Andover High School TIDBITS

SENIOR NEWS

Mr. Hardy has asked some of the High School girls to aid as student librarians during the day.

Our Senior President, Marguerite Perry, has been absent from school this week due to illness. We hope she will be with us again next week.

Why are the Seniors so disturbed lately? Perhaps it's because the seating system has been changed.

Because of the fiery color and long list of names on the red list, one is fairly blinded as they look at it. However, we are glad they are no Senior names on it to add to length and brilliancy.

The Seniors of 1930 are taking subscriptions to the McCall's magazine and have ordered Christmas gift accessories such as cards, seals, tags, paper and cord. We do not enjoy doing this bit of salesmanship, but will enjoy our Washington trip next June. See the Seniors before buying the above. We will appreciate your patronage.

JUNIOR NEWS

The Junior Class held a meeting Tuesday, October 22nd, in Miss Holmes' room. Further arrangements were made for the Hallowe'en Party they are giving in the High School Auditorium, Oct. 30th.

The Class of '31 enjoys the new seating plan and new rules, especially the former as it sends them a little nearer to the back of the Study Hall.

The marking lists on the bulletin boards find the Juniors very well represented. We have some on the honor roll but then. we also have some on the Red List. Let's get more on the Honor Roll and get a few off the Red List.

Vincent Yannie, who reently came back to school, is a member of the Junior Class.

OVER-AND-OVER

Last Friday, the 18th, Mrs. Beeton had charge of the assembly. It consisted of a dramatization of "The Wedding of the Painted Doll," which was presented in a most pleasing manner by Sarch Lobdell, Florence Parker, Florence Mulholland, Winnifred Cartwright, Alvin Edwards, Franklin Hurd and Howard Lewis.

A piano duet was rendered by Ruth Slocum and Florence Mulholland. . This was followed by a piano solo by Miss Slocum. These were both loudly acclaimed by all.

Last but not least was a one-act play entitled "The Diploma."

The cast of characters:
Mr. Faculty ..... Wilfred Gee
Mr. Discipline ..... Paul Joyce
Mr. Algebra ..... Emilio Yannie
Madame Latin,
Winnifred Wentworth
Miss Good Time ..... Doris Burdick
Mr. Graduate ..... Richard Appier
Miss Diploma ..... Mary Lehman

"Music in the Air" and "Sweet and Low" were sung by the audience.

Mrs. Beeton is to be congratulated on her work with the Eighth Graders who were responsible for this fine program.

Hi-Y Club was almost organized Monday night, October 21. About 17 High School boys were ready for the meeting. But, then, the organizer, Mr. Shinn of Wellsville, failed to make an appearance. The boys spent the evening singing and playing in the vicinity of the High School while waiting for Mr. Shinn.

In an effort to get the low marks up everything possible is being done. The lists, seating arrangement and new rules should get the scholarship of the high school up to where it should be.

After school on Friday, October 18, many of the student body and faculty journeyed to Alfred. It was Home-Coming Day for the Alumni of "the college nestled among the hills." It was a real gala day as Alfred defeated Juniata College by a score of 20-0.

Cabbage plants started in February will be less likely to produce seed stalks than those started in January.

Business farmers will answer letters just as promptly as will any other business men.

Since 1885 dairy cattle prices have been highest at the peak of 15-year cycles. According to this, the next high point will be reached in 1930 or 1931.

Here's Home
BY E.W. HOWE
THE SAGE OF POTATO HILL

NO MORE SLAVES. POLITICIANS. NO WORK, NO DINNER.

There was a time when slavery was widespread, and slaves almost helpless. Now the Emancipation Proclamation is world-wide in scope. There are no longer slaves except those of bad habits. The credit-able and powerful people known as the Jews were once slaves of the Babylonians, but were able to overcome their masters, not by revolution, but by industry, efficiency, reliability, saving. Such information as their masters had, the Jews acquired and improved. And it was the patient workers who survived; the rowdy Babylonians disappeared from the face of the earth, and the Jews are today a notable people.

Politics is the most place of sentiment in human affairs, and the worst roguery. Every politician is too great a friend of humanity when a candidate, and too great an enemy when elected. In attempts to carry out promises he knew in the first place were ridiculous. This is in the very nature of things, and I know of no remedy, except endeavor to improve the intelligence of voters. With voters as they are, there is no other way for politicians to operate than as they do.

A life is like an automobile; we own one without knowing much about the intricate construction under the hood.

Every man who earns a fortune under rules men have agreed upon, is entitled to. not only respect, but to distinction.

But I am not so certain as to his heirs, who, early in life, come into a fortune they have not earned. In many business institutions there are young idlers who receive more pay than other employees who succeed or fail on merit. Such young men cause dissensions hurtful to the business, and I observe that frequently in the best establishments, the sons of owners are compelled to take pot luck with the others; to put on overalls, and fight grease with those in the lower ranks, while the best offices are occupied by workers who have honestly earned the distinction.

This should be the rule everywhere and in everything; I do not know how it is to be brought about, but it is best that everyone be compelled to earn his way up, or stay down.

I am convinced it would be better in human society if this rule could be adopted:

Notice

Those interested in the Town Cooperative Scales at Andover, are requested to meet Saturday night, November 2nd, at City Hall, at 8 o'clock. Important business.

A. L. ROGERS, Secretary.

Uncle Ab says no two reasons ever saw a thing exactly the same, and maybe the other fellow's view is the better one.

The new early McIntosh apple is ready to eat in August. It is handsome and of excellent quality.

No work, no dinner.

Everyone is better off for earning his own way; it makes him fairer, tender, easier to get along with.

Statesmen are trying to steal the big fortunes for public use, at the death of their legitimate owners. It may be a good idea. In one small town 33 rich widows, not one of whom has ever legitimately earned a penny, were counted. In some ways it is right; in more ways it is wrong. Let the people vote on it.

If properly cared for, one good pair of silk stockings should outwear three or four cheap pairs.

Whitesville Child Killed at Sonyea

Elizabeth Heselton, eight years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Heselton, of West Union, a patient for the past three months at Sonyea State hospital for epileptics, was attacked and beaten to death with a mop handle last week by another patient, one Lucy Simmons of Rome, N. Y., aged around 20 years.

It is a most shocking affair that such a thing could be possible in an institution under State management. The body was brought to the home of her parents for funeral and later to Buffalo for cremation.

Auto and Team Get Mixed Up

What might have been a serious accident was averted by quick thinking on the part of the driver of the automobile when R. E. Shaff, driving a Pontiac sedan and John Mitchell, driving a team of horses, got mixed up at the point on the Greenwood road where the Shovel Hollow road intersects. Mr. Mitchell failed to hear the auto horn and turned right into the approaching car. To avoid a bad smash-up Shaff turned his machine into a large rock, bending the axle. No one was injured.
