From our Yankee

Mr. Editor:

Washington, D. C., March 20th, 1871.

Things here in Washington are badly mixed.

At which the folks in general find fault.

The tax on tea and coffee, coal and salt.

The Free Trade folks voted to remove.

Now Jim Blaine's action kinder seems to prove.

That he would kinder seem like the shirk.

Responsibility. Such kind 'o work.

Went never drew. If 'Truthful James,' (that's Blaine),

Don't mind his 'bit,' the Pine Tree State, (that's Maine)

Will ax him to rise up on the same to explain.

Which he didn't apportion the committee. The base

Of the Dimmycrat party's the tariff, and if

It kin once kin control, they'll kill that in a jiff.

If Speaker Blaine will not so like a duce,

I'll tell the Congress next adjourn at once.

If they don't do it quick, me an Ulysses

Will leave for Spain; I guess some folks would miss us.

We have some bizzyness over in Madrid,

We made the new king an Cortes a bid

For Porto Rico, and for Cuba, which,

Bein in want of flannel shirts an socks,

The King accept, a hundred million dollars,

Tain't much, we'll buy 'em. San Domingo folks,

Hayn't cant think of stayin in the cold.

Jamieson, the Bahamas, quite a lot all told,

We'll take in settle matters with Great Britain

About the Fishin chains. I have jest hit on

A fust-rate plan for settlin, we'll take these

Islands an' all, and the Caribbees;

Also ten million pounds. If John Bull will

Accept these terms, why, I'll receipt his bill;

I've regularly authorized tw dew it.

An if John Bull don't pay his bill I'll sue it.

As I'm a General Grant

Will clear out, if these Congress folks can't

Tend tw their bizzyness, or else adjourn,

I'll give 'em a few days yet, tw return

Tw their neglected duty, or go home.

Kind playin, get huntin, an' swillin rum,

The people cant afford tw live dere.

They had't oughter nuther, I for one

Go in for sendin me here for law-makers

Who haven't ben notorious as law-breakers.

I doct like sich eternal, endless fussin,

Sich personal abuse, lynn and cussin

Among our Congressmen. The other day,
