Wasn't Getting An Egg

C. Fellager of Chester Heights, Pa., writes: "I was about to sell all my chickens in December because I wasn't getting an egg. Then I tried B-B Laying Mash. In 3 weeks 50% of my birds laid; in 3 weeks 85% were producing. I have fed several laying mashes, but B-B excels them all."

90-101 Eggs From 100 Hens

C. A. Siner, Syracuse, N. Y., says: "My 20 two-year olds and 110 yearlings have laid 90 to 100 eggs a day since Jan. 1st on B-B Laying Mash."

Hens Took 1st Prize

H. P. Birden of Barkhamsted, Conn. secured 83% in eggs during January from his 4-month-old pullets. His birds took 1st prize for laying condition in the fall Fairs. He uses B-B Laying Mash and B-B Scratch Feed.

Give your chickens a chance with B-B. You'll soon find them laying to beat the band. We guarantee more eggs per dollar of feed cost—or refund your money. Maritime Milling Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

SAWYER WELL STRIKES PAY SAND

Heavy Flow of Gas Found at Depth of 4,356 Feet, on the Chadwick Farm in Town of Wirt.

The news that the deep well drilled on the Chadwick farm, town of Wirt, had struck the gas sand was welcome to many interested parties the first of the week.

The drill penetrated the pay sand and the well is now flowing better than 200,000 feet of gas with the prospects of the flow being increased as the drill penetrates further.

What is believed to be the Onondaga flint was tapped when the drill reached a depth of 4,347 feet and the gas was of sufficient pressure to lift the heavy string of tools. In 24 hours the drill had penetrated the sand but eight feet, while the gas pressure has continued to increase, and it is believed that when the drill gets thru the hard shell on top and into the Onondaga flint the well should come in for a million or more feet of gas.

The Sawyer well on the Chadwick farm is a little more than 2 miles southwest of the Belmont Quadrangle deep gasser that came in for several million feet of gas a few months ago at a depth of 4,000 feet and which is still producing in large volume. If the Sawyer well proves to be a good producer it will open several miles of territory to this deep well drilling and will encourage other test wells in the Allegany field.

The gas from the Sawyer well is coming out thru an eight inch pipe which is carried a considerable distance from the derrick and the operation is the same as in the first gas well, almost gasoline, so it would appear that both wells are producing from the same formation. The striking of the pay at 4,356 shows there is a considerable dip in the sand to the southward, as oil men generally were figuring the dip only at 40 feet to the mile. The Sawyer well expected to strike the Onondaga flint at around 4,100, but failed to find the formation and then the entire outfit was strengthened and two boilers installed at the well, changing the motive power over to steam, with the intention of drilling to 4,500 before the test was given up.

BRADFORD MAN'S GAME PRESERVE

Clayton G. Dorn Obtains 1,200 Acre Tract to Make Dream Come True. Will Fence Entire Tract.

Bradford, Pa., Dec. 27.—Clayton G. Dorn, one of this city's best well-known oil producers and a lover of wild animal and aquatic life, has planned to establish one of the largest private game preserves and fish hatcheries in this section of the state of Pennsylvania.

Dorn, for many years, has made a study of animal and fish life and just recently has secured ownership of some 1,200 acres of cut-over forest land lying along the watershed of Fuller brook, which empties in the west branch of the Tuna creek at the side of the abandoned Nusbaum chemical works, several miles from Bradford. This property, now mostly covered with a second growth of 35-year timber extends from the mouth of Fuller brook to its source, some two miles in length. The tract is approximately one and one-half miles in breadth and is varying rectangular in shape.

It is Dorn's intention to fence in the entire piece of land in the spring, to bring in some 20,000 additional trees from the state nurseries and then to stock it with the finest animal and fish life obtainable.

They Grow Them Large In Pennsylvania

The following item, clipped from a Jeannette, Pa., paper, was sent be this week by Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Coleman, who had visited the farms and had a look at this porker. They write that the owner estimates that the hams will weigh 150 pounds each:

Pigs may be pigs, but Joseph Loughner, of near the Catholic cemetery, has a hog that is something more, he thinks. According to Joe, the hogs weighs 1,440 pounds, and has two months to go before becoming sausage.

Loughner says his brother Henry, who lives nearby, also has a heavyweight hog, but it doesn't weigh as much as his own.

There is a little rivalry between the two brothers in raising heavy hogs. They have had many to tip the scales at far above 900 pounds.

MRS. TESSIE KELLOGG DIES AT GREENWOOD

Widow of Late Attorney Silas G. Kellogg Succumbs to Pneumonia After Long Illness.

Mrs. Tessie D. Kellogg, 80, widow of the late Attorney Silas G. Kellogg, who died Nov. 14, 1925, died Monday, Jan. 7, at the family home in Greenwood, after a prolonged illness. Death resulted from pneumonia.

Mrs. Kellogg was born and always lived in Greenwood and was well known.

She is survived by eight children, W. G. Kellogg, of Greenwood, county superintendent of highways; Miss Grace Kellogg of Montclair, N. J.; J. H. Kellogg, of Bemus Point, N. Y.; Mrs. Arling Cobb, of Whitesville; George Kellogg, Albany; Mrs. T. C. Cobb, Canisteo; Mrs. K. C. Baker, San Antonio, Texas; and Mrs. Mabel Stephenson of Greenwood. Also eight grandchildren.

MEMBER OF ALFRED FACULTY DIES

Miss H. Isabel Ellis Dies in New York City, After Short Illness With Pneumonia.

Miss H. Isabel Ellis, 26 years of age, a member of the faculty of Alfred University, died suddenly in New York City, January 3rd. Death resulted from pneumonia.

The deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ellis of Alfred. With her mother she was spending several days in New York City when stricken ill, resulting in death two days later.

Miss Ellis has been a lifelong resident of Alfred, graduating from Alfred high school and later Alfred University. For four years she has been an instructor of biology and English at her alma mater. During her college days she was a member of Theta Chi sorority and was active in all college affairs.

Besides her parents she is survived by a brother, Raymond Ellis, at home.

Rev. H. D. Clarke

After an illness of one week in the Edgerton Memorial hospital, the Rev. Herman D. Clarke, 75, retired Seventh-Day Baptist pastor, who, for the past year and a half made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Charles Sayre, died Tuesday.

Mr. Clarke was born in Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 26, 1850, and was married, Sept. 17, 1874, to Anna M. Jenning, who died May 8, 1912. He was ordained a pastor in the Seventh-Day Baptist church in 1883 and served as pastor at Verona and Independence, N. Y., Dodge Center, Minn., and Garwin, Iowa.

He became connected with the Children's Aid Society of New York and served as its home finding agent for two years, afterward going to Cincinnati, Ohio, to build up the Children's Aid Society there. He later became superintendent of the Haskell home for children at Battle Creek, Mich. In his work he handled cases of 1,200 children, many of his former charges continuing to keep in contact with him by mail thru his entire life.

He was a prolific writer on many subjects, and was a composer of songs and music.

Survivors are three children, Mrs. Sayre of Albion, Mrs. A. E. Ellis and Elwin H. Clarke, Battle Creek, Mich., and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 4 p. m., Wednesday, in the Albion Seventh-Day Baptist church, with the Rev. Adelbert E. Witter, Walworth, in charge, assisted by the Rev. J. F. Randolph, Milton Junction. Burial will be in Dodge Center, Minnesota.—Milton News.

Rev. Clarke was a pastor for several years of the S. D. Baptist church at Independence and had many personal friends in Andover, who learn with sorrow his passing. He was a relative of M. A. Crandall and Miss Alice Clarke of this village.

Police Court News

Albert Brewster was arrested recently by Deputy Sheriff Kemp, on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct, in the Ray barber shop.

Taken before Police Court Justice Mulhern, he pled guilty and was sentenced the usual $10 or ten days. He was later given ten days to get the $10.

Joseph Claims his hog will be the champion heavyweight in the state and while visiting in the News-Dispatch office ventured the assertion that he would include the entire world.

Many people have visited the Loughner farms to look at the enormous hogs. They are tremendous in size without a question.

Andover Banks Hold Their Annual Meetings

James P. Cannon Elected to the Directorate of Burrows National Bank and J. L. Williams to That of the Andover State Bank.—Both Banks Show Fine Earnings.

The stockholders' meetings of Andover's two banking institutions were held Tuesday. Both banks showed a fine business done during the past year, with fine earnings.

BURROWS NATIONAL BANK

The Burrows National Bank meeting was held at 10:30 in the office of the bank. For the first time since the bank was organized, President J. S. Phillips was unavoidably prevented from being present in person, but a night letter conveyed his greetings to the stock holders.

In the absence of Mr. Phillips, Vice President E. J. Atwood presided at the meeting.

The election of directors resulted in the return of all of the old directors for another year, J. P. Cannon was elected in place of the late P. C. Lynch. The new Board of Directors are:

J. S. Phillips, E. J. Atwood, J. E. Cannon, E. D. Baker, A. C. Lever, F. W. Burrows and James P. Cannon.

ANDOVER STATE BANK

The business meeting of the stockholders of Andover State Bank was held at the banking office at 8 o'clock, Tuesday evening.

C. E. Brown was chairman of the meeting.

Cashier A. D. Fuller gave the financial report for the year which showed a fine growth. Besides paying the stockholders their regular dividends amounting to $300,000, there was an increase to undivided profits for the year of $6,580.07.

The election of directors resulted in the re-election of all of the old directors. J. L. Williams was elected in place of the late J. M. Brundage. The full Board of Directors for the coming year is as follows: C. E. Brown, B. S. Brundage, Frank S. Clark, A. D. Fuller, Henry Horan, W. F. O'Connell and J. L. Williams.

Bank Banquet

At the close of the business meeting of the stockholders, Chairman Brown invited them all, with their ladies, to attend a banquet at Masonic Temple, served by the ladies of the Eastern Star. About 80 plates were laid.

After partaking of the well-served meal, to whom all seemed to do justice, W. F. O'Connell arose as toastmaster of the occasion and called upon J. L. Williams, the newly elected director for a few remarks. Following Mr. Williams' talk, Cashier A. D. Fuller gave a very interesting account of the history of the bank which will be found later in this article.

Dr. L. G. Probasco and wife, of Whitesville, were present at the banquet. The doctor was one of the original stockholders of the bank. He was called upon impromptu and responded with a kind word of greeting.

Attorney Ellis Hopkins of Wellsville was the speaker of the evening and spoke very interestingly for 30 minutes regarding the relations of business people to the law. How business men should regard the law. In closing, Mr. Hopkins referred to the thousands of dollars lost each year by questionable investments in fraudulent bonds and securities.

His address was good and well received by all present.

History Connected With the Andover State Bank

The following historic sketch of the Andover State Bank, given by Cashier A. D. Fuller, is of much interest not only to the bank and its stockholders, but to many others of our readers:

Andover State Bank was incorporated May 24th, 1894.

The list of incorporators: Patrick Cannon, W. H. Phillips, Jesse Snyder, G. M. Barney, James Owen, Fowler & Remington, Frank S. Clark, Harrison Mourhess, N. L. Beebe, Crayton L. Earley, A. C. Frisbey, J. M. Brundage, B. C. Brundage, S. J. Burdick, B. B. Brown, T. A. Murray, L. G. Probasco, F. E. Comstock, E. B. Rollins, F. S. Osborn, J. S. Young, E. A. Cottrell, W. J. Richardson.

The first Board of Directors were B. C. Brundage, J. M. Brundage, G. M. Barney, Frank S. Clark, James Owen and Harrison Mourhess.

Frank S. Clark being the only surviving member at this time.

The first officers were B. C. Brundage, president; James Owen, vice president and J. M. Brundage, cashier.

The office of B. C. Brundage was rented for commencing business at a rental of $100 per year.

On October 17, 1894 the contract for the erection of our present building was let for the sum of $4,200.

B. C. Brundage died Dec. 9, 1895, having served as president for about one and one-half years. F. E. Comstock was elected to succeed him as a director. James Owen was elected as president and G. M. Barney as vice president.

In January, 1898 E. J. Atwood was elected as a director to succeed F. E. Comstock who had served as director for about two years.

In March, 1898, A. C. Frisbey was appointed as a director in place of E. J. Atwood who had sold his stock and therefore no longer qualified to serve as director.

The board then consisted of James Owen, president; G. M. Barney, vice president and J. M. Brundage, cashier; Frank S. Clark, Harrison Mourhess and A. C. Frisbey. Mr. Clark being the only surviving member at this time.

In 1904 Mr. Earley was elected as an honorary member. Later in the year the by-laws were changed to provide for seven members and in January, 1905, Mr. Earley was elected as a member.

In January, 1907, Henry Horan was elected to succeed G. M. Barney who had served since the organization in 1894 and A. C. Frisbey was elected as vice president.

Mr. Owen died July 11, 1907, having served as director since the organization in 1894 and as president since the death of B. C. Brundage in 1895.

At the annual meeting in January, 1908, J. C. Green was elected as a director to succeed Mr. Owen. Mr. Frisbey was elected as president and Frank S. Clark as vice president.

In January, 1909, a new office of assistant cashier was created and A. D. Fuller was elected to that position, having served as a bookkeeper since February, 1904.

Harrison Mourhess died on March 23, 1911 and A. D. Fuller was appointed as a director to succeed on June 21, 1911.

On March 25, 1915 A. D. Fuller resigned as assistant cashier to accept a position at Canisteo and Howard Inskip was employed as bookkeeper and elected as assistant cashier on May 23, 1917.

At the annual meeting in January, 1918, W. F. O'Connell was elected as a director to succeed A. D. Fuller.

On April 15, 1918, Howard Inskip resigned as assistant cashier to accept the position of cashier of the First National Bank of Kenmore, N. Y.

August 5, 1918, J. C. Green died after serving as director since 1908, a little over ten years. At the annual meeting in January, 1919, C. E. Brown was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Green.

On July 31, 1919, Esther Northrup was elected as assistant cashier, after having served four years as bookkeeper. She resigned on February 28, 1920 for the purpose of changing her name to Mrs. Lloyd Mead.

In July, 1920, a new office of chairman of the board was created. Mr. Frisbey was elected to this office, J. M. Brundage was elected president; Frank S. Clark vice president and A. D. Fuller returned to the service of the bank as cashier.

In December, 1920, Ray O. Snyder was engaged as bookkeeper and elected as assistant cashier in January, 1922.

On Nov. 10, 1922, Mr. Earley re-

GOVERNOR NAMES HINMAN JUDGE

Popular Democratic Attorney of Angelica Receives the Governor's Appointment as County Judge.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 9.—Governor Roosevelt today appointed Attorney Guy O. Hinman of Angelica as county judge of Allegany county, to succeed Judge Bernard B. Ackerman, who resigned to accept the election as Supreme Court Justice.

Mr. Hinman received the endorsement of the Democratic County Committee for the position some months ago. He is well qualified for the position and will make a good presiding jurist.

The governor's appointment will have to secure the State Senate's approval, which will undoubtedly be had in a short time.

Portville Man Loses Life

Guy Head, 59, a farmer, of Portville, was found dead shortly after 8 o'clock Monday morning, the top of his head torn away by shot from a single barrel shotgun.

The body was found by Floyd Head, son of the dead man, when his father failed to return, according to his usual custom, from a trap line he had set near his home. The elder Head rose early before the rest of the household was up and left for his traps, it is believed.

Concerned over his father's extended absence, his son searched for him and found the body lying at the edge of a swamp about a half mile from the house toward the Allegheny river where some of the traps were set. Nearby was a shotgun the dead man was believed to have been carrying.

PLED GUILTY TO STEALING HAY

Elwin Roarbecker and Merle Clark of Whitesville Arrested for Stealing Baled Hay From Roadside.

Elwin Roarbecker and Merle Clark were arrested Friday, by Deputy Sheriff Kemp, at Whitesville, for petit-larceny. They were charged with stealing baled hay from Albert Howe of Wellsville.

A Mr. Garhart was moving a quantity of hay from Whitesville to Wellsville for Mr. Howe. They would take a light load up the hill and unload it by the state road and go back after another load, pick it up and go on. It happened that they had to leave a trailer and 12 bales of hay on the hill over night.

The next morning both hay and trailer were gone. Investigation developed proof sufficient for the arrest of the parties.

Arraigned before Justice Robert Casey of Whitesville, the pair pled guilty and were fined $29.75 and costs.

Sergeant Bernette of the state troopers assisted in the case.

County Clerk's Office Busy Place Last Year

County Clerk Bush and his assistants have been doing a large amount of business during the past year as will be seen by the following figures:

Receipts

Mortgage tax	$15,883.59
Fines	1,750.00
Miscellaneous receipts	15,478.02
	$34,111.61

The salaries paid out for the year were as follows:

W. W. Bush, clerk	$ 3,325.00
E. S. Richardson, deputy	1,725.00
Paul M. Stowell, abstract clerk	1,750.00
Harold L. Barber, abstract clerk	1,425.00
Harry T. McNinch, auto clerk	1,425.00
Lucia A. Thrall, recording clerk	990.00
Helen L. Hall, recording clerk	975.00
Frances Howe, general clerk	850.00
Helen M. Seager, general clerk	343.00
	$12,808.00

The yearly receipts have been increasing since the fee system was done away with in 1913, and the figures show a nice balance in favor of the county, altho the larger part of the mortgage tax goes to other sources.

Clerk Bush has been re-signed as director and A. D. Fuller was elected as a member of the board in his place.

Mr. Frisbey died on September 22, 1925, after serving as a director since 1898; as president from 1908 to 1920, and as chairman from 1920 to the time of his death.

At the annual meeting in January, 1926, B. S. Brundage was elected as director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Frisbey.

J. M. Brundage died on Sept. 26, 1928, after serving as a director since the organization of the bank; as cashier from the organization to 1920, and as president from 1920 until the time of his death.

As I delved into the records of the bank to obtain this bit of personal history, it brought to mind my pleasant memories of associations with these men who have guided the destiny of the bank thru the years which have passed. Men of integrity, who had the highest conception of business ethics and practice. Men whom it was not only a pleasure to know, but who, by their daily practice, shed a beneficial influence upon us all. They laid the foundation upon which we have been building year by year and if, when the time comes for us to lay down the working tools, our records stand as spotless and clean as theirs, we shall be satisfied.

HARTWIG COMING TO ALLEGANY

State Extension Agronomist Will Hold Series of Meetings for Farmers in Various Places Next Week.

During the week of January 14-18, inclusive, Prof. H. B. Hartwig, extension agronomist, from the New York State College of Agriculture at Cornell, will be in Allegany county to speak at a large group of community meetings under the auspices of the Allegany County Farm Bureau.

During September and October, Prof. Hartwig was in the county to conduct soil tests and to accumulate information on the farms of 85 who had requested a special clover-alfalfa service. These men were anxious to grow clover and alfalfa successfully and thru information accumulated by Prof. Hartwig, and the Farm Bureau manager, recommendations have been given to each man, telling how he is to grow clover and alfalfa successfully under his own particular set of conditions.

These meetings to be held next week, are a follow-up of this service rendered last fall. Enough information has been accumulated regarding the different soils in practically every community in the county to make it extremely interesting for those who will attend. There is a vast variety of soils in the county and Hartwig's talks in each community will be based around the conditions which he found there and his recommendations will be in strict accordance with these conditions.

Meetings will be held at the following places:

Belfast—Masonic Hall, Monday afternoon, January 14.

Friendship—Grange Hall, Monday evening, January 14.

Canendea—Grange Hall, Tuesday afternoon, January 15.

Canaseraga—Town Hall, Tuesday evening, January 15.

Centerville—Town Hall, Wednesday afternoon, January 16.

Belmont—Town Hall, Wednesday evening, January 16.

Meetings will also be held in Petrolia, Scio and Wellsville the last of the week.
