FOOD ADMINISTRATION NOTES

Many inquiries are being made concerning sugar for canning. It is hoped that supplies will be sufficient for canning purposes. About June 1st dealers will be furnished with blanks, and consumers will need to make application for sugar for canning purposes. The limit in one purchase is 25 pounds, but additional purchases may be made from time to time. The price will be nine cents to nine and a half cents in all parts of Allegany County.

The supply of flour for the present seems to be sufficient for the people's needs. Cereal substitutes are not as difficult to obtain, and should be selling at reasonable prices. Few substitutes can be sold cheaper than flour. Reasonable prices for all items on the substitute list will be published shortly. Corn flour both white and yellow, are proving very satisfactory, and will doubtless meet with a more liberal use than any other single item.

Every Allegany County family should consume potatoes liberally. Many housewives have found it possible to obtain excellent results in using some potatoes in making their bread.

Farmers are requested to hold no wheat. Seeding is finished, and any supply of wheat beyond the absolute requirements of the family for flour until September, should be sold. If you haven't a market write to the County Food Administrator at Wellsville.

Mr. Chas. P. Johnson of Wellsville, is now employed as an agent of the Federal Food Administration, and as such will be on duty in the counties of Allegany, Steuben and Cattaraugus. His address is Wellsville, N. Y. He will be glad to co-operate toward smoothing out any difficulties, or locating any illegal or unpatriotic hoarding of food.

The season thus far is very favorable and indications are that Allegany County will do its part toward furnishing the food supply.

Manufacturers using sugar are required to secure licenses for purchasing, and dealers are forbidden to sell them until such licenses are procured. This applies to the use of sugar for making syrups, ice cream, soft drinks, etc.

GEO. C. ROSA,
Deputy Food Administrator
For Allegany County.

DON'T QUIT YOUR FUN

Washington, D. C., May 11.—"The joys of life are bulwarks in efficiency, and the highest officials in Washington are preaching and practicing the normal social life for everybody during wartime," Raymond B. Fosdick, chairman of the Commissions on Training Camp Activities, emphatically disclaims statements credited to him to the effect that there has been too much entertaining of soldiers. "The preservation of normal social relations between the people and the men in training is an essential part of our military program," says Mr. Fosdick.

"In fact, with hundreds of thousands of men pouring into the training camps, the Government desires more than ever that the people of America continue to offer to them the wholesome influences of their homes," he continues. "There should be no misapprehension over the criticisms that have come from Mr. Fosdick regarding forms of entertainment that have no place in present conditions. He says: "Naturally in the entertainment of thousands of men in private homes there have been some instances of hospitality overdone or taken advantage of. Some women, unwisely, have flooded soldiers with sweets and unnecessary 'comforts' and have written doleful letters to their boys. These things and the 'godmother' idea are justifiably discouraged. But a sharp distinction should be drawn between pink-tea sentimentality toward the soldier and the organized hospitality which is supervised by the Government.

"To eradicate vice not only by repression, but by the substitution of attractive and healthful diversions is the great purpose of the commission. Man power will win the war, and we depend upon the American home in conserving this power. As President Wilson has said: 'the spirit with which our soldiers leave America, and their efficiency on the battle fronts of Europe, will be vitally affected by the character of the environment surrounding our military training camps'."

President Wilson spends about half his evenings at amusement houses in Washington. He is a consistent golf player, and when the circus comes to town a few days ago, he was there—as usual. That's the way he keeps young at sixty, and stands up under his heavy responsibility. The young men who are fighting the battles of their country are also keeping young in its pleasures; and returning officers tell how people still "dress for dinner" right up to the "back door of the firing line."

A Scandal Scented

There are lots of versions regarding the aircraft construction, and a scandal has been hinted at. Investigations have been instituted, and the American people are promised all the facts, even tho those facts might disclose an absolute fiasco in aircraft construction. A lot of people have been eager to grab at the prospect of a scandal; but they have been warned not to be too hasty in forming conclusions. The aircraft board has spent $739,000,000 and there is a feeling that there has been an absence of accomplishments. It is clear that a great lot of construction is under way. The organization of men for the service has shown real results, as there are many thousands of men who have qualified as military aviators.

As the matter continues to be aired in public print it is well for the people of the country to bear steadily in mind that inefficiency and mistakes are natural to public enterprises; and that there is no attempt at Washington to shield anyone who is guilty or not delivering the goods. An honesty airships soon flying over the Germans, dropping shells on their beauty spots, and on their war-making bases and centers.

Airships and Salt Sea Ships

There isn't a day passes but what Washington has a sight of airships flying over the city. The "aces" of France, Italy and England have added to the glory of the flights. Daredevils of the air have cut so many figures in the transparent blue that they have ceased to be objects of wonder. Washington views the aircraft agitation with a good deal of complacency because there is confidence that "all is well that ends well," and that in the end the Administration will "put the finger on" the men responsible for deficiencies in construction, and replace them with men who will show substantial results.

A few weeks ago the air was full of criticism because there were no ships coming out of the shipyards. The agitation has been dying down, as it is apparent that fine results are being obtained in this branch of the war program. The building of the steel collier Tuckahoe was a master achievement.

This ship was launched a few days ago at Camden, New Jersey; exactly twenty-seven days after the first work was commenced on it. The boat is 330 feet long, 50 feet beam, and has a speed of ten and a half knots an hour. Its tonnage is 5,550 tons. When launched the ship had its boilers in place, engines installed, masts stepped, funnels in place, propeller fitted and rudder hung. Two weeks after the launching the ship is to go into service.

Chairman Hurley of the Shipping Board, is delivering the goods.

An Account of Stewardship

Among the things that are not being overlooked on Capitol Hill, are the "reports" of Senators to the constituencies for even tho there is a war in Europe there is an election in the United States. Senator Sterling, who has faithfully and ably represented the State of South Dakota, has issued an interesting review of the big events of the past five years, five years crowded with important and far-reaching Federal legislation, beginning with the tariff act of 1913, the Federal Trade Commission act, the Clayton anti-trust act, the Panamma Canal free tolls act, rural credit and farm loan law, good roads law, and lastly all the great war legislation in the midst of which came prohibition, woman suffrage, and the overturning of established systems of business and commerce.

Surely the acid test has applied to men who have stood for the legislative and administrative formation of policies during the five years; and it is really unfortunate that it is impossible for the human mind to grasp the enormous questions that have entered into the make-up of free records of our statesmen. Nevertheless, it is likely that the voters will be given a lot of first-hand information within the next few months so that they will be able to answer correctly in most cases, as to whether the "account of stewardship" is satisfactory.

Uncle Joe at 82

A few years ago there was a good deal of division in Congress over "Speaker Cannon," but it is all different now, with "Uncle Joe," still in the harness at 82. Mr. Cannon was given a real ovation on his birthday a few days ago, and in responding he told the members of the House that "long service here brings one consolation; as I have seen the gavel swing from one side of the chamber to the other," he went on, "I have become more and more convinced that patriotism is confined to no party, and that, while this, a great government thru party, and always will be, all parties work for the best government of the country according to their ideas."

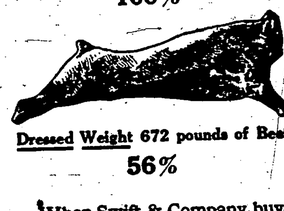
Only About Half the Steer is Beef

Live Weight 1200 pounds

100%



Dressed Weight 672 pounds of Beef

56%

When Swift & Company buys a steer weighing 1200 pounds, only about 672 pounds goes to market as beef; the other 528 pounds consists of hide, fats, other by-products, and waste.

When the packer pays 15 cents a pound for a steer, he sells the meat to the retailer for about 24 cents. But the packer gets only about 6 cents a pound for the other 528 pounds.

This means that the packer gets about 16 cents a pound for all the products from a steer for which he pays 15 cents.

The difference of 1 cent per pound covers the cost of dressing, preparation of by-products, freight on beef to all parts of the United States, operation of distributing houses, and leaves a net profit of only about ¼ of a cent per pound on all dressed beef sold.

Large volume of business and utilization of parts that were formerly wasted, make this achievement possible.
