LEAN ON YOURSELF

One of the most important things taught to high school pupils is the necessity of the pupil to do things himself. He is taught that the extent of his success depends entirely upon how he does things.

When the pupil leaves school he more than ever before realizes the importance of this. He realizes that he must fight for what he gets. Those of us who enter college will no longer have school life as it was in high school. We will simply be told our assignments and we are to do them ourselves. There will be no one to coax us along. We will find ourselves facing a large field of competition in everything we do.

Some of us may feel that we could get by just by doing a little work. We may get by for a while, but it will not last long. A time will come when the quality and amount of our work will be the deciding factor of our social and financial standings.

Everyone should try his best in school. Remember that what you do today will decide your future tomorrow, so put your best into your school work now and you will have time. Editor

The Business of Youth

Dr. Robert MacCracken, well known poet philosopher, gave a sincere message to the teachers at the conference in Wellsville, Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 15, urging them to help youth to develop to their fullest capacity; to improve their conduct and their entire personality, and to have faith in themselves and in others. Youth need be neither Clark Gable nor a Mae West to make their life a success, but they should know the art of being human and happy in everyday life.

Dr. H. J. Heltman of Syracuse university, in his discussion Monday, emphasized the need of all people to have good speech in order to be successful. He pointed out very clearly how much more important the spoken word is than the written one in this age.

In the David Hewes Memorial library, Junior high school teachers found interesting exhibits of projects worked out in classes.

Armistice Dance A Success

The Senior Armistice dance which took place in the Andover high school gym November 10th was very successful.

Under a canopy of blue and white crepe paper, one could see about 70 couples dancing to the irresistible strains of Don de Serio and his Del Casa orchestra. The sidewalls were attractively decorated with red, white and blue criss-crossed crepe paper and small American flags, which seemed to be so proud of their stars and stripes.

After all expenses were paid, about $5 was added to the treasury of the Senior class.

For the success of the dance, the Seniors wish to thank those who helped with the decorations, Miss Cappuccilli, the class advisor, Mr. Bretsch for arranging the dance and Dr. and Mrs. Scott and Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter who acted as chaperones.

Guests were present from Hornell, Wellsville, Belmont, Greenwood, Arkport, Alfred, Andover and other towns.

It is hoped that the rest of the school dances thruout the year will be as successful as this one.

"Ma" and "Pa"

"Ma" and "Pa" made a trip to all the rooms yesterday. Kalispy Kanes and Billy Dugan, who are playing the role of Ma and Pa were accompanied by their daughter Sara (Vivian Conner).

In a three minute skit, these three characters have the whole school talking about the coming performance of "George in a Jam" to be given by the Junior class, Nov. 17 and 18 at 8:15 in the high school auditorium. The price is only 25c and the Juniors are certain that all will enjoy the performance.

At the same time Harold Rice, dressed as Lou, the Gangster, and Veronica Lynch as Gideon, the colored maid, entertained the grade pupils with a short skit from the play. A matinee performance for the grade children was held Friday afternoon with a large attendance by the little folks.

Book Week

"Read More Books. This is Book Week!" seemed to be the cry which came to me as I entered the town library. Each of the grades have attractive displays pertaining to Book Week.

The first and second grades have a novel display entitled "Animals of the World" where all the different animals of the world are on parade in a colorful circus parade.

The third and fourth grades have a very attractive exhibit entitled "World of Make-Believe." A sick child is sitting in bed with play soldiers and boats which are arranged on the bed as if in a make-believe battle.

The fifth and sixth grades have an interesting exhibit entitled "World of Adventure," showing models of all the different races of the world and a book corresponding to the race of people.

The seventh and eighth grades display a "World of Science" showing samples of rock from different parts of this country and several books in correspondence to them.

Each grade deserves much credit for their fine exhibits and also to the teachers who helped them. If you haven't seen these displays as yet, be sure you do this week. They are well worth your time.

Guess Who

The high school mystery:

Tip-toe quietly down to the P. G. room now and we'll see if we can find her. Peep over the top of the window. There she is, with dark hair and blue eyes. She is always going somewhere and getting there in a hurry. It's a wonder we found her now. She must be preparing her French I lesson. Her infectious giggle once made Mr. McGee remark, "I hope we have sound-proof walls in the new school!" Oh, Oh! There's George. It couldn't be they're going to the Armistice dance together, could it? We'd better go before they discover us.

Answer to last week's Guess Who—Nancy Snyder.

Clyde Briggs stated in his will: "I want six of my creditors for pallbearers. They have carried me so long they might just as well finish the job."

Purple and White Start Practice

Twenty-six boys reported for the first basketball practice of the season last Tuesday afternoon. Coach Bill McGee once more stressed the importance of everyone practicing strict training rules. He also announced that he would "cut the squad," (eliminate the first team to eight players) after the third or fourth practice. The coach said his reason for doing this was because this year practice started two weeks later than it has in previous years. There will be but ten practices before the first game. The first team of eight players will be picked from the following:

G. Joyce	W. Dugan
C. Briggs	D. Hardy
M. Greene	L. Fulkerson
D. Oakes	J. Saunders

G. Dolan.

Thirty-seven Fifty, Please!

But Mr. Dale of the Hornell Business School and speaker in the assembly Thursday morning will train your memory for exactly nothing. His advice is to remember simply O. C. R. A. "O," standing for observation; "C" for concentration, "R" for repitition, and "A" for association. Mr. Dale rates observation first because any of our great men and women of the world will gladly tell you that the first step toward the shining goal of "success" is keep your eyes and ears open and your mouth shut. Another important factor is that of asking questions. Never underrate its strength.

Mr. Dale, himself a native of Sweden, came to America looking, so he says, as comical as our Sunday funnies. The first thing he learned when he went to school was not what last Columbus discovered America or how many amendments there are in the Constitution, but the i prefence of "Minding yourself." Not long after his advent of going to school, a social was held and he went. "A wallflower never presented many difficulties to me, before, but I now saw and felt the need for association. I wasn't wanted and I knew it. So I had discovered another basic stone. To be liked I had to have a neat and likable appearance, a low voice, sincerity and tact."

If it had not been for a certain girl, Mr. Dale would have lost his crowning desire for school. One thing he urges us to remember is make your fellowmen feel they are needed in life. Try to draw out their hidden abilities for we all have one thing we excell in.

Laugh and thought provoking was his parting shot. "Don't think you are too good," he said, "science only rates us, at our best, thirty cents!"

Here you have listed the various steps Mr. Dale encourages us to make in our start to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

A Bit of Humor

Young Man: "How can a man be a good man for a dollar a day?"

Old Timer: "Take it from me, sonny, with only a dollar a day, he can't be anything but good."

Visiting Mama: "I wish to find my son."

The Honorable Fitzalan Fitzwalter Fitzclarence: "Vere de Vere."

Schoolboy: "I'll have him sent to you in a minute madam. Here, Jones go tell Flat Face he's wanted at once."

There's logic in the Chinese army's offer to pay $23.20 for a captured machine gun, but only $14.50 for a Japanese general. A belt of machine gun bullets fed into a general would never stop an enemy's advance.

First motorist: "Have you run across any of our old friends lately?"

Second motorist: "Notta me, only sheer strangers."

Around A. H. S.

With C. Coryell

Bethel Millspaugh and Miss Barrett both started to go under the big ladder while helping decorate for the dance, but they came back. Can they be superstitious?

Did anyone count up how many hours the Senior girls (and a few boys) plus the teachers, worked at decorating the gym? The gym looked swell!

How many students have remembered what each letter in "ocra" means? Now let's see, "a" for observation; "c" for concentration, "r" for repetition and "a" for association. I have remembered!

The poster Dick Clair is making will draw attention to the Junior play. It's going to be one of those spattered posters.

I sincerely hope everyone has bought his ticket for the Junior play and there will be a good record-breaking crowd tonight and tomorrow.

The United States Bomber and the Hawaiian Clipper, the sides in the Seventh grade arithmetic contest, are off to a good start on their round the world flight.

Miss Jordan and Miss Baker dislike having to stay after school to work on the last day of school, but it's all for a good purpose. I found them finishing posters for Book Week.

I noticed that there is still soap from Hallowe'en on the Fifth grade windows. Basil had better get busy some time before next year's prank season.

Won't Richard Byron of the Fifth grade make a good watchman and jester for the operetta?

Who knew that it was Barbara Temple's birthday on the fourth of this month?

It's nice of the teachers to bring friends and relatives to the dances. Even the city of Syracuse was well represented at the Senior "hop."

To the tune of the Victrola co-operation was really shown as the decorations were taken down in short order, whereas it took hours and hours to get them up.

Junior play practice continues even when there is no session, much to the disgust of some of the cast.

Has anyone an idea how Edna Hoagbeer can keep her feet cold? It's a grave question.

Miss Cappuccilli had a nice (?) time over vacation by correcting four sets of English papers!

I wonder if Miss Wood had a good time at the Cornell vs. Dartmouth game last Saturday.

How come Leo Nobles takes all the honor of bringing a gang from Hornell to the dance?

I notice the boys have started basketball practice. We should have a swell time this year with all of the first string back again.

Movie and Radio Guide

Radio "Mercury Theatre on the Air" Well

Mercury Theatre" is presented at 8 p. m. every Saturday night over WGR and lately, more and more people have discovered how exciting it is. This program gained its popularity thru the broadcast "War with Mars." This program was so realistic that it drove a number of people in the country frantic. Last Sunday Orson Welles presented a radio adaptation of R. C. Hutchinson's popular novel, "One Light Burning." This was the story of an adventurous quest thru the wilds of Siberia by the author of "Unforgotten Prisoner." For people who like thrills, this program is highly recommended.

Jimmy Fidler, Hollywood's famous columnist who is heard over WGR at 7:15 on Tuesdays turned commentator in a new series from the screen colony last Tuesday. His analytical criticisms have won him a vast listening audience. All of the girls who are interested in Robert Taylor, Don Ameche or Tyrone Power had better listen in.

Movie

Next Friday and Saturday, Joan Ayres and Mary Carlisle will be starred in "Hold 'em Navy." All football fans will enjoy this picture. The second feature on these two nights will be "Speed to Burn." If you're up to another race track picture, catch this on a "screen night."

Sunday and Monday, the little "mischief maker," Jane Withers, will return again in "Always in Trouble." This time, she manages to get on board a yacht and is kidnapped. As her shows are always full of laughter and merriment anyone will enjoy this show.

"ORPHANS OF THE STORM"

Fleeing a tornado near Clyde, Texas, parents of these babies were killed, their automobile tossed a quarter-mile away. Hours later a telephone lineman heard a child's whimper in a roadside ditch. There he found 3-year-old Jesse Donald Rutledge, water up to his chin, holding his 3-months-old brother Daryl's head above water. Relatives being unable to care for the orphans, Red Cross workers arranged a maintenance fund to support them until they are 16. A Texas college promised scholarships and ranchmen started a herd of cattle for their benefit. The Red Cross will help the boys make adjustments as they grow older.

AROUND OUR HOUSE

TRICKS IN COOKING

Cooking has tricks that may turn an ordinary dish into something nearly perfect, says the New York State College of Home Economics. Here are a few tips:

Leave an inch or two of stem on beets that are to be boiled. It helps them to keep their bright red color.

If the ice cream mixture it allowed to chill in the refrigerator for a few hours, or overnight, before it is frozen, it has a smooth, rich texture.

Hardcooked eggs are more tender and tasty than hard boiled eggs. To hard-cook, put the eggs in boiling water, 2 cups for each egg, and turn off the heat immediately; cover the eggs and let them stand for 45 to 60 minutes, depending on the number of eggs.

For tender, fluffy, scrambled eggs, beat the eggs, add four tablespoons of milk for each egg, and salt them to taste; pour them into the top of a double boiler in which 1 teaspoon of butter has been melted for every egg. Cook them over hot, not boiling, water until the eggs have set. Fold them once or twice, but do not stir them.

Prunes cooked in the same water in which they have been soaked keep more of their minerals and flavor.

Boiled coffee made with egg is golden in color and fragrant. Use 1 heaping tablespoon of coffee, regular grind, and 1 teaspoon of beaten egg for each standard measuring cup of cold water. Put the coffee and egg in the pot and mix them thoroughly. Pour in water and bring the mixture slowly to a boil, stirring the mixture slowly occasionally. As soon as it boils, remove it from the fire; pour ½ cup of cold water into the pot to settle the grounds; let it stand in warm place 3 to 5 minutes and strain off the liquid.

LITTLE BITS OF HUMOR

Conscientious Objector

Only a week or so after he had started on his new job, the lucky youth announced he was quitting. "Tain't the wages," he explained to the foreman. "It's just that I can't help having a guilty conscience all the time I'm working."

"What for?" asked the amazed foreman.

"I'm all the time worrying about how I'm cheating a big strong mule out of a job."

This comes from the telephone company, and is supposed to be true—altho the very thoro congressional investigation of the telephone company may prove it otherwise:

A spinster, shocked at the language used by two men repairing telephone wires near her home, wrote to the company to complain. The foreman was ordered to report the happening to his superior.

"Me and Bill Winterbottom were on the job," he reported. "I was up on the telephone pole and accidentally let hot lead fall on Bill an' it went down his neck. Then he called up to me: 'You really must be more careful, Harry.'"

Fussy

The Sunday School teacher asked the class, "All those who would like to go to Heaven, please raise their hands."

The whole class raised their hands except one "Why, Herbie," exclaimed the teacher, "Wouldn't you like to go to Heaven?

"Now," said Herbie, "that d'pends how hot it's goin' to be."

A baby that is underweight should be fed according to what it should weigh rather than what it actually does weigh.

For table luncheon sets to be used in a dinette, those of a heavier weave and rougher type are more appropriate than the fine one [illegible] formal dining room.

Food costs more nice—then ready to eat packaged goods, instead of those in the bulk, are used frequently, and when most of the food is bought in small, rather than in large containers.
