Sign Boards on the Up-road

By Hamilton B. Williams

When Jean Val-Jean decided to allow an innocent man to suffer in his stead, Hugo says his soul burst forth into laughter, deep-laughter. Val Jean justified his action by a hundred specious arguments, none good because all insulted the Conscience. And when he bludgeoned Conscience, he bludgeoned Joy.

For Conscience and Joy jointly occupy the inmost sanctuary of life.

The possession of Joy is evidence of being in tune with the Laws of the Spirit. It is God's seal of presence. Life is a matter of orchestration with certain eternal principles. Joy is the resultant of harmony with God.

Paul, master analyst, designates Love, Joy, Peace, Goodness, Gentleness, Kindness, Faithfulness, Self-Mastery as the evidence of relation with God.

These are the Landmarks of Life. We may know our location in the universe by reference to them.

These are the vitalities of a true religious experience. Positive qualities, all; permanent, beautiful, of the family of truth.

The emphasis of Jesus' teaching is Joy.

Jesus is the true life-type; full statured, very vital, not the pale Galilean whose breath hath made gray the world," as Swinburne sang wrongly. The ghostly Christ is not the "express image of God," is not a "God-filled man." If Jesus we see manifestlives overcoming all things, achieving the glory of life on lifting roads. Life is not ghostly.

"See the Christ stand," this is Browning's way of showing them to be life's complete equation.

A true life projects a God-dynamized personality into all of life's affairs. A personality composed of the positive principles will be the service one may render. There is no other way.

Certain caricatures of manhood and womanhood do a vast damage to true religion. A. C. Benson sets forth the cad and pharisee type as glaring caricatures of religion. The pharisee is the cad tinctured with puritanism. The cad has one point of view — his. He stupidly believes that is the only point of view. He lacks imagination, lacks vision, lacks flexibility. What he thinks he says. It is true because he thinks it. He makes trouble by peddling his distorted estimates of people. He is the pessimist who finds all conditions very bad. The cad is the stupid, I-am-always-right-sort.

The pharisee is he who makes his own tastes, ideas and traditions the standard. If one dissents from him, one is very wicked, benighted, pitiable. Whatever he does not seem right is necessarily very sinful. His manner of life he feels must be made the manner for all. If he wears evening clothes at dinner, those who do not are sloppy and uncouth. If he does not wear evening clothes those who do are showy. What he likes is good; what he does not like is very bad. He harps on principles and bludgeons his acquaintances with these same. He is a joy-killer, being always horribly and painfully "right." The pharisee is a tyrant, and therefore opposed to adventure and discovery. He fears freedom. He is sure different is wrong. The new is anathema.

It speaks well of God to know that when He sent an Interpreter He sent a gentleman. God's Word (thought, world-dream) became fleshed in Jesus who was the incarnation of courtesy.

And for the Joy set before Him, He endured the cross. That could not stop our joyous Man from His quests. He served the world by projecting a personality luminous with good cheer, serene with a vast optimism, poised perfectly because He knew that God is a Father and that mankind is on the uproad.

He went through the world—friendly. That is His credential as a Messenger from God.

Let us pray with Robert L. Stevenson: "Give us to awaken with smiles; give us to labor smiling, and as the sun lightens the world so let our loving kindness make bright this house of our habitation."

Let us pray with Socrates: "God make us beautiful within."

And we may know the prayers of Jesus by His words and deeds. Let the sick, the lame, the blind, the down-and-out, the despised of the Pharisee, the hated of the exclusionists, the oppressed, the discouraged, the poor interpret the prayers of the Carpenter.

They would be the prayers of a friend and neighbor who gave a lift along the trails.

He came to give His friends the best in the universe. He gave them themselves and God. "My Joy"...this is the Master's fine courtesy..."My Peace"..."the more abundantly."

HORNELL FAIR

The list of special attractions and exhibits at the Great Hornell Fair to be held week after next is the largest known in the history of the fair. They are of exceptional variety and quality and can only be mentioned in limited space. The U. S. Army will have an exhibit of equipment, material and captured booty accompanied by a party of eight recruiting officers. The New York State exhibits will be in charge of the Syracuse College of Forestry, the Alfred School of Agriculture, the Department of Health and the Commission for the Blind, with a blind stenographer and typist and several blind artisans. The County Farm Bureaus and various breeders clubs will have extensive exhibits including several herd, of exceptionally fine Holstein, Ayrshire and Guernsey Cattle. The most interesting and popular will be agricultural and school work displays by 10 Rural Schools and the Hornell City Schools. The auto show and the merchants exhibits will be exceptionally fine and all exhibits in the Main Building will be shown under electric lights. These special exhibits are all in addition to the regular exhibits shown for premiums. The attractions include three harness races and one running race every day, three acrobatic troupes and two exhibitions by a fleet of three Curtiss Aeroplanes performing all the stunts known to aviation. It will be the biggest ever seen in this section.

At this time when bees are at their busiest, those who are interested may want a copy of "Beginnings in Beekeeping," which will be sent from Cornell for the asking. Write to the college of Agriculture at Ithaca for R. C. F. 133.

If all stores, except advertised stores, were to move away from town in one day, the town would not suffer any great deprivation.

NERVOUS SICK HEADACHES

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought Relief The First Day He Tried Them.

MR. C. E. BESWICK

150 Caroline Ave., Ogdensburg, N.Y.

"I suffered a great deal for three or four years with Nervous Sick Headache and Dyspepsia. Had to take two to four soda powders every other day. Tried doctors—ate bran gems—took all kinds of remedies—but nothing did me good until I used 'Fruit-a-tives', or Fruit Liver Tablets.

I was relieved the first day I used them. They made me well and keep me well, and I am always glad to tell people of the great things 'Fruit-a-tives' have done for me.

I have many friends in Ogdensburg now using 'Fruit-a-tives' on my recommendation".

Canisteo

(From the Canisteo Times)

Miss Nellie Morey fell on the side walk in East Main street Friday evening and broke her arm and sprained her ankle. The fracture was set by Dr. P. D. Williamson.

After having been without street lights for 15 months and five days, complete electric lighting service was restored in Canisteo last night under the new franchise granted J. H. Anderson and associates in the Up-To-Date Advertising Co.

Terius V. Moore died suddenly on Friday at his home in Depot street from a stroke of apoplexy, which he suffered soon after dinner. Friday while down in the cellar fixing the coal. He came up stairs and laid down on the floor, then went down cellar again where he had another bad spell.

According to present plans the sale of the New York & Pennsylvania Railway property will be made to the new company at once and immediate steps will be taken to organize the new company and begin the extensive work of rehabilitating the line so that it will be running in time to move the fall produce.

On Monday evening, a complete birthday surprise was given Mrs. Perry Stephens, when her Sunday school class walked in and took possession of her home while she was out. Delicious refreshments were served by the young ladies and the evening was spent with music. The guests were all escorted home by auto.

Monday morning when Doris Whiting, daughter of Mr and Mrs. G. L. Whiting, took their washing to Mrs. Lydia Brown of 26 East Academy street, she found the screen door locked, but looked in and saw Mrs. Brown lying on the floor. She telephoned to her father who came and discovered that Mrs. Brown was dead. He called Dr. Preston and after an examination they decided that death was caused by heart disease, to which she had been subject for years. She was about 70 years old and lived in Canisteo for many years.

A number of important changes have been made in the route of the state road from Canisteo to Greenwood by the surveyors who have been laying out the route and taking the grades and elevations for the 1.59 miles to be let this summer with the $67,000, which is now all that the new highway commissioner, Frederick S. Greene, will allow for this most necessary road. The most prominent changes made are those involved in moving the highway back away from the creek so as to eliminate two large bridges between Canisteo and Greenwood, one at the Bassett farm and the other at the Coston farm. The road has been laid out up along the hillside on an easy grade and both bridges are entirely eliminated.

When a store bargain is interesting enough to advertise, it's quite likely to be interesting enough to investigate.

Whitesville

(From the Whitesville News.)

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Crittenden announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Myrtle, to Patrick J. Butler of Hornell. The wedding will occur in the near future.

It is good news to all to know that Willard Ainsworth continues to gain slowly. He is gradually regaining his power of speech and otherwise improves.

Mrs. H. I. Chattin, of Elkland, Pa., will occupy the Methodist pulpit here next Sunday morning and evening. Plan to hear her.

The Cryder Creek factory has been closed owing to several dairies sending their milk on the route to Genesee, thus leaving so few as to make further cheese operations unprofitable.

A meeting was held in the village last night to obtain signers on a proposition to secure the Helvetia or any other company who may locate here with the railroad again resumes operations.

Matt and George Brundage of Greenwood are working on their new garage in that village. Matt's friends here wish him ample success in his new enterprise.

Carrier L. E. Howe and family started for Andover, Sunday to visit relatives but before they had gone a quarter of a mile a rear axle broke on their car which made the trip impossible. None were hurt.

Fred Cornell is carrying himself about so for a few days as the result of a trip rope breaking, letting him over backwards onto the barn floor, where he landed on his head and shoulders while unloading hay. It is fortunate he was not more seriously hurt.

Mrs. O. L. Sherman, daughter Mrs. Myrtle Reed and little daughter, also Mrs. Susan Sherman, a former well known resident of Whitesville, but all of whom have lived in Montana and Washington states during the past few years, have arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cornell of Rexville. They will spend some time in the east.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING IS BEST

Advertising signs, placed along the highways must come down. Highway Commissioners are being notified to that effect. The glaring posters and crude painted signs, advertising commodities for sale, now displayed, is a detriment to the beautiful scenery which the traveling public have a right to enjoy. Federal authorities recognize the fact that the press is the only logical advertising medium recognized and patronized by the firms handling the highest grade of goods.

Ed Swain, Maplest., says: "I think hard work weakens my kidneys and brings on attacks of kidney complaint. When I stoop over to put on my shoes, a sharp pain catches me in the small of my back and I can hardly straighten up. The kidney secretions pass too frequently and I have to get up several times at night on this account. When I have these attacks, I use Doan's Kidney Pills procured from the Brundage Drug Co., and they always fix me up in quick order.

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Swain had. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Polarine

The Garage Manager's Advice

"Well, I tell you, Mr. Smith, I don't think it pays to fool with inferior mixtures. If I were you I'd use Polarine. There's a good high quality oil that'll keep your car smooth-running and powerful. Regulated properly, it's the right oil for any car.

"You see Polarine puts an oil film between your cylinder walls and your piston heads which keeps every bit of power right behind the pistons.

"No, indeed—Polarine never breaks down when the motor gets hot. It keeps its body at the highest cylinder heat and it protects your bearings and all moving parts against wear."
