By virtue of a Judgment of Foreclosure and Sale, granted by the Court in the above entitled action, and entered on the 2nd day of May, 1918, in the office of the Clerk of the County of Allegany, at Belmont, N. Y., the undersigned Bernard B. Ackerman, a Referee duly appointed in this action for such purpose, will sell at public auction on the 15th day of June, 1918, at 10 o'clock, in the forenoon of that day, at the Law Office of Crayton L. Earley, in the Village of Andover, N. Y.,

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND, situate in the Village of Andover, County of Allegany and State of New York, and bounded and described as follows, viz: Commencing at the north-east corner of lands conveyed by Granville M. Barney to Levi C. VanFleet by deed bearing date May 4th, 1892, and recorded in the office of the Clerk of the County of Allegany, on the 24th day of May, 1892, in Liber 153 of Deeds at page 8, in the center of Elm Street extended south 85° east, and running thence south 85° east along the center line of Elm Street so continued nine (9) chains and eighty seven (87) links to an iron stake; thence south 5° west sixteen (16) chains and eighteen (18) links to the north line of lands formerly owned by Mary Church; thence north 85° 30' west nine (9) chains and eighty-seven (87) links along the north line of said Mary Church lands to village lot heretofore conveyed to James Sweet; thence north 5° east one (1) chain and seventy-eight (78) links along the east line of said Sweet lot and fourteen (14) chains and forty-six and one-half (46½) links along the east line of the premises heretofore conveyed to the said Levi C. Van Fleet as hereinbefore mentioned to the place of beginning, containing 16 acres of land.

Excepting and reserving 48.75 square rods of land conveyed by the said Levi C. Van Fleet and wife to the said Granville M. Barney May 4th, 1893.

Including also the same right as to the purchase of one and one-half rods adjoining the premises above described on the north for the purpose of a highway as contained in a deed of the above described premises bearing date May 4th, 1893, from Granville M. Barney to the said Levi C. Van Fleet.

Excepting and reserving therefrom that portion thereof as conveyed to the Village of Andover by L. C. VanFleet and wife by deed recorded in Allegany County Clerk's Office in Liber 154 of Deeds at page 420 known as the reservoir lot.

Also excepting and reserving 2.84 acres released as appears by the records in said Clerk's Office, Liber 15 of Discharges of Mortgages, page 468.

Also excepting and reserving that portion of said premises above described lying southerly of Front Street in said village.

Subject to such right as the plaintiff or his assignee has to maintain reservoir for the overflow from the village reservoir and take water therefrom, and lay and maintain pipes thereon, as contained in deed from said L. C. VanFleet and wife to plaintiff dated Dec. 1, 1899, recorded in said Clerk's Office in Liber 176 of Deeds at page 454.

Dated this 2nd day of May, 1918.

Just as "a little learning is a dangerous thing," so is a little advertising, sometimes. It is dangerous up to the point where a merchant is inclined to stop worrying about the cost — after he sees its profitable.

...ing ... cannot furnish a soldier, but every family can help on the war program. Most families can buy Thrift Stamps or Liberty Bonds, or both, and practically every family can help on Red Cross work and Red Cross subscriptions but absolutely every family and every person in every family can help out on the food proposition.

The first way to help is by producing more food. Every farm should try to produce a little more food than usual, and most every farmer ought to produce at least a few acres of wheat. Every family ought to have a garden if possible, and try to make it a little more productive than last year. Allegany County should produce more food than ever.

Use less wheat flour. Don't try to get your grocer to evade the law; take an equal weight of the approved cereal substitutes, and use them for your family. It is not possible to prevent you from making in your own home wheat bread, but remember that straight white wheat bread is now nothing less than Hindenberg bread.

When you have dipped two spoonful of sugar, don't go for the third—leave it for the Englishman, Frenchman, the Belgian, who is on the other side of the table. The fact that he is three thousand miles the other side is no reason for your being selfish. When the canning season arrives sign up a regular blank and get sugar for canning. If you can save some for canning purposes out of three pounds per person per month, that is a good idea.

Eat potatoes freely during May, and by all means don't forget to plant some. Potatoes are very filling, and will help you to tide over the wheat scarcity.

All these suggestions resolve themselves into this idea, help win the war by buying bonds and Thrift Stamps, produce food, save some of the essential products for shipment to Europe, and back up our young men in every possible way for victory in the fall of 1918.

Now that meatless days are not required, Mr. Hoover has issued an urgent request for economy in the use of meats in order that it will not be necessary to restore the meatless days. The consumption of meat in the United States is now 3½ pounds per week per person. This is very much more than is being consumed in Europe and more than can be spared during the season when meat is coming to market much more sparingly.

Reduction in the consumption of wheat flour is very noticeable and very gratifying. Approximately ... families have not yet entirely complied with the adminis-

...ing ... Wheatless days are not insisted upon in the home, but are desirable.

In public eating places Mondays and Wednesdays are wheatless days, and on these days bread served should be war bread or victory bread, or other kinds containing a still less amount of wheat. Not more than two ounces of victory bread or rolls, or four ounces of quick breads should be served any person at one meal.

Sugar should now be retailed by cash and carry stores at not over 9 cents, and granulated sugar should not sell higher than 9½ cents at any Allegany County store. At present, sales in villages should be two to five pounds, and to country customers ...

...notified that the practice of feeding poultry liberally before taking to market must be discontinued. The Food Administration regulation reads: The merchant shall not sell or offer for sale any live poultry which contains more than one ounce of feed for each two pounds of live poultry. A merchant shall not sell or offer for sale, more than one-fifth of an ounce of feed to each two pounds, dressed weight, of such poultry."

Potatoes are very seasonable, very reasonable in price, and make a splendid substitute for part of the bread we usually eat. There is no scarcity of milk, and in most places the prices are a little lower. Baked potatoes and milk or cream form quite a palat-

...about your garden? Are you planning to produce a variety of food? There are no food regulations to prevent you from out-doing your neighbors and supplying your table with a liberal share of fresh vegetables this summer. This will require no transportation and no selling expense.

"A Great Net of Mercy drawn through an Ocean of Unspeakable Pain"

The American Red Cross

PUTTING HIS MONEY TO WORK

Contributed by Charles Dana Gibson.

THE HOPE OF THE WORLD

By HAROLD BELL WRIGHT.

THE hope of the world is not alone that the armies of humanity will be victorious, but that the spirit and purpose of our warfare will prevail in our victory. The hope of the world is in the Red Cross, because the Red Cross is voicing this spirit and purpose that must, through the force of our arms, triumph. Just to the degree that we can evidence this Red Cross spirit of mercy and brotherhood we will hold true in the dangerous hour of victory to the ideals that have forced us into the trenches in the defense of human rights and human liberty.

The one sane and saving thought in this delirium of death that now possesses the world is the Red Cross.

Wherever the storms of battle hell rage, amid the fires of ruthless destruction, in trench and camp and hospital, these soldiers of mercy with heroism unsurpassed are carrying the flag of the highest conceivable ideals of humanity. The ideals for which our armies have taken the field are, by these unarmed hosts, proclaimed to friend and foe, in that unmistakable language of universal mercy and brotherhood. In the terms of wasted towns rebuilt, of broken humanity salvaged, of dying children rescued, of desolate families succored, the Red Cross declares the cause for which we war and proclaims the principles and ideals that must and will in the end prevail. Above the thunder of the guns, the roar of exploding mines, the crash of fallen cities and the cries of tortured humanity, the voice of the Red Cross carries clear and strong the one message of hope to our war-burdened world.

The black horror of this world's crisis would be unbearable were it not for the spirit and work of this mighty force. The normal mind refuses to contemplate the situation without this saving power.

It is the knowledge that in every city, town and hamlet, men, women and children are united in this work of declaring to the world, through the Red Cross, our message of mercy and brotherhood, that keeps our hearts from sinking under the burden of woe and sustains our faith in human kind. It is the constant daily, almost hourly touch with the Red Cross work that is felt by every citizen in the land, that inspires us with courage and hope.

Out of this hell of slaughter the Red Cross will guide the warring nations to a heaven of world-wide peace and brotherhood.

Because it is the living expression of those ideals and principles in defense of which we are giving our all in lives and material wealth—because on every field of death it is proclaiming its message of life—because it keeps ever before us and the world the cause for which we war—because it will preserve us in the hour of our victory from defeating ourselves—the Red Cross is the hope of the world.

THOUGHT TOO HIGHLY OF BOTH

On a road in Belgium a German officer met a boy leading a jackass, and addressed him in heavy jovial fashion as follows:

"That's a fine jackass you have, my son. What do you call it? Albert, I bet?"

"On, no, officer," the boy replied quickly. "I think too highly of my king."

The German scowled and returned:

"I hope you don't dare to call it William?"

"Oh, no officer. I think too highly of my jackass." — Paris Liberte.

Both Ends Against The Middle

(The Producer and Consumer) (The Packer)

The consumer wants to pay a low price for meat.

The farmer wants to get a high price for cattle.

The packer stands between these conflicting demands, and finds it impossible to completely satisfy both.

The packer has no control over the prices of live stock or meat, and the most that can be expected of him is that he keep the difference between the two as low as possible. He does this successfully by converting animals into meat and distributing the meat at a minimum of expense, and at a profit too small to be noticeable in the farmer's returns for live stock or in the meat bill of the consumer.

Swift & Company's 1917 transactions in Cattle were as follows:

	Average Per Head
Sold Meat to Retailer for	$68.97
Sold By-products for	24.09
Total Receipts	93.06
Paid to Cattle Raiser	84.45
Balance (not paid to Cattle Raiser)	8.61
Paid for labor and expenses at Packing House, Freight on Meat, and Cost of operating Branch distributing houses	7.32
Remaining in Packer's hands as Returns on investment	$ 1.29

The net profit was $1.29 per head, or about one-fourth of a cent per pound of beef.

By what other method can the difference between cattle prices and beef prices be made smaller, and how can the conflicting demands of producer and consumer be better satisfied?
