Uncle Charlie says BIGGER MILK PRODUCTION in MARCH On BULL BRAND FEED

WITH Bull-Brand, one month is like another.

For example, Arthur Johnson, of Homerstown, N. J., started feeding B-B Dairy Ration in March; his herd gained three quarts a day per cow. It also put them in fine condition.

In March of Dry Spell

Oscar Martin of Oakdale, Md., found himself in the midst of a very dry spell with pasture getting short. He had been feeding another dairy ration. Fortunately he heard of Bull-Brand at that time.

"My cows gained 10 gallons of milk a day in less than two weeks on B-B Dairy Ration — over and above the feed I had been using."

Mr. B. Ryan of Bomoseen, Vt., writes: "I am getting 9 full pails more milk a day on Bull-Brand."

These records and our guarantee of biggest milk production per dollar of feed cost point out the surer road to bigger profits for you.

AVOID INFECTION

First be sure that the system is in good condition. A good laxative such as Rexall Orderlies or Rexall Laxative Salt at regular intervals is important.

Then fortify the nose and throat against infection by spraying with a good antiseptic. For this purpose we suggest MS-31 Antiseptic Solution, and will be pleased to give you a 4-oz. bottle free with the purchase of an atomizer.

During the day when you are out of reach of an atomizer, we suggest a few drops of Vaporex on a piece of gauze, inhaled frequently.

Don't take chances; take precaution.

GAME BIRDS SAVED BY U. S. PLANES

Izaak Walton League Persuades Government to Feed Starving Wild Animals From Air Planes.

Reports received by Fred H. Doellner, general manager of the Izaak Walton League, at the national headquarters at Chicago, from points all over the country disclose that the Waltonians have been responsible for saving the lives of game birds, and other forms of wild life, such as deer, elk, beaver, foxes, etc., probably to the number of hundreds of thousands, during the past winter.

Severity of the winter in the northern localities and forest fires in ether states, have threatened the lives of countless numbers of nature's wild fowl and animals, according to the reports received by Mr. Doellner. And many of these reports contain remarkable elements of human interest.

In California, for instance, where forest fires had deprived all forms of wild fowl and animal life of means of sustenance, the local Walton chapters, particularly those in the Pomona area, adopted strenuous measures to save the wild life facing death from starvation. Appeal was made to the United States Air Service, which promptly placed at the disposal of the chapters a fleet of airplanes. These were loaded with grain and other forms of food and sent soaring over the fire-destroyed areas, sprinkling the food about in advantageous places. Thousands of deer and elk thus were saved from starvation.

Even the fire-stricken farmers and ranchmen aided in the work. Many instances were related of these harrassed people, with the ashes of their homes blowing about, giving time and of their rescued supplies to feed the herds of deer and elk, the flocks of game birds some of which were so hardly driven by starvation that they even invaded the ranch enclosures. One ranchman found upwars of 700 pheasants on what had been his front lawn and had been feeding them from his own stores and the food supplies furnished by the Walton chapters.

Thruout Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, and in northern New York and New Hampshire, local chapters of the League have been feeding the game birds and animals. At Chicago, the Cook County organization of Walton chapters obtained about eight tons of stale bread from the local bakers and with the aid of Boy Scouts, broke and distributed it thruout the forest preserves of the county. Several hundred local chapters at points all over the country, have reported similar activities.

ALEXANDER MACDONALD

Albany—The Senate has unanimously confirmed Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's reappointment of Conservation Commissioner Alexander Macdonald of Franklin county, a Republican, and world recognized authority on conservation. Members of the Senate paid tribute to the Governor's renomination of Mr. Macdonald as recognizing "the right man in the right place."

Mr. Macdonald was educated in Boston and at Middlebury College, Vermont. He was principal of the high school at St. Regis Falls for seven years and school commissioner of Franklin county for nine years. He has had opportunity to study at first hand the forest needs of the state. He served six years in the New York State assembly, being chairman of the conservation committee. As chairman of the ways and means committee, he gained complete knowledge of state finances.

For several years he advocated acquisition by the state of increased holdings of forest land as a conservation measure of the first importance, and in 1916 he took an active part in securing the passage of the law providing for a bond issue of $10,000,000, of which $7,500,000 was for the enlargement of the forest preserve.

Under the direction of Mr. Macdonald 23,375,500 trees were distributed from state nurseries for reforesting in 1927. His campaign against invasion of New York State by the damaging gypsy moth has resulted in blocking its advance for four consecutive years.

Mrs. Herbert Burdick

Grace L. Burdick, wife of Herbert Burdick, died at the Strong Memorial hospital at Rochester, N. Y., Sunday, March 3, 1929, of pneumonia.

Mrs. Burdick is survived by her husband and four children, Louise, Laura, Marion and Maxine, of Cold Water, N. Y.; two sisters, Mrs. Ira Conner, Mrs. Maud Driscoll of Canal Fulton, Ohio; one brother, Forrest Gee of Andover, N. Y.; three half sisters, Mrs. Henry Bennett, Mrs. Mary Bunker of Andover, N. Y., Mrs. Mercy Gostley of Wellsville and one half brother, Henry Gee of Wellsville, N. Y.

Grace Burdick was born at Wellsville, Oct. 30, 1889, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Gee. Her early life was spent in Wellsville and Andover vicinity and she was married to Herbert Burdick June 9, 1907 and has been a resident of Rochester since.

Mrs. Burdick was a member of the Gates Presbyterian church, the Andover Rebekah Lodge, No. 303, I. O. O. F., the Order of Eastern Star at Scottsville, the Pagans Teacher's Association, the Home Bureau and many other organizations.

Funeral services were held Wednesday p. m., March 6th, at the home at 2 o'clock and at 2:30 at the Gates Presbyterian church. Burial was at Brown cemetery.

James Joyce

After an illness of over four years, James Joyce passed away Saturday afternoon, March 9th, at his farm home four miles southeast of Andover, aged 65 years.

James Joyce was well known and respected by all. He was one of Andover's industrious and substantial farmers, having been born in Andover and always lived here.

In April, 1896, he was married to Miss Margaret Dunnigan, who died January 4, 1904, to whom two daughters were born, Miss Mary Joyce of Andover and Mrs. Margaret Joyce Harris of Buffalo. July, 1907 he married Catherine Graham. Of this union no children were born.

Besides the widow and two daughters, Mr. Joyce is survived by six brothers, Thomas, Henry, Peter, John, Bartley, all of Andover and Edward of Fort Allegany, Pa., and one granddaughter.

Let's Get the Telephone Poles off Main Street

Last week the News called attention to the wearing out of some of our telephone equipment that causes very poor service at times. We have never published an article that seemed to meet with such unanimous approval.

This week we learn from the officers of the Allegany County Mutual Telephone Company that the directors have ordered the management to purchase a new cable and are only waiting for suitable weather for its installation.

Before this cable is strung is the time to consider where it is to be put. The Village Board should not allow it to clutter up our Main street any longer. But the Village Board cannot consistently object to the telephone company using our already too narrow Main street for the accommodation of telephone poles, while they themselves allow their unsightly electric poles to mar and deface an otherwise pretty street.

The Andover electric line was built ten years ago. Already some of the poles are showing decay, and it will not be but a year or so more before many of the poles will have to be replaced. Why not do it now, while the telephone company are obliged to put in new construction, and get the job done all at once and in a workmanlike manner, a way that will be in keeping with the other things which has made Andover noted as a modern progressive village?

The electric department of the Village of Andover in the village report, shows a profit of $5,795.61 last year. This profit was paid into the village not by the tax payers, but by the users of electricity. The tax payers really have no right to say how this money shall be spent. Only electricity consumers have created this fine balance in the village treasury and none can complain if some of it is spent in making the electric line more modern.

Our Village Board are all first-class progressive citizens. They all want Andover to continue to be a pretty village. But they have no way to know the sentiment of the people on this or any other question. If all those people who want to see Andover advance and keep pace with other modern villages will express themselves to the various members of the Village Board in favor of taking all telehone poles off of Main street, it will be done this year. They are only waiting for public sentiment to demand it.

It will not cost Andover people a cent more in the long run to make this change now than it will to wait a year or two and then have to do it, at a time when the telephone line has been rebuilt and made in good shape with lines running all over our streets.

Another thing the Village of Andover should have absolute control of every pole in the village, and this it can only do by owning them themselves.

Come on, fellows! Let's get all this construction work done up in 1929: The Andover-Greenwood road built, the East Center street paving done and the unsightly poles taken from our Main street!

NEW YORK-PENNA. REGION PROMOTION

Steps Taken to Develop and Acquaint Outside World With Scenic Beauties and Advantages of Region.

Salamanca, March 11.—Representatives of civic groups and newspapers from eight communities in Cattaraugus and Allegany counties, in New York State, and McKean county, Pennsylvania, meeting in Salamanca Saturday evening, voted to form a regional promotion to acquaint the outside world with the scenic beauties, recreation opportunities and agricultural, industrial and economic advantages of this region.

As the next step to this end, the meeting directed the appointment of a nominating and organization committee for officers at another meeting to be called by it. All communities in his region will be invited to send representatives to this meeting.

The territory which it was suggested would naturally be included is Cattaraugus county, southern Erie county, eastern Chautauqua county and western Wyoming and Allegany counties in New York State and McKean and Potter counties in Pennsylvania.

The advantages of a regional promotion organization were described by Guy Comfort, of Perry, president of the Genesee Country Association, which was organized four years ago and already has attained marked success. Mr. Comfort said his association would be glad to co-operate in forming a new regional association here, because such organizations are not competitive, but mutually helpful. He predicted that an organization in this region, working in conjunction with those in the Chautauqua region, his association, the Finger Lakes Association and the Niagara Frontier Association would be able to increase immensely the number of tourists and vacationists coming to Western New York and Northwestern Pennsylvania. And the "tourist crop," he said, is by far the most profitable in the world today.

Allegany county was represented by H. E. Keller, C. C. Brown, P. J. Keenan and Elmer E. Conrath, of Cuba.

Interment was in St. John's cemetery.

WHERE SMALL TOWNS EQUAL THE BIG

Large Prizes Are Offered For Those High School Pupils Who Can Spell Well.

A village of 1,500 has equal opportunity in competing against a city of 100,000 in a spelling bee, according to contest records. For the past two years, the village Jericho, Vt., with its population of 1,500 has produced the spelling champion of the state of Vermont. Size makes no difference when it comes to spelling.

There are a great many small schools with good spellers in the eighth judicial district, the territory in which the Buffalo Evening News is conducting the National Spelling Bee preliminaries. Perhaps Andover in which the Andover News is sponsoring the contest, has the New York State champion. The only way this can be determined is for each and every school, no matter how large or how small, to enter the contest.

Some boy or girl in the territory will receive prizes ranging from $25 to $1,000, for the Western New York champion speller takes part in the national finals in Washington.

The prizes for the national contest are as follows: First, $1,000; second $500; third $250; fourth $150; fifth $75; sixth $50; seventh $40; eighth $35. Each of the other contestants will receive $25 whether or not they spell a single word correctly. Besides this, the spellers taking part in the contest will have a week of eight-seeing, theater parties and a trip to the White House to meet President Hoover.

The Buffalo Evening News is offering the following prizes in Western New York: Each county champion will receive $20, while the second best speller receive a medal. The Western New York champion will receive a trip to Washington with all expenses of the winner and an escort paid. The second best speller will receive a cash prize of $50.

District schools thruout the rural section are urged to enter the contest and show their prowess as spellers. Size of the school has nothing to do with the contest, nor has the age of the contestants, for in Kentucky, the leading contender for the state title is a boy of 11. He is Roy L. Johnson. Last year he finished in second place in the state championship.

Full information concerning the contest may be obtained by writing the contest director, Buffalo Evening News.

Orders Auto Plates

Albany.—Charles A. Harnett, New York State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, this week placed with Auburn Prison officials his order for 2,446,257 automobile registration plates for 1930.

The plates for next year will be black with yellow letters and the characters will be made smaller and more distinct.

Some confusion has resulted in discerning 1929 plates because of the letters being placed over the numerals. In 1930 the numerals will be placed over the letters and it is expected that this will do away with the confusion.

The types of registration for 1930, all of which will be manufactured by convict labor at Auburn, include: Passenger cars, 1,965,026; commercial, 323,153; suburban, 9,725; trailers, 9,230; motorcycles, 16,000; dealers, [illegible]; omnibus, 54,050.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE MAYOR

Mayor Mingus Proclaims Friday and Saturday As Dates to Celebrate Legions Tenth Anniversary.

The American Legion will soon celebrate the tenth anniversary of its organization. To those who so nobly served their country in time of great peril it will be an anniversary of achievement for a great work has been performed by the Legion in the decade of peace that has followed the close of the World War. The American Legion was born out of the spirit of comradeship and mutual helpfulness that was so outstanding among those who fought side by side in the great struggle and it is today carrying on a program of public service that has no parallel in the nation's history.

The greatest work of the Legion has been to care for those who suffered most by the war. The best efforts of the organization have been exerted in the behalf of the disabled soldiers, the war orphans and those who were left widows by the war. Altho much has been accomplished for these war sufferers there is still a great deal to be done. The Legion has given assurance that this work will be continued as long as there is a need for it. In the field of community service the Legion has successfully conducted civic betterment projects in all parts of the country that have demonstrated in a concrete way the power of the Legion to serve in time of peace. The celebration of the Legion's tenth anniversary on March 15 and 16 will be the occasion for a renewed effort to enroll more war veterans in this work. It is the purpose of the Legion to increase its membership in order that its work for the year may be broadened and extended. The people of this city are truly appreciative of the character of the work that is being done by the Legion and they believe every encouragement should be given for its continuance.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Robert D. Mingus, Mayor of the Village of Andover, N. Y., do hereby proclaim Friday, March 15, and Saturday, March 16, as the dates for the Tenth Anniversary Celebration of the American Legion and urge all citizens to aid the Legion in every possible way to increase its membership strength. Every veteran should subscribe to the program of the organization by wearing the Legion button.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the village of Andover to be affixed. Done in the Village of Andover this 6th day of March, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-nine.

Signed ROBERT D. MINGUS,
Mayor of Andover, N. Y.

SHALL WE PAVE EAST CENTER S[illegible]

Proposition to be Vo[illegible] Upon at Election [illegible] Tuesday. Financially [illegible] Position To Do So.

It should be a source of comfortable satisfaction to every tax [illegible] who read the Annual Report of [illegible] village in the last issue of the [illegible] that our village is in such a fine financial position.

From this report we learn [illegible] there is a balance of $18,236.[illegible] cash on hand and that the total [illegible] debtedness is $11,122.50, which would leave a cash balance of $7,114.40 after all bonds were paid. It is doubtful if there is another village in this section of the state whose finances are in as good condition as our own.

There is a proposition to be voted on at the coming election next Tuesday to pave East Center street at a cost of $12,000.00.

According to this proposition the property owners on each side of the street are to pay 25 per cent, which means that they pay one-half or $6,000, and also their proportionate share in the regular taxes of the remaining $6,000, which the village has to pay. These payments are to be spread out over a period of ten years, hence there would be $600 and the interest each year to be paid out of the regular funds of the village.

The unpaved streets are a continuous bill of expense while the paved streets have been in for a number of years and need no repairs whatever. This being the case the money laid out on unpaved streets over a period of a few years would pay for the paving and the expense of keeping up our streets would be cut considerably.

Andover is wise in the sane way they have handled the paving of their streets. They have not gone blindly at the job, but first selected the streets needing the permanent improvement the most, paved it, and then waited until the indebtedness was lowered enough so they could pave the next one most needing the improvement.

The only error made was when the village tried to cut the expenses by concreting Rochambeau avenue, that should have been paved with brick.

Now the question of paving East Center street is before the tax payers and will be voted upon next Tuesday. This will be a continuation of the paving on West Center street and will finish paving the entire street, giving us three east and west streets fully paved.

Surely every property owner now living on an improved road will vote Tuesday to help dig their more unfortunate neighbors out of the mud.

It should, however, be understood that the proposition for paving East Center street is not one the Village Board has promulgated. They are only doing their duty in submitting the proposition to the electors after a petition has been presented to them with the legal number of signatures.

1929 MILITARY TRAINING CAMPS

John Dolan of Andover, today, was formally notified by Major General Hanson E. Ely, commanding the Second Corps Area of the United States Army at Governors Island, N. Y., of his re-appointment as chairman of the committee in charge of enrollment for the 1929 Citizens Military Training Camps in Allegany county.

Thus for the present year, he becomes the active head of all local activities for the promotion of popular interest in the annual government training camps. Already he has been designated county representative of the Military Training Camps Association for this year.

Other public spirited citizens who will serve with him on the county committee include H. B. Hitchcock of Bolivar; L. S. Rogers, Cuba; C. M. Potter of Alfred; E. D. Hilbert of Bushford.

General Ely accompanied his notification to the newly reappointed chairman with the first announcement of plans the government will set on foot this summer to give qualified young men of this county the opportunity to spend 30 days in the open air under ideal camp conditions at no expense to themselves.

As in other years, youths who attend the C. M. T. Camps will not become obligated in any way for future military service. Those who pass the simple physical and mental examinations need only to show evidence of good character and to signify their willingness to go to camps for the full 30 days.
