tion for the primary that as an alternative authorized by a charter which was in the same manner as in the case of the nominating certificate for the election, as provided in section one hundred and twenty-three of this article, shall the forms and procedure being changed to apply to the primary instead of the election, and with like penalty for any false signature, certificate or statement by any person. No signature to a designating petition shall be accepted unless authenticated either by acknowledgment or by a witness to the signature.

§ 2. The petition for the designation of candidates for nomination for or for election to party positions, or for the nomination for one or more public offices, or for nomination for such or more party positions, or both such or more party positions and for the date, time, place and manner of holding such primary, shall be signed by enrolled voters of the political subdivision or unit of representation for which the assembly district is to be formed, or shall be made to a number equivalent to not less than five per centum of the whole number of enrolled voters of the party residing within such political subdivision or unit of representation, as determined by the board of elections in such city, provided, however, that for the following public offices the number of signers shall be not in no case exceed the following and listed:

For the office of mayor in a city of New York, one thousand signatures;

For any other city, five hundred signatures;

For any office to be filled by all the voters of any city of the first class or of any city of the second class, one hundred signatures;

For any office to be filled by all the voters of any other county or of any city of the third class, fifty signatures;

For any office to be filled by all the voters of any town or of any city of the fourth class, twenty signatures;

For any office to be filled by all the voters of any other political subdivision, not to exceed the number of signatures required for such larger subdivision; and

For any office to be filled by voters of a subdivision containing more than one assembly district, composing such political subdivision, not to exceed the aggregate of the signatures required in the subdivision or parts of subdivisions so selected.

3. The number of signers on a petition to designate a candidate for nomination for the position of delegate or alternate to a state or judicial district convention, or member of the state committee, need not exceed the number required for a petition to designate a candidate for member of assembly.

§ 3. A party shall be deemed verified in the manner set forth above, for purposes of designating the same candidates for nomination for public office or for the same party position, shall, upon the filing of such certificate for filing as provided in this chapter, be deemed to constitute a party for such respect to said candidates.

No party shall join in designating a greater number of candidates for party nomination or party position or for election to a party position than the number of persons to be voted for thereto. Where an enrolled voter shall sign a petition for a number of persons in excess of the number of candidates than he is entitled to vote for, such signature shall, as to such period it shall be counted in the first place thereon, be valid as to the first, which or whom the petition offered for filing shall be entitled to be counted in election by filed under section fifty-five-a of this chapter.

§ 4. Section fifty-three of such chapter, as added by chapter eight hundred and ninety-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, and as amended by chapter four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twenty-one, and by chapter two hundred and thirty-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and twenty-two, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 53. Delegates to nat' nal nitiing conventions. The rules and regulations of each political party shall provide for the election of delegates and alternates to such national convention of that party shall be elected at such time and place and in such manner as shall be prescribed by such rules and regulations, provided, however, that such rules and regulations shall not be inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter relating to such primary, and any such delegate or alternate who shall be a member of the state committee of such party shall be elected by such state committee.

At the spring primary, the ballot below the heavy black horizontal line, in the form in two parts, the first for candidates for delegates and alternates to a national convention of a party, the name of the county shall be printed in the space provided for the insertion of the assembly district number, number of the congressional district, number of the senatorial district, and the election district number, directly above the heavy black horizontal line.

The office of the ballot below such heavy black horizontal line shall be in two parts, the first for candidates for delegates and alternates to a national convention of a party, the name of the county shall be printed in the space provided for the insertion of the assembly district number, number of the congressional district, number of the senatorial district, and the election district number, directly above the heavy black horizontal line.

The office of the ballot below such heavy black horizontal line shall be in two parts, the first for candidates for delegates and alternates to a national convention of a party, the name of the county shall be printed in the space provided for the insertion of the assembly district number, number of the congressional district, number of the senatorial district, and the election district number, directly above the heavy black horizontal line.

The face of the ballot below such heavy black horizontal line shall be in two parts, the first for candidates for delegates to a state or judicial district convention of a party, the second for candidates for members of committees and also to be elected to the state or judicial district committee, the heavy black vertical line or lines, each extending from the top of the ballot directly below the heavy black horizontal line to the bottom of the ballot, to determine who was rightfully nominated or elected to represent the party in the assembling of such convention upon a ballot which shall be headed "Ballot for the purposes for which such convention is assembled," and shall be in such form as shall be made to a number equivalent to not less than five per centum of the whole number of enrolled voters of the party residing within such political subdivision or unit of representation, as determined by the board of elections in such city, provided, however, that for the following public offices the number of signers shall in no case exceed the following and listed:

For the office of mayor in a city of New York, one thousand signatures;

For any other city, five hundred signatures;

For any office to be filled by all the voters of any city of the first class or of any city of the second class, or of any county, one hundred signatures;

For any office to be filled by all the voters of any other county or of any city of the third class, fifty signatures;

For any office to be filled by all the voters of any town or of any city of the fourth class, twenty signatures;

For any office to be filled by all the voters of any other political subdivision, not to exceed the number of signatures required for such larger subdivision; and

For any office to be filled by voters of a subdivision containing more than one assembly district, composing such political subdivision, not to exceed the aggregate of the signatures required in the subdivision or parts of subdivisions so selected.

3. The number of signers on a petition to designate a candidate for nomination for the position of delegate or alternate to a state or judicial district convention, or member of the state committee, need not exceed the number required for a petition to designate a candidate for member of assembly.

§ 3. A party shall be deemed verified in the manner set forth above, for purposes of designating the same candidates for nomination for public office or for the same party position shall, upon the filing of such certificate for filing as provided in this chapter, be deemed to constitute a party for such respect to said candidates.

No party shall join in designating a greater number of candidates for party nomination or party position or for election to a party position than the number of persons to be voted for thereto. Where an enrolled voter shall sign a petition for a number of persons in excess of the number of candidates than he is entitled to vote for, such signature shall, as to such period it shall be counted in the first place thereon, be valid as to the first, which or whom the petition offered for filing shall be entitled to be counted in election by filed under section fifty-five-a of this chapter.

§ 4. Section fifty-three of such chapter, as added by chapter eight hundred and ninety-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, and as amended by chapter four of the laws of nineteen hundred and twenty-one, and by chapter two hundred and thirty-five of the laws of nineteen hundred and twenty-two, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 53. Delegates to nat' nal nitiing conventions. The rules and regulations of each political party shall provide for the election of delegates and alternates to such national convention of that party shall be elected at such time and place and in such manner as shall be prescribed by such rules and regulations, provided, however, that such rules and regulations shall not be inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter relating to such primary, and any such delegate or alternate who shall be a member of the state committee of such party shall be elected by such state committee.

§ 12. Section eighty-nine of such chapter, as added by chapter eight hundred and ninety-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, and as amended by chapter three hundred and twenty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 89. Canvass of statements of results of elections of party position. Canvass by executive committee of county. The custodian of primary records shall forthwith proceed to canvass the statements of results filed with him as provided in section eighty-six, and shall complete such canvass within one hundred and two hours from the time of the day upon which the primary election was held, designate the place where such canvass shall be made, and give notice thereof by mail addressed to the members of such committee, and shall continue such canvass without adjournment until the same shall be completed. Such canvass shall be made in the same manner as provided in section eighty-four of this chapter for canvassing the votes for general elections.

§ 13. Section eighty-nine of such chapter, as added by chapter eight hundred and ninety-one of the laws of nineteen hundred and eleven, and as amended by chapter three hundred and twenty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and twenty, is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 89. Certificates of nomination to be filed. Certificate of nomination to be made by committee. The canvass of primary records shall be completed and the results thereof certified within two days after the primary election. The canvass shall be made by the county committee or committee of a subdivision in which such vacancy occurs, in the manner provided by the rules and regulations of the party may be prescribed, and such committee shall make a declination, disqualification or death of a candidate or a vacancy in office, shall be made by a state or judicial district convention shall be filed in the same manner, a certificate of any nomination to fill a vacancy in the ticket shall be filed with the board or officer with whom the certificate of nomination for such public office is required to be filed, or, in the case of a city office, of nomination by convention, with the board or officer with whom the certificate of nomination for the same office is required to be filed.

§ 14. Such chapter is hereby amended by inserting a new section, to be known as a new article, to be article four-b, to read as follows:

ARTICLE 4-B.

Section 110. How convention constituted; time of holding conventions.

111. Organization of conventions.

112. Credentials of delegates; voting.

113. Time of holding conventions.

114. Unofficial conventions.

§ 110. How convention constituted; vacancies. Nominations of party candidates for public office to be voted for by the electors of the state, and judicial district convenions for the nomination of justice of the supreme court shall be constituted of delegates and alternates, and of any alternate delegates provided, and of any alternates provided, in such unit of representation. The assembly district shall be the unit of representation for the election of delegates, and of alternates, and of alternate delegates, provided, however, that in counties which have a population of one hundred thousand or more, the assembly district shall be the unit of representation for the election of delegates, and of alternates, and of alternate delegates, provided, however, that in counties which have the highest number of votes for governor in any election in the last preceding election of a governor, shall be entitled to one delegate for each one hundred votes for governor, and one additional delegate for each fraction of the whole number which shall be left, if such fraction shall be more than one-half of one hundred votes, and