SAVE WITH SAFETY AT THE Rexall Store

GUARD AGAINST "FLU"

The moment you feel that you have a serious cold or any symptoms of "Flu," consult your physician, for your own safety and the safety of others with whom you come in contact.

The better plan, however, is to guard against infections by preventive measures.

For this purpose thousands of people are enjoying the comfort of "Vapure" the new inhalant. A few drops on cloth, thoroly inhaled at frequent intervals, will kill the germs of infection.

You will like Vapure, it is so pleasant to use, and most effective. We unqualifiedly recommend it. A 50-cent bottle contains a hundred doses and can only be obtained at a Rexall Drug Store.

The Andover Band

The Andover Boys' and Girls' Band had its first meeting under the re-organization plan last Monday evening. There was a good attendance and a snappy profitable rehearsal.

Under the new plan, Mr. Harry H. Williams is retained as director at an agreed salary and all the details of management and finance are in the hands of a citizen committee; the rate of tuition has been reduced to $2.00 monthly and it is expected that a large membership will develop.

This band is a community proposition, it is wor hwhile in every particula:—it is Andover's paramount agent for favorable publicity. Let's all boost for it and encourage its endeavor to become the best musical organization in this section of the country.

Rehearsal and practice every Monday evening.

Church Social and Sleigh Ride

Members of the S. D. Baptist Society enjoyed a sleigh ride and social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Burdick in Railroad Valley, Tuesday evening.

After a bountiful supper, a short program, including a one act play reading by Truman Burdick and a quizz, arranged by Rev. W. L. Greene, on the churches and their pastors in the denomination was enjoyed. The generous hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Burdick was greatly appreciated by the company. The proceeds of the evening are to be placed in the church repair fund.

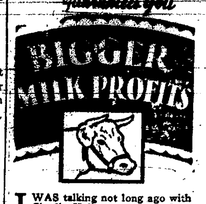
Uncle Charlie Guarantees You



I WAS talking not long ago with Charlie Hallman, up near Rutland, Vt.

He said: "Your guarantee is all bunk. There are several feed concerns as big as yours; surely they turn out feed as good as yours. If they do, according to your guarantee you have to give back the money. You'd go broke."

Well, I said to him, good-naturedly: "If you think I'm bluffing on my guarantee, come on down to the B-B [illegible] with me."

Tries B-B

I [illegible] to the dealer and said: "Jim, here's a man who thinks our guarantee is all bunk. I'm going to make him buy some B-B from you. I'm here to tell you that if B-B doesn't give him bigger production you are to refund his money." That looked square to Charlie Hallman, so he ordered his feed.

Same Old Story

A weeks later I saw Charlie again. He grinned and pulled out $40. "This is your share of the extra profit I've made since feeding B-B."

I said: "Well, if all our customers would split what they make we'd be rich. You better buy the missus a new dress with that $40."

When the dairyman thinks over the B-B guarantee, he usually goes and buys. And that means another satisfied B-B Customer. Maritime Milling Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

DENNIS ACQUITTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

Jury Finds Driver of Buffalo Bus In Which Mrs. Pierson Was Riding, Not Guilty.

A jury in County Court late Wednesday afternoon returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Roy E. Dennis of Wellsville, tried on a charge of manslaughter in the second degree and the prisoner was discharged. The case has been on trial before Judge Hinman all the week and went to the jury at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. At 4:30 o'clock the jury announced that they were ready to report to the court and brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Dennis had only been in the employ of the Buffalo Valley Bus Lines about two weeks as driver of the passenger bus between Wellsville and Buffalo. He left Wellsville on the morning of December 8th with one passenger, Henry Sizer of Allentown, and two more passengers, Mrs. R. E. Peirson and daughter, Janet, got on at Belmont. The bus was struck by a gasoline car on the Pennsylvania railroad at the road crossing a mile south of Fillmore and Mrs. Peirson was killed, while the other two passengers and the bus driver, Dennis, were considerably shaken up but not seriously injured. Several witnesses testified as to the apparent careless or reckless driving of Dennis and claimed that he did not come to a stop before crossing the Pennsylvania railroad, while Dennis, who took the stand in his own behalf on the last day of the trial, swore that the road was icy and that the windshield wiper on the bus did not work properly. He also swore that he brought the bus to a full stop before driving across the Pennsylvania tracks.

A severe snowstorm prevailed at the time and it was difficult to see many yards ahead. The engineer on the Pennsylvania gasoline car testified that he saw the bus approaching when within a few hundred feet of the crossing and supposed the vehicle would stop, but as it continued along at the usual speed he applied the brakes and had them set when his car struck the bus as it drove up onto the track. The bus was carried about 100 feet and thrown to one side of the track, whereas the engineer testified that his car would have traveled 1,500 feet before stopping, had he not applied the brakes sooner.

The general trend of the testimony was to the effect that Dennis was negligent but there appeared to be considerable sentiment involved in the case, with a general feeling that the bus management was more to blame, in hiring an inefficient driver, than was Dennis, who was at the wheel at the time of the ill-fated accident. It is apparent that this sympathy had some effect upon the verdict of the jurors, which resulted in the acquittal of the young man.

Attorney Ellis Hopkins of Wellsville and his brother, Attorney Ward Hopkins of Cuba, appointed by the court to defend the prisoner, made a strong appeal for the defendant, while District Attorney Renwick presented the facts in the case in a logical way that was thought at the time would result in a verdict of guilty. The action of the jury was more or less of a surprise to those who had closely followed the three days' trial.

While this will end any action on the part of the people, it is probable that several civil actions will be brought as a result of the accident which caused the death of Mrs. Peirson. That someone was negligent is unquestioned and if the bus driver, Dennis, has been exonorated, it will be necessary to go higher up in order to find out who is to blame for the death of Mrs. Peirson.—Wellsville Daily Reporter.

C. B. Duggan

Cornelius B. Duggan of Wellsville, chairman of the Allegany County Democratic Committee, died at his home in that village Wednesday, after an illness extending over two years.

Mr. Duggan was a member of the Wellsville Rotary Club, the Elks and the Holy Name Society of Immaculate Conception Catholic church.

Funeral services were held Saturday morning. Burial was in Sacred Heart cemetery, Wellsville.

Atwell — Jackson

Earle M. Atwell and Gertrude Marion Jackson, both of Wellsville, were united in marriage at the home of Rev. W. E. Windsor of Wellsville, Thursday afteroon, February 21, 1929.

Fuller Home Burns

Two fire alarms were sent in Friday evening, one to the residence of Allen Fuller on Grove street, which was totally consumed. The other to a farm on Call Hill. Both alarms came at the same time. Firemen were unable to reach the Call Hill fire on account of snow.

The origin of the Fuller fire is not known. Nothing was saved from the house.

NAMES TICKET FOR VILLAGE ELECTION

Union Caucus Chooses Present Members of Village Board to Continue. But One Contest.

At the Union Caucus held at Village Hall, Monday evening, for the purpose of choosing candidates for village officers for the coming Village Election, all of the present Village Board whose terms of office is about to expire, were renominated to succeed themselves.

The meeting was called to order at the stroke of the hour by T. K. Regan of the Village Committee. J. Harvey Backus was chosen chairman of the meeting and J. C. Lever was made clerk. Mrs. Valencia Slocum and T. K. Regan were elected tellers of the election.

Nominations for mayor resulted in the unanimous choice of R. D. Mingus, to succeed himself for another two years.

For trustee to succeed Edward S. Horan, Mr. Horan was re-nominated and also T. Joseph Lynch nominated. Upon ballot being taken Mr. Horan received 108 votes and Mr. Lynch 29. Mr. Horan was declared duly nominated for two years.

For trustee to succeed John Wahl, whose term of office expires, Mr. Wahl was re-nominated to succeed himself by acclamation.

For police court Justice there was no one but Judge Edward H. Mullen, who has filled that position since it was created, thought of so he was unanimously renominated.

The present Village Board was named as a committee to fill vacancies and J. L. Williams, Henry Stephens and T. K. Regan were appointed Village Committee.

There were 140 present at the caucus.

At the Village Election, to be held March 19, there is a proposition to be voted upon to determining whether we are to pave East Center street or not, from Main street to East Avenue.

MORRIS S. TREMAINE

State Comptroller Morris S. Tremaine will shortly issue the annual report of the Department of Audit and Control. In it will be set forth in considerable detail the manner in which close to $500,000,000 is handled annually by that department. It is anticipated that the report will go to the Legislature and to Governor Roosevelt within the next week. The finances of the State of New York attract almost world-wide attention. Within the very recent past, Comptroller Tremaine received a request from the finance department of one of the South American countries for data regarding the New York State budget and other financial operations; and almost in the same mail a request from the Japanese Consulate for copies of some data the Comptroller had prepared regarding the cost of county and other municipal governments within the State.

Comptroller Tremaine was a business man and a financier before he took office on January 1st, 1927. His home is in Buffalo.

MUCH INTEREST IN SPELLING BEE

Each School Entering Picks Two Best Spellers to Represent Them in County Contest.

The National Spelling Bee, conducted in the eighth judicial district by the Buffalo Evening News and sponsored in Andover by the Andover News, has met immediate and widespread approval. Enrollment of schools began less than a day after the contest was opened officially.

Among the first schools to enter the 1929 National Spelling Bee are: Saint Luke's Lutheran school of North Tonawanda; and schools at Angola, Limestone, Bolivar, Castile, Irving, South Wales and South Byron.

The following have consented to serve on the Advisory Council in connection with the spelling bee: Frederick James Moffitt, superintendent of schools, Hamburg; W. D. Wisner, district superintendent, Ransomville; John T. McGuren, Arcade; William T. Hoag, principal, Angola; Louis Pestocco, principal, Limestone; Tracy L. Johnson, principal, Bolivar; M. Harold Ble, principal, Irving; Kate Barkham, principal, South Wales and George A. Barber, principal, South Byron.

Newspapers in Western New York who have joined the Buffalo Evening News in sponsoring this contest are, to date: Westfield Republican; Medina Tribune; Lyndonville Enterprise; Angola Record; Arcade Herald; Andover News; Mayville Sentinel; Ellicottville Post.

The National Spelling Bee is open to all elementary schools in the eighth judicial district. Public, private and parochial schools are included. Pupils of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades are eligible to compete. Each school entering the contest is to pick its two best spellers to represent that school in the county finals. The two best spellers in each county participate in the district championship bee.

Intense interest is being shown in the National Spelling Bee by the children in the various schools. Letters from principals show that nothing has caught the attention of their children as has the spelling bee. Each school is striving to win the honor of the county championship, and with that hope goes the hope that the school will win further championships, right thru the national contest.

Elementary school principals can assist the contest director by forwarding enrollment blanks at once. Because of the large number of enrollments in this contest, the Buffalo Evening News would like to complete arrangements as soon as possible. Principals desiring information concerning the Spelling Bee should direct communications to the Contest Director, Buffalo Evening News, 218 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y.

A MARKET STUDY TRIP TO NEW YORK

County Farm Bureau Arranging Tour for Potato Growers and Dairymen to Metropolis, March 5-8.

County Agent M. E. Thompson of the local Farm Bureau announced final plans today for the study trip to market terminals and the movement of produce in New York City to be made by a hundred or more farmers from upstate on March 5-8.

A large group of growers are planning to go on special coaches the day before to attend the trip in New York City. Several county groups have indicated a lively interest in the matter and when the group finally assembles at the Hotel Albert it is certain to take a number of the big busses to carry them about on the heavy schedule which has been arranged thru the local Farm Bureau.

Word has just been received that in addition to watching the arrival and handling of milk and close contact with actual auction sales and produce movement on the piers in lower New York, that a number of interesting side trips have been arranged such as a visit to an ocean steamer or the navy yard and special sight seeing trips at the close of the first day with a lecturer in each bus. Two evenings have been left open and special help will be given to anyone desiring assistance in selecting an evening of entertainment. This is to avoid heart failure on the part of those desiring to choose one show from a list of 40.

Other stops will be made at milk plants, express terminals, livestock receiving points and the Federal Reserve Bank. Railroads have granted reduced rates for parties of 25, and details of the complete trip are being completed and made available at the local Farm Bureau office. Reservation must be made in advance and immediately.

George Gavin

Andover and vicinity was deeply saddened Wednesday evening, Feb. 20th, by the death of George Gavin, one of our most loved and respected young men.

George Francis Gavin was born July 18, 1908, being the son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael E. Gavin.

Besides a wide circle of friends, he leaves to mourn his loss his parents and the following brothers and sisters, James, John, Michael, Jr., Mary and Cecelia, all of Andover.

The funeral was held Saturday morning at the Blessed Sacrament church, the Rev. C. E. McHugh officiating and burial made in the St. John's cemetery.

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral are: Anthony Gavin of Anderson, Indiana; Rose Doran, of Friendship; Miss Mary Lynch of Cuba; W. J. Clancy and son of Hornell; Margaret O'Donnell of Genesee; Margaret Sullivan of Wellsville; Mr. and Mrs. John Dixon and family of Almond; Mrs. Guy Halsey of Hornell; Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Lynch of Hornell and Clifford Howland of New York.

ALLEGANY COUNTY LAND PURCHASED FOR THE STATE

Albany, Feb. 25.—Purchase by the state of approximately 2,000 acres in Livingstop and Allegany counties, for additional demonstration forest and game refuge purposes, was announced today by Alexander MacDonald, New York State Conservation Commissioner.

The tract, to be known as the East Hill Demonstration Forest and game refuge, is located in the towns of Ossian, Nunda and Grove, and is located on the ridge between Sugar and Canaseraga creeks, about six miles northwest of the village of Canaseraga and about the same distance southeast of the village of Nunda.

The elevation of the area is from 1,700 to 2,000 feet and approximately one-half of the tract is abandoned farm land, while the remainder is covered with second growth forest. A three year old plantation of white pine, approximately 60 acres in extant, is included in the area.

FARM WIVES BOSS BIG ORGANIZATION

"Mere Man" Hasn't the Monopoly in Western Canada. Women Also Rule in Farm Pool.

"Mere men" have not the monopoly for directing large and successful farmers' co-operative marketing organizations in Western Canada where there are several such. Indeed they haven't! The Saskatchewan Egg and Poultry Producers, Ltd., with a total membership of over 19,000 and doing a gross annual turnover of approximately $600,000, was organized by a number of farmers' wives less than three years ago. The first president was Mrs. John Holmes, of Asquith, Saskatchewan, and she still holds the office by popular choice. Only two of the six members of the Board of Directors are men. They were elected probably to prove that there is no sex superiority complex held by the overwhelmingly large number of women in the membership of the pool.

The Saskatchewan Egg and Poultry Pool was organized because the farmers' wives regarded the system of individual selling as inefficient and under it the full measure of profits was not going to the producer.

A charge of $2 is made to those joining the Pool, one dollar of which is an organization fee, the other dollar is for one share of stock in the Pool. Members contract to deliver all their marketable eggs and poultry as directed by the Pool. Initial payments are made to producers on delivery, and the balance as soon as the products are sold and the overhead charges are determined. All profits go to the members.

Mrs. Holmes came to Western Canada in 1905 from the village of Ollerton, Nottinghamshire, England, with her husband. They settled at Asquith, Sask., in 1907, where they still live.

Arlton H. Burdick

Arlton H. Burdick of Alfred Station died February 16, at his home after a short illness of bronchial pneumonia. Deceased was 48 years of age, son of the late Samuel and Mary Corbett Burdick of East Valley. For several years he had been manager of the feed store at Alfred Station. He was a cousin of Mrs. Byron Proper of this village.

SUPERVISORS HOLD SPECIAL SESSION

Designate Further Roads as County Highways and Propose Bond Issue to Finance Roads.

The Allegany County Board of Supervisors met in special session on Tuesday morning of this week for a short session, before the highway meeting scheduled for 10 o'clock.

In the absence of Chairman Fenner, who is in Florida, Supervisor T. B. Burdick of Genesee was elected chairman pro tem.

The following resolutions were presented and adopted:

Resolved, That the Committee on Highways and the County Treasurer be, and they are hereby authorized and directed to submit to the board at its next session, the details of a proposed bond issue to raise the money necessary for the payment of the county's share of the cost of county highways and bridges built and to be built and contracted for in 1927 and 1928, being approximately $250,000. That said committee and county treasurer be authorized to employ counsel and that they submit to the board for its consideration the necessary resolutions for the authorization of such bond issue.

Whereas, This Board of Supervisors may by resolution, authorize additions to the map of County Roads which is on file in the office of the County Clerk, be it

Resolved, That the following described roads be added to such map: Beginning at a point in the Hamlet of Rushford on County Highway No. 8122, running thence southerly and westerly for about three and one-half miles thru the Hamlet of Hardy's Corners to a point on the line between the counties of Allegany and Cattaraugus, thence along said county line for about one-half mile to a point where this road leads into Cattaraugus county, such road to be designated as road No. 35 on the County System.

Beginning at a point in the village of Almond, running thence northerly thru the Hamlet of Bishopville to the line between the counties of Allegany and Steuben, a distance of about four and one-half miles, all in the township of Almond, such road to be designated as road No. 36 on the County System.

Birthday Surprise

A company of 12 ladies, old neighbors of Mrs. John Diffin, gave her a surprise visit Tuesday afternoon at her home on West Greenwood and First streets, in honor of her birthday. A very pleasant afternoon with entertainment, ice cream and assorted cakes were enjoyed.
