TWICE CITED FOR BRAVERY

Milton Moland, son of Arthur Moland of Alfred, and a nephew of Mrs. Flora C. Deming of this village, has again been cited by Major General Summerbell as follows:

Private Milton Moland, Ambulance Co., No. 2 showed extra devotion to duty and coolness and bravery under heavy shell fire, and repeatedly disregarded his own personal safety in evacuating wounded in the open with no protection from shell fire. He was continually on duty for 72 hours without sleep or food and by his fine example greatly aided the morale of the troops.

The first citation came on July 16th, and the second Aug. 14th. On Sept. 9th he was made corporal of Medical Dpeartment because of special trust and confidence in his fidelity and ability.

MORE SUGAR FOR EVERYONE

Food Administration Increases the Allotment to Three Pounds

Everyone is surprised to learn that the Food Administration has increased the sugar allotment from two pounds per person per month, to three pounds, effective November 1st. It has been hoped that such increase would be available on January 1st, but even the officials of the State Administration were surprised to notice the increased allotment effective now. The increase applies to public eating places as well as families.

A three pound allotment seems quite satisfactory now after getting along for three months on two pounds. More housekeepers have learned how to use syrup, molasses and honey so as to get along on a three pound basis.

It is entirely possible that some Allegany County retailers will have difficulty in supplying all the demands during the next couple of weeks, but if there should be any difficulty, it will be only temporary.

MAKE OUR RECORD CLEAN

The war is over. Germany has surrendered, but it will take two years to get our boys all back home They have put up the greatest fight and won the greatest victory that will ever be recorded in the history of the world.

Andover's quota in this United War Work campaign is but on hand leaving orders that $2,000. When the committee calls on you next Tuesday meet them with a smile and good big subscription. Don't be stingy but meet the occasion as our boys historians will love to extol, will have an opportunity to show the same patriotism in financing the just and conclusive victorious peace whenever it comes.

Not for a moment, however, is the Treasury acting on any assumption that peace is to come soon. Until peace is actually assured the attitude of the Treasury and the attitude of the whole United States Government is for the most vigorous prosecution of the war, and the motto of force against Germany without stint or limit will be acted up to until peace is an absolute accomplished fact.

One more Liberty loan, at least, is certain. The fourth loan was popularly called the "Fighting Loan;" the next loan may be a fighting loan, too, or it may be a peace loan. Whatever the conditions, the loan must be prepared for and its success rendered certain and absolute. People must prepare to support it.

ANOTHER LIBERTY LOAN COMING

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has announced that, no matter what the results of the pending overatures for peace may be, there will be another Liberty loan. To use his expression, "We are going to have to finance peace for a while just as we have had to finance war."

There are over 2,000,000 United States soldiers abroad. If we transport these men back to the United States at the rate of 300,000 a month, it will be over half a year before they are all returned. Our Army, therefore, must be maintained, victualed and clothed for many months after peace is an actuality.

The American people, therefore, having supported the Liberty loan with a patriotism that future historians will love to extol, will have an opportunity to show

PEACE TOOK OLD TOWN OFF FEET

Greatest Demonstration Ever Known in Andover Took Place Immediately Upon Authentic News of Signing of Armistice.

At the very hour that the bells began to blow, the bells rang and every one in Andover started the great celebration that lasted all day and into the night and Monday morning on account of the signing of the armistice that stopped the war, our boys in France and Belgium were giving every his last hot shot, hostilities ceasing at six o'clock a. m.

Every one thought Andover went mad with joy when the fake news was announced the Thursday before, but that only just stirred the old town up, for the real celebration; the town simply turned loose.

Never was there a day in Andover's history like last Monday. From before dawn when the joyful news was flashed to us over the Western Union that the armistice had really and truly been signed by the German representatives, all thru the morning and afternoon hours until the hastily planned parade in the evening and the peace celebration in the Auditorium when it reached its greatest height, the village fairly outdid itself over completely to the task of properly celebrating the coming peace and the surrender of the kaiser and German empire.

The pupils of Andover's high and grammar schools, with most of the teachers in line, were the first to come marching down Main street at about 9 o'clock a. m. with the American flag, carried by about twenty lads, followed by the drummer boys marking time beating, then came the school boys with their teachers accompanying them. The little tots in the primary grades each waved aloft a tiny American flag. It was a mighty fine showing and Andover men and women could well afford to doff their hats and applaud the long column of young patriots. All honor to Andover school.

Andover's Firemen showed the proper spirit in getting out and assisting in the evening parade and celebration. The Andover band was on hand with their music and everything was pulled off just as well as could be done without more time. It was certainly an impromptu affair.

In the evening after the parade the Auditorium was packed to the doors for the peace celebration ably arranged by the management.

Revs. Mr. Woodring, of Wellsville, and H. B. Williams, who is home for a two week's furlough from the Y. M. C. A. work at Camp Huhphries, Va., made celebration addresses. Both receive much praise for their efforts.

The United War Work campaign was opened at that meeting.

MRS. DANIEL MCGUCKIN

Mrs Rose McCarey McGuckin was born January 15th, 1844, and died Monday, November 11th 1918, the cause of death being apoplexy. Mr. and Mrs McGluckin moved to Andover six years ago from Patterson, N. J., and have resided on Chestnut Street.

Beside her husband she is survived by four children, Alice and Mary McGuckin, living at the family home; John McGuckin, of New York, and Mrs. John Quigg, also of Andover.

Funeral services were held at the Sacred Sacrament Church, Wednesday morning, Nov. 13th, the interment made at the Catholic cemetery at Wellsville.

RED CROSS

A shipment was made Nov. 12th of two quilts given by the Catholic ladies and ten pajama suits.

There is now on hand one hundred suits of pajamas to be finished Jan. 15th.

After our long rest we are able to work all the better; so all come to the Red Cross rooms on Wednesday afternoons instead of Thursdays as it will save gas for one day, the Library being open Wednesday nights.

The labels for the Xmas boxes must be handed to Mrs. F. S. Clarke and the boxes filled and returned not later than Nov. 19th in order to be sent the boys.

LIEUT. WELCH MADE THE GREAT SACRIFICE

Downed With Bullet Would in the Arm, Lieut. Welch Gamely Went Inti Face of Machine Gun Fire; Died a True Hero.

Edward Walsh has received the sad word of the death of his cousin, Lieutenant John J. Welch, of Niagara Falls.

The following account of which was taken from a Niagara Falls paper.

The Rev. A. S. Bacon, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, yesterday received a letter from Lieut. Aubert Hooker, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hooker of this city, which gives one of the clearest and most graphic descriptions of the great battle in which 108th Infantry, 27th division played such a vital part.

In his letter Lieut. Hooker tells of the death in action of Lieut. John J. Welch of this city. The popular Falls officer died gloriously game, fighting on into the face of withering machine gun fire after having fallen wounded in the arm, and, despite his wound, going on into the thick of the terrible battle.

Undaunted, he led his men into battle, being to officers and men alike an example of true heroic bravery. He fought like a soldier and died like a soldier, gallantly giving his life for his country and for all men who love a righteous peace."

Lieut. Welch was killed at 7:30 a. m., on the morning of September 29th.

Lieut. Welch, according to the letter written by Lieut. Hooker who was attached to a gas battalion with the 108th, led his men over the top and was wounded at the very start of the advance. He had the wound bound up on the field instead of going back to the dressing station, and went on at the head of his men. Just as they were well on their way, Lieut. Hooker writes, Lieut. Welch fell dead, struck by a machine gun bullet. His body was carried back by men of his command and was buried, probably, on October 2nd, on the battle field.

The news of Lieut. Welch's death was received with profound sorrow thruout the city yesterday. He was born in Niagara Falls and was educated in the parochial and public schools. He was the son of the late Edward Welch and Barbara Welch, and a nephew of the late Thomas V. Welch, for many years member of assembly from the Niagara district, and first superintendent of the Niagara state reservation, in the creation of which he had a large part.

It was said of Lieut. Welch that he had no enemies and this was probably true. His was a happy spirit. To his friends he was known as Jack and when he was transferred from E to G company in France, men of his old command wrote home letters of regret saying that his presence was greatly missed. Lieutenant Welch was the most popular officer in the battalion, they said, and always was keenly alert to the comfort of his men.

Lieut. Welch held a ten and a 15-year service medal and held a marksmanship medal for 11 years, a sharp-shooter's medal two years and an expert's medal one year. Altogether he served 18 years with E company.

Lieut. Welch was 38 years old. He leaves his mother, Mrs. Barbara Welch, three brothers, Martin J. Edward V. and Frank, and three sisters, Jane C., Mrs. Ozias Baker and Honor C.

LETTER FROM CLAIRE C. BACKUS

News Representative at Big Celebration at Washington

Quantico, Va.,
Tuesday evening

I am back in Quantico again after having a real time in Washington. Our band went to the Capitol yesterday morning to help celebrate the official ending of this "muss" over there. They had some parade too. There were four bands in line, some captured German cannons, a lot of floats and any number of soldiers, sailors and marines. I should have turned the last sentence around as the marines were the first in line and our band leading them.

We paraded from 1:30 in the afternoon until 5:15. Now, maybe you think we weren't all in. We played every piece in our band books about a dozen times and then played a number of war songs like "Over There" and "Hail Hail the Gang's All Here" by ear.

Washington was some mess. Every one was out with a horn or a tin pan or some other kind of a noise instrument. The old city sure went wild. The paper said that the celebration they had last Thursday was only a rehearsal for the one held Monday. They kept that howling up until long into the small hours of the morning.

We were supposed to go to Fredericksburg to-day to play another parade job but they postponed their celebration until to-morrow, so we got liberty in Washington from the end of the parade until 2:30 this afternoon. To-morrow we leave on the morning train for Fredericksburg to play that parade. The people around here like to see a band in uniform I guess by the way they are keeping us going.

I suppose that the old burg came too again, for a few minutes anyway when all this peace stuff took place. The war is over all right but there is no telling when I will get loose; this job of policing Europe is just the kind of thing to give the marines and I wouldn't be at all surprised if they sent me across the sea yet.

There are some fellows who would need a larger body guard than that President Wilson had Monday. The President didn't have any guard when we passed in review before him at the White House and he and the Mrs. were down on Pennsylvania Avenue in the evening in a car and he only had two men with them.

I believe I have written enough peace talk this time, but that is all the excitement there is here now to write about.

As ever,
Claire.

"THE ROSARY"

To Be Presented at the Auditorium Theatre, Andover, Next Monday Night by the Jack Lynn Stock Company

Jack Lynn and the famous Lynn Stock Company will open six night and Saturday Matinee engagement at the Auditorium Theatre Andover, starting next Monday night.

"The Rosary" the celebrated play by Edward Rose will be the offering for the first night and no theatre goer should miss the opportunity of witnessing this great play.

This production has played every city and hamlet in the United States and Canada within the past few years and is one of the very few plays that will never grow old.

Seats for the opening play should be secured well in advance for the reason that "The Rosary" never fails to draw a capacity house.

The plays and vaudeville acts will be changed every night as is customary with the Lynn Stock Company.

CARD OF THANKS

The undersigned wish to express their appreciation to friends and neighbors for kindly acts and sympathy during their recent bereavement in the death of wife and mother; also to Supt. J. H. Faisant and employees of the Andover Silk Co. for the beautiful floral tribute and memorial card.

MRS. EDGAR CARPENTER

Andover people were shocked and grieved when a message came to relatives bearing the sad news that Grace McGrath Carpenter had died at Cunja, Kan., Wednesday, November 6th.

Just one week earlier on October 30th, Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter, with their daughters, left Andover to make their future home in Cunja, Kan, where Mrs. Carpenter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McGrath, are located. They arrived at the McGrath home Friday, November 1st, and the following day she was taken ill; bronchial pneumonia developed and her death occurred Wednesday evening, Nov. 6th, at seven o'clock.

Beside her husband she leaves five little girls, the eldest eight years of age and the youngest an infant of three months, to whom she has been a most devoted mother; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McGrath, three sisters and one brother.

Mrs. Carpenter had always lived in Andover and had won a large acquaintance of loyal friends by her life of devotion to her family and kindly acts to neighbors and associates. Deceased was thirty-two years of age.

Funeral service and burial was held Friday morning, December 8th, at Cunna.

KATHERINE A. FULMER

Katherine A. Fulmer was born in Elmira Aug. 2, 1842, and died at the home of her sister, Mrs. F. D. Green of Hallsport, Thursday morning, Nov. 7th, 1918. Prior to the death of her husband about two years ago, she was a resident of Fulmer Valley. Since that time she had lived in Andover, moving only a few weeks ago from rooms in Mrs. Emma Robbin's house on Chase Street to Hallsport.

She is survived by the following children: Guy Fulmer, of Bradford City, Va.; Mrs. Edward Freeman, of Scio; Harry I. Fulmer, of Pittsburg, Pa., and George Fulmer, of Fulmer Valley.

During her residence in our village Mrs. Fulmer made many friends who deeply regret her passing.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon and interment made at Fulmer Valley.

FARM BUREAU MEETING

A meeting of the Andover members of the Farm Bureau is called for Saturday evening, at Village Hall, Nov. 16th, at 8 o'clock.

Come and bring another farmer with you. It is hoped to get some community work started for another year.

W. C. T. U

The Womans Christian Temperance Union will meet with Mrs. Clarence Clarke, this (Friday) afternoon.

Directors: Mrs. Clarke and Mrs. Frisbey.

MEXICAN MONOPOLY SQUEEZING FARMERS

American Farmers are Having to Pay Profiteering Prices for Binding Twine. It's a Regular Villa Hold-Up Game.

The price of binder twine is an important matter to the grain farmers of the United States. Interesting light on the reasons why it has soared to its present dizzy height is contained in an interview with Mr. Michael J. Smith of the firm of Hanson & Orth, fibre merchants of New York City.

"My firm has been in the fibre business for a great many years, and until the fall of 1915 was actively engaged in the importation from Yucatan of Sisal hemp, which is the material out of which approximately 90% of the binder twine used in the United States and all over the world is made.

In September 1915 General Salvador Alvarado, the military dictator of Yucatan, issued an edict proclaiming a Govrenment monopoly of the Sisal hemp business of Yucatan, which produces over 80% of the world's sisal. At the time the price of Sisal hemp in the New York market was 5¼c per pound. By a series of advances which culminated in August, 1917, the price was increased until it reached 19¼c per pound in New York. The price of binder twine necessarily followed suit.

In 1915 the less than carload price of binder twine was ... 7½c per lb.
In 1916 ... 19¾c per lb.
In 1918 ... 23¾c per lb.

The $800,000,000 represented by this advance have gone chiefly into the hands of the Yucatan governmental profiteers.

The situation was regarded by the United States Senate as so serious that in the spring of 1916, it instituted an inquiry. A mass of testimony was taken by a sub-committee of the Senate Committee on Agriculture, but a sub-committee announced its findings, which briefly stated were to the following effect:

That an oppressive monopoly exists which holds in its grasp our importations of Sisal, that it is costing American farmers many millions of dollars annually, and that the power held by this monopoly to fix prices regardless of the law of supply and demand is most dangerous. The Senate Committee urged that the Department of Justice take such action as the law and the facts warrant. In view of the fact that the American people are being forced to pay for one of the necessities of life many millions more than the fair value thereof, the committee referred the matter to the State Department with the suggestion that to be taken up thru diplomatic channels to
