Our wagon makers are doing a heavy business in light buggies this season. A number of light carriages have been manufactured and sold here this season.

For some reason the package of Andover Antiquarian directed to the Alfred Post Office, was not received last week. It was sent from this office all right.

New Store.—Mr. Ellis is making preparations to fill up his store, on the corner of Main and Green wood Street, with Dry Goods, Groceries, and ready-made Clothing. The more the merrier.

The ladies of the M. E. Church are to hold a Peach Festival next week Why would it not be a good idea for some of the denominations in this place to try something of this sort.

Jackson Hunt is repairing the old house on the corner of Dike and Main Street When completed, will add greatly to the look of the corner. A few more as enterprising citizen are wanted here just now.

Reopened.—Mr. A. B. Woodard, of Alfred Centre, will reopen his dental room at that place to day, (Thursday Sept. 1st), where he will ever be ready to wait upon those who may favor him with a call.

Wood — Wood — Wood. — We would like just now a few cords of wood which we promised us last winter. We have waited very patiently nearly a year for some dozen or more to keep their word. And now we would like to have the wood.

Accident.—On Tuesday a son of Frederick Osborn was with his father in a wagon with a hay rack on, at Elm Valley. By some means the boy fell through the rack down in front of the wagon, one of the wheels striking him on the left side and passed over his chest at right angels and striking the side of his face. Strange to say no bones were broken.

The Cattaraugus Republican has the following: Mrs. Wm. G. Fee, of Fredonia, used kerosene oil to build a fire the other day, and came very near by losing her life in consequence.—The oil can exploded and she was instantly enveloped in a sheet of flames A gentleman who happened to be in the house extinguished the flames by wrapping a carpet around her, but not until she had been severely burned. Another warning to be careful in using kerosene.

Specimens of a new silver coinage of the denominations of ten, twenty five and fifty cents have just been struck at the United States Mint in Philadelphia.

We publish on the fourth page this week a letter, to the Rochester Chronicle, on the new Railroad up the valley.

The premiums amounts to $3,500 of which $1,500 is given to the best trotting horse And judging from the premium list and committees, we would promise it a perfect success.

The Jamestown Journal says that a short time since, a young man in the employ of Mr. Charles Saxon, in Harmony, was the loser of one hundred and fifty dollars. He retired as usual, the money in his pants pocket. On arising in the morning, he found the money had been taken during the night: but by whom no one reveals. It is supposed that the thief entered the room through an open window and took the money, without disturbing the inmates of the house.

We learn from the Randolph Register that on Monday night of last week an attempt was made to rob Barber's cheese factory in Conewango. But the man who sleeps in the factory was aroused and fired a shot at the burglar who fled at once, he had a cheese under each arm, but being hotly pursued he deemed a military necessity to drop them both. He also had one out on the bank of the creek which he didn't have time to pick up on his way.

At no period in the previous history of the Erie Railway has its business reached the amount which it is now doing. All passenger trains both east and west are loaded down, while the amount of freight offered is taxing the capacity of the road to its utmost—The general freight superintendent telegraphed from Buffalo yesterday that six hundred car loads of freight was awaiting transportation in that city, and requested that cars to remove the same be sent there at once So says the Elmira Advertiser.

Items from the Corning Journal:

On Monday afternoon a "grass widow," a Mrs. House, and a Mrs. Stagg had an encounter. The former impeached the virtue of the latter, who retorted by some charge akin to it: Mrs. S. broke her parasol over the head of her opponent. One had a sleeve torn off, and a pitched battle would have resulted had not Mr. Chafe, Quick separated the furious combatants.

Some nights since a man broke into the kitchen of the Corning House and ate all he wished. In getting out of the window the noise awoke a servant girl, up stairs, who doubtless had read of Xantippe's assault on her husband the Philosopher Socrates, and acted accordingly, emptying the contents of a domestic utensil upon the head of the man as he emerged from the window.

We knew it! we were sure of it!—This is the hottest summer for ninety two years! They have been overhauling the records of Yale College. From July 10 to Aug. 15, 1870, the mean daily temperature was, at New Haven, 85 degrees; and no season, at least since 1778 has shown so many consecutive hot days. Our highest temperature this Summer was (July 17) noted at 98 degrees, and this has been exceeded only four times during the period above indicated, at New Haven the thermometer rising to 100 degrees one day each year in 1784, 1809, and 1945. In 1798 it reached 101.—People, therefore, who have broiled and blasphemed this Summer, will understand that while, morally speaking they had no right to swear, meteorologically speaking they were quite justified. Whether they cooled themseves at all by the use of profane language, is a question for the physiologist.

Young Men's Christian Associations.—The Fifth Annual Convention of the Associations of the State of New York will meet at Poughkeepsie on Tuesday, September 6th, 1870, at 3 o'clock, and close on Thursday evening. Delegations from all the Associations are expected, and the attendance of young men and others interested in the cause from cities and towns where no such organizations have yet been formed is also urged. Christain Ministers and Young Men in these places are requested to consult together and see that representatives are appointed. A cordial Christian welcome is assured to all who come. Delegates should be provided with credentials, and lists should be forwarded as soon as possible to R. E. Lansing, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. Arrangements for reduced fare on the principal lines of travel will probably be obtained.

But the school languished. A beautiful boarding hall was built only to remain empty. The persons in authority seemed gifted, in driving off all support and sympathy, and the loss of the old academy was keenly felt, But as it is always darkest just before day, so these reverses have made success the more marked. The trustees by some unaccountable good fortune secured the services of Prof. J. T. Edwards, of R. I. and he is a success. For the first time in years the school was fairly advertised.—Next, he put the building and grounds in thorough repair, and finally he made the personal acquaintance of a considerable share of the community in which he was to labor, and satisfied them that he was a man worthy of their confidence; and as a result of this, there has been a commencement or opening day which exceeded in interest any since the first opening of Randolph academy in 1851. Every available room is full, and the trustees are enjoying a genuine sensation, in having the facilities provided put to their legitimate use. When we say that every available room is full, we do not mean that no more can be accommodated, but, that all are filled that could be reasonably expected the first term. As students arrive, other rooms will be made available. "Let all rejoice and be exceeding glad."

We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of John Perry in another column.

The subscribers beg leave to announce to the patrons of "Hours at Home," and the general public, that they will issue early in October, for November, the first number of "Scribner's Monthly," and Illustrated Magazine for the people, in the place of the old magazine. The change of purpose and plan has been made to meet a popular demand, and is so great a change that it has been deemed advisible to drop the old and familiar title, even though it has been associated with recognized excellences and popular success. Dr. Holland, who has recently returned from Europe, after a period of rest which his long and unremitting literary labor rendered necessary, has consented to embark his time and enterprise in this enterprise; and American readers will need no assurance from us that one who has proved his capacity to meet the wants of the people in so many walks of literature, and whose name has no associations but those of success, will make a Magazine that will be welcomed at all the firesides in the land. His hands are everywhere, and his friends are with his books. The best writers procurable in this country and Great Britain will be employed upon the pages of the new magazine, and every number will be profusely and handsomely illustrated. The subscription price of the Magazine will be $3 00 a year, or twenty five cents a number. Advertisements will be received for the first number to September fifteenth. Scribner & Co.
