GENERAL NEWS.

The fund for the fair of Secretary Rawlin amounts to $3200. A whale, 75 feet long, was lately washed ashore at Economy, Bay of Fundy.

The village of Etidun, Cayuga county, with a population of only 300, has thirteen women who have separated from their husbands.

It is said that ten million dollars of northern capital is being expended this year in improvements in Georgia.

Gen. Cole, who led the advance of his wife, is a glistening clerk in the Albany post office, with a salary of one thousand eight hundred dollars.

Eleven girls in Boston are being taught to use the razor, with a view to a reform in their dress.

A Virginia portman shot himself fatally while hunting recently, and being unable to move fastened a noose to the neck of his dog and sent him home. Help me before he died.

Three fashionably dressed girls created quite an emotion on board a Brooklyn ferry-boat Friday, by setting themselves on fire and among signals while en route.

Two millions of green corn were put up the past season by one person in Maine, six thousand persons were employed during six weeks in preparing and canning.

Tobacco is raised in every State and Territory of the Union except Dakota. More than half a crop of the whole country is raised in Virginia and Kentucky.

New York had two hundred gambling houses, eight thousand professional gamblers, and one million five hundred thousand dollars in the game, while fifty thousand dollars change hands nightly on the cards.

An Iowa postmaster neglected to certify on an oath to the correctness of his recent report, and was to the department in justification. "If I had sworn to the best I can for United States I should not think it pays to go so far to a States once in 2 years is out—I should have to have a horse to tip him!"

A farmer in Putnam county, Ind., has kept a pair of black snakes in his barn several years and all kind of vermin have since entirely disappeared by rats and mice. They are better protection than a dozen cats and are entirely harmless toward chickens and domestic animals. The snakes employed for this purpose are not the racers nor the spotted variety, but a short, thick species, of a jet black color.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT.—A memorial column will soon be erected at Youngstown, Ohio. It will be forty feet in height, and is to be a work of architecture. A square pedestal will support a grand, banded shaft, on which will be inscribed the names of the battles in which the men, to whose memory the column is to be raised, were engaged. The base is to be appropriately ornamented with military trophies. The coat of arms of Ohio and the United States are to be blended together on the front of the column. A life-size statue of a soldier in uniform will surmount the shaft. The sculptural part of the work is much admired. The materials come from the Rhode Island granite quarries.

Less than a month ago a young man named George Adams, of Canastota, Madison county, went on the Central road as brakeman, and early Tuesday morning he fell from his train near Union, and was run over and killed. Several trains passed over his body before it was discovered, and of course it was horribly mutilated. The Union Observer says: "The load is terribly smashed, the skull bones being broken into fine pieces. The ribs are all broken, some of them in many places. Both arms are severed, and the detached pieces are cut and broken in a dozen places. The right limb was severed from the trunk. It is broken not less than twenty times. The left limb is as horribly smashed and cut up as the other. The body is probably in six hundred or eight hundred pieces."

The two blunders of the Senate—Conklin of New York and Stewart of Nevada—are esteemed men of mark by the galleries.

The late Governor of Connecticut and her present Senator is a refined, dignified man, rather English or Bostonian in appearance.

A steam plow of novel construction has lately been invented in Rochester, which has awakened considerable interest among farmers.

The present terminus of the Kansas Pacific Railway is Sheridan, Kansas, 20 miles from the west line of the state, and 403 miles west of the Missouri River or the eastern line of that state.

The anxiety of Chicago to impress upon the rest of mankind her growth in prosperity has not only evoked unkind remarks from foreign reviewers, but has been productive of serious evils.

A gentleman of Buffalo has engaged to perform the following difficult feat: A cork will be loosely placed on the neck of an ordinary bottle, and on the top of the cork a bullet will be rested. The gentleman will then walk at a distance of 12 paces, to a table at that four times in ten trials he will shoot away the cork and drop the bullet into the bottle.

Our modern course of living begets a condition of the body that requires occasional relief. The system becomes enfeebled, deranged, clogged, and labor in its task. The mind sympathizes with it and brain sink, or are depressed together. To restore the vital energies, purge the system, cleanse the blood, take Ayer's Pills. [Glasgow (Ky.) Free Press.]

The following call is printed in the Auburn papers:

The friends of an independent political temperance party in the state of New York are requested to meet in convention at the city of Ithaca, on Wednesday the 22d of December, commencing at 11 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of effecting a state organization, having been placed by the Chicago national temperance convention on the central committee assigned to aid in organizing the party, the undersigned, by virtue of his appointment on said committee and with the concurrence of leading friends of the cause, issue this call and most respectfully urge a full attendance. Wm. H. West, Auburn, Nov. 30, 1869.

This is emphatically the age of railroad building and in consequence of this rapid construction of railways, it is the age of progress, improvement and development. The United States have 431.2 per cent, of all the miles of railroad in existence. We now have not less than 50,000 miles of railroad. New lines are constantly being projected. At no period since the first rail was laid, has there been so many different lines being built as at the present time.

As the following statement by the New York Commercial Chronicle shows Maine is building 8; New Hampshire 4; Vermont 6; Massachusetts 5; Connecticut 7; New York 11; New Jersey 7; Pennsylvania 32; Delaware 5; Maryland 7; West Virginia, 1, the Chesapeake & Ohio, and probably others; Ohio, at least a dozen; Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, each about the same number; Wisconsin 5; Minnesota 7; Iowa and Missouri, each a dozen; Nebraska 3 or 4; Louisiana 4; Mississippi, Texas, 6; and in the Southern Atlantic States, there are at least 20.

We have now under construction at least 200 separate lines. Many of these are hundreds of miles in length, and probably the average length is not less than fifty miles. This gives a total of 15,000 miles in progress, and which will be completed within three years.

WORTH FAR MORE THAN IT COSTS.—A recent case occurred where a farmer, to save expense, omitted to take his local paper for a year. He went to market on Monday with a load of 33 bushels of wheat, and sold it to the first one who offered him 1c more per bushel than he got the week before. With part of the money he bought a piece of 42 yards of muslin at 17 cents per yard. At night he met a neighbor who had sold his wheat of the same quality at 10 cents a bushel higher, and bought the same kind of muslin for 15 cents. His local paper of Saturday had told him of the advance of 10 cents on wheat, and who paid 15; and he must for that price and get it. The same paper certified on the authenticity of a dealer who sold the cotton goods at 15 cents, and he bought them there. He made, or saved, $3.81 on that day's trip, from the information gained from one number of his paper, while for a whole year it cost him only $1.50. The single number, costing 5 cents, was worth to him $2.31 above a year's subscription. And so it will often be all through the year—but to illustrate the fact that his children are growing intelligent—they learn to read in reading the paper, and thus save time and expense at school; and they know what is going on in the world, have something to think of while at work, and their heads are not so much the devil's workshop, as the "heads some mischief sell for idle hands" and brains—There is another story about the above two farmers. The one who got the highest price for his wheat, also got more bushels per acre to sell, with the same cost of culture. A couple of hints to you from the American Agriculturist, which of itself the mode of culture and kind adapted by the "another" farmer, were bushels per acre 30—his neighbor was 4 1/2 bushels of wheat, and his neighbor's results are very common, and are hardly be otherwise. A large force of practical men are all through the year gathering information for the paper, and the result of all this is published to subscribers for $1.50, or less to clubs. Readers, such papers are each worth far more than the cost, to every one, and you can see, without hesitating, that you can find no better, and next supply yourself with the American Agriculturist, published by Orange Judd & Co., 245 Broadway, New York, at $1.50 a year, or four copies for $5. As the volume of the 25th Annual one, is just beginning, and now is just the time to send for it, it will pay far more than its cost. You want it; your wife wants it; your children want it.

The following good story we find in the Rochester Chronicle of the 13th.

A good many stories are told of them. Hon. John Morrissey, the poet of them, representing a man, and one who, to what would probably be his own expense, is always ready to "do the square thing" by his fellow-men. And we believe the most of them are true.

Mr. Morrissey has been a prize-fighter, and he is a gambler, and of course these melancholy facts make nearly unpalatable his name to the general public, and he is, as the world goes, an honest business man and far more benevolent than the majority of men. The following anecdote is said to have come originally from Speaker Colfax himself, shortly after Morrissey made his debut in congress:

Mr. Colfax, who was then speaker, was busily making up the committee, and happened to be conversing with three or four members. He observed Morrissey repeatedly coming by the door, as though desirous of entering. At last, after the departure of Mr. Colfax's visitors, Morrissey stealthily crept up and entered. Approaching Mr. Colfax, he said:

"Mr. Speaker, I have a fine box of Havana cigars I am going to send you. Will you accept them?"

"Oh, yes, certainly," replied Mr. Colfax. "Anything in that line is acceptable."

"All right," said Morrissey. "After a pause, he suddenly broke out:—"

"Mr. Speaker, I have a favor to ask; I want you to put me on a certain committee."

"Leave the cigars one side, and tell me what one it is," replied Mr. Colfax. Morrissey made a strenuous effort, closed his fist, and, as he brought it down on the desk, said:

"I want you to put me on this committee where I will have a little kick to do."

"All right," said Mr. Colfax. "When the committee were announced, the name of the Hon. John Morrissey was found bringing up the rear of the committee on revolutionary positions."
