And at the end of the day we shall take our little sheaf of poor gathering—unto the mercy of God.

It is that which comforts and sustains thru the desert of the years.

Come unto me ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest.

It is that which we are receiving all the way alike we do not sense it, do not thank the Comforter. But as a friend who loves to the end, He will go with us always.

He speaks thru many voices, lifts by many hands, safeguards by many bulwarks, spurs by many couriers, befriends by many providences.

Somewhere

(6s 4s 8l. Margaretting)

Waters of Babylon
Shadowed and drear.
How can we sing who bide
Desolate here?
Still, hopes rise up with dawn,
Sing with the lark;
Brave, dreams range 'yond the stars
Behind the dark.

What if misfortune be
Unwelcome guest
Waters of Babylon,
Still there is rest.
What if toil's wage be dust,
Burdens road's toil;
Stronger whatever come
Are thou, my soul.

Somewhere a garden nests,
By river's calm;
And there 's the Tree of Life's
Healing and balm
Many the mansions there;
None lacks a bed.
Wide are the meadow-lands,
Sweet and flodded.

No need of light of sun,
God is the light;
None mourns a friend afar,
There is no night.
None mourns a friend afar,
All journeying thru
And all the dreams of time
There shall come true.

Songs shall not turn to sighs,
None dreads or fears,
Life's chalice fills the cups
Of empty years.
Somewhere a river flows
And gardens neat;
Somewhere is Tree of Life's
Healing and rest.

Tid Bits from Our School

The Cadet Corps Unit expect to present an entertainment soon given by Corporal Rose, a Canadian veteran.

Thru the courtesy of Congress-Hamilton seeds are being distributed this week thruout the school.

Ralph Q. Smith, of Belmont, visited school Thursday and delivered a lecture on the farm project.

A Camp Fire Society has been organized with Miss Strickland as guardian. There are sixteen members, eight High School and eight from Miss Ainsworth's room.

The Seniors have a great weight off their minds. Their long themes have been handed in.

Fishing season has opened. Perhaps that accounts for the absence of some of the members of High School.

Friday of last week the girls who carry their lunches gave a dinner party. They had several warm dishes prepared and enjoyed by the girls. About fourteen took part in it.

Another similar dinner was given on Wednesday of this week. The girls are interested in cooking warm food for their lunches, instead of having cold one as previously.

At drill Tuesday night the Cadet boys were fully equipped with rifles for the first time. William Farley drilled the boys on Tuesday evening.

Health charts have been introduced in the grades. A record is kept of each child as follows: clean teeth, clean faces, clean hands, clean fingernails, clean shoes, sleeping with windows open. The children also keep booklets telling what they do before and after school in the way of recreation. This should raise the efficiency of the children by promoting good health.

A new scheme for thrift is now in progress. When a child brings a cent, credit is given him in a stamp book. There are twenty-four spaces in the book. When these are all filled the child brings another cent and gets a thrift stamp. This method encourages saving among the youngsters and should be continued.

Lyle Richardson had the misfortune to fall downstairs on Wednesday when he was leaving the school building at noon, and broke his collar-bone and sprained his wrist. He was back in the afternoon however, with his usual cherry smile. Hard luck, Floppy!

WOMEN TO ... VICTORY LOAN ...

Professionals and Amateurs Will Form Camera Battery to Help Sell Notes.

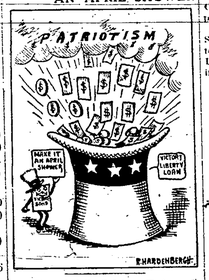
If you don't like to have your picture taken, look out for the women camera sharpshooters of the great Victory Loan army which is mobilizing for its next drive. The camera is going to play a vital part in the new campaign. Every professional woman photographer, as well as those with whom photography is merely a hobby, will be enlisted until the end of the Loan drive. Every woman's activity of the campaign will be picturized by them, and will constitute a great mass of impressive and interesting material which will tell the story of what you and i and the next woman are doing to fulfill our contract with "the boys."

To put this undertaking on a working basis, Women's Victory Loan Camera Clubs are in process of organization all over the State. In New York City the club already has been formed with Mrs. Walter L. Ehrich, a celebrated portrait photographer as its chairman. The membership of this club is representative of the best in professional photography and includes also many amateurs who have exhibited noteworthy work. The idea of the club is not to interfere in any way with the professional or regular channels for obtaining photographic publicity for the Victory Loan, but merely to supplement it.

The object of the club is to secure photographs of Women's Loan activities of every possible sort and in every city, town and hamlet of the State. Any work or any worker that helps a woman buy a Victory bond, sell a Victory bond or save to finance the Victory Loan is an eligible subject for the Woman's Victory Loan Camera Club.

A woman ploughing up her garden in order to raise her own vegetables, so that she may save money with which to buy bonds, will be considered as a good pictorial news assignment for instance. The club members not only will take pictures on assignments furnished them through the various Victory Loan Committees in their towns, but will furnish material in their wide activities in business, social, educational, literary and political life.

LET'S MAKE IT AN APRIL SHOWER



The All-Reaching Drive.

The starfish scuttled out of the sea and rested upon the wet sand.

"Good morning," said the fiddler crab. "What brings you into shore?"

"Only one thing," said the other, sitting up as the spume tossed by. "I read about these Victory Notes in the Mermaid News and came in to buy one if I can find anybody selling them."

"Much obliged," said the fiddler crab, at the same time producing a subscription blank from his waistcoat pocket. Sign here."

And in less than a fifty the first payment had been made, and the patriotic little fellow was on his way back to his Atlantic estate.

The Hatter Makes Good.

Before he went to war he was manager of a hat store in Third avenue, New York City. Automatic in hand, he stood in No Man's Land, guarding a wounded marine, fighting an enemy patrol. Two Germans fell, the rest fled. The Gotham hatter picked up his comrade and hurried him to shelter.

For this they gave him the Distinguished Service Cross. It is the proudest possession of Albert Meyer of the Sixth Regiment of Marines, Seventy-ninth Company. It occupies an even higher place in his affections than the Prussian helmet he took from a Hun guardsman who tried to bayonet him. There are some $20,000 of Liberty Bonds in Albert Meyer's family. There will be some Victory Notes, too.

Carter Glass Says—

"Four Liberty Loans have gone over the top' and nothing nor anybody can shake my faith in the purpose of the country to put the capstone to the splendid structure of national credit by making the Victory Loan an abundant success."

Perfect Timing Determines Engine Flexibility

On the precise accuracy of camshaft operation depends the engine's instant response to the slightest regulation of spark or throttle—its flexibility for loafing in traffic or "jumping" the car ahead.

To maintain this perfect rythm and harmony of valve and ignition mechanism requires correct lubrication—camshaft bearings cushioned against wear and in perfect alignment—cams, gears and tappets working easily and with absolute accuracy. It's the kind of lubrication you get with

Corporal Bagged Ten Foes.

There were 27 men who came back from the charge. The rest of the 150 men in D Company, 106th Regiment, of the 27th Division, lay on the battlefield. Ahead of one of the survivors, as he marched in, walked ten Germans, the ergotiable "bag" of Corp. Harry S. Close, whose bayonet prodded them to the Yankee line.

Corporal Close got the Distinguished Service Cross. Now he's getting ready to go after subscribers for the Victory Liberty Loan. He will hear watching!

MARY'S LITTLE NOTE.

Mary bought a Victory Note,
It made her proud, you know;
And everywhere that Mary went
That Note was sure to go.

She carried it to school one day
(Twas not against the rule),
And made the children stamp and clap
To see a Note in school.

Did Teacher put Miss Mary out?
No, Teacher bought one, too;
Now every child that goes to school
Owns Notes and so should you.

Carter Glass Says—

"The American people should supplement the patriotism of war by the patriotism of peace."

THRIFTOGRAMS

Those who have never had money are the ones who spend more than they can afford.

The faith that moves mountains is the faith that gets a steam shovel instead of that old hoe. Time-saving and labor-saving is what you want. The thing that saves his time is what every business man wants.

THE VICTORY LOAN.

Oh, do we hear the groan—
"Here comes another loan!"
And do we say it's funny
That they should need more money?
For if we do we've lots to learn,
And with ourselves should be more stern.

Short notes we're asked to buy,
We can do it if we try:
And we should pay the debt we owe
For the cost of conquering the foe.
Our money will be so secure—
Our fears of poverty will be fewer!
—Mary Graham Bonner.

CO-OPERATION PLAN IS SUPPORTED

The directors for the new League Co-operative Association have been waiting a few days to hear from the local branches of the League, to find out whether it is meeting with approval. Hundreds of branches have held meetings and have already reported to headquarters, and a very great majority of these have adopted the plan unanimously. As soon as a majority of branches have acted on the plan the Board of Directors will send material and instructions to each branch for organizing.

A bill was introduced in the legislature by Senator Thompson and Assemblyman Youker, which would require the erection on each side of all grade crossings of warning signs that would be visible at night.

An early labor shortage of 5,000,000 men in this country was predicted by Abraham I. Elkus, former ambassador to Turkey, and chairman of the state reconstruction commission, at the annual meting in New York of the Social Division of the Free Synagogue.

The so-called investment companies, organized to do an international banking business by promoting the nation's trade, are becoming an important factor in the banking system of New York state, according to George L. Skinner, state superintendent of banks.

GERMAN DYES TABOORD

German hopes of reconquering the American dye market were given a knockout blow March 29th, when the Alien Property Custodian served notice on users of dyes, chemicals, fertilizers and other product originated by Teuton science that importations from Germany hereafter would be subject to prosecution as infringement of patents licensed under the trading with the enemy act for use by American manufacturers.

Possibility of dumping a great surplus stock, which Germany was reported to have accumulated with the intention of underselling and perhaps stifling the infant American industries in the same lines, thus has been blocked effectually before shipments could begin.

Government officials regard the decision as of far reaching importance to business in this country.

FROM A CAVALEY OFFICER'S LETTER

October 9, 1918.

On my way up to the advance P. C. (Post of Command) yesterday, part way up the whole column stopped and I went forward to see what the trouble was. A boche shell had fallen in the middle of an artillery train, killed the driver and three horses and never touched the other three or injured the caisson. The artillery horses are so well trained they never move at shelling or at some of the teams being killed. The three who were untouched never moved when the shell exploded right on top of them and the other three dropped in the harness just stood until the dead ones were cut loose and three others put in their places, and then started forward again.

THE WEATHER

Weather and Crop Conditions by U. S. Department of Agriculture

The week ending April 8, 1919 was characterized by moderate temperature, deficient sunshine, and precipitation somewhat below the normal.

During the first half of the week the ground was covered with snow which fell during the severe storm of March 27-28th, and farm work was at a standstill. By the middle of the week, however, the snow had practically disappeared and work was resumed.

Winter grain and meadows are in good condition. No damage to fruit was reported, the cold weather of late March probably being beneficial as it retarded the development of fruit buds. The flow of maple sap continued, and the sugar crop is reported as being above the average.

Professor of Meterology.
