The following conundrum is given in the Genesseo Republican, by its Correspondent "Cold Facts." Why are Weston and McClellan like a man who wears No. 12 boots? Because they are great in de feet.

MEETINGS.—Our Churches are all holding protracted meeting. And we are glad to say are meetings with good results. Quite a number have already gone forward on the anxious seat, and yet there are room for more.

OIL.—We learn by the Chautauqua Farmer that oil has been found on the farm of A. H. Welch, about two miles from Mayville. The liquid found was set fire to, which burned very rapidly, and made a smell such as nothing but crude oil can.

PRETTY NEAR A LOCAL.—On Tuesday evening Freight train 36 struck a cow belonging to Hale Davis, about 10 rods west of Main street crossing. It was at first supposed that she was killed, but in less than half an hour the said, same identical cow was seen walking up street toward home.

DIED.—On Wednesday morning, January 4th, Dr. J. W. French at his residence in Fremont, Steuben Co., Ind. The Doctor moved from this place about eighteen months ago, thinking perhaps his health would be better there than here. He leaves a wife and two children, and a large circle of friend to mourn his loss.

The editor of the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin is bothering his head over the following problem: If 4 dogs with 10 legs can catch 29 rabbits with 87 legs in 14 minutes, how many legs must the same rabbits have to get away from 8 dogs with 32 legs in 17 1-2 minutes, allowing 365 days in the year.

Daniel M. Brundage, of Greenwood died on New Year's day, at the age of 44 years. At the time of his death he was Supervisor of that town, an office which he has held for several years. He was largely engaged in business enterprises owning saw and grist mills and farms. He had a large circle of acquaintances and warm friends, and the death of no other man in that town would have caused greater or more general regret.—Corning Dem. Mr. Brundage was a brother of B. C. Brundage of this place.

Read the article on our first page from the Grand Army Journal relating to the removal of the bones of the Union dead at Arlington. The blunt refusal of President Grant to listen to those who sought the removal of the cemetery, and the restoration of the place to Mrs. General Lee, cannot but cause admiration of the man who while magnanimous in his treatment of a conquered foe would not suffer this sacrilege to be committed. We sincerely regret that the writer of the article referred to did not give his name. That he is a true patriot his burning word conclusively prove, that he was a brave soldier we believe.

Persons, Places, and Things in Allegany County.

Scio.

The town of Scio was formed from Angelica, Jan. 31st, 1823. A part of Amity was taken off in 1820, a part of Willing in 1851, and a part of Wellsville in 1855.—The first settlement was made at the mouth of Knight's Creek in 1805, by Joseph Knight and his son Silas, from Oneida county. The people are mostly engaged in the lumber trade. In a recent visit to the village of Scio, we found it flourishing finely. The town has now four steam saw mills, and five water-power saw-mills.—The first saw-mill was erected by Benjamin Palmer in 1822, and the first gristmill a year later. Silas Rollamy settled at Scio village in 1809, and in the same year married Betsy Knight. There are now seven stores, a tannery, boot and shoe establishment and cheese factory. We step into Mr. M. Smith's to make some enquiries about the village, we find him thronged with customers. Mr. Smith does a good business in dry goods and groceries. He is also a dealer in melodeons, organs, &c., being agent for the New Haven Melodeon Company. It is a very simple matter to find a tip-top organ at Smiths'. Mr. W. A. Loomis, carriage and wagon manufacturer, has purchased an engine and is about to enlarge his business. He is going to manufacture Hatche's cast iron bobs, having bought the right. We saw the bobs and believe them to be good. M. S. Davis, dealer in dry goods, groceries and provisions, is doing a first-rate business; and no man in the village is more deserving of patronage. Mr. Hyde is a merchant of long standing, and a gentleman of high moral worth. John Hughes deals in drugs, dyes, medicines patent and potent, yankee notions, and confectionery, and deals fairly, consequently, is laying up the stamps. Mr. J. N. Sheldon is Scio's postmaster, also one of Scio's grocers, and, we believe is doing a good business. Mr. Sheldon is evidently a live man.

There are two hotels in the village; one kept by A. Hall, and the other by John Stannard. Mr. Hall did the neat thing by us during our visit, and will, we don't not do the same for any one who may call upon him. Harris, of the stave factory, is doing a whirling business. Two of the other saw-mills also saw staves.

Mr. William Duke, the Supervisor, is extensively engaged in the lumber business. He is an enterprising and influential man and justly esteemed by all who know him.

Charles S. Clark & Co., are extensive dealers in pine, hemlock and hard wood lumber and timber, shingles, &c. J. M. Thomas, Esq., deals in produce and is also cattle and stock broker. Bernard Coyle, who is in the grocery and provision line, deals also in clocks, watches, and jewelry. E. Harris, Wm. Middaugh, C. Hamilton, E. C. Elwell, E. Lindsay, and J. Hyde deal in lumber, shooks, and shingles.

The population of the town is about 1,500. The assessed valuation of real and personal property of the town for 1870 was $273,545. We were informed that the schools were in a flourishing condition, but were sorry to find no Union Graded School in town. We hope to see one in every town in the county. A lodge of Good Templars was formed a short time ago; a sign of promise. We spent but an hour in Scio and had but little time to enquire into matters, but shall visit there again and make a more extensive report.

Correspondence.

ANDOVER, N. Y., Jan. 19, 1871.

MR. EDITOR:—I am so assailed and traduced, in reference to discontinuing the services of one of the teachers of our "Union Free School," I regret, that I am compelled to make this public explanation of the matter. The evening following the close of the last term of school, I did say to one of the teachers, I thought she might consider herself as employed for the next term. This, of course, would be by the sanction of the Board of Education; the Visiting Committee having power, only to confer with, and nominate suitable persons, and their terms,—not to hire. I acted in good faith, and knew no good reason why the Board should not ratify the nomination. Three days after this, however, I was shown, (as were also all the members of the Board,) four manuscripts, from the pen of the teacher in question, that showed so many gramatical errors, that I, with others of the Board, questioned the propriety of continuing her in so responsible a position, knowing as I did, there were at least two dozen pupils, capable of detecting and correcting those errors.

The following; (one of the four manuscripts above referred to, containing a less number of mistakes than either of the others, and written with seeming care) was written for the School Paper in the early part of last term; and will show for itself. It is a verbatim copy of the original manuscript, now in my possession.

"OBITUARY"

"W. B. Wright died at Andover Oct 10th 1870. The vacant Chair and the lonely look in Our School room unite to tell us Our beloved teacher is numbered with the dead. And that the ties which bind us together are never to close to be parted or to strong to be broken. Death has thrown a deep and somber pall over our School, Tearful are the eyes of his friends, and desolate is our hearts. It is right that we should mourn a star of magnitude and luster has left our horizon and gone down to relms of death! And now as the future looks dark and gloomy, let us turn to that shady vale, called the garden of Memory, in it dwell hopes and forms and scenes of long ago. At our bidding there comes thronging before us loved forms, and bright thoughts arise that leave us happier and better for the influence they bring. Clearest and most welcome among all the voices of loved ones there comes our kind teachers gentle tones. "Oh how we love to recall each accent. How the remembrance of the simplest word sinks deep into our hearts."

In consideration of such a want of scholarship,—an apparent lack of harmony between Assistant and Principal, coupled with the fact, that said teacher, before this, had in a somewhat public way, characterized the President of the Board as a liar, and she "could prove it,"—the Board decided, not to re-employ her. She was accordingly notified by letter at the earliest moment, by the Secretary; that she might govern herself accordingly.

In the mean time, the services of another, a graduate of the State Normal School at Brockport, have been secured in her place. In this way only have I hired two teachers!

For the teacher in question, I had none but kindly feelings,—no prejudice of a sectarian character. But I could not countenance so much error, in any teacher, whether from want of knowledge, or carelessness. Students should not be taught mistakes!

Furthermore, I had no means of sooner knowing that any of these dis qualifications existed. Since she was said to hold a State Certificate, it was taken for granted, she was fully qualified; and she was not examined by us, for that reason. Again I say, I regret the necessity of this public explanation; but I have been so persistently misrepresented, by certain parties, that patience ceases to be a virtue, and forbearance an acknowledgment that their charges are true. It should be remembered the School Officers are not infant pap, and suffer to eat from their better judgment, in the light of all the circumstances, for the greatest good of the whole.

W. W. CRANDALL, M. D.

ANDOVER, Monday, Jan. 16, 1871.

MR. EDITOR:—How can any I only put their thoughts down on paper, and send them to a newspaper editor, with request to publish, knowing that they are not at all interesting. I have just received a call from one of Andover's citizen, soliciting subscribers to your paper. Burdick by name, and if he can swing a quill as he can that tongue of his, you had better change places with him, and you get the subscribers, and let him write every article for your Paper, do away all correspondence, and get it be all editorial for I tell you, he is a good talker, and on my short acquaintance a "tip-top" fellow.

The Insurance Agent Mr. Coye, of Hornellsville, has settled the damages with A. C. Hull, on his building, &c., the amount agreed, as I understand, $2,900, which will cover his loss; $4,000 being the whole amount of insurance.

Our January thaw has froze up, closing last night with a very heavy rain, and this morning it is too cold, even to snow.

Mrs. Sanford has closed her millinery store for the winter, intending to open in the spring with a much larger stock, than was ever brought to Angelica.

Mr. A. B. Heckman has sold his farm, price $30 per acre. He intends to purchase a house in the village and make Angelica his home, the rest of his days.

Dr. Jackson and family made our town a short visit a few days ago. They are stopping at Fredonia, so they can send their children to a good school. (Just what Angelica wants, a good school.)

Geo. Thomas has got his glass front in, and a very nice one it is, too, I mean the front in his new store of course. He thinks he will be ready to move in in, as soon as they got it completed. Nobody doubts that.

There is quite a Revival now going on in the Methodist Church, quite a good number have declared their intentions, have taken out their first papers, and intend to serve the Lord.

The gentlemanly teacher from Belmont, that has charge of our District School, has about 180 scholars under his watchful eye, also the mumps, but is better now, and able to attend to his duties.

J. A. Sanford is moving into the rooms formerly occupied by the Reporter, in the Arnold Block, opposite Atwater's Photographic Gallery.

A. C. Hull has gone to Williamsport, Pa., to live with his daughter, Mrs. Fred Hartshorn.

Fred Horton is in town and looking first rate. Fred is quite a gentleman. Fred Hartshorn of Williamsport, has been in town a few days. Also Andrew Hull, of Oxford, son of A. C. Hull, of this village.

ALMOND, Jan. 20th, 1871.

MR. EDITOR:—Since last I wrote you, death has entered our quiet village, and robbed us of many who were dear to us by the ties of home and consanguinity. The new year upon which we have just entered, finds us encompassed with disease which may at a moments notice brush the decaying tenements we inhabit. The earth and the atmosphere, from whence we draw the breath of life, are impregnated with the messengers of death.—Mrs. Robinson and her helpless orphans, have been called to mourn the loss of a devoted husband and an affectionate father. Truly this is a sad bereavement, and Mrs. Robinson deserves, and has the heart felt sympathies of the entire community. Mr & Mrs. Robert Deming, are also entitled to the sympathy of our citizens; for but a few days since, Louisa, their lovely and accomplished daughter was struck down in the morning of her life. I am glad that our esteemed townsman Mr. Prentiss, is fast recovering from a disease which robbed him of Jessie and Johnie, his two lovely (twin) children. Ah! how must that fond parent feel, on his recovery to health and strength, on visiting the graves of those loved ones, who but a few days since were the hope of his declining years? And when the cold winters blast passes away, many fresh tears will be shed, for the first time, over new made graves, by those who were not permitted to see their loved ones hidden from their view forever.

And to those who have been called, to mourn thus, let me offer a few comforting words. Bear in mind, dear friends that you are not an exception to the world at large. There are thousands of crushed hearts everywhere. Disease and death is at work in every land. While we mourn single losses, tranquil Germany mourns her thousands, and irksome France is filled with sorrow and dismay.

Thus it is, the great life of the world moves in orbits beyond the reach of individuals. Providence controls human affairs according to goodness, and a wisdom above our comprehension.—And whether we mourn or rejoice, time will travel on, with deaths and disaster in their usual number; duty will bring its rewards, vice its miseries and virtues its victories.

townsman, Rev. Mr. Ogden, Pastor of the Presbyterian Church, is about to remove to a more lucrative and healthy locality out west.

Our indomitable grocery man, Mr. J. M. Hodges, has sold out and gone to New York City, where his examples of honesty and temperance is much needed.

Mr. Charles E. Barber has retired from the Bureau, and has opened a Cigar and Fruit store on Main st., where he will be happy to supply his friends with a most excellent specimen of the weed.

Burt Green, Esq., Proprietor of Mc Henry & Green's Hotel, has repainted repaired and renovated his Hotel, and is now as well prepared to entertain the traveling public as any landlord in Allegany County. May he prosper, for, without flattery, I can say from personal observation, that if there ever was an honest and honorable man behind the bar, Burt Green is the man.

The Knights of St. Crispen are in flourishing condition. Last Tuesday evening they installed the following officers: S K, T. J. McLaughlin; K, J. J. Fyffe; T, G. W. Renwick; F S, A. W. Logie; R S, R. B. Perkins; C S, H. B. Oliver; C, W. H. Snow; A C, Thos Nephew; I S, Alonzo Treat; O S, Col. Wm. Haserty.

Business has been rather quiet here the past three weeks. The Shoemakers have been enjoying their annual season of rest. But, as the boots and shoes manufactured by Wm. Richardson, Esq., of this village, have a reputation all over the country for being of good stock, and strongly made, orders are coming in fast, and work will be resumed again during this week or the next.

J. L.

BELMONT, Jan. 17th, 1871.

Our play spell is over, the holidays are gone. Court has adjourned, and nothing remains but to come down to our work again. Its refreshing to have a rest occasionally, notwithstanding all the sermons we hear about diligence perseverance and the like. One can do work much easier after a little recreation. We had a good long session of Court, but not much of interest on the calendar. The most remarkable trial was that of Norton, for Arson.—After three trials, he was finally found guilty and sentenced to States prison for five years and three months. The first two juries failed to agree. Business is looking brisk for this season of the year, and prospects of a very lively rush of business when spring opens.—Messrs. D. Rawson & Co, are building five hundred Mowers for the coming season, and their rush of custom work has compelled them to purchase a large amount of new machinery.

The Oak Pail Manufacturing Co., are now in running order and are turning out pails and butter tubs very rapidly. They have made very extensive improvements on their buildings, and still keep on. They are now erecting a large store house in front of the factory which will add materialy to the looks of the place.—A new firm has been found here and will be known as Fuller & Willets; they will occupy the store formerly used by the first named individual and traffic in the same articles as before, that is, Drugs & Fancy Goods. We understand that a new Dry Goods sto. a is to be opened in a few weeks, in the Otis block.

The hop of last Wednesday night was well attended, and a more quiet, social gethering could not be imagined All went with the intention of enjoying themselves and all came away satisfied.

A number of cases of sickness are reported, but none of a dangerous character so far as we can learn.

We saw the Agent of the ADVERTISER, in town the other day, we look for him to do up the town in good shape, but hope he will spare the correspondent.

We heard there was to be a railroad meeting in town last Saturday night but after a search of two hours we were unable to find it. It may be all right, but if they are to hold their meetings in back offices and secure all the fat offices to themselves, we wont train in their crowd, not unless they will divide.

The Erie Company have paid their men on this division to day, for work done in November. If first class roads are two months behind time in paying, how long must a man wait who works on a third class road.
