone; not to inherit anything, just to be—good.

Jesus, why, to be His friends is enough.

And God? Just to think of him is to see the glory of being alive, breathing His breath, thinking His thoughts, discovering His cunning secrets, doing His will.

Topaz—that's the quality inhering in the common things about us.

When we see topaz life has been unfolded to us. We have achieved.

Nothing is common. We feel God in all things oncethe vision that God is in all things has shined upon our souls.
