Labrador Guest At the Watsons'

Miss Effie Osborne of St. Mary's Island, off the coast of Labrador, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Huber Watson. They became acquainted with Miss Osborne when on their recent trips down the Labrador. Her father has been the keeper of St. Mary's lighthouse for many years and she, with a younger sister, often tend the light alone when her father is caught away from home by some sudden storm and unable to return perhaps, for many days. About three months each winter the St. Lawrence river is frozen over so that all navigation is closed and the lighthouse beacon is not needed. Then the Osborne family goes to Harrington Harbor, 15 miles distant, to live. Here is their nearest village and school, and here also are their nearest neighbors. At Harrington Harbor is situated one of the Grenfell hospitals which are such a blessing to the people on that rugged coast.

Miss Osborne has been spending the winter with friends in Northern Vermont and going to school. She has come to Andover to spend her Easter vacation of three or four weeks. This long spring vacation in the maple sugar section of Vermont is as much the rule as the fall potato digging vacation is for the rural schools near Andover.

A HIT-AND-RUN MOTORIST CAUGHT

Floyd W. Cole of Blossburg Arraigned Here and Fined $50 for Leaving Scene of Accident.

Another hit-and-run motorist was caught at Hornell, Sunday evening, after hitting a car stopped on the side of the road, nearly opposite Charles Stebbins' residence, on the Andover-Wellsville highway Sunday night at about 7:30. The driver was apprehended in Hornell an hour later.

James Davis and Reed Miller, both of Whitesville, were driving towards Andover, and having some trouble with their car. They stopped along side the highway. Lights on the car were burning. Davis, who had been standing near the front of the car, was thrown into the highway and Miller hurled into a ditch on the right, when a heavy sedan crashed into the side of the Whitesville car. Force of the impact threw the lighter car 20 feet, where it came to a stop with the front resting in the ditch and the rear wheels on the edge of the concrete.

Davis was lying unconscious in the highway when found. Miller was shaken up and bruised, but otherwise unhurt. The two men were taken to the office of Dr. C. W. O'Donnell by Charles Robinson, who was passing at the time. Davis was treated for cuts about the face and head and a deep gash over his left eye. He also suffered painful bruises to the legs.

Floyd W. Cole, of Blossburg, Pa., was nabbed in Hornell, where police had been notified to be on the lookout. Sergeant C. G. Burnett and Trooper H. L. Silvay of the Canisteo patrol, identified the car by the Pennsylvania plates and the smashed right fender and running board.

Returned to Andover, Cole was arraigned before Justice of the Peace E. A. Mullen on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. He pleaded guilty and was fined $50. He is also required to settle for all damages to the victims, which he says will be provided for by casualty insurance which he carries.

WANT JUSTICES TO SENTENCE IN FULL

Many Do Not Revoke License, So State Has to do so and Then There is Trouble.

Albany, N. Y., April 2.—The Bureau of Motor Vehicles has sent to all magistrates, judges, and justices of the peace through the state a letter from Charles A. Harnett, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, which in part is as follows:

"Justices of the peace are accepting pleas of guilty from motorists for offenses which under the Vehicle and Traffic Law are punishable by revocation of their licenses for a period of at least six months, and innumerable cases have come before me in which the motorists state they took a plea of guilty of offenses such as driving cars while intoxicated, leaving scene of an accident, assault, etc., purely on the representation of the justice of the peace or the police officer that it would result in a small fine and the case would be closed. Subsequently a notice of revocation sent by this Bureau has caused no end of confusion and additional work. Justices of the peace and police officers are respectfully invited to give thought to this notice that motorists may be properly informed of the consequences of a plea of guilty in the violations cited above.

"The law makes mandatory the revocation of licenses of persons found guilty of the offenses to which reference is made.

Commissioner Harnett's letter also calls attention to provisions of the law which require that the court, upon conviction of violating the Vehicle and Traffic Law, shall certify to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles at once the judgment of the court and the sentence imposed with the name and address of the offender.

In Budget Fight

JOSEPH H. WILSON

Albany.—Joseph H. Wilson, financial expert, and director of the budget, is the man who sat with Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in preparation of New York State's first constitutional executive budget which totals $256,416,774.58 and the enactment of which has caused a controversy between the Governor and the Legislature.

Mr. Wilson in his official office of director of the budget will go down in State history as the drafter of the first executive budget, a constitutional measure which places upon the Governor the responsibility for initiating the budget for the support of government, and which was designed to take the budget out of politics.

The controversy between the Governor and the Legislature over enactment of the executive budget arose when the Governor refused to forfeit to the Legislature any of the powers conferred upon him by the constitutional amendment of November 8, 1927, when 1,291,990 voters favored the proposition as against 446,107 who were opposed.

The office of director of the budget is one of the most powerful in the State. Mr. Wilson has access to the official records of all State departments. He may require any State officer to furnish him with financial data and he may subpoena and compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of records. He is also empowered to survey State departments to ascertain instances of waste and duplication of effort to the end that he may recommend remedies to the legislature.

FOUND INTERESTING TOWN RECORDS

Tells of Andover's Public Schools 105 Years Ago At Their Founding. Cos First Year, $32.22.

While removing old town records from the room over the Corner garage, Commissioner Howland discovered a valuable relic, Tuesday. It was "The record of proceedings" of the commissioners of common schools in the town of Andover, N. Y.," and began 1824.

June 28, 1824 the commissioners were Barnabus Reed and Luther Strong. Town clerk was Amherst Kingsbury. The first entry in the book was made June 28 and reads as follows:

"Commissioners of Common Schools met at the home of Luther Strong for the purpose of laying out school districts at which time Districts Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 were laid out, all of which were entered on the records of the Town Book."

September 27th of the same year the following entry was made: "Commissioners met and made out the annual report to the Superintendent of Common Schools. The substance of said report is as follows, viz.: Five entire districts and one part of district in town, organized according to law, necessary reports have been made for the present year within the time limited by law by one district and one part district.

School has been kept in district No. 1 seven months, $30.22 received. Number of children taught in District No. 1, 44, between five and 15 years, 32.

School has been kept in District No. 5 six months. Amount of money received not known. Number of children taught 17. Number of children in District No. 2, between five and 15 years, 22. No. 3, 13; No. 4, 18; No. 6, 4; No. 7, 8. All the moneys received by the commissioners, $30.22, which has been expended in paying approved teachers.

The last entry of the book was made by Ebenezer Hunt, town clerk, July, 1848. It reads:

"Apportionment of money for the town of Andover in the year 1848, the amount of which is $339.00 of which $225.86 was received from the collector and $113.14 was received from the county treasurer."

Charles Harvey Watson

Charles Harvey Watson was born at Cuba, N. Y., Feb. 3, 1850, and passed away at the home of his son, Dr. Watson at Alfred, N. Y., on April 2, 1929.

Mr. Watson spent the greater part of his life at Cuba, where he lived unassumingly the life of a farmer, a father and a public-spirited citizen.

He was always greatly interested in church work and joined the Cuba Baptist church in his early life. He retained his membership there until he joined with the Andover church some years ago.

Fifty-six years ago last September he was united in marriage to Olive Mulkin, who survives. To them were born four children all of whom are now living: Lloyd R. Watson of Alfred, Charles Ruther Watson of Andover, Mrs. J. T. Keller of Kenmore and Mrs. M. M. Groves of Olean.

Because of failing health Mr. Watson sold the old farm home eleven years ago and moved to Andover. Here old age has gradually caused his activities to cease. He passed on to the Better Land while making a short visit at his son's home in Alfred.

Brief funeral services were held there Thursday afternoon and burial was made at the Alfred Rural cemetery.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB ANNUAL BANQUET

Annual Meeting and Election of Officers of Local Automobile Club Thursday Evening, April 25.

The annual banquet and election of officers of the Andover Automobile Club will be held this year Thursday evening, April 25th.

The business session will follow the banquet, free to members of the club. Prominent speakers in the automobile world will be present.

At the meeting of the Board of Directors at the office of the club, Thursday evening, President L. E. Jordan was appointed a committee to secure the speakers, and B. S. Brundage, A. D. Fuller and John Wahl a committee to arrange the banquet.

It was also decided to admit the members' ladies to membership for half price.

Preceding this annual meeting the club is making its yearly drive for members. Every automobile owner in this section is being urged to join the club and receive its benefits. Membership in the local automobile club carries with it membership also in the state and national association. Besides membership in these automobile associations a club member may obtain the Green Book at greatly reduced price.

Another new feature which will appeal to the traveling public is the Emergency Road Service, established thruout the state of New York, which practically guarantees to "3-A" members, a service at a reasonable cost in case of an emergency. In other words, the state association has signed up garages in every city and town that will guarantee to give the automobile club member the best service possible at the minimum cost. The Andover club has sponsored the installation of several of these stations in this section of the county and the members will have free towing service by these stations thruout the state. The member simply pays his bill for the towing service, receives the official receipt, presents it to the club and is reimbursed for the amount paid.

The State Association issues an Emergency Road Service Guide, containing a list of all stations with their telephone numbers, etc., which guides are distributed to the members.

In addition to the above, the members receive the Motordom publication monthly, and their dues in the state and national bodies are paid out of the local funds and no more is retained than is necessary to run the office and touring bureau, so it is felt that the members receive about all that can be given for a membership fee.

JOHN BARRETT IS AT LIFE'S END

Passed Away Suddenly At Dewey, Oklahoma, Monday.—Leaves Wife and Three Daughters.

Word came to Andover Tuesday of the sudden death of John (Jack) Barrett, at Dewey, Okla. No particulars of the cause of death have been received yet. Mr. Barrett was arranging to come to Andover to visit his mother in a week or so.

John Barrett was born in Andover, Nov. 9, 1879, and was the son of the late Patrick and Mary Barrett. He was well known in Andover where he grew to manhood, and was an oil well driller in the Andover field for a number of years. About 16 years ago he moved to Dewey, Okla., and engaged in contracting in the oil business.

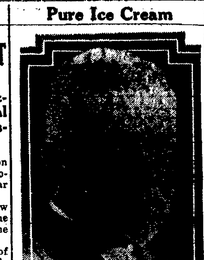
Pure Ice Cream



DR. MATTHIAS NICOLL, JR.

Albany—All milk or cream used in the manufacture of ice cream or other frozen milk products must be pasteurized either before or after being mixed with other ingredients under a regulation enacted by the Public Health Council, Dr. Matthias Nicoll, Jr., New York State Health Commissioner, has announced.

The rule is effective April 1 and it applies to all such products sold in the State, outside of New York City, which is under the jurisdiction of its own health department.

The regulation is designed to prevent the spread of communicable diseases through ice cream, milk and cream being the ingredients usually responsible, Dr. Nicoll said. "In 1925, the State Health Department records show an epidemic of 355 cases of septic sore throat was traced to contaminated milk used in the preparation of ice cream," he added.

"Not ice cream prepared by individuals or in small plants has been responsible for this and other less extensive outbreaks is probably accounted for, health officials say, by the fact that in large plants it is common practice to pasteurize the ice cream "mix" at a high temperature.

The new sanitary code regulation also requires that "the apparatus, utensils and containers used in the manufacture or delivery of frozen milk products shall be kept at all times in a clean and sanitary condition" and provides that no person who is suffering from a disease which may be transmitted through milk or cream may be employed in the handling of ice cream or its ingredients. Ice cream manufacturers are prohibited from continuing to employ persons refusing to submit laboratory specimens required to determine their freedom from such diseases.

DECEDENT ESTATES LAW IS SIGNED

Governor Terms Measure "New Charter of Rights for Women."—Goes Into Effect Sept., 1930.

Albany, April 1. — Governor Roosevelt has signed what he terms "a new charter of rights for women" but which appears in the record of legislative work as "an amendment to the law of decedent estates."

The bill, signed today in the presence of a group of interested persons headed by Surrogate Judge James A. Foley, author of much of the legislation contained in the measure, will give to the widow many of the rights of inheritance which are withheld under existing laws. The measure was introduced in the legislature by Senator George R. Fearon, Onondaga, and Assemblyman Edmund B. Jenks, Broome, both Republicans. It represents the work of two years by a special commission appointed to remodify sections of several laws relative to inheritance and was recommended by the Governor in his message to the Legislature.

"The decedent estates law," says the statement from the executive office, "constitutes the most important changes in the property and inheritance laws of the state in more than 100 years. Under this law a husband or wife may not be disinherited as it extends the right of spouse to share in the real property of the other to all property left by the decedent.

"The bill signed today does not become a law until September 1, 1930. The time of its taking effect was put ahead so that any defects which may be discovered may be corrected by next year's legislature.

"One of the important changes in the law is that it eliminates all distinction between the sexes. It makes it impossible for a husband to disinherit a wife thru the subterfuge of organizing a corporation to retain his real estate holding by dower right, the right of the wife to a one-third interest in her husband's real estate, if there are children, is abolished, but the wife's interest is enlarged by extending her right to share all property real and personal. The surviving spouse may elect to take this interest in lieu of provisions of a will as tho there were no will.

"The bill limits the amount of an estate which may be given to charity to one-half where there are immediate heirs. It also restricts the right of heirs to object to charitable gifts to the immediate heirs.

"Under this law the executor of a will is given the right to sell real estate; unless the right is permitted to take possession of property and collect rents. These provisions are intended to make as few differences as possible in the administration of real and personal property."

In order to accomplish the general purpose of the bill, it was found necessary to amend sections of four laws, decedent estates, real property, domestic relations and the Surrogate's Court Act.

FRANCIS RAY IS TROUBLE AGAIN

Arrested Tuesday, Charged With Burglarizing the Shaff & West Garage, Taking Valuable Battery.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Kemp arrested Francis Ray upon warrant sworn out before E. A. Mullen by R. E. Shaff, for burglary in the third degree, Tuesday morning.

Ray is accused of breaking into the Shaff & West garage on North Main street, by entering thru a window and taking a battery from the charging block, Friday night.

The burglary was discovered Saturday morning when the garage was opened. A little detective work disclosed that the battery was being used on a milk wagon owned by Leonard Reisman, who claimed to have purchased it from Francis Ray.

Ray was working on the highway when arrested. He was taken before Police Court Justice Mullen and bound over to the Grand Jury.

Officer Kemp took Ray to the county jail, Tuesday, to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Francis Ray, it will be remembered, is the party that was in trouble a few months ago at Elm Valley, charged with stealing potatoes.

Use an ordinary frame to help remove stains. Stretch the part of the cloth containing the stain over the frame and place it over a bowl. Boiling water can then be poured thru without wetting much of the cloth or scalding the hands.
