By Hamilton B. Williams

God could not have honored us more than by making Eternal Life the capacity of His children.

Consequently when a person determines to realize himself he is watching the courtesy of God in like kind.

The presence of Jesus among men was an exquisite piece of neighboring on God's part. Filled with the life of God he showed the possibility of the eternal life by demonstration. Eternal Life is quality-life. It has four dimensions. It will be everlasting for journey's end — self-realization — is the goal.

Built into us is the dauntless faith that demands therefore across all stars, and will be content only when God serves the trend of life.

But the process of eternal life begins here and has to do with the simple matters. There is an "eternal-life-howdye," quite different from any other kind of greeting. God's voice is to be heard. There's an "eternal-life-book" full of radiance. One never forgets a love-look. There's an "eternal-life-way" of saying and doing — and they have the would have been the experience of the transfiguration mountain if the friends who witnessed the shining soul of Jesus had failed to see the neighbor who waited at the foot of the hill. All dreams and visions that are born from above give us keen perception of the needs of folks down here below.

If we are big enough to do the simple courtesies of the every day, to stop to speak a word of courage and cheer, to give a lift, to praise a fine endeavor, to dig to the hearts of folks, to carry always a lighted torch, to be practicing everywhere on our flute of hope, to be everlastingly on the lookout for the way out of difficulties, to be concerned as we are of our own blood-relations, in the fortunes of every person, if we can live this earth-life in a superior way, there can be no doubt of our being on the road to Eternal Life.

This world's an unblazed, mist-dimmed trail,— a phase
Of Being. Forward's through a swirl of ways,
With clamoring prophets: 'This is Truth's Shrine;'
'Bring here your clay; Hither's the Plan Divine.'
Oh . . . . 'precious hands must mar a thousand shards
For one in which to pour life's precious nards —
But that which falls from broken cups earth's fields
Makes red; and rich the fruit it yields:
How sweet the flower that blooms of a mother's loss;
What healing leaves grow on the Lord Christ's Cross.
Where the thousand roads converge God stands,
And takes our vessels in His kindly Hands.
How marred the work 't will be gem set . . . who hears?
If our contrite hearts have naught but gifts of tears,

HERE'S PROOF

An Andover Citizen Tells of His Experience

You have a right to doubt statements of people living far away but can you doubt Andover endorsement?

Read it:

A. Howland, highway commissioner, Barney St., says: "I do a great deal of heavy lifting and I think this strained my back and affected my kidneys. Often when in a stooped position, I could hardly straighten because of a sharp pain which caught me in the small of my back. The kidney secretions were unnatural, too. As another of the family had used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results, I took a box, which I got at the Brundage Drug Co., and they relieved me in every way."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills — the same that Mr. Howland had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL

A two-day agricultural school is to be held in the Town Hall, Belmont, Tuesday and Wednesday January 21st and 22nd. This will be under the joint direction of the International Harvester Company, Allegany County Farm Bureau Assn., and the Local Grange. There will be a session in the morning and afternoon of each day and in the evening there will be motion pictures on some agricultural subject.

This school is absolutely free and every one in the county is invited to attend. There will be a special woman speaker who will talk to the women on Home Subjects.

A lot of tasks are shortened and made easier to-day for the readers and answerers of want ads.

TRACTOR SCHOOL

A five-day tractor school will be held at Hornell during the week of January 27th, for the benefit of Allegany County farmers. This school is conducted by the New York State Food Commission in co-operation with the College of Agriculture, the Farm bureau and the various tractor companies. Any farmer who already owns a tractor or who contemplates buying one would do well taking advantage of this school. There will be two lectures each day and the rest of the time will be spent in the shop in actual work on tractors.

An entrance fee of $1.00 is required of all students. This will be refunded to anyone attending every session of the school. Plans should be made for board and rooms as the work will take all one's time after the course begins. The registration fee may be sent to the Farm Bureau office at Belmont.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weaknesses and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is Unloaded in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages.

SAY, you'll have a streak of smokeluck that'll put pep-in-your-smokemotor, all right, if you'll ring-in with a jimmy pipe or cigarette papers and nail some Prince Albert for packing!

Just between ourselves, you never will wise-up to high-spot-smoke-joy until you can call a pipe by its first name, then, to hit the peak-of-pleasure you find square on that two-fisted-man-tobacco, Prince Albert!

Well, sir, you'll be so all-fired happy you'll want to get a photograph of yourself breezing up the pike with your smokethrottle wide open! Talk about smoke-sport!

Quality makes Prince Albert so appealing all along the smoke line. Men who never before could smoke a pipe and men who've smoked pipes for yeafs all testify to the delight it hands out! P. A. can't bite or parch! Both are cut out by our exclusive patented process!

Right now while the going's good you get out your old jimmy pipe or the papers and land on some P. A. for what ails your particular smokeappetite!

You buy Prince Albert everywhere you happen to call. Tinned red hexagon tins, pound and half pound; pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moistener top that keeps the tobacco in good perfect condition.

OUR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Events of Interest From the Seat of Government by the News Special Correspondent, J. E. Jones.

ARE WE SMART YANKEES?

Washington, D. C.—It is a national trait to admit our greatness—we are convinced of it. Yet, the news that trickles thru to Washington indicates that President Wilson found his "cards stacked" when he arrived in Europe. The French, for whom we have shown more enthusiasm, than we ever credited "enthusiastic Frenchmen" with, have broken the news to the world that the archaic "balance of power" plan will suit them for readjustment purposes. Clemenceau offers a chilly view the politicians of England are sure that the world will never be safe for democracy unless they have the biggest fleet in the world. The President has been breaking the news to them gently, that this notion of theirs is not approved on this side of the waters, and Secretary Daniels, here at home, is loudly preaching the gospel that the United States can build more ships than any other country in the world. If someone must have the biggest navy, then let us be that "someone" declares Mr. Daniells.

A League of Nations apparently appeals to the masses in all countries, but we smart Yankees will have to admit that the European politicians are making the carrying out of this plan very difficult. President Wilson, by his "swing around the circle," has been winning the world, but the European politicians are giving ground grudgingly.

Aside from international problems there is another distinct side of "re-construction," and in the total analysis the trouble with "we smart Yankees" is that we haven't gone very far on the job. Thousands of men are being held in the training camps because the military authorities insist that the war is not over. Great groups of men needed in industrial vocations are chalking up time because of half-baked "officers-quarters" philosophy that there is danger of "industrial disturbances." The great cities that have sprung up in the night, and the masses of men that have inhabited them, have suddenly become a grave problem, and we smart Yankees are apparently "stumped."

Of such conditions Bolsheviks are born.

That "Wake Up, America" Stuff

About three years ago Great Britain began figuring out what they would do with their camps and soldiers when they were no longer needed for the war. The Ministry of Reconstruction was created. It developed into the Committee on Reconstruction and the work has been organized on a plan commensurate with the problem. Need we remind ourselves that "knocking the President," at every attempt he has made to do something constructive has constituted the greater part of the official "victories of peace" uptodate.

Trade development apparently rests on interviews with Mr. Hurley, who is in Europe; Mr. McAdoo has nearly smothered Mr. Carter Glass by dropping the mantle of finance on his shoulders; raw materials are still the delight of Washington press agents; Mr Garfield kindly released coal as a "theory" and upon his resignation resumed its place among the commodities of the nation. Power and utilities are still in their death throes, and it is not surprising that the Brooklyn street railway system has gone the receivership route, with the rest of the New York City railways declaring that unless they receive relief that they will go the same way. Labor and employmnet affairs are receiving little in the way of history, since with free government offices, and a shortage of men due to idle camp life, the problems that must be met remain quite undisturbed. Even that "wake up, America" stuff that we had a couple of years ago has apparently gone into hiding, but it ought to be trotted forth in the interest of industry and commerce.

Competition the Life of the Game

Mr. McAdoo made it so plain that the railroad employees that "the old conditions of private management" were not nearly as good for them as benevolent control under his administration, and consequently the employees in the express business are trying to get in out of the wet under his basic eight hour day, and his high wage schedules, in order that they may be among the favored employees of the United States whose affairs have been recognized as a permanent condition; whereas the measures in their behalf were clearly instituted entirely for the period of the war. Mr. McAdoo maintains a board that investigates wages and working conditions, and nine separate unions representing themselves as the organizations of the express employees recently appeared before this board, each claiming the authority to speak for the 100,000 men employed in handling the business thruout the country. One of these particular organizations is composed of more than one-half of all employees and likely because it is so representative it developed that it was the particular aversion of the other eight so-called labor unions. The representatives of the various "organizations" were conflicting and contradictory, except that they introduced competitive wage proposals, and when the top notch was reached all the rest agreed, and a joint claim was made for the amounts named in the highest figures. The labor board declined to recognize any of the unions, in the representation of which there appeared lawyers, teamsters, railway clerks, and professional organizers, each adding to the clamor of the demand for "more." Notwithstanding the Railroad Administration's policy of taking all its employees under its protecting wing, the labor board declined to be stampeded by the promoters of labor-organizing plans.

Rights of Employers and Employees

In the hearings before Mr. McAdoo's labor board with reference to wages among express employees it appeared as tho the employers themselves entertained the most liberal ideas with reference to the rights of labor to organize that were expressed. The company took the position that it favors the organization of its employees into labor unions, and the Brotherhood of American Railway Express Employees was commended by it. The similar manner the established brotherhood which represent the bona fide interests of the railroads are in favor among the company officials, as well as with the Government. But the exploitation of both labor and capital in the name of irrational organized labor or that other branch of extremists who constitute a body of employers who strenuously oppose labor organizations of every kind, represent a phase in our national life that has become outlawed by more progressive policies and principles.

On a single day last August the National War Labor Board handed down twenty-two decisions in electric railway cases, that were startling in the extreme, inasmuch as they established a wage scale thruout the country ranging from 35 to 75 per cent. higher than existing rates. In the face of this serious condition confronting public service concerns, and demanding immediate action, there has followed the unfair tendency on the part of many public men to dodge coming little in the way of increased revenue by reading lessons to the utility owners or manufacturers to sell their product at the prices of twelve or fifteen years ago, and do not twit them upon their bad management of their affairs because they cannot live up to the old prices."

Demobolizing a Mobbed Town

Whether it was because of dissatisfaction with their pay does not appear in the list of reasons why so many "dollar-a-year-men" began packing their bags, and leaving Washington immediately upon the signing of the armistice. Nevertheless there has been a tremendous shrinking in this class of help, but this fact does not indicate that Washington has any jobs open along these lines. The purchase of supplies having been largely discontinued, the need for many employees has ceased to exist; and a great many of these were told that they might go. Many of the war workers have been in Washington but a few weeks and their salaries have not been sufficient to pay their traveling expenses back and forth between their homes and the Capital. The extra hundred thousand employees almost mobbed the town, which is now to be demobolized.—

Weekly Health Talks

A WORD ABOUT THE KIDNEYS

BY DOCTOR WATSON.

People are easily frightened when they think something is the matter with their lungs or heart, and well they may be; but few people understand the dangers of diseased kidneys. These organs have a duty of vital importance to perform, and if they are diseased, there is no telling how or where the symptoms may appear. The kidneys are filters, and when they are healthy they remove the poisons from the blood and purify it. When the kidneys are diseased, the poisons are spread everywhere, and one of these poisons is uric acid. The uric acid is carried all through the system and deposited in various places, in the form of urate salts—in the feet, ankles, wrists and back—often forming bags under the eyes. Sometimes the resulting trouble is called rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica and backache. Finally, come stone in the bladder, diabetes and Bright's disease.

Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., in recent years, discovered that a certain combination of remedies would dissolve uric acid (urate salts) in the system. He found this combination to be harmless, so that he made it up in tablets, of double strength, and called them Anuric Tablets. They dissolve uric acid in the human system as hot coffee dissolves sugar. If you have uric acid troubles, don't delay in taking Anuric Tablets, which can be secured in the drug stores. You can write Dr. Pierce, too, and he will tell you what to eat and how to live so that more uric acid will not form in your system. Dr. Pierce will not charge for this advice.
