TOO GOOD MILK IS PENALIZED

Andover Milk Dealers Are Forced by State to Charge 1c More Than Regular Price for Milk.

Because their milk is too good, two Andover milk dealers, producing their own milk, George Barrett and R. J. Cook, have received orders from the State Milk Control Board that they must charge one cent a quart more for their milk than the regular market price of ten cents per quart.

For years the great cry in this community has been to raise the butterfat content of milk produced by our dairymen. But it seems that two of our dairymen have succeeded too well and have too good milk. Of course we all understand perfectly that this action must have come from complaints to the Board from some dealer who was unable or unwilling to furnish 4.2 B.F. milk in competition with these two progressive dairymen who were giving their customers 4.4 B.F. milk or better.

This is the most foolish and asinine ruling of all the fool orders this board has the reputation of issuing. From the very first this Milk Control Board, that was supposed to have been appointed to help the oppressed dairymen of the state, have issued orders and rulings detrimental to the dairymen and milk consumers and helpful to the large city dealers. We sometimes have wondered if this board believes that they were appointed to help the city milk dealers, and make the dairymen the goats—at least that has seemingly been the effect of their efforts so far.

And now the local milk consumers must be penalized one cent a quart if they are to have good milk. We must either drink the milk most farmers slop their hogs with or pay an exorbitant price for real milk. The milk control board probably themselves brought up on skimmilk, seem sore because some of us country lads are privileged to have real milk with our coffee, while they continue with their slop.

In a community where from four to five tons of milk pass thru our streets daily to market, for which the dairymen should be just happy to receive three or four cents a quart, local consumers are now forced by the Milk Control Board to pay eleven cents a quart for their milk if they have good milk. If that is not just plain stupidity, we do not know the meaning of the word. Instead of curtailing the milk production every small town resident will have to get a cow and furnish himself with milk or stand for this holdup. So far as we can see, the only effect produced by the many orders and rulings of the Milk Control Board is to compel the consumers in small towns and villages to pay an absolutely prohibitive and unreasonable price for the milk they consume.

Following is the letter received from the Board by Mr. Cook:

January 3, 1934.

Mr. R. J. Cook,
Andover, N. Y.
Dear Sir:

We have received information in this office from one of our inspectors that you sold him a pint of milk on December 1 for seven cents, which on being tested showed a butterfat content of 4.4%. This sale is an apparent violation of Official Order No. 48, copy enclosed.

We wish to call your attention to Paragraph 8 which states that all milk having a butterfat content of more than 4.2% shall carry an additional premium of one cent per quart, and a corresponding premium on pints and half pints. This would make the price of your pints seven and one-half cents.

Since this purchase was made by the inspector on December 1, a new order has been issued, taking effect January 1, which exempts the village of Andover from charging 11c per quart and 7c per pints and allows milk to be sold as before for 10c per quart and 6c per pint. Therefore it will now be necessary for you to charge 11c per quart and 6½c per pint for all milk testing more than 4.2%. If you do not wish to charge this additional cent per quart and half-cent per pint, it will be absolutely necessary for you to lower the butterfat content below 4.2%.

Kindly advise this office as soon as possible which course you plan on taking.

Very truly yours,
MILK CONTROL BOARD,
DONALD I. FRENCH,
Chief Investigator.

Paragraph 8, referred to in the above letter, reads as follows:

8.—The minimum prices for milk containing more than four and two-tenths per centum milk fat shall be one cent more per quart than the minimum prices stated in paragraph 3 of this order with a corresponding premium upon pints and half-pints, and the fact that such milk commands such premium shall be indicated by a statement of the minimum percentage of fat contained therein or other appropriate designation plainly printed upon the cap.

AUBURN MAN WAS KILLED HERE

Truck Loaded With Macaroni Enroute to Olean Crashes Down Hardy Hill and Hits Tree.

William A. Cesaratti, 28, of Auburn, N. Y., was almost instantly killed in the cab of his truck Tuesday morning last as it came down Hardy Hill and crashed into a large maple tree in front of the Mrs. LaRue Crandall residence on Water street.

Indications are that Cesaratti lost control of the large International truck, loaded to the top with boxes of macaroni enroute from Auburn to parties in Olean. The road was icy in the morning, but the highway men had sanded the hill early that morning.

The truck left the state road pavement as it turned near the foot of the hill and went off on the dirt road, turned half way around and started up water street, finally turning over on its side and the cab in which the driver was in crashed the tree. Evidently the truck upset some 20 feet before hitting the tree.

The truck was owned by Proncino-Bossi Corporation, 48 Washington street, Auburn, N. Y., to whom message of the accident was sent. They dispatched another truck to Andover and picked up the load of macaroni and speeded it on its way.

The unfortunate man was cared for by Undertaker F. C. Mulholland. The body made presentable and shipped on Train 8 Tuesday evening to the young man's home, 110 Orchard avenue, Auburn.

Mr. Cesaratti is survived by his wife and a young daughter, another child dying about two weeks ago.

Coroner Cooley of Wellsville issued the death certificate. It was found that Cesaratti suffered a fractured skull and many bruises.

The truck was taken to the Kruger garage.

BOLIVAR'S NEW OIL REFINERY IS GOING

Began Production Jan. 3rd. —Employs 20 Men at the Start. — Cost $750,000.— More Units Coming.

Bolivar's new refinery, known as the Allegany Refiners, Inc., located about a mile south of the village of Bolivar, began actual operation Wednesday morning, January 3rd, employing 20 men. R. G. Williamson, from Warren, Pa., is the superintendent of the new plant.

This new refinery has a producing capacity of 750 barrels a day, and will refine gasoline, kerosene, naptha, fuel oil, wax dissolute and steam refined stock. Their product will be known as Aireco Products.

The official opening of the refinery however, was not held until Saturday, Jan. 6th, when there was a parade in the village of Bolivar by the American Legion Post of that village, the fire department, children of the school and citizens. The parade was formed at the Legion headquarters on Friendship Street at 1:30 and covered the principal streets in the village of Bolivar.

After the parade was disbanded a trip in school buses and automobiles was made to the new plant where Kenyon Andrus Post, No. 772 American Legion presented a flag to the Allegany Refiners, Inc., and raised it on a 90-foot pole. Then followed an inspection of the plant. The celebration was under the direction of Neil S. Sullivan, who is executive secretary of Allegany Refiners, Inc.

The first unit of the refinery, having been completed and put in operation, eventually two more units will be constructed, making a complete refinery.

Work on this unit was started in May, 1933 or about ten months after the Tidewater company quit taking the so-called dark oil. With the completion of this unit producers of this grade of oil, which is said to be superior to the other grades of crude, now will be assured of a market for their oil.

This modern refinery was constructed by the Leader Industries, Inc., of Illinois, under the personal direction of Dr. Leslie, at a cost of $750,000.

The Allegany Refiners, Inc., owns and operates its own gathering lines in the Obi, Clarksville, Nile and other districts. The company has leased a number of tank cars in which to ship its refined products to market and, with an ample supply of crude oil on hand, should be in a position to operate on a profitable basis.

The officers and directors of the Allegany Refiners, Inc., which is capitalized at $500,000, divided into 50,000 shares of a par value of $10 are: President, Albert R. Shaner; vice president, Dennis V. McCarthy; secretary and treasurer, Neil S. Sullivan. Directors: Murray C. Bascom, J. C. Bradley, C. A. Chipman, D. V. McCarthy, J. A. Messer, R. B. Moore, W. E. Sawyer, A. L. Shaner, F. J. Wilson, Bolivar; R. J. Dermitt, Richburg; J. M. Karl, Olean; J. W. Matthews, Bradford.

The refining company officials, oil producers and others who have become stockholders in the Allegany Refiners, Inc., have made possible the construction of a modern refinery in Bolivar which will mean much to that community in providing a market for crude oil and furnishing employment to many men in that field, where the finest grade of 100% Pennsylvania grade crude is produced.

This group of men who have put money into this refinery have demonstrated that they have faith in the Allegany field, as well as in Bolivar, and are to be commended for their foresight and enterprise in this undertaking.

Arthur Wagner

Retiring for the night early Saturday evening, after a day's work, Arthur Wagner passed away evidently in sleep the next morning. When his wife went to arouse him Sunday morning he was lifeless.

Mr. Wagner was born July 21, 1871, at Almond, the son of James and Kate Straight Wagner. His early life was spent at Almond and in Potter county, Pa.

He was united in marriage to Grace Stanton at Perry, July 24, 1897.

About 20 years ago they moved to Andover. Mr. Wagner was a knife grinder by trade, and had been employed in the cutlery shops at Terre Haute, Ind., Bradford, Pa., Titiute, Pa., and Perry.

He is survived by his widow and four children, Mrs. Felix Schneble of Wellsville; Miss Mabel Wagner of Hempstead, L. I.; Clarence and Elsie Wagner at home; a sister, Mrs. Crofoot of Wellsville and a brother living at Ulysses, Pa.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon from the late home, Rev. W. C. Pero officiating. Interment was in Hillside cemetery. F. C. Mulholland was the undertaker in charge.

TIME TO WAR ON TENT CATERPILLARS

This Most Favorable Time to Destroy Insect, Says C. H. Watson, Andover Zoologist.

Now is the time to begin a warfare on tent caterpillars. Do not wait until the millions of larvae have hatched out of their winter egg masses and have stripped your fruit trees with their tent-like webs, which always go hand-in-hand with a greatly reduced fruit crop.

This winter warfare is a worthwhile "game," with a double purpose. Besides the material help which it will give to the fruit crop of the coming season and to the thrifty appearance of our roadsides to the passersby, it will help those who take part in it to train their eyes. And this keenness of eyes is indeed valuable to all.

With a little practice even the untrained eye may become keen enough to discover these egg masses which will always be found within a few inches of the extreme end of the twigs on apple trees, thorn apples and wild cherry trees. They extend around the twig in a ring-like cluster, appearing like an enlargement of the twig itself. Upon close examination you will notice that the egg cluster possesses a shiny brown covering, one which well protects the enclosed eggs from the elements. An easy way to find the clusters now is to walk under the trees and scan the extreme end of the twigs, as they appear silhouetted against the sky.

Here is an important fact. One does not need to go to a neglected orchard or to a roadside tangle to find these signs of danger. Apparently the adult females settled on an ambitious propaganda campaign last summer, when about to lay their eggs, for these may now be found on your own fruit trees, which you may have kept scrupulously clean of all worm nests for many years.

A short life history of this pest, commonly known as the "apple tree worm," may be of interest. About the time the leaves are expanding on the trees in the spring these eggs will hatch, many score from each cluster. Those which hatch earliest feed on the unopened buds. All those from one brood keep together, making a tent-like web close to the place of their birth. Here they spend the nights but each day they fare forth and strip the branches of all foliage. As they go forth to feed they spin a silken thread which they follow back to the sheltering web.

By June the larvae are full grown, about two inches long. They then leave the trees and make their cocoons, yellowish white in color, about one inch long, in some secluded spot. You have often seen them—fastened under your doorstep, on the clapboards of your house, or under some old boards. This pupa state lasts about three weeks. The moth which emerges from each one is of a general yellowish brown color, with a wing spread of nearly two inches. Each female lays her entire egg supply in a single ring-like cluster on the tree twigs, where they remain for about nine months.

BUT—let's see to it that those near Andover are broken off and burned before this yearly cycle is completed.

EMERGENCY JUNIOR COLLEGE CENTER

First Two Years of College Course May be had Without Tuition at Haverling High School, Bath.

And now our young people wishing a college education have been thought about, in these depressing times, and a way provided under the supervision of Alfred University, whereby they may get two years of their course free of tuition.

The Board of Education at Bath, N. Y., has just received permission from the State Education Department to organize an Emergency Junior College Center at the Haverling High School, Bath, N. Y. It is expected that this Emergency College will be under the direct supervision of Alfred University, and the credit for the work done should be accepted at any college or university that the student should later elect to attend in New York State.

The course of study offered it is expected, will include: mathematics, English, foreign language, history or political science and science. Students should be able to complete 18 hours of their first year's work during the second half of this school year.

Tuition is free. There will be a charge of 75 cents per subject to take care of incidental expenses rising from correspondence and records. Superintendent Vanderhoef states that students should be able to find board and room in approved homes for around four dollars per week of five days.

Due to the depression many high school graduates who wished to enter college have not been able to do so. The establishment of an Emergency Junior College at Bath is an opportunity for such young people in the nearby communities to start their college work at very small expense

All students interested in this movement should write at once to Superintendent W. H. Vanderhoef, Haverling High School, Bath, N. Y. The establishment of this Junior College is contingent upon the matriculation of about 50 students.

All examinations and courses will be under the supervision of Alfred University, who will give the marks from Alfred.

Superintendent W. G. Pope will be glad to give further information to anyone wishing to avail themselves of this opportunity.
