Of the Governors of the 37 States 29 are Republicans and 8 Democrats.

Miss Jenny Lind is so embarrassed in her pecuniary affairs that she thinks of opening a singing school in Paris.

If all the ladies went to China it is said that the gentlemen would immediately go to Pekin.

A sign on an eating house on the New Jersey railroad says: Coffee and fresh hot eggs by Mrs. Jones.

A negro lawyer named Morris L. Chester, from Pennsylvania, was admitted to the English bar on the 30th ult.

The Postmaster General has accepted the offers of the agents of the Cunard and Inman steam lines for carrying the European mails.

The Steamship Great Republic from China, which arrived at San Francisco on Tuesday, brought thirteen hundred Chinese passengers, and a large cargo, including seven thousand five hundred packages of tea.

Give me a pound of oysters, said a man to an oyster vendor who was going by. I will buy no more, not by weight, replied the oysterman. They give me a pound of them, said the man. The vendor shook his head dubiously as he passed on.

Miss Olive Logan, applying for a position as an examiner of a life insurance company, replied to the question as to the system on which she practiced, The lunatic system.

Had a description of the man and the lion, when the man got off with all his might, and the lion with all his mane, attained the name of whimsical absurdity.

A temperance lecture was asked, If water was the sides of your boots, what effect must it have on the cost of your stomach?

A man in Somerset county, Penn., adopted the novel idea of committing suicide by eating annise root, an article used by farmers for killing vermin on sheep. He found it a heavy root for the stomach, and he belloved for the faculty and an emetic.

Miss Olive Logan having spirited her dramatic necessity at Leavenworth, Kansas, a local paper says:—The lady she has so lately abandoned for and lost, has the reward of worm, and the withdrawal of her own support and all more added on her soul.

The notorious Shanghai Holden, the proprietor of the John Allen, who was arrested at Jersey City in his way to New York, was taken to New York for grand larceny. The jury did not leave their seats.

A lady from West a holy teacher was shown a class of juveniles in a moral atmosphere. She commended the question:—If you buy a new pair of shoes, do you give a little to the poor?—Why, no, replied the lady, I give a row for the poor, but I do not give the other side, and she was a regular old scrub at that.
