ANDOVER SILK MILL WILL SOON OPEN

Representatives of Albert Godde, Bedin, Inc., Consulting With Local Chamber of Commerce Friday.

The most pleasing and gratifying news that has come to Andover in the past two years was that brought here Friday by representatives of the Albert Godde, Bedin, Inc., owners of the local silk mills, that the Andover silk mills were to be opened and operating again in the near future.

Mr. C. H. Ochsner, the head of their manufacturing department, Ernest X. Faisant, superintendent of the Depew and Andover mills, and Charles Calhoun, one of the foremen of the Depew mills, came to Andover Friday and had an interview with the officers of the Andover Chamber of Commerce, at which time they announced that there had been an entire reorganization of the management of the manufacturing department in their mills in this country, whereby Mr. Ernest X. Faisan, son of John B. Faisant, a former Andover man and superintendent for a number of years of the Andover mills, and a brother of the late John H. Faisant for many years in charge of the mills here, had succeeded Mr. J. H. Roudet, as superintendent of the Andover and Depew mills. Mr. Faisant took over the work Tuesday, January 23rd.

Another very pleasing bit of news conveyed by the gentlemen was that Mr. John B. Faisant was expected soon to return to Andover and make this his home as soon as was possible.

The Andover silk mills have been closed down for two years, since January, 1932, owing to the depression and the over-production of silk products.

The officers of the local Chamber of Commerce have kept in close touch with the officers of the Albert Godde, Bedin, Inc., thru their New York office since the mills closed here two years ago, and while they have always maintained that they were as anxious to operate the Andover mills as Andover people were to have them running, this is the very first time that they have given us a ray of sunshine and encouraged us to believe that such a thing was possible and would be an accomplished deed in the very near future.

The representatives expressed their gratification for the loyal support that had been given them by Andover people and their operators in this community. They are anxious that a number of old employees volunteer to go to Depew right away and acquaint themselves with the new methods of manufacture and the modern goods to be produced. Quite extensive re-arranging and additions to their present machinery here is found necessary in order to produce the goods now in demand, and if a number of the old employees would go to Depew and learn the new wrinkles of the trade, they would be in shape to instruct the others in the work when the Andover mills opened for operation. This would enable the company to open the mills quicker on a paying basis than would be possible with entirely green operators.

The officials made an investigation of the condition of their Andover property in the afternoon and returned to Depew in time for Mr. Ochsner to take a late train for New York.

FREELY ADMITS THREE MARRIAGES

Caleb Henry Gee, Claiming Andover for Home, is in Belmont Jail on Charge of Bigamy.

With no attempt to conceal his three marriages without divorce, all to young girls, Caleb Henry Gee, 34 years old, farmer, resident in Andover for the past year, was brought to Belmont jail Friday, held on a charge of bigamy.

Gee was arrested by state troopers in Himrods, Thursday, where he had gone with his most recent wife, Elizabeth Phillips, 15 years old, of Greenwood, to whom he was married according to his own story, in Wellsville, January 11th, by consent of her father, Homer Phillips. They were staying with an uncle, Edward Gee.

Justice of the Peace M. Carey Drake, Friendship, ordered Gee held for the grand jury to meet in April on a charge of bigamy. Gee admitted to deputy sheriffs and talked freely with a newspaper representative about his three young wives. He married Margarite Carr, now of Elkland, Pa., in 1921 when she was 17 years old and they resided in Whitesville and Corning. He claims she ran away and left him. After three years he married Ella Dickerson, now residing at Keton Center, N. Y., at Greenwood, but lived with her only eleven months.

Gee claims to have married his last wife out of sympathy as much as anything as she had threatened to run away from the home of her grandmother where she was living.

Gee says he was a tenant farmer on the R. M. Galen farm near Andover for one year and had run a gas station for a lawyer owner there since.

In giving his record to Belmont jail officials Gee admitted an arrest for forgery at Wellsboro, Pa., in 1925, and one year's probation; serving one year in a Philadelphia penitentiary for petit larceny in 1927; and a traffic violation in this county for which he paid $10.

NOTED CLERGYMAN AT LIFE'S END

Dr. G. Chapman Jones, Respected and Honored Methodist Minister, Died at Hornell, Sunday Night.

Dr. G. Chapman Jones, 88 year-old clergyman and pastor emeritus of Park Methodist church of Hornell whose broad outlook upon life and renoun, brought him within the high esteem of all, regardless of creeds, died just before midnight Sunday night at Bethesda hospital.

While having retired a generation ago Dr. Jones occupied more pulpits and performed more marriages than any Hornell minister until he was stricken with the fatal illness about a month ago.

Dr. Jones was born in Belfast, Ireland, and received his early education in the Belfast schools. He was a graduate of Trinity College at Dublin, Ireland, and University of London, England.

Dr. Jones started his career as an educator. He was a member of the faculty of the University of London until 1871. He came to this country in 1871.

While teaching in the university he decided to enter the ministry. Engaged to marry Miss Elizabeth Anne Jameson, of Dublin, for four years Dr. Jones found that he would be prohibited from marrying by the church laws which proved that a person must be in the ministry four years before he could be married.

This led directly to Dr. Jones migrating to America. He had several charges near New York City and in Buffalo, Rochester, Pittsburg, Pa., North Tonawanda and then he came to Hornell in 1902.

In 1913 Dr. Jones retired and went to Japan as pastor of the Union church at Yomkom. He returned after a year.

While serving as pastor of the Park Methodist church, he contributed articles of a religious nature to the London Quarterly Review. He served as editor for some time of the Buffalo Christian Advocate.

Returning to England in 1887 he was given the degree of LL.D. and in 1928 Alfred University conferred a D.D. degree upon him.

Dr. Jones belonged to all branches of Masonry. He was a life member of the Odd Fellows and Exchange Club.

Surviving are his son, Robert W. Jones; a sister, Mrs. Charles Kevin, Belfast, Ireland; and three grandsons, Robert J. and Alexander M. Jones, publishers and owners of the Staten Island Transcripe, a daily, and "The Bowlers Digest," a magazine, and George M. Jones, a student at the University of Pennsylvania.

The body reposed at the home, 11 The Circle, until Tuesday noon when it was taken to the Park Methodist church, where it lay in state until time for the services at 2 o'clock.

Dr. J. Wesley Searles, superintendent of the Hornell District of Methodist Churches officiated, assisted by the Rev. Dr. D. W. Howell of Mt. Morris, Dr. Homer B. Potter of Coudersport, Pa., Dr. A. P. Coman of Ithaca, and Dr. William W. McCall of the First Presbyterian church of Hornell.

Man Hurt in Logging Accident

Floyd Cline Suffers Fractured Ribs and Arm When Pinned Under Tractor Near Whitesville.

Floyd Cline, 38-year-old Hallsport man, is in Jones Memorial hospital, Wellsville, as a result of injuries received in a logging accident on the Ray Rogers farm near Whitesville.

In some undetermined manner, a tractor which he was driving skidded on the frozen earth and turned over pinning him beneath it.

Uncle Ab says we might do better if we concentrated on one of the commandments instead of all ten, and he suggests obedience to "thou shalt not steal."

VIRGINIA WRIGHT FATALLY INJURED

Hit by Auto Driven by Lewis Nye Near Stannards Tuesday Afternoon. She Died That Night.

Virginia Wright, eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Wright, town of Willing, died early Tuesday evening at Jones Memorial hospital at Wellsville as a result of injuries sustained when she was struck by an automobile near Stannards Tuesday afternoon. The car was driven by Lewis W. Nye, 26, of Andover R. D. 2, who was arrested by state police following the accident.

The accident occurred about 3:30 o'clock. Rushed to the hospital the girl was treated by Dr. F. E. McCarty. She died about 6 p. m. Death was ascribed to a fractured skull.

Following his arrest on a charge of driving with "inadequate brakes" Nye was taken before Justice of the Peace Eli Harder, in the town of Willing, for arrangement. He pleaded guilty to the charge and was given a suspended jail sentence of 15 days.

Nye offered as his defense that the Wright girl ran from behind a car parked at the side of the road and he was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting her. The accident occurred at Stannards on the main Wellsville-Genesee road.

Virginia Wright was born on December 5, 1926, the daughter of LeRoy and Rosella Cornell Wright. She is survived by her parents, but has no brothers or sisters. SHIP TREES TO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

College of Forestry All Set to Send Trees to 425 New York State Public Schools From Syracuse.

Four hundred and twenty-five schools scattered throughout New York State have availed themselves of the offer made by the New York State College of Forestry, Syracuse N. Y., to supply a collection of seedling forest trees.

Each collection of seedling trees consists of 15 species. The little trees will be used in the classrooms and laboratories of the schools. Collapsible cardboard containers are sent with the trees in which they may be planted. The variety of species in the collection will lend itself to the establishment of an arboretum on the school grounds or planting in the school forest if the trees survive the classroom use.

Last year a distribution similar to this was carried out among the schools and it attracted the interest of students and teachers generally, according to Professor Frank B. Myers of the college. "The interest this year is even greater than before and certainly timely in view of the general nation-wide forestry developments and program. With this in mind it is more important than ever that the youth of the state learn something of the trees which are such an important national resource," says Professor Myers.
