SOW ALFALFA IN JUNE AND JULY

Firm But Not Too Compact Seedbed with Mellow Surface Gives Best Chance of Good Start.

The main season for sowing alfalfa is from June 15 to July 15, according to A. F. Gustafson of the New York State College of Agriculture. Some farmers succeed with alfalfa seeded in grain on limestone soils, but even in the limestone region many successful alfalfa growers seed it in midsummer without a nurse crop.

A firm but not too compact seedbed with a mellow surface gives alfalfa the best chance for a good start. On sandy loams and loamy sands, to roll after planting, preferably with a corrugated roller, spells the difference between success and failure. Such soils, if not rolled, dry out so much that the seed fails to germinate at all, or the young plant dies from lack of moisture for its roots after growth begins. On loams and the heavier sandy loams, roll after seeding alfalfa except, perhaps, during periods of heavy rainfall. On heavy soils, to roll after seeding is desirable during dry periods but is unwise during wet seasons. If a crust forms over the soil surface the young alfalfa seedlings may be unable to break thru and so perish under the surface.

Fall-plowed land is best for alfalfa, the plowed soil is firm and compact. Sometimes early spring-plowed land will be firmed sufficiently by rains, the natural settling, and the cultivation necessary to keep down the weeds until seeding time. Late spring-plowed land is too loose for success with alfalfa unless a great deal of time is spent compacting the lower part of the plowed land.

CHANGE FOOD WITH SEASONS

Plan Cool Dishes for Each Meal—Fresh, Uncooked Vegetables and Fruits and Cold Drinks Are Recommended.

The season changes styles in meals as well as clothes. Plan family menus to suit the hot weather.

Tho practically the same amount of food is needed in summer and winter, the kind is somewhat different. Since meat and fish create body heat, it is wise to eat less meat in summer and to obtain the necessary amounts of protein from eggs, milk, cheese, vegetables and whole wheat products.

Cool foods are generally more appetizing in summer than hot dishes. On a warm day, hot soup may cause discomfort, while a dish of ice cream is refreshing and nourishing. Some hot food is needed even in summer, however.

To make warm weather meals more appetizing serve several cold dishes at each meal, including crisp, fresh, uncooked vegetables and plenty of fresh fruits, use little fat in cooking, and provide cool drinks made from fruit juices.

To prevent indigestion do not take large quantities of very cold drinks while working, or when overtired or over-heated. In hot weather choose foods easy to digest; avoid pastries, rich sauces or gravies, hot breads, or heavy desserts.

FOR TENT CATERPILLARS

A simple and effective way to get rid of tent caterpillars is described by J. G. Needham of the state college of agriculture. Get a stiff wire bottle-brush and fasten it firmly to the tip of a straight cane pole. Fill a pint milk bottle with kerosene and put a wire hanger around its neck for convenient carrying. Dip the brush in the kerosene, stick it in the web of the caterpillars and twist it, the tent will wind up on the brush, caterpillars and all. To clear the brush, rub it against a convenient tree trunk. This will also smear the caterpillars with kerosene and kill them. This method can be done with clean hands and will prevent some damage and much unsightliness in the shrubbery thru the whole of the coming season.

Around Our House

CANNED MILK IS CONVENIENT

A supply of evaporated milk ready on the shelves may save the day for the housekeeper in summer, says the New York State College of Home Economics.

If the milkman forgets to come or extra milk is needed for cooking, canned milk, which is simply cow's milk with the water removed, may be depended upon. It is especially useful for summer camps or wherever fresh milk is hard to obtain.

When used uncooked in tea or coffee, canned milk has a characteristic flavor acquired by the evaporating process, but in cooking this is not noticeable. Cocoa, cream soups, desserts and sauces may all be successfully made with evaporated milk. Diluted with an equal quantity of water it can be used instead of whole milk. In recipes calling for cream, it may be used undiluted just as it comes from the can.

Evaporated milk may be substituted for egg yolk in making mayonnaise salad dressing. Before whipping it, place the can in water, heat the water to the boiling point to scald the milk and then chill. The milk must be cold before it will whip. A small quantity whips more easily than a large one.

HIGHLIGHTS ON STATE PRODUCE

From New York State Dept. Agriculture and Markets, June 11, 1929.

Strawberry Market Week

Supplies of strawberries were in excess of trade requirements today and in consequence the price obtained in many instances was of less importance than that of finding a buyer. The market at the close was very weak and sloppy. Hudson Valley strawberries of various varieties peddled out within the price range of from 10 to 25c principally 15 to 20c a quart. Offerings of various kinds from New Jersey sold at 7-15c, occasionally as high as 20c.

Potato Market Firmer

Lighter arrivals and a more active demand resulted in a firmer market and higher prices on southern new crop potatoes. A large volume of the wholesale business on No. 1 Cobblers was reported at $3.25-3.75 a barrel. Some fancy reached $4 and $4.25 while some off-grade sold at $2.75-3.

Country Dressed Calves

Fresh receipts of country dressed calves were again very light. Trading was fair to active. The market was firm and higher. A few extra fancy sold at a premium. Fresh receipts were Choice 22-24c, fair to good 20-22c, common 17-18c; small to medium 17-20c; lightweights 15-16c per pound.

Live Poultry

Fowls and broilers were in moderate receipts by express and freight. Fair early demand was slow and the market weak and lower. Fowls: Leghorn, 28-30c, colored 30-32c; Rollers: Rocks, fancy full feathered 2½ pounds and over 47-48c, average run, full feathered, 1½ to 2 pounds 43-45c, poor or scabby, or under 1½ pounds 38-42c. Reds, fancy full feathered, 2½ pounds and over 42-43c, average run, full feathered, 1½ to 2 pounds 38-40c, poor or scabby or under 1½ pounds 33-35c; Leghorn, fancy full feathered, 2 pounds and over 34-35c, average run, full feathered, 1½ to 2 pounds 30-32c; poor or scabby or under 1½ pounds, 25-28c.

Butter—Cheese—Eggs

The butter market ruled firm. Prices have advanced ½c since the close of last week. Today's prices, higher score 44-44½c, extra 43½c per pound.

Cheese values are slowly hardening. New York fresh, fancy flats range from 23½-24c per pound, and no Wisconsin Daisies are offered under 24c.

The egg market is firm. The demand for the lower grades is improving and some advance in price is anticipated toward the close of the week. Fancy brown eggs are in good demand while the demand for the same grade of whites is not quite so good. Today's prices are: Nearby nearby whites, best grade 38-40c per dozen, average extra 37½-38c; nearby nearby browns, fancy stock 35-36c.

Hay Market Firm

Demand for hay was active. No. 1 Grade Timothy continues very scarce. The market was irregular. No. 1 was $26-27; No. 2, $24-25; No. 3, $21-23.

Many wild plants in New York state make excellent salad or cooked greens. Among these are dandelion, live-forever, marsh marigold, watercress and wintercress.

The walls of a room make the background for all the furnishings, and should not have a pronounced color. Wall paper which is too bright in color, or too conspicuous in design, draws attention to itself and tends to dominate everything else in the room.

Agrigraphs

Crowding at the feed hopper stunts the growth of chickens.

This is a good time to buy a team of young horses. They are cheaper today than they are likely to be in the near future.

Bridge grafts, set in the spring, should be inspected sometime during June or July and any growths which have started from their buds should be cut or rubbed off.

Discontinue cultivation in the apple orchards the latter part of June or early in July. Better color to the fruit will result and cultivation costs are kept low.

Strawberries that were planted this spring should be kept cultivated and free from weeds thruout the season. Next year's yield is largely influenced by the care the planting receives this season.

Large horses are worth more than small horses both in value a head and value a pound.

Carpenters, dentists, and farmers are among those who need sharp tools. Bulletin E 165 on "Grinding Farm Tools," illustrates and explains the use of inexpensive grinders which are designed for farm use and driven by gas or electric power. Send to the college of agriculture at Ithaca if you need its help. It costs nothing more than the price of your one-cent postcard.

Bulletin E 135 on "Potato Diseases and Their Control" contains information about the nature, cause, distribution, importance and control of potato diseases in New York State. It may be obtained from the office of publication, state college of agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

When Food Sours
Lots of folks who think they have "indigestion" have only an acid condition which causes gas, sour stomach and bad breath. Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes acid in the stomach and relieves indigestion. It prevents the distress so apt to occur two hours after eating. What a pleasant preparation to take! Taste how good it is for the system! Use a teaspoonful or two of Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Next time you have a heavy meal or too rich food, try a teaspoonful or two of this milk of magnesia.

Homespun Yarn

A special pair of kitchen scissors make easy work of shredding lettuce or cutting up fruits and vegetables for salads.

An electric fan in the kitchen does much to relieve the discomfort of preparing meals in hot weather.

Lukewarm water, rapid washing and drying, may keep colored materials from running.

Never taste canned food to see if it is spoiled. Odor and appearance will tell enough without the risk of tasting. When in doubt throw it out.

Keep the ice compartment in the refrigerator well filled with ice and nothing else to save foods from spoiling.

To keep parsley fresh, sprinkle it with cold water, put it in a tight fruit jar, and keep it in a cool place.

Light-colored felt hats may be dry-cleaned by rubbing cornmeal into the surface, letting it stand over night and brushing it off.

All furnishings in the nursery should be kept proportionate in size, or to the scale of their small users.

Place the refrigerator near the entry to facilitate the delivery of ice.

Loose, sleeveless rompers with low necks make cool, comfortable play suits for children and provide for sunbaths during playtime.

Glass supports under the legs of the stove or kitchen cabinet will keep them from cutting the linoleum.
