Mary B. Hartrum

Mary B. Hartrum, wife of the late George E. Hartrum, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Slaght in West Greenwood, where she had been convalescing from a serious illness last spring of pneumonia and heart trouble, at the age of 91 years. All that loving hands could do was administered for her comfort until she entered into rest Nov. 13, 1928.

Mary Wallace was born in the town of West Union, N. Y., Nov. 8, 1837 and was united in marriage to Andrew Boyd April 12, 1863. To them were born six children: Mrs. C. A. Slaght and Wallace D. Boyd, surviving, the others having died during childhood.

Mr. Boyd died March 21, 1881, at the farm home in West Greenwood.

ANNUAL REPORT OF COUNTY SEALER

A. W. Corwin Has Been Unusually Busy the Past Year. One Prosecution Made. Gas Pumps Good.

The annual report of County Sealer, A. W. Corwin, recently made to the Board of Supervisors, shows that the last year has been an unusually busy one for the County Department of Weights and Measures.

The number of places visited was 858 and the number of miles traveled 5,042. The number of scales tested including all kinds from an apothecary balance to a 24 ton truck scale was 1,246 of which 1,051 were sealed and 195 condemned; 686 oil and gasoline pumps were tested of which 98 were condemned; 271 linear measures were tested, four of which were condemned. The number of weights tested was 2,935 of which 226 were condemned. Miscellaneous devices 236 tested and 13 condemned.

The report states that in addition to the tests of mechanical devices a large number of weighings and measurements have been made in checking up goods put up for delivery.

From a survey of the gasoline pumps in the state, made during the last summer by the State Bureau of Weights and Measures, it was reported that one-third of the gasoline pumps in the state were delivering short measure. During this survey there was tested in Allegany county 19 pumps and only two found to be giving short measure which is a very good showing compared to the state as a whole.

Mr. Corwin attended both the National Conference and the State Conference on Weights and Measures this year and reports that the unprecedented attendance at both these meetings shows a growing interest in the importance of the Weights and Measures work.

One prosecution was made during the year, when a junk dealer was fined $10 for buying junk without a license and using a false scale.

The report calls attention to the inaccuracy of the log rules in use in this state at the present time, and states that acting on the information furnished by the Allegany County Department of Weights and Measures the New York Farm Bureau Federation and the American Agriculturist has taken an interest in the matter and will use their influence to secure the adoption of a fair log rule.

County American Legion Auxiliary Officers

At a county meeting held at Alfred last week, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

First Vice President—Mrs. G. R. Davis of Rushford.

Second Vice President — Mrs. Claire Backus, of Andover.

Treasurer—Mrs. Freida Cannon of Angelica.

Secretary—Mrs. John Dolan of Andover.

G. A. R. Will Carry On

Judge John Reeze, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, says the boys in blue will meet each year so long as one lives. Judge Reese of Broken Bow, Neb., was 16 when he went to war.

Dedicate New Hall

The opening of Blessed Sacrament church hall was observed Tuesday evening, when an immense crowd gathered there for the occasion. The building, formerly known as the J. C. Bassett residence, situated next to the parochial home on Church street, has been remodeled entirely, with new floors and furnishings thruout, and with its fine electric lighting and dainty tables made a most attractive interior, well fitted for use as a church parish house. The tables were relaid several times to accommodate the large number who enjoyed the splendid chicken dinner so perfectly served by the ladies of the parish. Orchestra music was a pleasing feature thruout the serving and cards and dancing entertained later in the evening.

The Catholic Society of Andover are to be congratulated upon this fine addition to their property.

A number of cars were derailed, some burned and damage done to cargo Monday morning, when a Salamanca to Hornell freight and a Buffalo freight collided near Whitney's Crossing west of Canaseraga. No one was seriously injured in the accident but traffic was tied up for some hours. Thirteen cars were derailed. The crews jumped in time to escape injury.

Eastman to Speak to Farm Bureau

The annual meeting of the Allegany County Farm and Home Bureau Association will be held on Tuesday, December 11, at the Town Hall in Belmont.

A very interesting program is promised. The morning session will be devoted to business, followed by a basket lunch at the Baptist church parlors. The treat of the day comes in the afternoon, when E. R. Eastman, editor of the American Agriculturist will speak to the members, and all who have heard Mr. Eastman know they are in for a real treat.

LEFT HIS HORSES TO STARVE

Only Court's Mercy for Children Prevented Ordway From Jail Sentence for Cruelty to Animals.

Stephen Ordway of Independence was arrested, on complaint of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, charged with moving from a farm on Beech Hill and leaving three horses without food or water in an old barn. When found one of the animals was dead from starvation and the other two so weak they could hardly stand and were put out of their misery as an act of mercy.

Ordway was fined $100 and sentenced to three months in the Erie penitentiary. The prison sentence was suspended because of his family of children.

"Three Pegs"

Canisteo press notes on the "Three Pegs" comedy, put on in that place by the women of the Southside Baptist church of Hornell: "A brilliant success. Many plays have been presented in Canisteo the past year, but none was more pleasing or better received than 'Three Pegs.'"

At Andover Baptist church Thursday evening, Dec. 11th. Admission 25 cents.

Local Grange Put on Play

At the Allegany County Pomona Grange, in session at Belmont, Dec. 6 and 7th, a play was put on Thursday evening by members of the Andover Grange. The two day program as published in last week's News was one of especial merit and interest.

SHOP EARLY AND MAIL EARLY

Dr. John Common, Andover Postmaster, Gives a Few Hints How to Help Get Your Gifts Going.

Postmaster General New, has ordered all delivery and window service suspended in postoffices on Christmas Day, in order that postoffice employees may be permitted to have full benefit of the greatest of all holidays.

The fact that on Christmas Day there will be no window service makes it necessary that mail must be deposited earlier this year in order to reach its destination and be delivered before December 25th.

The public is urged to mail all Christmas greeting cards for local delivery any time after December 15th, by handing them to one of the clerks who will see they are postmarked Dec. 23rd, and all delivered on that day. This will help the last minute rush and Christmas cards delivered late lose half their value.

Unveil Memorial to Holly Maxson

The following, taken from the November 22nd issue of the Jersey Observer, will be of great interest to many of our readers:

Unveiling and dedication of the life-size memorial tablet to Holly W. Maxson, late supervising principal of the West New York public schools, with life-size bust figure of the late schoolmaster in bronze, was attended by co-workers in public school service, representatives of the business world, of his fraternity and the general public, in the Memorial High School auditorium last evening.

The widow, Mrs. Rose Maxson, unveiled the memorial to perpetuate the memory of 17 years of service of her husband to the schools and their development. His daughter, Mrs. Henry Guyre, also occupied a seat on the high school stage with her mother and the committee during the exercises, which in their entirety were a tribute for service.—Alfred Sun.

Mrs. Maxson was formerly Miss Rose LaForge, as a resident of Andover and pupil in our school. She will be remembered by many readers of the News.

Farm Bureau Membership Drive

The first check-up on the 1929 drive for membership, in the Allegany County Farm Bureau, was held at the Belmont Hotel, on Monday night in the form of a committeemen's supper. In spite of the weather, 36 committeemen were present from all parts of the county and there followed a real live meeting.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. A. F. Randolph, who kept the men in laughter by his timely remarks, and Mr. Randolph, also discussed some of the vital points of the Farm Bureau. Each committeeman was given a chance to tell something of the conditions in his community, and they also gave some constructive criticism as to what might be done by the Farm Bureau to aid the farmers, chiefly that emphasis be placed on marketing of produce, rather than on production.

This meeting also marked the end of the regional contest between the North and the South, which ended in a victorious Southern half and these gentlemen feasted on the expense of the defeated Northern side. The total membership to date is 464, of which the Southern half secured 240 and the Northern half secured 224. This looks like a sure bet that there will be 600 members of the Allegany County Farm Bureau by spring.

It is likely to be poor economy to make over clothes so worn that they will last only a short time.

Republicans Have Responsibility

Responsibility for the conduct of the government for four years will be fully vested in the Republican party.

The House of Representatives will contain 267 Republicans and 167 Democrats, also one Farmer Labor member.

The Senate will contain 55 Republicans, 39 Democrats and one Farmer Laborite.

There will be no power possessed by any other party to obstruct or hamper federal legislation in the face of these majorities, so those who believe in the Republican party as an assurance of continued prosperity can be hopeful and content.

MANY LITERACY TESTS WERE GIVEN

Fifth Supervisory District of Allegany County Gave Examinations to 172 New Voters This Year.

W. G. Pope, District Superintendent of Schools, gives the News the following facts regarding literacy tests:

Since January 1st, 1922, certificates have been required of all new voters. Our fall election brought out an unusually large number of applicants.

In the six townships of supervisory district number five, Allegany county, comprising the towns of Alfred, Andover, Independence, Ward, Wellsville and Willing, 172 new voters applied for certificates of literacy. One hundred fifty-three of these tried the regents test, 151 passing. Of these 151, 86 were men and 65 were women. One man and one woman of the 163 failed the test.

Nineteen people secured certificates of literacy upon the evidence of educational credentials. Ten of these were men and nine were women.

Dist. Supt. of Schools.

THE OTHER FELLOW'S JOB

I want to be a plumber, I think I'd like to plumb. I could forget a wrench or two 'most every time I come. I want to be a preacher, I know I'd like to preach with all the printed sermons so easy for to reach. I'd like to be a farmer and have a tractor hoss, a hired man to do the work and me to be the boss. I'd like to own a little farm. As soon as I'd begun it the soda jerks and grocery clerks could tell me how to run it. I'd like to spell the switchboard girl, with nothin' much to do but work some plugs and say "hello" the day and evening thru. But if I think my job is work and all the rest is play, I'd better try to earn my tripe a while some other way. The plumber often burns himself when melted lead is spilt; the farmer's likely looking farm is mortgaged to the hilt. The preacher must pretend to like some folks he fain would cuss, and all the other workers have their troubles same as us. The hello girl with gentle voice she does it mighty well. I think I'd often say "hello" with accent on the "hell."—BOB ADAMS.

DR. AND MRS. HARDY ON EXTENDED TRIP

Left Tecumseh, Mich., Last Week. Itinerary Will Include Peru, Valparaiso, and Many Other Places.

(From Tecumseh Herald)

Dr. and Mrs. P. B. Hardy left today (Wednesday) for New Orleans, La., from which port they will sail on the United Fruit Line for Panama, where they will change to the Grace Line. They plan to visit Peru, and to cross the Andes to Lake Titicaca, the highest navigable lake in the world; also, La Paz, Bolivia, the highest capital in the world. Returning to the coast they will continue to Valparaiso, Chili. After touring Chili, they will again cross the Andes on the Transandean railway across the continent to Buenos Aires, in Argentina.

From Buenos Aires they will go 1,000 miles inland by rail to the nearest point of the Iguazu Falls, continuing the last 400 miles by a river boat on the Parana river to the falls. The country there is totally uninhabited, except for a primitive hotel put up by the Paraguyan government and the government gives the information that on the last eleven miles to the falls the guides on the motor are armed with guns to protect the passengers against wild animals.

Dr. Hardy hopes to be able to do some hunting in this region.

The return trip of 1,400 miles will be made by boat on the Parana river to Buenos Aires. The scenery is said to be wonderful, altho the average temperature is 105 degrees in the shade.

Uruguay and Brazil will next be visited, and stop-overs will be made in Trinidad and Barbadoes.

A moving picture camera will be taken along, more especially for the Iguazu Falls region.

The Pan American Union of Washington, D. C., has furnished the travelers with a complete line of introductions to the leading statesmen of each of the countries to be visited, as well as to writers and others, so that they shall have every facility to study the conditions of the Latin states of South America.

They plan to be gone about three months.

Dr. Hardy is the father of Harold Hardy and son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Hardy of Andover.
