KEEP YOUR MONEY IN CIRCULATION

When you keep your money in your pocket or hide it around the house, you are doing just that much to retard the industrial growth of our community--a detriment to you as well as to others.

When you keep your money in this bank it is safe, yet where it can be loaned to those who will use it in increasing and upbuilding the business of the community.

The AMOUNT of your first deposit is not so material as the fact of your making a start in the right direction.

PHIL BARRETT DIES AT FRONT

Killed in Action Oct. 14th, on the French Front. Was Among the First to Go at Country's Call. Word Received Sunday.

Word has been received by his family in Andover of the death of Private Phillip Barrett, who was killed in action on the French battle front, October 13th. He was well known here, being raised from a child to manhood in this community. He was 28 years of age.

Private Barrett enlisted at Loughtonville, N. Y., and has been in France many months, being one of the first to offer his services to his country. He was a member of Company E, 61st Infantry. Beside his wife he is survived by his aged mother, Mrs. Patrick Barrett, of this village; four brothers, Robert Barrett, of Buffalo; John Barrett, of Bartlett Pa.; Frank and George Barrett, of Andover; and three sisters, Mrs. Wm. Pardon, Miss Juha Barrett, of Andover, and Mrs. Jessie O'Brien, of Hacketstown, N. J.

Following is the story of Mr. Barrett's life, given freely to us country, as prepared by one who knew him well:

Word was received, Saturday by the aged mother, Mrs. P. Barrett, that her son, Phillip Barrett, was killed in battle in France, Oct. 13th.

Phillip Barrett was born in Andover, N. Y., May 24th, 1890. He was youngest of eight children, five boys and three girls, Mrs. Wm. Pardon, Mrs. M. F. O'Brien, Miss Julia Barrett, Robert, Frank John and George. He passed all of twenty-three years at home in Andover and served many years as altar boy at Blessed Sacrament church. Father Sheehy spoke in high respect on Sunday morning of the faithful duty he performed while altar boy, always willing and thoughtful in his duty.

All who knew Phil liked him for he was always of good nature, of a quiet disposition and "once a friend, always a friend." He worked several years in the silk mill in this place as weaver until the four years ago when he went to Fultonville, N. Y., where in September 1917 he was married to Anna Huffman.

When his country called he enlisted and spent a short time at Camp Devens, (Ayers) Mass., from there he went to France Co. E, 61st Infantry. On Oct. 14th he laid down his life to help save the world from that scourge and fiend that fell like a scourge on humanity.

Phil was a member of Hornell Lodge of Elks No. 364 B. P. O. E. where he was favorably known. He was the first member from Hornell Lodge to be killed in action and the second from his home town, Andover.

Only a short time ago his wife and mother received letters written two days before his death, stating how well and happy he was. His letter was written in reply to one that he had received a short time before announcing the death of his father who passed away on July 8th last. He had answered the call to defend his flag in the dark days from 61 to 65. Of the sad news of his father's death Phil's letter only sent home words of good cheer and sunshine to the sorrowing mother and family. His last letter was the best and brightest. Peace was creeping near and when the good news ran thru the American home and every heart like the sunshine it was the thought you'll be at last. We welcome our mother's and wife's hearts flooded with joy we will see you soon family, and then the message came, like a bolt from the sky above: "Private Phillip Barrett was killed in action in France on Oct. 13th, 1918." "He has given all."

MRS. SUSAN VANSICKLE

Mrs. Susan VanSickle, an old and highly esteemed resident of Andover, passed away as was noted briefly in last week's News, at her home in this village, on Wednesday, Nov. 21st.

Mrs. VanSickle was born in Greenwood, in December 1824, and consequently had almost reached the ripe age of 90 years. Her husband, who predeceased her by forty years, was a merchant of Andover and Mrs. VanSickle had lived in this place for the best part of a century. Always very active and industrious, for long years her loving ministrations were a blessing to many outside the circle of the immediate family, for her sympathies were large and her hand always ready to extend helpful service.

To the family of her daughter, Mrs. N. P. Brainard, she had been a second mother, and while recognizing that "grandmother" had reached the age where the parting was inevitable, they mourn her loss keenly.

Mrs. VanSickle was an earnest and faithful Christian. Converted at an early age she united with the Methodist Episcopal Church and thru all the vicissitudes of the years, thru widowhood and the loss of children, thru toils and tears, and all the varied experiences of life's changing way, she had been true to her Christian convictions and devoted to God's cause and to her church. She was the oldest member of Andover Methodist Church and of its missionary society, and to-day many people "up in years" themselves, cannot remember a time when Mrs VanSickle was not devoted and interested in all the work of the local church. A good woman, ripe in years and rich in Christian grace and virtue has changed her life for the life of eternal glory. Of her it may truly be said "She hath done what she could" and "her works do follow her."

The funeral service was held at her late home on Friday, Nov. 22nd Rev Charles Collins officiating and burial was in Hillside Cemetery.

Of immediate relatives Mrs. VanSickle leaves to mourn her departure a daughter, Mrs. N. P. Brainard, Edith and Harold Brainard, grandchildren; and Thelma and Kenneth Alvord, John Burrows and Lowell Gilbert, great-grandchildren. To them the sympathy of the community is extended.

CAPTURED BROTHER

Private Harold I. Dibbs, of the U. S. Marine Corps, in a letter written to his parents at Great Falls, Montana, tells this incident

"A strange incident happened when I went over the top. I saw one of our Marines capture his own brother, who had been put into the German army while on a visit over there. A soldier who assisted in the capture was determined to kill him, but the U. S. Marine saved the life of his brother who declared his intention of joining the American forces at once."

DR. L. C. RANDOLPH DEAD

A message received Thursday of last week announced the death that day of Dr. L. C. Randolph, of Milton, Wis. Death was caused by Spanish influenza with which he was taken ill the Sunday evening previous. A grand good man was called to his reward.

LETTERS FROM OUR MEN IN SERVICE

Letters From "Over There." Paul DeRemer and Joan Cassa Both Tell Home Folks of Interesting Happenings.

From Paul DeRemer

Oct. 9, 1918.

Dear Aunt Valeria:

I just received a letter from Ruth to-day. She wrote that you were sick and wished to hear from me.

Well I am realizing all the features of army life that one can without seeing any Boches. Of course it takes the Boches to make army life a real thing. We differ from our friends of old in that we live in barracks instead of huts and tents. There are 1-2 in our company who live in two small ground-floor, one story barracks. Every one is healthy as this mode of life has made us.

France is like home in respect to weather, cold nights, bright sun-shiney days, with sudden showers that threaten at intervals. Grapes and every thing else grow with very little cultivation; the white grape is used mostly it seems. It seems to me that they are a later and sourer grape yet they must make good wine. The little boys wear black togas so at a distance one cannot tell them from girls. The first two weeks in France we spent in a little village where we began to pick up French by talking to the children. One afternoon I was talking to a little boy and his sister. They decorated me up with yellow flowers and would hardly consent to my removing them. Flowers, however, are scarce here; one sees only a few. Trees have been planted along the sides of the roads in much the same manner as in America. In some places forests have been set out resembling lindl paper.

They are beautiful the too conventional.

The small rivers where little traffic crosses them are ferried. Tipping the ferry-man reminds one of our old toll-bridge customs. The only things that seem to be raised in large fields are grapes and hay. Potatoes, corn or "maize" as they call it, cabbage, beats and turnips are raised in ten or twelve rows crossing a field. Women, children and old men do the work.

I met an old miller one evening and he showed me thru his mill. He had a large gasoline engine for power which kept the rollers going that ground the wheat three times to make a very fine flour. The loaves of bread which the French baker cools are about three feet long and about nine inches thru the middle and taper toward the ends. Some loaf I believe you'll admit! A loaf cos's 38c.

The roads are nearly all macadamized. They look old and have stood the little traffic to which they have been summoned very well. French wagons are of the two-wheel sort and no heavy loads have warped the road.

The good looking fellow in the picture I sent you is Frank Ignasiak (Ig-na-she-ak) (a as in ba a Polander, from Detroit. We don't think that we brought that ball with us. I'm getting used to our French camp but, I don't care anything about hitting the ocean again. I received one letter speaking of danger on the waves. Well, I don't think that worried any one except those responsible for the safety of the men on the boat. The men at the guns were fellows that I would hate to trust in a close place. Yet we never feared anything and cared little about trying to realize our danger.

In this life one grows hard and tough and cares not what hap-

MUST NOW ENROLL FOR SCHOOL AND WORK

Proclamation of New York's Governor Springs Questionaire on School. Must Have Certificate to Attend School or Work.

Albany, Nov. 19.—Every boy in New York State, sixteen, seventeen or eighteen years of age, is summoned to enroll for military training under the State Military Law in order that he may legally attend school or be employed, by a proclamation issued to-day by Governor Charles S. Whitman. At the same time the State Military Training Commission, consisting Brigadier Gen. George D. Dyer chairman; Dr. George J. Fisher, physical secretary, International Young Men's Christian Association and Dr. Thomas E. Finegan, deputy state commissioner made public preliminery plans for the enrollment, which will be conducted December 3 by the school teachers of the state at all public school houses.

The Governor's proclamation follows:

WHEREAS, The Military Law of the State of New York provides that all boys above the age of sixteen years and not over the age of nineteen years shall be given such military training as the Military Training Commission of the State may prescribe; and

WHEREAS, With the coming of peace the varied training contemplated by this act becomes more important than ever thru its interpretation as a universal selective training program instilling in our youth a sense of responsibility to the state in time of peace as well as in time of war and preparing them to meet this responsibility intelligently and effectively, not only thru the lessons of good hygiene, correct personal bearing, discipline and obedience to properly constituted authority, so prominent in military drill, but also by emphasizing the importance of vocational training which may be of service to the state; and

WHEREAS, The Military Training Commission is required to issue to each boy complying with the law, in order that he may legally attend school or be employed, a certificate stating that such boy is enrolled for military training and is meeting the requirements of the law as to such training; and

WHEREAS, The Military Training Commission has prepared to enroll boys and issue certificates on December 3rd;

NOW, THEREFORE, I Charles S. Whitman, Governor of the State of New York, do hereby designate Tuesday, December 3rd, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 9 p. m., as a time when all boys sixteen, seventeen and eighteen years of age shall appear in person at the nearest public school-house to enroll and be credited with compliance with the military law of the State.

The enrollment will be carried out with the co-operation of the State Department of Education, the Military Training Commission announced in accordance with the preliminery plans, teachers will be ready in every public school house to enroll the boys of the community who fall within the age limits of the so-called military training law. Each boy enrolling will be called upon to answer a series of questions and under the law, he must possess before he can legally attend school or be employed.

The information which will be obtained from the enrollment blank will give the Bureau of Technical Military Training of the Military Training Commission all the data necessary for the extension of the technical military drill and work in parts of the state not now covered by training units, where further arrangements for drill space can be made.

The enrollment blank will also furnish the Bureau of Vocational Training the information it needs in order to pass upon the military training equivalency of work in which boys of these ages are engaged thruout the state. This data is needed in order that the Military Training Commission may comply with that section of the military training law which provides that the training required of the boys may be met in part by vocational training or experience which will specifically prepare the boys for service useful to the state in the maintenance of defense, the promotion of public safety, the development of the state's resources, and the construction and maintenance of public improvements.

WILLIAM WORKS WAS KILLED NEAR HORNELL

Motorcycle Runs Into Goff Concrete Bridge. Death Was Instantaneous. Wife and child in Side Car Not Seriously Injured

William Works was instantly killed Monday morning as he with his wife and child were on their way to Hornell on a motorcycle, his head hitting the concrete side of the Goff bridge. The road was a little slippery as he made the sharp curve leading on the bridge the motorcycle skidded and it was all over.

Mr. and Mrs. Works were going to Hornell to pack their household goods preparatory to moving to Olean, where he had a position in the Pennsylvania railroad freight office.

Mrs. Works and son were thrown over the bridge. They picked themselves up, and the first intimation she had of Mr. Work's injuries was that blood began to flow down on her. She rushed to the place where her husband lay with the machine on top of him. She could not remove it.

Help was quickly summoned from a neighboring farm house and the injured man was placed in a car and taken to Hornell, but died before reaching the city.

Numerous accidents have happened on this bridge. The curve so short that it has to be negotiated with much care and at very slow speed. Persons who are unfamiliar with the road frequently have narrow escapes.

Besides his widow and son Mr. Works is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Works, a sister, Mrs. Ella Burke, and three brothers, Edson, Harry and Hugh all living at Andover.

All that medical skill and professional care could avail was brought to bear in a vain attempt to save her life.
