The very best bargains you ever did see in the Cottage Store. Just under the tree.

J. J. Harman is selling his entire stock of winter dress goods at New York cost.

Great bargains in dry goods for the next twenty days at Harman's.

Postmasters are especially instructed by circular from Washington to deliver no mail matter from the Pension Department, to any pension agent or broker, but only to the pensioner, his family, or those authorized to receive it.

We would call your attention to Hall & Taylor's new advertisement, which they have cut their prices down to about one half the usual rates. Read their advertisement, and then give them a call. No. 15 is your chance to get your pictures cheap, don't fail to go.

A large arrival of heavy and fine stockings at Harman's.

We publish, upon the first page of this week's issue, an appeal to the citizens of the county, for a concerted collection in all the churches on the second Sunday of March. And also one to the farmers for contribution of seed wheat, to be distributed to the small farmers of France.

Of the high calling of journalism, Mrs. Stowe thus writes:—This constant self daily, self-asserting literature of newspapers and periodicals is setting us up tremendously for good or for ill. It is as close to us as our breath, and gets itself read as sacredly any book does. It ought to be entered into us as solemnly as any pupil, for it is using a great power.

A "big-top" green tea for 75 cents per pound at Harman's.

Harman's entire line of alpacas dress goods at cost.

What is the reason that we cannot have a report of our committee to secure a lot for a cemetery. It is now over six months since this committee was appointed, and we believe no report has been made by it. Is the association going to let us go through another year without a decent place to bury our dead? Let us know what has been done, and what the intention of the association are.

NARROW ESCAPE.—On Monday night last, a young man was found drunk on the road leading from Belmont to Andover. He had fallen out of a cutter, and his horse, when found, was waiting patiently for his master to recover himself, who was asleep in the road, and for the timely discovery of the young man by some young people who had been to spelling school, and were returning home, he might have died from exposure and cold. He said his name was Ogden, and that he was from Squintville and Squintville.

The best and while sheering in Allegany county, for 125 cents a yard at Harman's.

THIS BUFFALO LIVES STOCK JOURNAL.—The current number of this excellent and popular journal contains the full text of the revised rules of the Trotting Turf, adopted by the recent turf convention at Buffalo; the proceedings of the Dairyman's Association at Utica; besides the usual variety of valuable articles on Cattle, Dairy Management, Horses, Swine, Sheep Poultry and Bees. A new feature is a department devoted to Fish Culture. Henry C. Springer & Co., proprietors, Buffalo, New York.

An insurance case of marked importance has been just decided by the courts. A man deeply embarrassed and worse harassed by his creditors, effected an insurance on his life in behalf of his wife for $40,000; the next day stepped on board a steam boat and was soon after found in an insensible condition from the effects of poison and soon after died. The company defended on the grounds of suicide, but the court held that the presumption of law in such cases was that he was insane, which presumption must be refuted by evidence. Insurance companies might as well strike the suicide clause from their policies.

A splendid brown sugar at Harman's for 125 cents per pound.

A BROWN SUGAR.—G. W. Brown, Esq., formerly editor of the Connoisseur in an interesting letter to that paper, makes the following sensible suggestion: "The Commissioners in every county, as they would from a very complete history of the events in respective localities where published. Future years to the historian, geologist, they would be invaluable, and frequently explain the origin of customs and institutions, which otherwise would be wholly lost. The most insignificant fact should be published in the most obscure portion of the county, however remote from civilization, would frequently possess the greatest intrinsic value, because of the facts recorded there at the time and place of occurrence. The annual cost of their preservation to the county be inconsiderable, the advantage incalculable."

Dry your hair at Harman's.

Another arrival of ladies' shoes and gaiters at Harman's.

Shirts at N. V. Hall, at Harman's.

All goods warranted as represented at Harman's.

Shirts, coats and hats at Harman's at cost.

RALLY.—The Andover Musical Union will meet at the Presbyterian Church in its regular turn on Monday evening next, February 27th. Let every member be at their post. As we laid down our arms when the Revival commenced, so let us take them up again and resume our efforts with new diligence.

The time for election of officers has past, and therefore let a full quorum be present to proceed to business. A cordial invitation is extended to all lovers of music wishing to join the Union, to be on hand next Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Signed,

W. H. BURNOWS, Pres.

JESSIE STUBBS, Vice Pres.

A. M. BURROWS, Secy.

CLARA LIVERMORE, Treas.

ROXANNE BRADLEY, Organist.

Since the memorable day when the cow jumped over the moon, fresh beef was never so high in our town. But we are going to have a new meat market, fresh meat, fresh fish and "such" can be found there, and "if the crowd" know herself, and she thinks so, she will be cheaper. Bingley & Billings will open next Saturday, at Preston's store. The appearance of these gentlemen, speaking from experience, is prepossessing, there is nothing of the "lean and hungry look" such as Julius Caesar did not like in Caius Cassius. As public eaters we like just such jolly looking, well fed men as Messrs. Bingley & Billings are.

Just give them a call and satisfy yourselves that it is worth while to patronize the jolly butchers liberally. Give them a chance. "Live and let live."

CHILD BURNED AT WELLSVILLE.—A son of Albert Harman, of Wellsville, aged four years, was very badly burned on Friday morning last, during the temporary absence of his mother at a neighbors. The child was lying playing with some papers on the floor, and shortly after his mother left the house, went to the kitchen stove, as it says, to put the paper in the fire. Some wax or other hot clothes took fire, and before his screams attracted attention, was severely burned about his body and arms. His face, fortunately, escaped unharmed. Yesterday afternoon, strong fire was extinguished at the ultimate recovery. The child is a bright little fellow, the idol of his parents, and bears its suffering with heroic fortitude. We trust it may speedily recover.—Elmira Advertiser.

THE MONTHLY NOVELLETTE FOR MARCH.—The March number of The Monthly Novelties is the best one that has been issued, for the contents are so varied, that the wonder is how one magazine can contain so much interesting and valuable reading suitable for the young and the old, ladies and gentlemen, boys and girls. It is entirely free from lectures, book notices, or dull reviews, and is just such a collection of the people like to get hold of and peruse until the last page is finished. We are pleased to know that as the merits of The
